Heritage Society names draw winners

George and Eveline Baker were the lucky ticket holders of the number drawn in the August draw of the lottery operated by the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society.

The draw was the eighth made this year, leaving four more prizes of $500 to be drawn for.

The draw was made at the monthly meeting of the society held on August 7. During the meeting, it was decided to operate the lottery during 1979 and also hold the annual swim-a-thon during the first part of October.

The Fair report indicated that everything was in readiness for the big day.

Otis Phillips whose family was named a Farm Family 1978, reported on their day in Edmonton during Klondike Days.

Ron Teske, pool supervisor, reported that so far, lessons at the pool have been going very well but, the August sessions are down in enrollment.

Plans were also discussed for the limited school usage of the pool, scheduled for September.

Club coach developed

Three Ryley men have developed a new business that is described as the first of its kind in Canada.

D.J. Manufacturing is the brain child of Doug Baerg, Jim Nickel, and Kevin Baerg, all of whom hail from Ryley.

The new firm makes what is called a club coach. It fits on the back of a one-half ton truck, and is somewhat similar to a camper, except that it only occupies about one-half of the truck box.

Another change is that the window is removed from the cab of the truck, providing direct assess to the club coach, which may be used to provide extra seating for passengers, or sleeping accomodations for trips.

Plans are presently being formulated for the development of a "mod" model for members of the younger generation.

Steel ahead

Alberta's burgeoning industrial development may well be on the horizons of new expansion, if a couple of recent acquisitions mean anything.

Steel has always been the foundation of major industry, and only after early steps were taken towards development of steel in some smaller ways did the Alberta economy really start to broaden and expand the way we've seen it in recent years.

Now, two highly interesting developments have taken place within recent weeks. First was the acquisition by Steel Alberta Ltd., of rights to the Peace River iron ore deposits, which have long-term potential for development, but which need a good deal of evaluation and study to make the best return. The second was the announcement early this month of the company's acquisition of rights to a major iron ore deposit in Montana.

Covering roughly 1500 acres, the deposit is expected to yield a hundred and sixty million tons, with an average iron content of about twenty-eight percent. And that works out to about forty-five million tons of iron ore. The site is excellent from all angles. The deposits are well located for both rail and highway access. The ore is readily recoverable by surface methods, and it's capable of being reduced to high grade pellets by proven commercial processes.

Steel Alberta isn't a particularly well known company, but it's jointly owned by the Alberta Energy Company and Alberta Gas Trunk Line, which means it's likely to play a substantial role in certain areas of Alberta Development. Beyond that, it's on the way to becoming part of an integrated complex, in that it owns one fifth of Interprovincial Steel and Pipe, which opens still broader horizons.

Probably no-one wants to see another Pittsburgh develop anywhere in our clean-air country, but it's important to see expansion of this type of heavy industry in the West, with all the lateral benefits that can accrue from it. We'll probably never take over from the Industrial East, but maybe we can help balance the scales a little after so many years.

And isn't it nice to be buying some of our raw materials from the other side of the border to process here for a change, instead of always shipping our raw materials over there for processing?

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (SF) – There's quite a turmoil in the Armed Forces over the fact that studies are being conducted to scrap the elite Canadian Airborne Regiment, which was moved from Edmonton to Camp Petawawa, right on the Quebec border, slightly more than a year ago.

Defense Minister Barney Danson got caught with his tenure as minister, when former Chief and Defense Staff Gen. Jacques Dextraze pushed his proposal for creating a Special Service Force, closing bases at London, Ontario, and Moncton, N.B., and staffing the capital with a large slice of the elite troops.

Plans to scrap the Airborne were scotched then, by internal pressure at Defense Headquarters from senior Army officers who wanted to preserve the functions and traditions of the elite formation. Base closures were nullified by lobbying from local Liberal politicians. Danson killed the idea of elite troops in the capital.

Now Destraze is gone, and the Special Service Force long a goal of the tough fighting general, is in place at Petawawa, with the Airborne as a small elite within the SSF larger elite.

If the government could turn back the clock, it would have kept the Airborne in Edmonton, where all the parachute packing facilities are, and where they still train the paratroops. Cabinet can not reverse the move without looking terribly foolish, ergo the Airborne Regiment may be scrapped, sacrifice to that nasty game of politics.

Reversing the Airborne's move from Edmonton, though, would be the sensible thing to do, provided it was an across-the-board package deal, together with a drastic pruning of the Special Service Force. As it is now, more than half the effective fighting troops of the Canadian Army are in the SSF – 1,500 men. You can't run an Army that way, with most of your active troops as elitists.

Elitism is something for small units in which the average soldier can aspire. When such a large group as the SSF becomes immune to the dirty jobs like flood control and fire-fighting it's bad for overall Army morale. Yesterday Danson was put in an embarrassing position when he had to make that decision of moving the Airborne nearly two years ago.

The Status of the Crown

The following [illegible] written by Charles Lynch for Southam News Services. Since Mr. Lynch is one of the most articulate monarchists we know, we make no apology for copying the article, particularly in today's context.

OTTAWA – This week's prize for fatheaded statements about the Queen goes to Halifax lawyer John Merrick, member of a Canadian Bar Association committee which has recommended removal of the Queen as Canada's head of state.

Merrick says it was discourteous of the media to publish the Bar Association committee's recommendation while the Queen was in Canada. The committee had decided to withhold publication until Her Majesty had left, out of respect for the royal feelings.

Phooey.

Phooey on the bar association committee for seeking to lower the boom on the Crown, and double phooey on the committee for not daring to publish its recommendations while the Queen was here, and triple phooey on Merrick for blaming the media for the leak.

Surely, there is no better time to consider the status of the Crown than when the Queen is among us.

She cannot argue the case herself, but she is entitled to hear the arguments, in the Canadian context, as Queen of Canada.

The institution of the Crown is being questioned as never before, not just by the Canadian Bar Association but by the government itself. Those of us who believe in the Crown in Canada obviously have an interest in emphasizing its positive values, which are never more in evidence than when the Queen is here.

Parts of the case need no stating — the crowds that have greeted her in Newfoundland, Saskatchewan and Alberta convey the message eloquently, reminding us that the world's most respected woman is in our service, focusing emotions that no appointed official could begin to arouse, and doing it for no Canadian pay, and no Canadian rewards other than reciprocated love and respect.

The difficulties about having Elizabeth II as Queen of Canada remain, of course. These are the things that have caused successive Liberal governments to chip away at the institution in the hope it will fade away, as Prince Philip has said it would, if that is what Canadians want.

Chief among these is the fact that the Crown is a shared resource, and that the Queen consists of something less than 100 per cent Canadian content.

Against this there is no argument, except to point out that the many visits she and her family have made to Canada have caused her to see and know this vast land as few Canadians have. The tradition that she represents has been with us from our beginnings as a nation.

Another major problem is the indifference toward the Crown in French Canada where, we are told, the idea of the Canadian Queen is not taken seriously. It being Canadian Bar Association but by the government itself. Those of us who believe in the Crown in Canada obviously have called her that on at least one occasion, in the Canadian context, and Quebec's indifference has led many Canadians to feel that the Crown is a diverse presence, strengthening the case for Quebec independence. This is what turned the bar association to jelly.

If it is fair to discuss the Queen while she is here, it is unfortunate to be debating the subject of the Governor-General, who would become head of state under the proposed new constitution, while the office is in eclipse due to Jules Leger's disability. The strobe that muted his voice has left his high office askew at a critical time, upsetting the system of checks and balances, leaving the country under-served and the Queen under-represented, for all Leger's courage in carrying on.

Had ever luck for retirement as his faculties could Leger ever have caused the stir that the Queen carries with her when she moves among her Canadian people? No previous Governor-General ever has — even the late, great Georges Vanier — and it is hard to imagine any future appointee of any future prime minister who might do so, even with the seal of approval of the Canadian Bar Association.

It is well for Canadians to think upon these things because this latest, most successful of royal visits will be the last before the great debate on constitutional change which could end forever the association celebrated by the Queen in 1957 when she addressed Senators and members of assumed that she is Queen of England, and nothing more. Prime Minister Trudeau has Several from the district attended the Tofield Agricultural Fair held on Saturday in the Arena and Fairgrounds. They were several having entries in different classes of the arts and handicraft as well as vegetable and flower display and horse show. Several ribbons were won, with Mae Ferguson and granddaughter Wanda Weir, winning ribbons in their class at the horse show.

Margaret and Glen Bailey of Edmonton attended the Tofield Agricultural Fair on Saturday staying overnight in Tofield and then on Sunday, they visited several friends and former neighbours, among whom were Carl and Mavis Jacobsen where they visited on their way home.

Arnold and Edna Jones left Sunday on a motor trip to Dawson Creek for a few days visit with Edna's sister, Aggie and Al Poplin.

Ellen Eaton's cousins, Mrs. Eva Bridgman of Burlington, Ont. Mrs. Emily French of Toronto, Ont., and Mrs. Virginia French of Fort Sask., met Ellen in Tofield on Aug. 9th and attended the senior citizens Golden Club during the afternoon. After the club meeting, they were guests of Ellen's before going back to Fort Sask., where Eva and Emily are visiting with their niece Virginia, during their holidays.

Mrs. Irlene Sieb and daughter, Joan of Ladner, B.C. who came to the Tofield district for the wedding of Irlene's nephew, Doug and Wendy Niemetz, on Saturday. Doug is the son of Charlie and Mickey Niemetz.

While here, Irlene and Joan visited several relatives and friends among whom were Carl and Mavis Jacobsen.

The crops in the district are suffering from lack of moisture and burning from the heat of the past month. A shower last week helped some but came too late to save some of the crops that had ripened without filling properly

Recreation Report

by Colleen Walker
Program Supervisor

To Charge Or Not To Charge??

This is a recurring question confronting parks and recreation department. In order for us to set fees and charges in public recreation we must reflect on the special circumstances of each community. So, you people who are on a curling club board, hall board or community association, here are a few suggestions on items to consider when setting fees:

1. General economic status — Will charging a fee exclude people who benefit from the program?

2. Culture, traditions or values of a community — Some communities are willing to make sacrifices for their children and set a high value on recreational programs.

3. Financial conditions of local government — near its limit??

4. What opportunities are provided in the community by private, commercial or voluntary agencies — are their prices high and sufficient services?

FALL PROGRAMS

Since I will be away part of September on holidays, I would like to have all fall programs planned and set up before I leave. If you would like to see a program in your community, NOW is the time to act. Contact your local recreation board and discuss your ideas with them.

VEGETABLE GARDENING

There are many tips and hints floating around as to how to improve the quality and quantity of ones garden vegetables. And this week, we would like to pass on a few of these tips that may aid in improving your vegetable garden.

1. When growing cabbages often a major problem is cracking of the heads just before harvesting. Cracking of the heads is caused by the cabbage obtaining too much water when the head is near to market size.

To prevent or reduce cracking of the cabbage heads, give the heads a twist, once they are quite well developed, to break off the small, fibrous roots, close to the surface. This way the water supply to the cabbage will be reduced and prevent the heads from cracking.

2. In order to obtain white cauliflower heads, tie all the other leaves together at the top as soon as the heads begin to develop.

3. When growing corn there are two main things to remember:

1) When the corn is at silking time, or the period of pollination just before the development of the cobs, it is important that the corn has abundant moisture at this time. This will result in larger and higher quality cobs.

2) When harvesting the corn cobs be sure to cool them off to approximately 40 degree F. in order to ensure that the corn will remain sweet in flavor.

The best procedure would be to harvest the corn in the early morning while it is still cool and then to refrigerate the corn cobs.

4. The use of mulches between the rows in a vegetable garden serves several important functions. For example they are an aid in: 1. keeping the weeds down between the rows. This will reduce the amount of labor required to keep the garden weed-free. 2. Reducing variations in soil temperature and this allows for better growth of many sensitive vegetables. 3. Reducing the amount of moisture lost from the soil by evaporation. This aids in keeping the soil from drying out which allows for more infrequent watering of the garden. 4. Preventing the soil surface from crusting.

There are two types of mulches — organic and inorganic. Organic mulches tend to be cheaper and work just as well as an inorganic mulch. Organic mulches include peat moss, leaves, grass clippings, straw and compost heap material. When they decompose they add valuable humus to the soil. Black plastic sheeting is an example of an inorganic mulch.

Mulching involves spreading the organic or inorganic material around the base of the plants. The depth of mulch depends upon the type of material used. Grass clippings, for example, may be an inch or more thick, while black plastic sheeting may be 4 to 6 mils thick.

Black plastic stretched over the soil between rows of plants hastens plant maturity and holds in the soil moisture, but it should be removed at the end of the growing season.

If you have any questions on this or any other topic, please contact the District Agriculturist's office at Ryley, phone 663-3555, for further information. We would be more than glad to help you.

NUTRITION FOR SENIORS

Nutrition for Seniors is a new publication available from the department of social services and community health. It is a useful guide to healthy eating, and as the booklet says, "... is a responsibility from which you should never retire."

People in their senior years continue to require the same amount of important nutrients, but the diet should contain fewer calories. Based on Canada's Food Guide, the booklet explains what foods and what amounts of these foods provide the basic requirements. There are suggestions for meal planning, simple food preparation methods, food storage and budgeting.

Free copies are available from Senior Citizens Bureau, 9th floor Seventh Street Plaza, 10030-107 Street, Edmonton T5J 3E4

ALL PECTINS ARE NOT THE SAME

Many problems that occur with jam and jelly making are a result of improper use of pectins. Aileen Whitmore, Food and Nutrition specialist with Alberta Agriculture, advises that liquid and powdered pectin should not be used interchangeably in recipes. Liquid and powder forms are prepared differently, and they are used differently in jams and jellies as well as requiring differing amounts of sugar. For best results, follow the recipes which come with the form of pectin you buy.

New on the market is MCP, a type of pectin which gels without the addition of sugar. It sets because of the presence of certain calcium compounds, and the end-product requires much less sugar than with the use of traditional pectins. MCP is good for making freezer jams, as it preserves the fresh fruit flavor and is less sweet.

It is also possible to make jams and jellies without the use of sugar if you use a gum to make the gel. One brand name is Slim Set. It contains vegetable gums that swell after the product has been added to the fruit or the juice and heated briefly.

STORING FREEZER JAMS

Freezer jams will keep up to a year in the freezer, but only up to about 3 weeks in the refridgerator. If they are kept at room temperature, they will mold or ferment in less than 3 weeks. Once a container of frozen jam is opened, it should be kept in the fridge and used within a few days.

FOOD PRESERVATION WORKSHOPS

Two workshops will be held at the following locations:

Ryley - Thursday, August 24, 9:30-3:00 Ryley Legion Hall

Viking - Friday, August 25, 9:30-3:00 Viking Community Hall

Cost is Free. Please register with the Agriculture Office in Ryley by August 21. Call 663-3555.

Bring all your questions about canning, freezing, and making jams and jellies.

Bruce clan meets for family reunion

by Mrs. Oliver Lehman

Aug. 15

Round Hill School gymnasium was alive with people on Sunday, Aug. 13th as more than 140 relatives gathered for the Bruce family reunion.

Heading the events of the day was a church service at 11 a.m., with Martin Knudson as speaker. Dinner followed, served by the Jens Bruce families.

Marvin Bruce was master of ceremonies for the afternoon program. Included in the program was a brief history of the Bruce generations, and "The Bruce Family Memoirs" was compiled and edited by Martin Bruce. Mable Gothridge, on behalf of all the Bruce families, presented Martin with a gift in appreciation for the work he has put into the book.

Olaf Bruce extended greetings from many of the relatives in Norway, expressed to him and his wife when they visited that country earlier in the year. He also said that some of them had planned on coming for this occasion, but unfortunately none of them showed up.

Each family was called to introduce themselves and their families, and pictures were taken. It was also noted that Len Hjelter (Bruce) is the oldest living relative, as there have been only five deaths. Lena will be 90 years old in December of this year. George (Buster) Bruce travelled the farthest, having come from Duncan.

The Mennonite young folks from Salem Mennonite Church drove to the mountains for the weekend.

Doug and Carol Berg have returned home after a two week holiday in the United States, where they also attended a family reunion.

Mrs. Alice Glencross of Victoria, B.C., is visiting with friends and relatives in Ryley and area.

Senior citizens from Ryley and area drove to Edmonton on Aug. 6th to take in the Commonwealth Games.

Sharon and Raymond McGaughy and family of Ryley spent a week at Island Lake, with another family of friends from Edmonton. Sharon and Raymond and family and Wallace Lehman spent the weekend in Vermilion, visiting with Ray's parents and relatives. They also attended the Vermilion Fair.

Michael David spent the first week of August with Harold Lehman, and in turn Harold then spent the second week with Michael in Tofield.

Lena Hjelter visited with the Oliver Lehman family on Sunday evening, after they all returned home from the Bruce reunion. She returned to the lodge in Tofield that same night, where she now makes her home.

Carol Lysio hosted an Amway party in her home on Friday, with Beverly Helmig of Daysland as the demonstrator.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Wagoner of Camrose and Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hjelter of Ryley have returned home after spending two weeks holidays in B.C., and parts of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Reg Dyer and another family were on a two week trip to England and parts of Europe.

Aug. 14

Raymond Hovland of Ryley has returned from a two week holiday in parts of B.C. Others who have returned from trips to B.C. are Mr. and Mrs. Stuart MacGregor and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Pederson, Michele and Mark.

Mrs. Robert McKee, Craig and Bret of Burnaby, B.C., spent a week in Camrose with her mother, Mrs. Lucille McKee, and other relatives.

Sunday and Monday guests at the Clifford and Ron Bratrud homes were Mr. and Mrs. Orval Reum, Brian, Larry, and Lori of Caroline, Mrs. Nellie Kathan came with them and spent the time in Ryley with her son, Albert Kathan, and family.

A former resident here, Mrs. Agnes Jensen of Ferndale, Wash., writes she is presently holidaying at Kamloops and Vernon, B.C. On July 19th Mrs. Jensen had attended her grandson Allan Jensen's graduation from the Police Academy at Seattle, Wash., in a class of 39 men. Allan Jensen was the only one from Bellingham and the Bellingham chief came to Seattle to give Allan his awards. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Jensen, and his aunt, Mrs. Birdella Jensen of Ferndale, also attended.

Play area

The completion date is approaching for federal government funding under a Young Canada Works project to construct a playground in Ryley. The main feature of this playground are the formation of tires offering children challenging ways to scramble, swing or climb. A contest to round up all the tires last June was held at the school, with one winning student bringing about 50 tires, according to Gene Mlunkadol, foreman of the project.

Three other students, Cheryl Lyons, Bob Komarnisky and Scott Reil work with the foreman on this project, which was allocated approximately $7,000.

Hastings Lake district news

The month of July is long gone and you've heard precious little news from the Hastings Lake area.

Residents have been busy (understatement) with vacations, visitors, building, gardening and plain - old enjoying the gorgeous weather.

I beg your pardon if some of the following news is slightly old, but still good!

Ray and Katherine Petersen are preparing for a trip to Vancouver to attend the wedding of their eldest son, Michael to Janice Fanning. The marriage ceremony will take place Aug 26, at Nitobe Gardens in Vancouver.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hastings Lake Community Association is cancelled for the month of August. The next meeting will be September 18th.

Also there will NOT be a meeting of the Ladies Club this month. Next meeting September 21st.

Richard and Dana Koss were, Richard's old highschool buddy, Syd Cohen of Winnipeg, his wife, Linda and children, [illegible] and Danielle.

Critical look

Prior to the official opening of the Ryley Agricultural Fair last Wednesday, Jim Ingram of Tofield and Alice Munkedal examine the latter's display of grasses in the Community Hall. "That Place" growing again

by Grace Phillips

"That Place" which came into being to fulfill a dream of a few women with Christian ideals, has now expanded into a fine new building on the west side of Main Street in Tofield.

Six years ago, the original "That Place" opened around the corner from its present location. It featured Christian literature, greeting cards, and small gifts. It was staffed by volunteers from the group who had first conceived the idea of the shop.

Soon the business outgrew its premises necessitating the move to its present location on Main Street. Here a coffee shop and a larger gift section were added to a large selection of books.

Again, business was brisk and the women who had pioneered the shop dared to dream of a fine new building whose Christian atmosphere would serve not only the business but the whole community with the extra space provided for social gatherings.

This ambitious project was launched under the auspices of The Vision Society whose president is Miss Frieda Regehr. The building, now nearing completion, has 3,200 square feet of floor space. The roof is on, the floor is being laid and by the end of August the building will be totally enclosed. So far $36,000 has been raised by those concerned with the project, who would of course welcome donations to this worthwhile project.

The staff of "That Place" at present consists of Gladys Severtson, Anne Pocticker, Martha Dueck, Dolores Roth, Margaret Stutzman, Gladys Rude, Ingrid Simonson, Effie Paulson, Mary Plank, Elsie Thiessen and Diane Reil.

During the past week, a total of 38 complaints were received by the detachment, making a total of 132 this month.

Dwayne Kinsaird of Camrose reported on Aug. 18th the theft of a mortar mixer, valued at $650, from the construction site of the new IGA building in Tofield.

On Sunday, a report was received of cattle running at large east and south of Ryley, causing crops to be ruined. Cattle owners are reminded that they will be charged $5 per head for any stray animal captured and held and $2 per head per day thereafter up to 14 days. After that, if cattle are not claimed, they are sold by auction with the proceeds going to the Receiver General's department.

On Aug. 18th, Joan Hill of Edmonton reported a hit and run in the Holden Hotel parking lot incurring $450 to $500 in damages to her vehicle.

Dale Umrysh of Holden reported willful damage to his vehicle, when the vinyl top of his car was slashed while parked at a wedding dance on the night of Aug. 19-20th.

There have been several reports of deer getting hit by vehicles travelling on the highways. The public is asked to watch out for wild animals on the roads, particularly as they are moving more widely at this time of year.

A complaint was received from Tofield Gospel Church on Aug. 22nd that vandalism occurred at their building on 47A Street, with about seven windows smashed.

Garden Club presents horticultural awards

by Doris Brown

Members of the Tofield Garden met at the home of Yvonne Brown on Aug. 18th. Much of the evening was spent working on a club display to go to the Provincial Horticultural Show at Rumsey on Aug. 19 and 20th.

The awards and trophies that are awarded within the club for horticulture classes and the Fair were presented.

Bank of Montreal Trophy - aggregate points for cut flowers - presented to Yvonne Brown. Danny's Livestock (Dan Aberhart) Trophy - aggregate points for arrangement classes - presented to Marge Worton.

The Mercury Trophy - aggregate points for potted plants - presented to Louise Kyle. Bank of Montreal Trophy - aggregate points for vegetables - presented to Doris Brown. Town and Country Drug Mart Trophy - aggregate points for fruits - presented to Bertha Phillips.

Total points winner in all horticultural classes was Yvonne Brown and she was presented with the silver rose bowl sponsored by Alberta Nurseries at Bowden. Marie Worton was second place winner for total points and received a rosette from the club.

Cathy Brown won total aggregate points in the Junior section and was presented with a pendant donated by Mrs. Lillian Berreclesh and Yvonne Brown. Cathy also received a rosette from the Garden Club for her accomplishment.

The next meeting of the Tofield Garden Club will be held on Oct. 2nd.

A busload of Garden Club members and other interested persons attended the Provincial Horticultural Show at Rumsey on Sunday. The Tofield Garden Club won first prize with a club display entered in the A.H.A. display class. The theme of the display was "An artist's display of pictures" using flowers, leaves, wild grasses, etc. Rumsey placed second and Wetaskiwin was third.

Members from the Tofield Club who entered and won prizes at the Provincial Show were Lillian Berreclesh, Theone Jones, Yvonne Brown, and Daniel and Dale Brown.

A busload of 20 people (Garden Club members and other interested persons) enjoyed a tour of farm yards and a park in the County of Leduc on Aug. 14th. Clive Gudmundson, field man for Leduc county, was host for the tour, which was very much enjoyed by all. After a very worthwhile day spent viewing a park and many beautiful farm yards, a supper was enjoyed at the Clive Gudmundson home.

Trout wins newest mid-summer bonspiel . . . Sears in prizes

The Darrel Sutton rink of Edmonton, skipped by Stan Trout, claimed top prizes in Bashaw's first annual mid-summer curling bonspiel which ended on Friday. Trout faced Ron Tanton of Sedgewick in the final game of the week-long mixed 'spiel.

Curling with Trout were Dorothy Sutton, third, Darrel Sutton, second, and Lynda Trout, lead. Tanton's team consisted of Ardith Gould, third, Cecil Gould, second, and Helen Tanton lead.

The David Sears rink of Tofield took the second event, putting the Gary Kunstman Construction rink of Stettler in second spot. Sears' team mates were Darlene Gallinger, third, Dave Schultz, second, and Lynda Sears, lead.

The Ken Nowechin rink of Red Deer won the third event, with the Edlund rink second in that event.

Over $5,600 worth in prizes were distributed during the four places in each event. The total entry was 67 rinks, accommodating the whole curling rink in the arena. The prime purpose of the Bashaw Curling Club in launching this mid-summer bonspiel was to earn money toward the construction of a new curling rink which is badly needed, and although the cost of operating the summer 'spiel in the arena ran high, club members were pleased with results of their week's efforts.

Baseball tourney still on

Camrose Roadrunners had to postpone their baseball tournament to last Sunday, Aug. 27th, as the weather made it impossible for them to go ahead as scheduled the past weekend. The six-team tourney will be played at Kin Park.

The single-knockout tournament will get underway at ten o'clock in the morning, with action to continue all day in five games. Besides the host team, entries include Rosalind, Easyford, Spring Lake, Ryley, and Meisler.

The opening game will see Camrose meet Meisler, with Ryley and Spring Lake matched in the second game. Rosalind will face Easyford at 2 p.m.

The winners from the first two games will tangle in the semi-finals at 4 p.m., with the winner going against the winner of the third game in the tournament finals.

Crime's up

Everybody knew that crime rates have been rising in the country, but a couple of reports which crossed the editorial desk recently make very interesting reading and comparison.

First was the summary from Statistics Canada, which, surprisingly, showed a very slight decrease in crimes of violence related to thousands of people in the country. In this respect, drug offences jumped twelve percent, while crimes against property increased by five percent.

However, it is the incidence of juveniles in conflict with the law which arouses interest, and it has been the subject of a great deal of discussion among enforcement groups. Nearly two thirds of the juveniles in the survey were held for property crimes. Only four per cent were held for violent offences against persons, while traffic infractions involved a comparatively minor seven percent.

One in five of the youths had been found delinquent by a court on previous occasions, although girls were markedly less likely to have had any record.

Attitudes of police groups, too, differed quite substantially across the country. For instance, in Newfoundland, New Brunswick and Quebec, the proportion of juveniles formally charged was double national average, at sixty-seven percent. The giving of warnings instead of charges was almost that high in Ontario, while only a scant three percent of offenders were given warnings in Manitoba.

The same sort of shift is being seen by the national parole board, as it reviews inmates in prisons across the country. The actual number of paroles has dropped in recent years, not because the board is tightening up, but because they are seeing a different type of inmate.

In the last decade, there has been a marked shift away from sentences of imprisonment by the courts, towards fines, probation and other penalties in the case of less serious and non-violent crimes. This has meant that only the more dangerous, and long-term inmates are sent to the penitentiary.

And the parole board reports the incidence of violence and drug-related crimes has risen in the past decade, so that more and more are being rejected as being unlikely to benefit by earlier return to society.

Inmates convicted of murder, attempted murder or manslaughter, dangerous sexual offenders and rapists has risen in the past half dozen years by well over a third, while drug-related inmates trebled in the same period. By contrast, break and enters, theft or possession of stolen goods, and fraud convicts, dropped by at least a third.

Under the circumstances, it's easy to see why the parole board is having trouble. Their first consideration is how much of a risk the release would be to the community. And the offender who has a history of violence causes the board to take extra care in reviewing his application.

The rules haven't changed, the board hasn't changed, the criteria for granting parole are the same. Unhappily, it is the applicants who are different.

Harvest delays

Farming always has been one of the biggest gambling industries in the world, and this fact is brought home with triple emphasis this fall, as first one, then another, force demonstrates its effect on the harvest that farmers may bring to market.

As farmers in southern Alberta were racing a couple of weeks ago to bring in one of the largest harvests in years, farmers in this district were still waiting for the rains which they knew were too late to do any real good, since most crops had already headed out.

And then the rains came.

And farm operations in the district ground to a halt, waiting for the ground to dry up, and the crops to get rid of the extra moisture. Through a combination of good luck and good management, most of the rapeseed was already cut, though much of it remained to be threshed. More prone to frost damage than most crops, it had already flirted with frost three weeks ago, and again the first of this week.

The biggest drawback to crops in this district appears to have come from the severe lack of rain in earlier weeks, when crops should have had more moisture to develop into healthy, well filled plants. So bad was the situation in some areas that a number of farmers turned their crops into feed, combining them early, or turning the herd in to feed in them.

Statistics report that more and more Canadians are being attracted to gambling houses, with larger and larger bets being made. For those who think they have nerves of steel, we might suggest they try their hand at farming.

The stakes are really big, and the action . . . such as during a hail storm . . . can be incredibly fast.

Win both ways

It would appear the Canadian Pacific Railway is shortly to be able to eat its cake and have it too.

Only a few days ago federal Transport Minister Hon. Otto Lang indicated his government may accept a major recommendation of the Hall report, which advocated compensating the railways for the actual costs of moving grain, in order to meet the difference between the statutory Crowsnest Pass rates, and actual costs of shipping the grain.

Western grain farmers have long maintained the Crow rates were established to balance things after massive grants had been made to the Canadian Pacific Railway. Over many years of developing subsidiary activities, the CPR has managed to move practically all of these other assets out of the actual railway operations, and into other accounting divisions, so that little trace remains of the benefits accrued from them. All that remains is the actual operating costs.

So now the public is to pay the difference, while the company retains the other benefits

The Canadian National, admittedly, got none of the goodies . . it just inherited massive debt, which the government is moving all too slowly to absorb It does, therefore, need the cost assistance, and it must be hard in this day and age to assist one and not the other.

DID I SAY THAT?

Peter Ward's Ottawa Viewpoint

Canadian comment

OTTAWA (SF) — There's something not right about what's been happening in the Department of National Defence. To all appearances, internal fighting for budget money between the various arms of the military is bending announced government policy.

Take the cabinet-approved plan to spend $2.3 billion dollars on new fighters to Police Canadian air space and to replace our aging CF-104 fighters in Europe. The way prices have been escalting, it doesn't appear that the money allocated will be enough to buy sufficient fighters. Look for a significant hike in the price we'll pay.

Next on the priority schedule, according to Defence Minister Barney Danson, is $1.5 billion for six new warships, scheduled for delivery to be complete in 1981-2. That schedule has already slipped by three months because Treasury Board has not approved the man-years necessary to draw up contract specifications Already senior Defence circles are talking about spending more than $500 million on radar installations It will cost $250 million to refurbish the Pine Tree line, $100 million to re-equip the control centre at North Bay, Ont., and build a new sector control centre in Edmonton; plus two AWACs planes. AWACs is the acronym for Airborne Warning and Control System — which involves fitting a miniaturized fighter control centre into a Boeing 707, and mounting a huge radar dome on the plane's back, so it can look downward, and spot intruding aircraft which may be flying low-level.

In addition, the United States is talking about spending $1 billion to refurbish the DEW line to the Canadian Arctic, installing massive new radars on both east and west coasts, and putting another four AWACs aircraft to work in the Canadian north.

The suspicion is that those lobbying for a Canadian defence budget heavily weighted to air defence will eat up all the available funds, leaving little for badly needed Army and Navy equipment. The program for new ships could well be pushed backwards by several years, creating an embarrasing gap in Canadian maritime capability, just when extra policing is vitally needed to oversee Canadian interests in the expanded 200-mile limit ocean area

Help me, I'm dieing

Aug. 11

Dear Sir;

No Help Can Be Found should be listed in the Holden telephone directory under the heading Ambulance. Instead five numbers were put there to fool the Holden Community into thinking that in the face of death, there will be a gratified and safe ambulance to get them safely to a hospital.

This was not the case Thursday, Aug. 3, 1978 at 8.00 p.m. when a resident of Holden had collapsed from heart failure. Close family in panic tried calling Holden Ambulance. After trying five numbers listed in the directory all they got was one recording saying "At this moment I'm not available." What does one do when this is heard from the other end of the reciever in an emergency situation, leave a message after the sound of the peep?

As a last desperate attempt, a phone call was made to the community bar in hope there would be someone to drive the ambulance. Three volunteers of the bar who had just come in for a drink after a hard day out at the farm were begged for their help.

Finally after close to an hour of helpless waiting, hand wringing, floor pacing, worrying and worst of all seeing a loved one turn pale as death came slowly, the Holden ambulance pulls up to the rescue. But this was not the end of troubles for the rescue squad. The back emergency door of the A80 model was jammed! This was a depressing sight as two men in working clothes from working hard forced the stretcher out of the car.

As they lifted the near death patient onto the stretcher her last words were "Help me. I'm Die..."

Awkwardly bumping into walls, tripping, the men hauled the corpse into the car.

Family there lost all hope when the ambulance wouldn't even start because of the bad condition it was in. It did however start after 10 minutes more.

One thing we can be sure of though, Vegreville has a fine funeral home.

Whose fault is it, that this NEED of the community has been badly neglected? The mayor claims it's not his fault because all responsibility is put on volunteers in the community. Who repairs and puts money into the ambulance? Volunteers? What kind of organization do we have for emergency needs? The town however seems to have enough money for recreation needs. Well Holden, should we cry any more tears?

Ryley—

Beaver Heritage and Ag Fair successful despite downpour

by Joyce Gladue

A wet and dreary day greeted organizers of the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society Fair last Wednesday morning Hopes for a successful fair were almost washed away by the downpour.

However, a very good number of exhibits were brought in and set up for judging At 4 p.m. Ryley residents were able to view the exhibits, which represented a real variety of talents In spite of the dry summer, many vegetables were on display, including some well displayed groupings Also included were sewing, handicrafts, crops, flowers and baking Organizers were especially pleased to note the large increase in the number of junior entries

Points were awarded on the basis of placings within each category For the first time, trophies were awarded to various winners Ellen Lauber won the individual trophy, mainly because of her excellent garden produce Doris Ogrodnick placed a close second. In the family category, Joe and Doris Ogrodnick just squeezed past the Leo Lauber family to win.

Cheryl Bekker won in the junior division and Mrs. Agnes Hagen won in the senior division Each winner was given a trophy donated by local businesses.

Fairgoers also had the opportunity to view displays The public library brought a good variety of reading material to browse through and those interested could pick up publications from the Agriculture Office People could view demonstrations on carding and spinning of wool and loom weaving, as well as various wools and craft ideas as demonstrated by Sharon Strong, Kristine Smith, Gail MacGregor, and Bertha Winsnes

Lunch was served throughout the evening Unfortunately, most outdoor activities had to be cancelled because of the weather, but the children's pet show was held indoors

The success of a fair of this type depends directly on the participation and volunteer effort of many people After a break for harvest planning will begin for next year's fair

Confronting your Faith

By Rev. Carl Hamm, co-pastor of the Salem Mennonite Church, Tofield

Charles Colson, in a recent article in Christianity Today entitled "Religion Up, Morality Down", calls attention to a strange paradox in American life. While there is a definite religious resurgence in our society, there is at the same time a decline in morality. Divorce, promiscuity, abortion, violence, crime, militancy and complex social problems are all on the increase.

Jesus speaks of Christians as being "the salt of the earth" and as "The light of the world". "Salt" speaks of the preservative quality the Christian's influence on society. His presence and participation throughout the best "flavor" of society. It helps to keep the moral standards high.

In the same way the Christian is called to be the light to his society. By his presence and participation he demonstrates a better way to live and challenges society with the truth of the way God intended all to live.

Thus we see that Christ intended his followers to have a tremendous moral influence on the world in which they live. Why then has the professing Christian majority had so little influence on the declining moral standards in our society?

There are several reasons: First, we Christians tend to intellectualize our faith in terms of verbal statements. Being a Christian, for many, means being able to say the right things sincerely without making a real commitment to live out in daily life the meaning of those words. For example we can easily accept the statement, "Jesus loves me" and neglect the commitment to servanthood implied in Jesus words, "Love one another as I have loved you."

Secondly, we modern Christians lack a deep conviction of sin that leads to repentance. Modern religionists, soft on sin as misdirected goodness, prefer a more positive emphasis on the good news of love, acceptance, and privilege if we "only believe". Without a deep awareness of the sinfulness of sin and an active repentance, there never will be a moral reformation.

Finally, we tend to confuse the gospel with our own humanistic and nationalistic goals. It becomes the good news because it gives us what we want. "Christ is the answer", "He will give you an abundant life" are interpreted to mean that Christ will supply all our physical, emotional, spiritual, economic and social needs. Life will be easy, safe, and secure. This would be difficult to explain to Christians suffering for their faith in hostile jails! God becomes domesticated as a household servant or as a national deity who wants what we want and who stands for the policies our nation stands for. We set our own moral standards and assume His divine approval.

Unless we gain an exalted view of the transcendant God who stands over the nations judging all those who flaunt his moral laws and showering mercy to those of us who repent and turn away from our immoral ways, we will never see a revival of morality in our time.

PEACE CHILD — by Don Richardson
An unbelievable story of primitive jungle treachery "among the Sawi, treachery was more than a way of life; it was an ideal which unnumbered generations of Sawi had conceived, systematized and perfected." For them, "to fatten with friendship" a victim for the slaughter was the highest form of treachery.

Clean-up necessary in Holden

A crackdown is being made by the Village of Holden in several areas of municipal administration.

Councillor Danilak was supported by council in proposing that the Secretary-Treasurer be authorized to proceed with court action against all owners of unregistered dogs, having first ascertained that all such persons do in fact own or harbour dogs.

Several untidy lots in the village will be the subjects of requests to their owners to have the lots cleaned up and seven people will receive letters requesting the removal of [illegible] bodies.

Water services will be discontinued for [illegible] homeowners after the first of October unless meters are installed in those residences before September 1.

All County Fire Departments will be participating in a hose laying contest scheduled for October 1, in Holden.

A meeting of all ambulance drivers, attendants and any [illegible] interested people is to be arranged in the near future to discuss instructions on ambulance operation, liability of drivers and attendants, upgrading of service, a County wide ambulance service, schedules for drivers and attendants and a proposed new legislation for all ambulance services.

Bruce business closes its doors

by Bea Frederichs

Mary Robertson closed the Bruce Inn on Aug. 23rd. Local coffee drinkers will certainly miss the morning ritual for it's not only the coffee that enables one to face the day but also the chitchat with neighbors and friends.

Mary's restaurant has been a credit to the community and has earned a reputation for cleanliness, good food, and a friendly atmosphere.

Mary will be opening a restaurant in Daysland in the near future where she will have running water - only a hard-working individual would have the patience to operate a restaurant for 13 years without this convenience.

Although the business has been up for sale for some time, prospective buyers lose interest immediately when they discover there are no water and sewage facilities here.

Mary has been actively involved in the Agricultural Society catering groups as well as in square dancing and curling. She and her two children, Butch and Janie, will be missed by the many friends they have made in Bruce.

On Aug. 16th, Marion and Malcolm Dorin of Vegreville became the proud parents of twins, Maria Ellen and Christopher Stuart. The babies weighed at 5 lbs. 6 oz. and 6 lbs 10 oz. at the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton. Excited grand parents are Ellen and Ernie Dorin.

Rude farm scene of huge family gathering

The Foshaugs have been together, all 307 of them, at the Lars Rude farm home near Tofield. Rosed signs in English and Norwegian guided them to their destination on July 7, 8, and 9th.

Relatives numbering 11 from Norway, two from Sweden, and the remainder from U.S.A. and Canada understood the "Welcome" sign at the farm gate. The air was hushed and tears were in evidence when flags from Canada, Alberta, U.S.A., Norway, and Sweden were raised.

Two families had four generations present: Gunhild and Hilmer Hendrickson, their daughter Betty, her son David and his son Jeremy; Clarence and Borghild Rude, their son Lars, his daughter Monica and her daughter Stacy, who was also the youngest family member present.

Registration began Friday evening and on later count some 30 trailers and campers were counted. Guests and their accommodations were housed in borrowed trailers and a few with relatives in the area.

Camp fires burned long each evening and voices were almost worn out when the last song was sung. We're almost sure it was the galons of coffee consumed that kept us going.

Saturday breakfast consisted of pancakes and sausages, the early risers eating at 8 a.m. and the stragglers still finding the same quality of food at 10.30 a.m.

Many toured the farm homes of their forefathers, Johanna and Lars Foshaug, Inga (Foshaug) Ness, and Gunhild (Foshaug) Moen, and also the Bardo Cemetery.

The Volleyball court was in constant use as were the coffee urns. Many studied the detailed family tree made by one of the family members. Now I know who I am!!!

At noon on Saturday, chili was served from antique kettles hung over open fires. Seventy pounds of meat was used for this. The side show on Saturday afternoon was lefse making The coal and wood stove was just right for the two men baking the stuff.

The big red barn served as a theatre where slides of Norway were shown and a set of pictures were used with the [illegible] "Land of the Midnight Sun", which is a Norwegian piece. The younger children and some of the young folks slept on hay in the loft of this traditional big red barn, where they were cared for by loft parents.

We sang long into the night again Saturday and many were up to see the beginning of the pit barbeque. When the pit was closed with the 130 pounds of Alberta beef at 5.30 a.m. only four stalwart Norsks remained.

Sunday dawned sunny, and breakfast was cream and bread (11 loves home baked), 16 dozen cinnamon buns, and 500 muffins. By 11 a.m. benches and loud speakers were arranged and the guest speaker was perched on the top of a building. It was for picture taking and not to avoid contamination by the people as was the reason for the high pulpits in by-gone days We were very bilingual both in singing and speaking Our Norwegian female relatives added much in their special festivity dresses. It was noted that years ago the Norwegian settlers attended a Swedish church with a Swedish pastor and today, 78 years later our speaker was also Swedish but he at least married a three-quarter Norwegian.

The offering is being given to Phyllis and Michael Hornaw. Phyllis is the daughter of Ivan and Olive Foshaug. They are working with Campus Crusade for Christ, and organization involved on campuses primarily.

As one by one cars and trailers left, we know that deeper and lasting relationships had been established and many of us offered a prayer of praise and thanksgiving to our Lord for the tremendous heritage left for us by our forefathers.

Long time resident of Tofield passes

Ernest Stanley Glover passed away on July 12th.

He was born on Nov 24, 1898, in Liverpool, England. He came to Canada with his mother and brothers to join his father. The family moved to Lacombe for a few years and later they moved to Tofield.

Stanley received his education in Tofield. He worked in the Merchants Bank for a number of years, then he farmed in the Tofield district in partnership with his brother Lonnie.

In the mid-fifties he moved to Edmonton and worked for Weatherford Oil and Tool Co., for a number of years. Due to ill health he moved back to Tofield and at the time of his death he resided at the Tofield Lodge.

Stanley was predeceased by his mother and father and brothers, John in England, Charlie in Tofield, George of Edmonton, and Leslie and Norman of Tofield.

He leaves to mourn his loss, three sisters-in-law, Heddy Glover of Ryley, Evelyn Glover of Edmonton, and Pat Glover of Tofield, and numerous nieces and nephews.

A memorial service was held in the Anglican Church with Rev. Cole of Edmonton officiating.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere appreciation to all our relatives and friends for their many acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, and to the Anglican A.C.W. for serving lunch. A special thank you to Dr. Freebury, and the Staff of the Tofield Hospital for their care and understanding during Stan's long illness.

JAMS AND JELLIES

Let's look at some common problems encountered in making jams and jellies. If you have been having problems, it may help to know the probable cause. I hope the following hints will add to your success.

Set Too Soft - Causes use of overripe fruit, overcooking, or too much acid.

Set Too Hard - Causes use of underripe fruit, overcooking, or mistake in measurements.

To Prevent Floating Fruit - Crush or grind the fruit as indicated in the recipe. Jam should be maintained at a full rolling boil for a full one minute, when paraffin is used, the jam should be stirred for 5 minutes prior to pouring into jars.

Foam Removal - Add ½ teaspoon butter to jam while boiling to reduce foaming. The use of butter practically eliminates the skimming operation.

Excessive Stock - Can be reduced by using ripened fruit and following directions exactly.

Sugar Crystals in Cooked Jam or Jellies - May form as jam or jelly cools if the mixture contains more than 70 percent sugar. May be caused by cooking longer than specified time. Could be the result of excessive evaporation of the fruit juice due to slow cooking, or there may have been an error in measuring ingredients.

Sugar Crystals in Freezer Jam or Jelly - May be caused by not stirring the prepared fruit or juice the full time indicated in the recipe. The fruit may have been thoroughly crushed to extract enough juice to dissolve the sugar.

Cloudiness in Cooked Jelly - Caused by fragments of fruit pulp, premature set-jelly particles holding tiny air bubbles that have formed before the jelly is poured in glasses, or use of fruit that does not yield clear juice, ie. apricots and peaches. To prevent fruit pulp fragments, strain the juice through the jelly bag without squeezing it. Pour the hot jelly quickly into the jars. Do not use too much pectin (fruit that is too green contains too much pectin).

Weeping Jelly - This occurs with high acid fruits or an unbalanced high acid recipe. Also, if the paraffin layer is too thick, the storage area too warm or if the storage temperature fluctuates, weeping may result.

Jelly is Tough and Rubbery - Cooking jelly only the recommended time and using sufficient sugar should prevent this. Also too much pectin in fruit may cause a tough product.

Niemetz - Dobson wed in Lamont

A wedding of local interest took place on Aug. 5th in Lamont United Church when Wendy Elaine Dobson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Albert Dobson, and Douglas Charles Niemetz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Niemetz, were united in marriage with Rev. Sharit and Rev. Settle officiating. The lovely bride arrived at the church in a 1938 Chev driven by Dr. Dobson.

The bride wore a floor length satin and lace wedding gown and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. She was escorted down the aisle on the arm of her father.

Mrs. Lynne Aly was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Georgina Euchuk and Mrs. Linda Dobson. The groom's best man was Albert Warwa and groomsmen were Gary McLachlan and Bruce Johnston. Ushers were Dr. Larry Dobson and Doug Dobson.

Following the wedding, punch and snacks were served on the lawn of the church yard followed by a buffet supper in the Christian Education Centre. Dean Niemetz was m.c. and Kent Harold proposed the toast to the bride with Doug replying. Gary McLaughlin proposed the toast to the [illegible].

Some of the guests from a distance were Miss Mary Inglis of St. John's, Nfld., Dr. Larry and Dr. Jean Dobson and their two children, Colin and Anne, of Ottawa, Mrs. Anne Greer of Vancouver, and Mrs. Irlene Sieb and Joan Sieb of Ladner, B.C.

After the cutting of the wedding cake, Dean extended a sincere welcome to all of the guests to a lawn dance, barbecue, and refreshments at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Niemetz. There was also a cookout breakfast the following morning, after which the bride and groom opened gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Niemetz will be residing in Peace River when they return from their honeymoon.

Progressive Farming

HARVESTING RAPESEED

It is important that rapeseed be swathed at about 35 per cent moisture content. Too high a moisture will reduce the yield and lower the oil and protein content. Too low a moisture (30 percent) increases losses from shattering.

It is a good idea to walk through the field and take several samples. Shell out the pods and mix the seed. When the seeds are at 35 per cent moisture, they should feel firm when pressed between the fingers. About 25 per cent will have started to change from green to brown.

The crop should be cut just below the seed pods. Leaving a maximum stubble height will help drying and make swathing easier. If a swath roller is being used, it should be set high enough to anchor the swath into the stubble.

Combining Rapeseed

Rapeseed is ready for combining when the moisture content has dropped to about 10.5 per cent. Most of the seeds should be mature by then. If there are some green kernels, a few more days in the swath is probably all that is needed. However, do not wait too long. Begin combining when samples indicated less than 10.5 per cent moisture.

Concave and Cylinder Adjustments

The cylinder speed should be set between 400-650 rpm about half the speed that would normally be used to harvest wheat. Concave clearance at the front should be fairly wide (about five-eighths inch) and narrow at the rear (one-eight to one-quarter inch).

Reel Adjustment

Since rapeseed blows easily, wind velocity should be kept to a minimum. It is better to shake the seed out of the chaff than to blow the chaff out of the seed. Open the fan shutters and reduce the fan speed.

Sieve and Sieve Adjustments

The top sieve or chaffer should be open enough (one-quarter - one-third) to allow the air to lift the chaff with a shaking action as it is conveyed along the sieve. The extension chaffer should be raised slightly (5-10 degrees) at the rear and be opened sufficiently to allow unthreshed pods to pass through into the return.

Storage

Although 10.5 per cent is considered a safe moisture content for storing clean, cool rapeseed, it is possible that some of the rapeseed will contain immature, green weed seeds which will raise the moisture content. In this case, the rapeseed should be dried.

A publication entitled "Rapeseed - Canada's "Cinderella" Crop" contains a good description of the different aspects of rapeseed production. It can be obtained from the District Agriculture Office, Box 200, Ryley, Alta.

Tofield Lodge News

by Mrs. Agnes Anderson

I am sorry I omitted in my last weeks report to express a sincere "Thank you" to the Ladies from the Eastern Star group for the lovely lunch they served us at our "birthday of the month" party.

Thursday evening, we all enjoyed an hour of pleasant music and song by the Mennonite group, followed by a most interesting message from their leader Mr. John R. Unrau. Thanks to all of you.

Mrs. Margaret McClymont enjoyed visits with her friends Mrs. A. Strachan and friend from Edmonton, also Bill and Lorraine Webb and children, Mrs. Webb of Pincher Creek and Mrs. Lorne Lee.

Mrs. Thompson enjoyed a few days holiday with her daughter at St. Albert.

A pleasant break from the monotonous weather we've been having, happened on Sunday evening when Mrs. Paulson came with her car and took several guests for a drive. Most thoughtful of this kind lady.

Monday evening, Bill and Tim Davidson called on Mrs. Anderson and Mr. Harrison to describe to us their wonderful trip to England and Scotland. Thanks to both.

Quite a few enjoyed the bingo game at the Lodge last Tuesday.

Visiting on Saturday with Mrs. Erickson was her sister Mrs. Emma Reger from Viaila Lodge at Viking.

Sunday Mrs. Anderson, accompanied by Mr. Harrison enjoyed dinner with Mac and Marg Anderson on the farm at Mundare, also with grandson Terry and wife Kathie from Edmonton.

We welcome to our Lodge Miss Lydia Staeffer from Duchess, Alberta.

Sorry to report that Mrs. Dolsay is confined to hospital.

Louise, Fred and Sheila Beithon visited mom Wilkie last Sunday

Homecoming at Pincher Creek

August 18, 19 and 20 at Pincher Creek, will combine a celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the setting up of the NWMP Horse Farm with the annual Agricultural Fair and with three days of minor baseball "Beaver A Western Finals". In the summer of 1878 eleven Mounted Police were sent thirty miles west from Fort Macleod to set up a farm on the banks of Pincher Creek and raise remounts for the Force

Events which will particularly appeal to homecoming old timers include a Friday evening barbecue, a parade on Saturday forenoon, and on Saturday evening, a "Police Ball" with a favourite old-time band, Les Handley of Coaldale There will be Mounted Police displays and films, RCMP Cpl Don Georgeson with his trained dogs, and on Sunday, the presentation by the RCMP of the Union Jack flag for the Police Cabin in the Museum's Kootenai Brown Park Corbett Lynch-Staunton, a son of one of the orginal eleven NWMP, will accept the flag in the ceremony, while Danny McEwen, grandson of another "Horse Farmer" and a well-known square dance caller, will m c the Police Ball

A billion bushels ...moved by rail

By G R. Sargent
Alberta Wheat Pool

Moving a billion bushels of grain from 150,000 farms through 4,000 elevators via truck, rail and water transportation to numerous domestic and export customers is a complex business. Since 1899, the Block Shipping System has helped streamline the task of moving the right grade of the right grain in the right quantities from farmers' bins to the right sales position at the right time.

Terminating non-cumulative quotas are the producer's signal to deliver the required grades and quantities of grain to country elevators issued on the basis of shipping blocks. A delivery quotas allow producers to sell those grains required by the markets and keep those grains not immediately in demand from congesting country elevators. The Block Shipping System divides the prairies into 48 shipping blocks for the allocation of both delivery quotas and country elevator rail shipments. Eighteen blocks or parts of blocks are located in Alberta Once producers have done their part by delivering the required grain to country elevators, either segments of the grain industry most do their job in continuing the marketing process.

Pesticides in Time Capsule

These tiny time capsules can do more than regulate the release of medications for the common cold. The capsules can be used to package pesticides for better insect control.

The Canada Grain Act enables any government agency to be given the authority to allocate rail cars for grain movement. Since 1971 this authority has rested with the Canadian Wheat Board. The Board's Grain Transportation Department coordinates the movement of both Board and non-Board grain from country elevators to domestic and export positions to fulfill sales contracts.

The Block shipping cycle is a six week program involving four weeks of planning and two weeks for loading, transportation and unloading. Week 1 begins with an assessment of the grain needed at domestic and export positions in five week's time to meet sales commitments. The Wheat Board's Grain Transportation Department determines through consultation, the grains required for domestic purposes, for oilseed and rye sales and for Board sales of wheat, oats and barley. During week 2, country elevator grain supplies are identified by location and an estimate of the rail car allocation for week 5 is prepared. Elevator managers report their shippable grain stocks to a railway central office during week 3. With this information, the Wheat Board finalizes the number of grain cars by kind, grade and destination. The car supply available during week 3 is then negotiated between the railways and the Board.

In week 4, the shipping program is prepared for the following week. After providing for sufficient transportation to meet domestic processor or mill requirements, non-Board grain shipments to Thunder Bay and oilseed shipments to Vancouver to meet specified sales commitments, cars for Board grains are distributed to the grain companies by shipping block in allocating cars for Board grains between companies in a block, the Board first equalizes the total elevator space available. These grain companies with less than the average amount of space at country elevators receive sufficient cars to bring their available space to the average for the block. The balance of the cars are then allocated to the individual companies on the basis of their twelve month handling percentage within the block. Penalties which are derived by a company's mis-shipment of grades or grains are then applied. A two-car penalty for a one car mis-shipment is standard. Grain companies then allocate cars to specific elevators which have stocks of the required grain on hand. This selection is communicated to the Wheat Board and in turn to the railways. Train runs are organized and the railway centrals give elevator managers their loading instructions.

In week 5, trains spot the assigned number of cars at the elevators and managers load the required grain within a designated period of time. The train returns to pick up the loaded cars and heads for a central rail yard for sorting by destination.

In the case of export grain, the cars are unloaded at terminal elevators during week 6 and the cleaning process begins. If the vessel which will transport the grain to the customer is in port, it will be assigned a berth and loading gets underway.

RCMP warn against misuse of motorcycles

Tofield RCMP have been receiving a number of complaints of young people operating motorcycles and all-terrain vehicles illegally, and will be taking action against such activity

Government regulations stipulate where and how these vehicles, both licensed and non-licensed, may be operated and the RCMP will readily supply anyone with all the particulars upon request.

In the future, all motorcycles and off-road vehicles may be seized by police if caught being operated outside the law, they warn, and the public is asked to assist by reporting any misuse they see of these vehicles.

FATALITY

Tofield detachment RCMP investigated an accident on Aug. 28th which resulted in the deaths of two men. Dead are Edward Brook of Edmonton and Berry Yeremy of Vegreville, following a collision on highway 16 four miles west of the Beaverhill Store, at about 6:30 a.m. Monday morning.

A half ton truck operated by Mr. Yeremy, west bound, apparently crossed into the east bound lane, forcing an oncoming tractor-trailer unit driven by Mr. Brook off the highway in an attempt to avoid collision. The half ton struck the rear of the trailer (a gasoline tanker) as the big unit entered the ditch. The tanker burst into flames, completely destroying the unit.

Mr. Brook died in hospital early on Aug. 29th from burns to 85 percent of his body. Mr. Yeremy was believed to have died instantly at the scene of the accident.

Holden seniors' drop-in centre is taking shape

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

After a lot of hard work and planning, the work done mostly by volunteers, the Holden Senior Citizens' "Drop-in-Center" is now taking shape. They were fortunate to be able to get a site on Main Street, for the sum of $500 to lease the old fire hall formerly from the Village.

The two storey building which had been there for a number of years had over the years been a drug store, post office, hardware store, and a general store. It had been empty for about three years and on acquiring it the members of the Senior Citizens Club tore it down in just over six weeks.

After clearing the site, the new building is taking shape under the leadership of the club president, George Giebelhaus, and they hope to have the exterior built at least by the end of the fall season so they can work on the interior during the winter.

The new one-storey building which is estimated to cost between $30,000 to $40,000 will consist of a meeting hall, kitchen, washrooms, and a visiting room when finished. Once completed, members will be able to play pool, shuffleboard, or work on various crafts.

Funds have so far been raised through private citizens, local service clubs, and membership dues. The club is considering applying to the provincial government for a grant to assist with some of the costs.

For the past three years they have held their meetings in the Legion Hall, and that organization has provided it free of charge. The drop-in center will provide a much improved look to Main Street from the old derelict building previously there.

The club holds their meetings monthly on the fourth Tuesday of the month in the Legion Hall and all senior citizens of the community are welcome to attend and take part.

Vision Society aids growth in Tofield

by Grace Phillips

The Vision Society of Tofield is an outgrowth of the efforts of the ladies who originated "That Place" in 1972. The seven original members of the loosely - organized group who decided to establish a Christian literature bookshop in Tofield were Mrs. Diane Reil, Mrs. Lucetta Stauffer, Mrs. Edith Metzger, Mrs. Margaret Stutzman, Mrs. Gladys Rude, Mrs. Ingrid Simonsen, and Mrs. Martha Dueck.

In 1978, "That Places" was registered as a non-profit society, in consequence, any donations made to the society qualify as income tax deductions for the donor.

In 1977, the name of the society was changed to The Vision Society and membership was opened to the public. There are now about 40 members.

An ambitious project now underway by the Vision Society will effect a desirable change in the appearance of Tofield's Main Street. In conjunction with Wiens Holdings (Abe and Erwin Wiens) and Dan Eberhart, who is consultant, five lots have been purchased on the west side of Main Street, opposite the site of the new I.G.A. store. The five lots are now occupied by a complex of cement - block construction.

The part of the building on the two lots owned by the Vision Society will house "That Place" which will vacate its former premises next door to the Tofield Bakery. Now that more space is available, "That Place" will feature an expanded book store, a larger coffee shop, and a more extensive supply of greeting cards, stationery, and small gifts.

The proprietors of "That Place" hope to be able to offer facilities for group meetings (from seniors to teens) for large family gatherings, for special activities of various organizations including entertainment. There are tentative plans for a catering service for banquets held in the building. The estimated cost of this building and equipment is $100,000.

Since the brickwork is soon to be completed, and the windows and doors installed this week, it is hoped that the opening of "That Place" may be on, or shortly after, Nov. 1st.

The parts of the complex owned by Wiens Holdings and Dan Eberhart will be for rent, providing space for new businesses or expanding businesses desiring a new location.

Officers of the Vision Society are: President - Miss Frieda Regehr, Vice-Pres. - Mrs. Diane Reil, Secretary - Mrs. Gladys Severcan, Treasurer - Mrs. Joan Collins, and Building Committee - Dan Liwyn, Bob Jones, Glen Reil, and Dave Schmidt.

SHOWER FOR LOCAL GIRL

Miss Donna Schmidt, bride-elect of Leigh Noton, was honored at a bridal shower on Monday evening in the social rooms at the Tofield Mennonite Church. Seated at the table with Donna were her sister, Miss Rita Penner, Miss Shelley Noton, and the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Schmidt. Donna received many lovely and useful gifts and as she opened them she expressed a "wish" for the "giver". After the gifts were opened and Donna had thanked everyone she delighted all with a piano rendition of "Valse Brillante" by Chopin. The hostesses, Mrs. Betty Wiens, Mrs. Ann Neufeld, Mrs. Katie Baergen, and Mrs. Edith Regehr then served lunch during a social time.

Mrs. Agnes McGinitie visited with her daughter Alice and Eric Munkedahl at Ryley on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Enns have returned from a most enjoyable holiday in Germany where they visited with relatives.

RECEPTION FOR NEWLYWEDS

On their return from a honeymoon in San Diego, California, and Tijuana, Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. David Nickel were honored at a pantry shower at the home of David's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Nickel who live north of Tofield. David and his bride Karen, nee Klassen of Calgary were married on Aug. 5th in Calgary. The reception, Karen were her wedding gown.

The bride's parents, John and Ruth Klassen, her sister Beverley, and her brother Michael were all present for the occasion.

David and Karen will be living in Calgary where David is employed in the construction business and Karen in real estate.

ENDANGERED SPECIES

Against public

Like too many other strikes these days, the strike of Air Canada's ground crews is not actually against the company so much as it is against the public generally, even if that isn't what the ground crews really planned.

Sure the company is suffering, the loss being reported at some three million dollars a day. But try to compare this with the loss and the upset caused to the travelling public, trying to devise other ways to travel. Compare this with the loss to the hotel and convention industry, the tourist resorts depending on travellers reaching them, the merchants who regularly see travellers spending large amounts of money.

Compare, also, the disruption being experienced in mail service, despite the best efforts of companies and Post Office to circumvent this.

The whole presentation highlights once again the shortcomings of lumping most of our eggs in one basket, so to speak, because the majority of traffic is concentrated in Air Canada.

It highlights also the possible troubles which build around Air Canada's acquisition of Nordair. In the same way, many people express concern over the potential for problems since the Alberta government now controls Pacific Western Airlines and Transair, even though the potential also exists for improved, more dependable service to all areas concerned with their franchises.

It used to be felt there might be major benefits accrue if senior union personnel went off salary at the same time as their workers went off salary, whether on strike or under lock-out. But recent developments tend to indicate that might be useful only if senior management went off their pay scale for the duration, also. There's no question that militant union leaders are behind strikes often not wanted by the workers, but equally there are signs that management can be dogmatic and shortsighted, too.

But then what can be said when workers strike in the face of their best advice from union officers, when they go on wildcat strikes not legally authorized, when they refuse to accept settlements advocated by their negotiating representatives? Management can be bound legally by contract, and unions have passed the point where they should have attained this maturity and this responsibility.

One possible solution would be the cutting of restrictions on the present regional carriers, so that they could expand their service to take up the slack. But this is definitely a long-term solution, and not one which can be attained overnight.

Another would be to change labor legislation making strikes which affect such a large proportion of the nation much more difficult or much more costly to those involved. But that, too, would take a great deal of time, and is a long-term solution, since so much political action is required.

Rapid solutions seem impossible to dream up, (naturally, other people would have found them also) but in the public interest, solutions must be found. We're already one of the highest paid and least productive peoples on earth . . . the natural laws of survival maintain that this can't go on forever.

Correspondence from the Local Authorities Board advised that the Town of Viking had applied to annex the following lands:

The north half of section thirty-one (31), Township forty-seven (47), Range twenty-one (21), west of the fourth Meridian

The north south government road allowance adjoining the west boundary of the north west quarter of section thirty one (31), Township forty seven (47), Range twenty (20), west of the fourth meridian

All that portion of the south east quarter of section thirty-six (36), Township forty-seven (47), range thirteen (13), west of the fourth meridian which lies north of the northerly limit of the Canadian National Railways as shown on Railway Plan G T P 1 and not within the Town of Viking

All that portion of the north east quarter of section thirty-six (36), Township forty-seven (47), Range thirteen (13), west of the fourth meridian not within the Town of Viking

All that portion of the south east quarter of section thirty-five (35), Township forty-seven (47), range thirteen (13), west of the fourth meridian which lies north of the northerly limit of the Canadian National Railway as shown on Railway Plan G T P 1 and not within the Town of Viking

The Secretary-Treasurer advised that Carl and Victor Naslund who own property in the town wished to acquire had expressed their opposition to the proposal That property is at their farm site and includes improvements valued at $36,530 by Clovis Doucet, the County Assessor, for taxation purposed

Moved that, as the Naslund brothers are electors and taxpayers, we should support them in their annexation opposition.

Moved that we have no objection to the proposal to allow permanently fixed mobile homes in the subdivision in the S.W. 17-51-19-W4.

A subdivision plan had been submitted for the S E. 28-50-20-W4. Clovis Doucet had inspected the site and suggested the plan be refused as the land set aside for a park reserve was not acceptable. It is low, is mostly swamp area and has several beaver dams in it Also the old road diversion containing 2.19 acres is included in the plan but has not been cancelled as a road

Moved that the subdivision plan for the S.E. 28-50-20-W4 be refused.

The matter of cutting grass on road allowances by farmers was discussed It was mentioned that it appears to be normal practise for hay to be left on top of the grade This is particularly a problem when it is cut with a swather. Grader operators object to this practise as it is almost impossible to get rid of this hay. It has to be pushed off the road before they can grade This is costly in both time and loss of gravel

ReNai Olson honored at bridal shower

Re Nai Olson, August bride-elect of Nelson Ferguson, was honored at a bridal shower in the United Church social room recently

Re Nai sat at a decorated table with her attendants-to-be, Mrs. Sheri Pederson, Miss Debbie Hallet, and Miss Wanda Weir. Seated next to the bride's table were the mothers of the bride and groom, Mrs. Shirley Greenwood and Mrs. Mae Ferguson, also Re Nai's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Stanway, and Nelson's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Marthe Roberts.

Miss Heather Rudzki welcomed the guests, and supervised the presentation and opening of gifts. Three young ladies brought in the gifts - Cathy, Lori, and Deana Brown.

Re Nai thanked everyone for attending and for the lovely gifts she received and thanked the ladies who organized the shower. A social hour was enjoyed while lunch was served.

Tofield Fair large success

Once again the Tofield Agricultural Fair proved a resounding success Gate receipts were down somewhat from last year possibly a result of the rain and the closing ceremonies of the Commonwealth Games However, nearly 500 people paid the $1 admission and enjoyed the horse show, livestock display, pet show, the many commercial displays as well as the numerous exhibits in the final crops, horticulture, handicrafts and art, kitchen crafts, photography and school

The number of exhibits was down in some of the categories this year possibly due to the very dry weather conditions in our area. However, those exhibits took part in the Fair this year and $2079, was paid out in prize money.

The auction at the closing of the Fair proved very successful, $1188.35 was taken in, this money is to be used for fair improvements

Ryley news items

by Joyce Gladue

Summer is coming to an end and school will soon begin but we still have some out-of-town visitors.

Mrs Adams had some good friends visiting her Helen Bjelde from Vancouver; and Agnes Bjelde from Surrey, B.C., were here for awhile. Their father was the pastor of the Lutheran Church several years ago. The two ladies also called on Mrs. George Knudsen as well as other friends in the Ryley area.

Mrs E Reil also had some visitors on Monday. They were Tilas and Eva Brenneman of Kansas and Edith Wideman of Edmonton.

On Saturday, Aug. 26th, a graveside service was held at the Salem Mennonite Church Cemetery for the burial of Joseph Reil's ashes.

Left to mourn his loss are his son, Wayne Reil and wife Georgina, and grandchildren, Sharon and James, of Victoria. All of the family were there except for Barbara Solberg and Mary Eaton.

The minister was Harold Boettger. Mr and Mrs Joseph Roth, Calvin Lauber, and Elvera Reil sang the hymns.

From a distance came David Reil and Zila of Trochu, Annetta Reil of Acadia Valley, and George and Jessie Pollock and son of Edmonton. Lunch was served at the home of Harold and Clara Vergette.

Siegels celebrate ruby anniversary

by Bea Fredericks

Lillian and Bert Siegel marked their 40th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Aug. 26th., by entertaining a few relatives and friends at the senior citizens' drop-in center at Bruce Lil, as she is known to her friends, wore a corsage of red roses and Bert sported a white carnation in his lapel. The evening was spent playing cards and visiting and everyone was privileged to share the special anniversary cake baked and decorated by Audrey Pratt.

It turned out that others there were also celebrating or had recently celebrated their wedding anniversaries - Sigrud and Andrew Bjelde, Ellen and Ernie Dorin, and Audrey and Vernon Pratt. It would seem that August was running June a close second as the popular month for brides.

Lillian Lindbeck and Bert Siegel were married in Edmonton on August 26, 1938. They resided in the Holden area until 1943 at which time they moved to the Ryley district. In 1953 they moved again, this time to a farm east of Viking where they lived until they retired to Bruce in 1971.

Bert was a well driller for 25 years, consequently he is well known by many people in the area. He also spent two years operating the Ryley coal mine. Lil occupied herself with raising her three daughters, Dolores Hammerstrom and Donna McKinney of Bruce and Darlene Doddridge of Victoria, B.C. The Siegels are also fortunate in having five grandchildren.

At the present time, Lil and Bert are living the good life and actively enjoying retirement. Both are energetic workers in the Bruce Senior Citizens' Club where Bert delights in a good game of pool. Lil worries on the Agricultural Society catering committees and never says no when asked to help.

Lil and Bert have already received instructions to start now to plan for their 50th. All friends plan to be there to share the festivities with them and once again wish them good health and many more pleasant years.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of the Bruce Agricultural Society will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 5th, at the Recreation Centre at 8 p.m.

Fishing continues to be a popular pastime and the northern lakes the preferred spot. Hattie and Lawrence Babiuk, the Norman Babiuk family, the Tkaczyk family, the Malowany family, and Myrna and Buster Curtis have all been taking advantage of the better weather and trying their luck.

Tofield Lodge News

Mrs. Agnes Anderson

Mr and Mrs Weir both had birthdays recently. They had a most pleasant visit with members of their family who came to the lodge to celebrate the occasion. The family members came from Vancouver, B.C., California, and Edmonton.

Our service on Thursday evening was again most pleasant to listen to. Members of the Lutheran Church conducted the service with music and song. Mrs. Lauber read a most interesting message while Mr. Severson gave the benediction.

Mrs McCowan had a pleasant visit from several friends this week, Mrs. N Ferguson and Mrs. Hugh Bruce, from Nanaimo, B.C., both ladies having been former pupils of Mrs McCowan. Also calling on her were Mrs. Elsie Loe and daughter Lorraine from Edmonton.

We all enjoyed a most unexpected treat last week when we had a visit one morning from Ron and Louise Krabie and family from Lebanon, Oregon. Their visit was just too short. The family of 6 children (ranging from 2 years to 9 years) sang several songs, and were also joined by their parents. Louise is a granddaughter of Mr John Stauffer. The harmony of these youngsters was perfect, and so much enjoyed by all of us. We thank this family for coming to entertain us.

We regret to report that another of our guests Mrs. Healer passed away in Tofield Hospital after being a patient there for several months. We miss her lovely personality and cheery smile.

Mrs. Hjelter has been visiting with members of her family in Camrose and Round Hill.

Mrs. Kortzman had visiting her, Thelma Chandler and friend from Edmonton. She also visited with son Richard and family on the occasion of Richard's birthday.

Mrs. Jeffrey has gone to visit with her daughter.

Reg and Marie Dyer visited with Mr. Harrison one evening.

Calling on Mrs. Helen Wiklun the past week were her son Melford and family from Sherwood Park, also Mrs. Alma (Dolly) Wiklun of Ohaton and Mrs Emily Mills of Edmonton.

Mrs Charlie Whitlam (former Mrs Ed King) from Edmonton accompanied by two friends Edith MacKay and Aileen Mann, visited Sunday with Mrs. Anderson.

Recreation Report

As September will be upon us this week, students are thinking of going back to school, farmers are starting up combines and housewives are busy canning and preserving for the winter ahead. In the recreation department, we are busy finishing up summer activities and have started preparing for the long winter ahead. We hope to offer fall programs such as curling clinics, a men's basketball league, ladies' fitness, social dance, loom weaving, cake decorating. A brochure of programs printed in cooperation with Further Education, public Health, District Home Economist, Lakeland College and District Agriculturist, will be out October 1st in the mail. Be watching for it. We hope there will be some activity which will interest you!

SUMMER STAFF

Our summer staff will be finishing up their work this week. On behalf of the Regional Recreation Board, Mr Baker and myself, we would like to thank the following staff for the effort put forth this summer: Park Maintenance - Mr. John Kosack - Foreman, Mr Jack Murray, Ms. Vanda Johnson, Ms Joyce Gladue, Mr. Art Minchau, Ms Linda French.

Pre-Schooler Program - Viking

A pre-school program for children is being arranged for Viking. All children should be four years old prior to February 28, 1979. Activities that will be included in this program will be arts and crafts, music and dance, play and games, drama, gym, exploration of natural world and sensory skills. The course will be taught for four weeks, Tuesday mornings, 9.30 - 11.30 a.m. commencing October 10. Mrs Wilma Erickson of Viking will be instructing the course. Fee and place of course will be announced at a later date.

Ladies' Hockey

A Workshop is being held on women's hockey, February 22-24 at the Capri Hotel in Red Deer. Topics for discussion will be: ages and categories, interprovincial play, tournaments, association status, fee structures, certification, referring, rules, legal problems and special equipment. If insufficient interest is shown in this seminar, the lack of interest will indicate that women's hockey warrants neither the attention being afforded nor it's proposed council status (by order of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association).

W.I. celebrate 60 years

Round Hill Women's Institute celebrated their 60th Anniversary on Sunday.

Vice President Mrs C. Wade welcomed all the former members and guests. Special guests introduced were Mrs. Beryl Ballhorn of Wetaskiwin, Director of District three and Mrs Vera Olson of Stettler, Vice-president of the Alberta Women's Institute.

Mrs Ballhorn presented service pins to local members: Mrs Emma Bowthorpe, for 30 years service; Mrs. Irene Campbell, Mrs. Doreen Burnstad and Mrs. Marion Campbell for 25 years; and a 20 year pin to Mrs. Jeanne Campbell. Also, on behalf of the Provincial Executive of A.W.I., Mrs. Ballhorn presented the Club with a scroll in commemoration of 60 years of service to Home and Country.

Interspersed between songs, Mrs Emma Bowthorpe gave an account of the history of the Round Hill W.I., the organizational meeting of which was held in a tent, Aug. 6, 1918 with the enthusiastic Mrs. Nellie L. McLung in attendance. She spoke of the early aims to help in the school and to build a hall for community use; the work done during the war, the achievements in later years and the association with member clubs of the Ohaton Constituency, the larger body of District 3, the parent body, Alberta Women's Institute, the Canadian Federation, F.W.I.C. and affiliation with the Associated Countrywomen of the World.

A good number of former members were invited to stand and identify themselves. They had come from many points in Alberta and B.C.

Mrs Reta Thorson and Mrs. Doreen Burnstad related news of the 20's, 1938, 1948 and 1958, entitled, "Memories".

Greetings were received from Mrs. Moorby of Grande Prairie who donated two bouquets; William Banack on behalf of the County of Camrose; Charles Quail on behalf of the Round Hill B.P.O.E., who donated the centre table bouquet; Bob Anderson on behalf of the Round Hill First Boy Scout troop, Mrs. M. Soderstrom of Camrose on behalf of the Camrose W.I., who donated a briefcase to the club; Mrs. Art Lutz of Heatherbrae on behalf of Heatherbrae W.I. who donated a lovely plaque; Mrs. K. Ilnicki on behalf of Round Hill C.W.L. who donated a bouquet of flowers, Mrs. J. Zenick on behalf of Round Hill U.C.W. who also donated a bouquet; Mrs. V. Rattel on behalf of Ohaton W.I. who donated a cheque.

Thanks were also expressed from men who had been overseas during the war for parcels they had received there from Round Hill W.I. Lunch was served to the many guests who had braved the muddy roads.

PLAYGROUND
by Lynda Watt

The Tofield playground has completed another year. We have tried to do many different activities even though some were cancelled by the weather.

One of our trips took us to Coleman's Stables to look at the new pool and to see how it worked.

On one rainy Thursday we took a bus up to Edmonton to see the Archieves and then to MacDonalds for supper.

We also went on a trip to Chipman to see the Queen when she came to Alberta. We were very lucky for the Queen and Prince Phillip talked to some of the kids.

Also one day we went out to Watt's farm and had a picnic and a horseback ride.

The night the circus came to town the Playground went to the circus.

To finish up the year we had a party, and supper at the arena. To pay for our expenses we put on a bottle drive, and I would like to thank all the people who donated us some bottles.

I would also like to thank all the parents who helped with everything, especially Mrs. Kenny for all her time.

BUYING HAY SUPPLIES

1. When buying hay by the bale, be conscious of the weight. For example, 42 - bale for either 60, 65, or 80 lb. bales is $168, $87, and $56 per ton, respectively.

2. Generally, top grade hays are better hays than low quality hays due to increased acceptability and nutritive value. For example, good to quality Alfalfa at $80 per ton is a better buy than average Timothy at $70 per ton.

3. Consider the following check list to evaluate quality:

a) Type of Forage - For example, order of quality best to worst: Alfalfa, Bromegrass, Timothy, Crested Wheat Grass, Oat Hay, Prairie Hay, Sloughs Hay.

b) Leaf-Stem Ratio - Although leaves are very nutritious, most stems are low in quality. Also, as hay matures, stems become more abundant and result in low quality hay

c) Moisture Content - New hay that feels moist or warm when you push your hand into the center of a bale is too wet and should be avoided due to risk of mold or spoilage.

d) Mold, Must or Dust - Hay that shows any sign of mold or must when shaken, observed or smelt should not be considered.

e) Color - Color gives some indication of how mature hay is and how quickly and well it was processed without weathering The greener the better.

f) Weeds - Weeds are often of poor palatability and contain a low level of nutrition.

The Alberta Grain Commission's Feed and Forage Exchange has many thousands of tons of hay in various parts of the province listed for sale

Since much of this hay is still standing in the field or is in bale stacks, anybody who is going to require additional hay this winter should contact the exchange immediately Otherwise much of the hay is likely to deteriorate from overmaturity and weathering.

Following is a list of the Feed and Forage Exchange telephone numbers:

Calgary - 281-6470; Medicine Hat - 527-7900; Edmonton - 427-7231; Grande Prairie - 532-1426; Lethbridge - 328-7721; Red Deer - 343-5303; Vermilion - 853-5313; Fairview - 835-2220

Second Vice-President, Bob Brown, Leduc.

These people will be reinstalled for second terms at the annual meeting of B.R.T.A. to be held in Camrose on Wednesday, October 18.

Rev. Henry Haugen, the representative of the Camrose Chamber of Commerce chaired the nomination and [illegible]

At the meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association held in Wainwright on Thursday, Aug. 17, it was decided to launch a year-long photograph contest to conclude on August 31, 1979. This will be the third contest of this nature that the Association has sponsored. The first one ended on March 31, 1971, and the second concluded on April 30, 1975. Purpose of the venture is to increase the $120 or the association's library of pictures which it uses in the publications of various pieces of promotion literature.

The contest is open to any citizen living within Battle River Tourist Zone 5, amateur or professional, and entries must have been taken within Zone 5, "and be characteristic of the area."

This time round, there will be eight classes in which camera fans can enter their pictures, with $540.00 in cash prizes up for grabs.

In each class, there will be a first, second and third prize of $60.00, $30.00 and $15.00 respectively.

Contestants may enter any or all classes, and may submit as many entries as they wish in each class.

Specific rules and regulations will be released in advertisements to be placed in the weekly newspapers throughout the zone in the near future.

RCMP report occurred in Tofield on Saturday morning, when a vehicle operated by Mike Warner of R.R. 4, Tofield, left the road and struck a power pole, resulting in $1,000 in damages to the vehicle and $350 damage to the pole. A charge of careless driving was laid. No one was injured in the mishap.

Don Senebald of R.R. 4, Tofield, reported the recent theft from his residence of a rota tiller valued at $400, a $200 Mexican made stock saddle, a set of bar bells worth $300, and welding torch valued at $35. Police are investigating.

A short of a slightly unusual nature occurred last week when a 1985 Chev three ton septic tank truck was stolen from the Texaco Station in Tofield. Owner Wilf Zilke of Tofield reported it missing on Aug. 23rd. Left "in trade" for the three ton truck was a 1974 half ton truck previously stolen from Viking. As of Tuesday, police still hadn't found the "honey wagon."

On Aug. 25th, Tofield Hotel management reported the theft of three chairs from the hotel liquor lounge. The chairs, black with chrome legs and arms, were altogether valued at $120.

Two more bicycles have been found by RCMP, and may be claimed at the office in Tofield.

Three charges of impaired driving were laid this week by RCMP. A total of 30 complaints were handled from the office during the week.

Mrs. Hurlburt of Tofield reported on Aug. 23rd of a vehicle being driven over her front yard, leaving ruts in the lawn. The matter is under investigation.

There are three ways to do things. The right way, the wrong way, and the way the boss wants you to do them.

N.F.U. Local report on Eastern tour

by Joan Bablitz

A meeting of the National Farmers Union Local 741 was held August 14, at the Holden Masonic Hall. President Rudy Kust called the meeting to order with the secretary reading the minutes of the last meeting.

Vincent Hrabec was then called upon to give a report on his trip to Prince Edward Island. Vincent reported that farming in P.E.I. is somewhat different from that of Alberta. The farmers grow mostly potatoes, strawberries, tobacco and feed grains. They are also engaged in dairying he said, stating the farm family he stayed with milked up to one hundred cows. The average acreage is 170-200 acres; the soil being a reddish-color which holds moisture well.

The N.F.U. youth participants also toured the Thunder Bay grain terminals, Chicago Board of Trade and the Canadian Wheat Board in Winnipeg. Vincent explained the disorderly method of selling grain in the U.S.A. as opposed to the orderly ways Western farmers have through the Canadian Wheat Board.

The participants from [illegible] met in Brandon for a seminar before departing for home. Vincent stated that there needs to be more interest among the youth, who are our future farmers, suggesting that more seminars may help. He concluded his report by thanking the local for the opportunity to participate in the exchange.

Rudy Kust then reported on the NFU investigation of the grain movement, studies on the operation of the railroads and read a letter which Roy Atkinson wrote to the Honorable Otto Lang. The letter stated the findings of the investigation and suggested recommendations for the government to carry out. Much discussion on the problem in the grain handling system then took place among the members.

It was moved and carried that every member present take upon themselves to recruit and sign up one new member by Sept. 30.

Delegates were then elected to represent Local 715 at the [illegible] Convention to be held December 4 - 8 at Ottawa. Rudy Kust and Barry Bruce were elected. The meeting was adjourned after which coffee and doughnuts were served.

Havoc in RCMP cells

Tofield RCMP report over $1,500 damage was wilfully carried out to their holding cells on Friday night.

Three prisoners who were apparently being held overnight in the detachment cells in charge of intoxication caused the cell to be flooded by plugging the toilet, after which they pulled the entire toilet out. A safety window on the outside of the cell, was the next to be damaged, as pieces of the toilet were used to smash the small security pane. The safety glass, valued at $780., can only be obtained from Montreal.

In addition to the flooded toilet which had to be cleaned up, the cell walls were spattered with blood from wounds the prisoners received when breaking the toilet.

Paul Robsinson and Raymond Gratrix have been charged with wilful damage as a result of this incident. The third prisoner, Harold Ray of Tofield is reported to have not been involved. According to the RCMP report, he just sat back and watched.

Businessmen are being warned against accepting cheques from people without proper identification. These incidents occurred this week in which cheques accepted from strangers turned out to be bad paper.

Lost and found reports continue to come to RCMP. Ed Albrecht of Ryley reported the theft of a spare tire and rim from his truck which was parked in front of his residence. The approximate value is $115.

Thirty-five head of cattle were found on the Mike Drungal acreage.

Bruce Peterson of Ryley reported a tarp was stolen from his three ton truck on September 3. The item is orange with a black border and valued at $80.

A pony and mare were found on Gerry Wims' farm.

Walter Krystal reports nine Angus cows and three colts are missing from property one mile east of Tofield.

Two impaired driving charges were laid during the past week by members of the Tofield detachment. A total of 27 complaints were investigated.

Heart Fund exceeds goal

Bill Marble, President of the Alberta Heart Foundation, wishes to announce that at the conclusion of its financial year, June 30, a total of $651,223 was raised in the province during February, Heart month in Alberta. This marks an increase of 9.34 per cent over the previous year.

Pack up again

Political committees which have been unpacking their election material in order to get a racing start when the Prime Minister called an election this fall might just as well pack up all their material again and store it. There's still the slimmest possibility he might call an election this fall, but it's barely a glimmer of a chance now.

His call last week for seven more by-elections could, of course, be just a ruse to throw everyone off guard when he finally drops the other shoe, but it's far more likely that he has already made up his mind to withhold an election until next Spring.

In the meantime, he will use the bye-elections to read the temper of the voters, to measure their support or opposition to his policies, and probably, to smoke out the platforms of the other two national parties, who must come out with their proposals to stand a chance of persuading the voters to back them. This done, he can just as easily turn these proposals to his own advantage in the intervening months, just as he did four years ago.

More plausible still is that he is determined to effect his measure to bring the constitution "home", to invest each of the five regions he has mentioned with their own veto against further change of the constitution, so that Quebec will be assured for all time to come of its place in the nation's political processes and development, with the opportunity to veto any change it feels may hurt it individually. Enshrined at the same time, unassailable for eternity, would be the principle of dual languages.

We'll probably know for certain by Friday of this week, since that's the last reasonable date before Spring to call an election. But some very sound thinkers, with their ear closely tuned to the inner circles, feel Mr. Trudeau would ignore the economic crisis, the unemployment crisis, the dollar decline and all other national problems in order to go down in history as the leader who brought the constitution back to Canada, and guaranteed forever Quebec's place as an equal partner.

Strike over?

Air Canada's strike is over, and the planes are moving again.

Well, at least for the moment.

The pilots' strike is over, and the machinists' strike is over. But still ahead is the unresolved problem of the flight attendants.

So even though there is a temporary surcease to the impossible situation in which travellers find themselves, there's no guarantee you can get back if you take off on a trip now.

It is rapidly assuming all the earmarks of a continuing impossible situation, and as the writer of Chip Shots suggests in this week's column on the sports pages, it's about time that the general public stood up to be counted. It's about time, he says, to unite in a concerted effort to overcome this outmoded attack of a few individuals to persecute the country.

Faced with the guaranteed demonstration that we're pricing ourselves out of world markets because of high costs and low productivity, one would almost think the unions would be intent on protecting all those jobs now existing, rather than continuing to price them, or control them, out of existence. Yet it's only last week we heard of a major construction project where conflict in union jurisdiction produced a situation described by each of the workers himself as the employer paying an hour's wages for every six minutes of actual labor he got.

One could even say: that's dreadful, but so long as it affects only some other builder, it may not matter to us. But the ripple effect takes over, and the same workers expect the same kind of over-staffing, the same featherbedding, the same underproductive but highly paid employment in their next role, and the next after that.

No country is so rich it can long waste ninety percent of its wage bill, or any other asset. As Chip Shots says, it's time you and I found a way to be counted.

Seeking donors of more human organs

Alberta Social Services and Community Health and the Department of the Solicitor General have launched a campaign to encourage Albertans to participate in a provincial organ donorship program. Donor consent cards are part of the new drivers' licenses being sent out by the Motor Vehicles Branch, and non-drivers can obtain copies of the consent card by writing in to either provincial department or by picking up a copy of the program pamphlet which is being distributed throughout the province.

It's Your Body' is the slogan of the advertising campaign, which began June 1. Albertans are urged to make a commitment now to organ donorship-to fill in the consent card and carry it at all times in a wallet or purse. The decision to fill in the card now may later help save or enrich someone's life.

Eyes are in great demand for corneal transplants and many treatments for the blind. Kidneys are needed by many people who are now being kept alive by artificial means (dialysis) while waiting for a donor.

An extract from the pituitary gland is used to stimulate the growth of children who lack the hormone necessary to promote normal growth and development. Since this hormone cannot be produced artificially, the only source is pituitary glands donated after death.

The procedure does not noticeably disfigure the body as the gland is removed through the roof of the mouth.

OTTAWA (SP) — Sooner or later Pierre Elliot Trudeau is going to have to be replaced as leader of the Liberal Party and as Prime Minister. If he loses the coming election, you can expect a Liberal leadership convention fairly rapidly, because Trudeau is not the man to sit as leader of the opposition. If he wins, you can count on him resigning before Ottawa's awakes election.

My wife, in fact, claims that he will spin out the present term of office to the last possible minute, and then quit, because he's bored, leaving the federal Liberals in frantic disarray with no leader and an election overdue. I don't agree with her, but I've heard several other people offer the same scenario.

Nevertheless, the Liberals will face a monumental problem when it comes to appointing Trudeau's successor because our Prime Minister has made a point of having the weakest cabinet in Canadian history. There are several hopefuls in the existing cabinet. External Affairs Minister Don Jamieson has lost a lot of weight recently, and observers claim he's done it because he wants to try for the top job. House Leader Allan MacEachen seems to be readying himself for a possible leadership attempt.

The most obvious choice to replace Trudeau would of course, be former Finance Minister John Turner, but Trudeau can't abide the man and would expect 1 no end of energy to block any Turner bid for leadership of the party.

There is a dark horse however, who would have terrific public appeal, thanks to television in the House of Commons. I'm talking about Speaker James Jerome, who comes across as an extremely fair man loaded with intelligence. He's great stuff on the tube, as most Canadians already know from watching clips of the proceedings of the Commons.

Many Canadians are upset with the Trudeau government because it doesn't seem fair. You can't put James Jerome, the MP from Sudbury, in that department. Both government and opposition have been annoyed with him for [illegible], and that's generally a pretty good indication of a man's fairness.

Jerome hasn't had any cabinet experience, but his [illegible] as Speaker balance

Yessir, when the time comes, the federal Liberals could do much worse than to choose James Jerome as leader of the party.

The Homemaker

By Elaine Lake

Five months certainly went quickly. It is hard for me to believe that I've actually finished university and am back in Ryley. I thought this week I'd tell you a bit about my leave.

Oregon State University which I attended is in Corvallis, a community of 40,000 people. Approximately 16,000 students attend OSU. The Oregon Extension Service is associated with OSU and I had a chance to meet many of the specialists as well as a number of County Agents.

Oregonians are friendly people who love the outdoors. Corvallis is an easy distance from the Pacific Ocean and the Cascade Mountain Range. Interestingly, fabric stores sold fabric and patterns for making ski wear, back packing equipment, jogging outfits, etc. Pre-packaged sewing kits were available.

Corvallis is in the Willamette Valley where the majority of Oregon's population lives. It is famous for its fruits and vegetables. Strawberries, raspberries and cherries are particularly popular. There are many fields of mint. Rye grass farming is very common. Unfortunately much of the farmland is being subdivided and it looks like the valley will soon be nothing but [illegible].

Spring term is a very wet one in Oregon. It rained nearly everyday. This results in beautiful green grass and beautiful flowering trees. The roses are extremely beautiful. Summer is hot. It was 104 degrees F. the day I left and had been 80 degree F. plus for most of July and August.

My parents came to visit between terms. We took a trip to Los Angeles, California. The freeway system in the city has to be seen to be believed. Fortunately we had an excellent map. The smog level certainly made us appreciate the clean air in Alberta and Saskatchewan. We spent two days in Disneyland marveling at the creativity and engineering. It's a really fun place for children of all ages. We also visited Knott's Berry Farm where we enjoyed Mrs. Knott's famous chicken dinner. We stopped in San Francisco overnight. We took a ride on a cable car and a bay cruise. Our return journey was through the redwoods and along the Oregon coast.

One of the great things about travelling is that it makes me appreciate home more. It's really nice to be back to our varied colored money which is much easier to use than the all green American version. I really appreciate our Medicare [illegible] only our freedom from worry. Illness is a major financial crisis for many families in the U.S.

I'm trying to plan fall and winter programs. Please let me know of any special requests you have.

Hearing from friends who had been visiting recently in the Elk Point district, a mystery fish had been caught in the North Saskatchewan River, between that point and Lindbergh, by Mr. Stanley Sumnilosuk of Richmond, B.C. He had landed the 6 lb., 12 oz. fish with a new hook he was testing, but being sure what species it was he took it to a biologist and it was discovered it was a Quill fish found in the eastern United States rivers and had never been caught before in Alberta waters.

Mrs. Clara Siser has spent the past week with her daughter and family, the Alvin Chomiks, helping them pack and move from the Chelsey residence where they had lived since coming from Edmonton, into the Bud Fjellstrom house across the street. Mrs. Bertha Chetney has been living in her house east of the village but wished to move into the one down in the village.

Surprise Sunday visitors with Mrs. Campbell were former Holden district residents, Dorothy and Orville Daily of the South Edmonton district. Miss June Clark also spent the afternoon at Mrs Campbell's to visit with the Dailys.

Mrs. Carman MacGregor and children who were residing in the old black house across from the school have moved into the Langer house on 49th Ave.

Manufactured in Camrose

A number of old-timers may recall the "Horse Drawn 'Houda' for Light Scrub" pictured above, which was manufactured in Camrose more than fifty years ago. It was designed and manufactured by Oscar Hough, and following publication a few weeks ago in The Camrose Canadian of an ancient advertisement for the plough, numbers of readers wrote in to Tom Court, Restoration Supervisor with the Provincial Museum of Alberta, who has been delighted at the interest shown. In fact, says Mr Court, reports from this article led him to a completely original model of the Van Alstyne plow, manufactured in Red Deer. While the Van Alstyne plow is similar to the Hough product, it's not the same; and Mr Court hopes to find either a complete plow hidden away in someone's bushes, or enough parts from a number of areas to reconstruct an authentic model. The picture above, incidentally, was loaned to the Provincial Archives by Mrs. Julia Jacobsen, while Mr. Court also said valuable help was provided by Martin Hendrickson.

The Kingman Silver Club met on Aug. 23 and played bingo. In spite of stormy weather and muddy roads 17 members attended. Ten games of bingo were played, part of the money given for prizes and part went into the treasury. Membership cards had arrived from the printer, silver ink on white cards, and all 17 present took out their memberships. Fees are $1.00 to the end of 1978. After that $2.00 per year. Officers were elected as follows: President, Elwood Flemming, Secretary, Hazel Anderson; Treasurer, Gertrude Asp. Madelon Bronnum will handle the publicity, programs, and lunch chairmanship for the next two months. Charter members are as follows: Hazel Anderson, Gertrude and Bertil Asp, Irene and Willie Bjorgum, Madelon and Morgan Bronnum, Thelma and Elwood Flemming, Bill Ingram, Rosie and Joe Kozack, Steve Moskewich, Jessie and Martin Peterson.

A kindergarten meeting was held at the hall on Aug. 31st in the evening with approximately 12 people in attendance. A general discussion took place. Who Can Be a Donor?

Anyone over 18 years of age. If you have questions about the medical acceptance of any or all of your organs or tissues, ask your doctor.

Is There Any Age Limit For Donors?

If deposited. Kidneys and other vital organs come from people under 60 years of age. Cornea and pituitary donations are usually possible at any age.

Does Consenting to be a Donor Guarantee That My Donation Will Be Used?

No. Several factors can affect whether or not you will be able to donate: the physical condition of your body at the time of your death, the circumstance of death, the timing involved. Contrary to many beliefs, most organs and tissues cannot be preserved or stored indefinitely.

Will Donating Organs Affect Funeral or Burial Arrangements?

No. Removal of donated organs will not cause disfigurement of the body or interfere with customary funeral or burial arrangements. If you donate your body to medical research, burial arrangements can be made with the research institution.

Do I Have to Mention Organ Donorship in My Will?

No. An organ donor card witnessed by two persons (preferably next-of-kin) is a legal document. By the time a will is probated, it is too late to carry out the donation of organs and tissues.

What If I Change My Mind?

If for some reason or another you decide to change your mind, just destroy your donor consent card and let your family know that you no longer wish to be a donor.

Is There Anything Else I can Do to Help The Essential Program?

You can let others know about it, but please remember that it is a very personal decision.

Where Can I Get More Information?

Just write to one of the following addresses for a copy of the program pamphlet: Communications Office, Solicitor General Department, 6th Floor Melton Building, 10310 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton T5J 1Y8, or Communications Office Alberta Social Services and Community Health, 11th Floor, Seventh St. Plaza, 10030 - 107 Street, Edmonton, T5J 3E4.

Nominations due for Wheat Board Advisory Committee

George Turner, Co-ordinator of the upcoming election for the Advisory Com- [illegible] Board, has reminded producers that the deadline for nominations is September 15.

Information brochures containing nomination forms and outlining election procedures were mailed to all Wheat Board permit book holders in early July. Anyone listed as an actual producer or an interested party in a 1978-79 permit book can be nominated as a candidate in the election provided they are a Canadian citizen or permanent resident and reside in the Wheat Board designated area. Candidates need not reside in their election district. They require the witnessed signatures of 25 actual producers on their nomination form, and a $100 deposit.

This year's election is the second to select the 11-member Producer Advisory Committee. The vote will be by mail - in ballot between November 15 and November 30.

Graftaas's mark 60th anniversary

The Three Links Hall was the scene of a very special occasion in the lives of Ted and Rae's Graftaas on Aug. 13th when they celebrated their Golden wedding. They were charming host and hostess to about 250 guests present.

Their family consisting of Norman and Iva Hurdle of Calgary, Jim and his family of Camrose and Mavis (Mrs. Colin McKay of Halifax, Nova Scotia) were all present. Also present were Ted's brother, Roy Graftaas and his son Stan from Gonvich, Minnesota, and nieces Esther Hattenbach from Sioux City, Iowa and Florence Yundt of Mundelein, Illinois. Also present were many old friends and neighbors from Ryley, Edmonton, Calgary, Wainwright, Lethbridge and Tofield.

Telegrams were received from Morley Nord of Ottawa, Colin McKay and family of Halifax, Nora McArthur from St. Catherine's, Ontario and long distance calls from Ted's sister in Oakdale, California and others from Pelican Rapids, Minn., and Parkam, Ont. Congratulatory letters and scrolls were also received from provincial and federal governments officials.

Mrs. Dora Ogrodnick, niece of the bride, was an efficient chairman for the short program which included a solo by Iva Cazacu and a story of the Graftaas life and tribute to them by Mrs. Edith Solberg, a long time friend. Mrs. Harriet Ruddy then made a presentation from Tavell Rebekah Lodge of Ryley in these two valued members.

Gordon Stromberg brought greetings from the provincial government.

This was followed by a time of memories by Ray Pundle of Calgary and Mrs. Ogrodnick and a few words from Stan Graftaas.

The hall was tastefully arranged and a beautiful wedding cake made and decorated by a friend, Mrs. Ruth Bratrud centered the head table.

The Rebekahs under a committee consisting of sisters Elsie Lindholm, Mildred Wilson and Helen Wagner served a delicious lunch in their usual efficient manner.

This was followed by more visiting with guests in no hurry to depart. Following the party all the relatives and a few old time friends gathered at the home of the honored couple for further fellowship.

On Aug. 25 as a thank you to all, the Rebekahs who worked at their party, they entertained at a tea party at their home.

Arena operation major role of Tofield Ag. Society

The Tofield and District Agricultural Society was formed in 1972 and since that time has undertaken three major roles in the community. Namely the operation of the Tofield Ice Arena, coordination of the annual July 1st Sports Day activities, and sponsorship of the Agricultural Fair held August.

With respect to the arena, ice time is rented at a subsidized rate to the Minor Hockey and Figure Skating Clubs, who are responsible for their own scheduling. Senior Hockey and Old-Timers Clubs also operate out of the Tofield Arena. As with most recreation facilities, the concession is the one "money-maker" consequently parents and adult users are asked to donate their time working in the concession a few times each winter.

The Ag Society also cooperates closely with the Historical Society and Arts and Crafts Club who have their Museum and activity room respectively housed in the recently built addition to the arena.

Board of Directors meetings, held the fourth Monday of each month in the arena, are open to the public. Elections to the board and the executive are held at the annual meeting in January, an excellent time for any person wanting to become closely involved in Ag. Society activities to do so.

Any interested community member is welcome to attend our meetings and memberships only cost one dollar.

More information can be obtained from any of the following people: Andy Hesberg, President; Lawrence Kalbf, first vice-pres.; Don Litwin, second vice pres.; Linda Sears, secretary; or Hans Christensen, treasurer.

Tofield Lodge News

by Agnes Anderson

Sorry to report that quite a number of our guests have been confined to the lodge suffering from the Flu bug. We hope all will be back to normal soon.

Welcome back John Bergan to our humble home! Glad to hear you had such a pleasant holiday.

Our handicraft room is really a busy place these days. Those willing workers, male and female, are working like troopers - quilting, rug making, wood work, it seems to be the order of the day. Those 'old faithfuls' hope to have their work completed for our Fall Bazaar.

Mrs. Pewar of Camrose visited with the Lawsons recently.

Mrs. Serdar, accompanied by her daughter, left for an extended visit with her sister in Vernon, B.C.

Mrs. Edith Bailey has returned from Edmonton where she has been visiting for a few days with members of her family. While there, she thoroughly enjoyed a ride on the transit bus.

Mrs. L. Lerbekmo enjoyed a pleasant visit for several days with her brother and relatives in Portland, Oregon.

Mrs. Soetens and some friends went shopping in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bonner of Camrose visited with Mrs. Erickson.

Mr. Harrison enjoyed a visit with his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harrison from Edmonton.

OF WHOM THE WORLD WAS NOT WORTHY
by Bonnie Glasgow
A TRUE STORY
"This is war" said the gray-clad officer. "The only place you will be safe is in the grave."
Marie Chapian went to Yugoslavia and interviewed peasants, gypsies, factory workers, doctors, laborers, and officials of the Communist party. She wanted to know how the Christians' faith was sustained through these terrible years of war, famine and cold. She learned that they had simply clung to God with an almost incredible faith. This book is their story.

Recreation courses planned

by Colleen Walker
Program Supervisor

The fall brochure of programs will be out October 1st, with details such as times, places, dates of all programs. You will notice the amount of programs is quite limited in comparison to other years. The reason for this is because we haven't heard from communities, so we take this as an indication programs are not wanted.

This year we will also be requesting that registrations accompanied by fees, be sent in one week prior to the starting date. Courses will be cancelled if a minimum of registrations are not received.

Fall courses that are planned are as follows:

Tofield - Curling Clinic, Social Dance, Badminton.

Ryley - Curling Clinic, Loom Weaving, Badminton.

Holden - Sketching, Social Dance, Badminton.

Bruce - Keep Fit (both ladies and men), Badminton.

Viking - Ladies Keep Fit, Social Dance, Latin American Dance, Men's Fitness, Curling Clinic.

Kinsella - Ladies Keep Fit.

PRE-SCHOOLER PROGRAM
A four week pre-schooler program for children will be held Tuesday mornings, 9:30 - 11:30 a.m., October 10-31. The program will include activities such as arts and crafts, music and dance, playground games, drama, gym, exploration of the natural world and sensory skills, taught by Mrs. Wilma Erickson. Fee for the course will be $14.00 per child. Minimum number of children required before the program will be run.

For more information contact Colleen at 663-3726.

SENIOR CITIZENS
On Monday, 45 senior citizens will be leaving for the fall tour to Calgary, Waterton Parks, and Lethbridge. A chartered bus complete with air conditioning, bathroom facilities and driver, will be taking us on the tour.

The following paper will have news on the trip, if anyone fell off the boat at Waterton Park, if we lost anyone, and what the Lethbridge seniors entertained us with.

Protein grading of wheat

Two new grades of high protein wheat have been introduced for the 1978-79 crop year

The new grades — Extra 1 and Extra 2 Canada Western Red Spring wheat — were introduced August 1 and implemented on August 21 when the quota for the new grades was announced

The quota established by the Canadian Wheat Board for all points in western Canada is 80 kilograms per quota acre

In order to qualify for the new grades, the wheat must have a protein content of 15 per cent or more

If the protein content meets the required level, the initial payment for Extra 1 will be $3.27 per tonne over the ordinary grade. Payments for the Extra 2 grade will be $3.00 per tonne over the ordinary grade.

Canadian wheat has in the past been sold abroad on the basis of specific levels of protein But the extra revenue was then distributed to all producers

Protein grading is being introduced to ensure that producers who grow high protein wheat benefit directly from the higher sales returns

A limited experimental program two years ago showed that farmers growing the high protein wheat could benefit from the introduction of high protein grades This limited program did show however, that in order to work effectively, samples of the grain should be tested before the grain is unloaded at the country elevator

The sample should be representative of the grain in the bin to be hauled. One method is to take small samples from the grain as the bin is filled These can then be mixed and submitted to the elevator.

A number of protein testing centers have been set up by the grain industry in each of the three Prairie Provinces The samples taken to the elevator by the farmer are sent to these centers for a protein analysis and a grade.

Ryley Brownies can't find space

Last year, some ambitious mothers started a Brownie group in Ryley.

They were able to use the kindergarten room at the school. Due to a projected increase in enrolment, this facility will not be big enough.

Attempts have been made to find larger facilities, to no avail. The school needs the gym for extra curricular activities. The Lutheran Church building is also booked. The Ryley Lions Club wants full rental charges for the use of the community hall every meeting. The Brownies are a non profit volunteer organization and can't afford this. The situation is similar at the Legion regarding rental charges.

It will be a great shame if this group folds because they can't find a "home". Other Brownies in other towns are supported or sponsored by their service clubs.

Our girls are waiting for your help or suggestions. Phone Seena at 663-3881 or Phyllis at 663-3974.

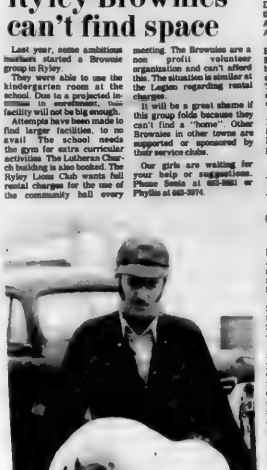
New church opens Oct. 1

Rev. Harald Thronsen, Pastor of the Sherwood Park Alliance Church, will begin services in the Tofield Community Hall, commencing on Sunday, October 1, at 2.30 p.m.

Services will be held every Sunday afternoon during October. In November, a Sunday School and morning service will be added.

Rev. Thronsen has pastored in Sherwood Park for 7½ years. During that time his church has become involved in establishing two new churches, one in Fort Saskatchewan and one in Leduc. He sees Tofield as an expanding area with great opportunity for a thriving growing church.

Anyone in the area, looking for a church home, is cordially invited to join.



It's a biggie

Puff balls come in all sizes and shapes. This giant one weighed in at just over thirty-six pounds and was found on an acreage four miles west of Tofield. Holding the giant is John Tiedemann.

Ryley gives grant

Councillor Kops told fellow councillors that the Community Playground Group had requested a grant of $1,000 for playground uses.

Council authorised a grant of $1,000 to be forwarded to the Local Recreation Board for use on playground expenditures.

Building permits were granted to Nick Keenan, Peter Kelsher, R. Dryden, and to Jim Cleary, all for new dwellings for construction of a storage shed.

Accounts presented for payment were approved.

Minutes of special meetings held on August 15 and August 17 were approved.

Minutes of a regular meeting held on July 26th were approved, as corrected.

Other routine business matters were handled by councillors.

Information for this news story was obtained from the unapproved minutes of a village council meeting held on August 30th.

Hunters cause problems

The hunting season has created problems for landowners in the County of Beaver, and RCMP are receiving numerous complaints.

Fourteen complaints have been received from property owners of hunters trespassing on private land, and shooting indiscriminately at non-hunting targets.

RCMP are urging property owners to try and get the license numbers of the vehicles used by these hunters before telephoning the police, so that police have something to work on if the hunters leave before they arrive.

RCMP are also urging drivers to proceed with caution as wild animals are often on the roads, causing a considerable number of accidents.

A vehicle operated by Ray Carlisle struck a moose last week on a secondary road, [illegible] 43E Miles West of Tofield. At least three deer were killed in other collisions.

RCMP report that they have been using the ALERT program during the past week with considerable success.

Two impaired drivers were apprehended during the past week.

VANDALISM

Vandalism continues to be a major problem in the area.

Len Gartner reported that about $500 in damages were suffered by his beehives, on his property one mile south of the campground.

Leo Esser of Tofield reported that his fence was damaged when a vehicle drove into it, and failed to remain on the scene.

Christine Mackay reported that windows and doors were broken at her brother's home, located two miles south of Poe.

Stewart Helfrich reported a break, enter and theft on his abandoned farm, south of Holden. An undetermined number of items were taken.

Three Tofield residents were charged with creating a disturbance and refusing to leave a licensed premise.

In all, forty-two complaints were received by the RCMP during the past week.

SCRAP CRAFT

Some people call them odd and discarded materials. Others refer to them as secondhand, odds and ends, or substitute materials. Still others have been known to describe them as waste or junk or trash.

It is interesting to observe that our children are pioneers in the technique of using scrap materials. For boys, it has always been a simple matter to build a scooter by cleverly joining a pair of old roller skates to a sturdy board equipped with an old box. For girls, it has always been just as easy to make a doll from mother's material remnants and bits of wool and thread always found about the house

Craftsmen and hobbyists who love to make things in their home workshops will also find it both expedient and advantageous to build up a good scrap pile of various odd and discarded materials. For example, an old shelf board can easily be converted into a beautiful bookcase, a shoe shine box, and many other useful articles for the home. Similarly, old felt hats can be transformed into such gifts as change purses, bookmarks, table mats, and so forth, and many other excellent project ideas.

As many of you have probably realized through these columns, it becomes apparent that I am really not one of those "crafty types". I can't make my own design, but I buy a pattern instead and when it comes to being creative, oh boy! I feel arts and crafts are a very big part of recreation- - sports are not our only job. So, if you have any ideas on scrap crafts and how to make something out of nothing — pass them along. The article above is taken from the book, "Scrap Craft" by Michael Dank

Heavy rains falling during the past week to ten days has brought harvesting of the 1978 crop to a complete standstill, with no chance of resumption for at least another week.

According to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool, rainfall ranged from seven to fifty-seven millimeters during a one-week period, which ended on Thursday, and rain has fallen on a daily basis since then.

Conditions in the fields are such that it will take at least one week before the ground is dry enough to support the weight of harvesting equipment.

In the meantime, a new problem is developing as a lot of second growth is forming in the swaths, which will make it difficult to pick up.

Cutting of flax, rye and rapeseed has been completed by farmers in the Daysland area while 90 percent of the barley has been cut, and wheat and oats are eighty percent cut.

Threshing of rye has been completed with an estimated yield of 502 kilograms per acre. Eighty percent of the rapeseed has been threshed. Barley stands at ten percent threshed while a start has been made to oats and barley, and nothing has been done to the flax crop.

Rye in the Camrose region has been completely harvested, yielding an average of 1,000 kilograms per acre.

Almost all of the rapeseed has been cut. Ninety percent of the wheat and barley has been cut and 70 percent of the oats crop is cut, while little more than a start was made to flax

Sixty percent of the rape crop has been threshed. One-fifth of the barley has been threshed while threshing of wheat and oats stand at ten and five percent, and a start is still to be made on flax.

All of the rye in the Holden area has been cut with 60 percent of the crop having been threshed.

Sixty percent of the rape crop is cut. Forty percent of the barley is cut with the other crops being 30 percent cut. Thirty percent of the rapeseed has been threshed, and a start made to wheat and barley.

Ryley district farmers have cut nearly all of the rape crop with three-quarters having been threshed.

Three-quarters of all other crops have been cut but, only fifteen percent of the barley and ten percent of the oats has been threshed, with a start having been made to the wheat crop.

Round Hill farmers report that nearly all of the rapeseed has been cut although slightly less than one-half has been threshed.

Sixty to sixty-five percent of oats and barley are cut while 40 percent of the wheat is cut. One-quarter of the barley has been threshed and ten percent of the oats crop has been harvested.

Nearly all of the Ryley rapeseed crop has been cut with seventy percent having been harvested.

Cutting of other crops is a bit slower, with 60 percent of the wheat down while barley and oats are at 30 and 10 percent, and only a small start has been made with threshing operations.

Tofield farmers report that nearly percent of the rape crop has been cut with forty-five percent already threshed.

Seventy percent of wheat and barley, along with 45 percent of oats has been cut, with only barley showing a small start on threshing operations.

Potluck at Berrecloths

Last Sunday the United Church gathered at Lillian and Bob Berrecloth's home for a potluck dinner. Over 60 people did justice to the beautiful meal and enjoyed the surrounding sunny trees, pastel plants and flowers.

Afterwards, all were invited to tour the gardens, a riot of color and feast for the eyes. Lillian invited the ladies to chose glads and sweet peas to take home and after cutting huge bouquets for the Tofield Lodge there were still dozens of beautiful blooms left

The children enjoyed the swings and roaming in the woods while their elders visited.

Before leaving everyone expressed their thanks to the Berrecloths for the pleasant afternoon amid such beautiful surroundings.

The flowers that the Berrecloths bring to brighten our sanctuary week after week, are greatly appreciated as well.

Bride-elect feted with Bardo shower

by Grace Phillips

Miss Janet Schacher, bride-elect of Brady Marshall, was honored with a bridal shower in the Bardo Luncheon Church, organized by the Lutheran Women, on Sept. 8.

The bride's table, suitably decorated with flowers, was set against a backdrop of blue and white wedding bells and lovebirds. The bride's corsage featuring a yellow orchid, had been made by Elna Heiberg. Seated with the bride were three of her attendants-to-be, Mrs Anita Martin, matron of honor, Miss Karen Jacobsen, and Miss Teri Johnson, bridesmaids. Two other bridesmaids, Miss Shannon Brady and Miss Sandra Pike were unable to attend. The mothers of the bride and groom, Mrs Liz Schacher and Mrs Edna Marshall shared the spotlight with the bridal party.

Mrs. Bernice Heiberg conducted a brief devotional period and Mrs. Evelyne Stauffer gave a reading concerning marriage.

After the lovely gifts had been presented by Rochelle Rude and Tracey Riel, Janet thanked the ladies who had organized the shower, as well as the donors of the many gifts.

During the social hour which followed, the sixty ladies enjoyed the lunch provided by the Lutheran ladies.

Janet is the daughter of Liz and Stan Schacher, Brady is the son of Edna and Lynn Marshall. All are from Tofield

After their marriage, Janet and Brady will be living in Drayton Valley where Brady is employed

How Do You Find Your Frozen Fish?

It has been suggested that we add more fish to our diet. For most of us the fish we add will be frozen fish.

How can you tell that a package of frozen fish is of prime quality? Brenda MacKenzie Consumer Consultant, Dept. of Fisheries suggests the following guidelines.

— Buy frozen fish products which have been government inspected at the plant level, identified by a line drawing of the maple leaf enclosing the words CANADA INSPECTED.

— Purchase well known and well cared for brands of frozen fishery products.

— Purchase from a merchant who retails frozen fish from clean cabinets with easy-to-read temperature indicators, who keeps frozen fish below the "fill" line in the cabinets! and who has a good turnover of his stock.

— Select packages which are hard frozen, undamaged, and free from frost.

— Select frozen fish just before going to the checkout counter. Take it directly home and use at once or place in the freezer. Avoid keeping it longer than a day or two in the refrigerator ice cube compartment where temperature ranges are far above 0 degrees F.

The thought today about cooking fish is, "if you cook it frozen, you serve it fresh." Cooking without previous thawing results in juicier, more flavourful products, because the natural juices are retained. You might try:

CRISPY BAKED FILLETS
1 pound frozen fish fillets
½ c. evaporated milk
½ tsp salt
2 tsp. lemon juice
½ c. crushed cornflakes
Butter
Cut frozen fillets into 3 or 4 portions. Combine evaporated milk, salt and lemon juice in a shallow dish. Dip fillet portions in milk, then coat with crushed cornflakes. Place in greased baking pan. Dot with butter. Bake in a hot oven (450 degree F). Allow 20 minutes cooking time per inch thickness. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Falkenberg urges broad water policy

Responsible management of the province's water resources should be a provincial priority, Unifarm President Howard Falkenberg of Camrose said today in support of his request for a meeting between provincial cabinet ministers and farm leaders on the broad subject of water use.

The Unifarm president hopes such a meeting could be a first step towards finding a means of avoiding further conflicts between water resource use and agricultural producers.

Mr. Falkenberg said controversies over water storage, sewage lagoons, flooding and even ownership of aquifers have reached the agricultural community in recent years, and should be resolved by an overall, comprehensive policy that clearly defines and regulates all aspects of water use in the province.

For too long, he said, we have responded to immediate concerns but have not applied forward-thinking to the future of the province's most valuable resource.

Flooding of farm lands located along Atim Creek between Spruce Grove and Big Lake is an example of inefficient management that allows urban communities to pass their water problems along to rural neighbors, Mr Falkenberg said.

Farmers living along the creek have been able to cope with spring floods and occasional summer storm problems since the area was settled. However, the growth of urban communities in the area has increased the volume on the creek to the point where many farm fields are unusable year after year as a result of persistent flooding.

The creek, choked by beaver dams in its upper reaches, cannot handle storm water run-off from neighboring urban communities, compounded by additional water from a residential dewatering program and periodic sewage lagoon releases.

The consequent flooding of farm lands should be the responsibility of communities contributing to the problem and enforced by the provincial government, the farm leader insisted. He added that no farmer should be expected to absorb the expense of unproductive land to serve the convenience of urban neighbors.

The Unifarm president disputes the need for a major engineering project to solve the problem. Removal of beavers and a few days work with heavy machinery removing dams, coupled with rigidly-enforced controls on urban use of the system would put several hundred acres of farm land back into viable production, Mr Falkenberg said.

The Atim Creek situation, he said, is an example of lack of direction in provincial water use planning that was also clearly evident by the reaction of residents in the vicinity of proposed water storage projects in the Red Deer and Pincher Creek areas recently.

It is in hope of avoiding similar conflicts in the future that prompted the Unifarm president to call for immediate government attention to the many problems related to water use

FALL WARBLE AND LOUSE CONTROL

Now is the time to check your cattle herd for grubs as these critters can cause a producer major direct losses resulting in reduced gains and milk production.

Since the weak link in the warbles life cycle occurs in the fall, this is generally the best time to treat animals to kill grubs before they cause major damage. Cattle in the area can be treated with systemic insecticides from mid-September to December 1. Cattle should not be treated is December, January or February because side reactions, caused by the death of the grubs at this interval in the life cycle, can occur.

Alberta Agriculture's entomologist and pest control specialist, Michael Dolinski, urges farmers to check their cattle during the next three months for warbles and lice.

He points out that inspectors will be checking all cattle going through auction mart to eliminate markets this spring for warbles. Any animals with warbles that are not destined for slaughter will be treated before they leave the premises at the seller's expense Warble infested cattle that arrive at community pastures this summer will be either sent home or treated at the owner's expense, before being allowed to enter the premises.

"Cattle which have lice," says Mr. Dolinski, "make poor gains and can become anemic." Anemic animals are more susceptible than others to stress and disease

Mr Dolinski recommends checking for warbles by running your hand over an animal's back to see if there are any lumps Lumps contain warble grubs If there are only a few lumps, you can either squeeze out the grubs or treat the animal with Rotenone. If either of these methods, you should check for additional grubs every two weeks until the end of May.

Although cattle that scratch often have lice, this is not always the case When checking for lice you should look carefully at the area around the animal's eyes and along the jaw bone. If a white-faced animal has a moderate to heavy infestation, you will see what look like bluish patches on its face (especially around the eyes) from a distance of two or three feet. With a dark-faced animal, the only means of finding out whether it has lice is to put it in a chute and check its head and neck by parting the hair.

BEEF CATTLE — The most appropriate way to treat an animal with more than a couple of grubs is with a systemic insecticide. Systemics will also control lice.

The following table shows the types of treatments that can be used to control warbles and lice.

Treatment	Controls Warbles	Controls Lice
Pour-On
Systemic (eg. Negaver)	Yes	Yes
Non-Systemic (only product Korlan 2)	No	Yes
Spot-on (only product Tigavon)	Yes	Yes
SPRAYS
Systemic (eg. Co-Ral)	Yes	Yes
Non-Systemic (eg. Malathion)	No	Yes*
Backwash (only product Rotenone)	Yes (must be rubbed into hair)	Yes*
Hand Dusting
Non-Systemic (eg. Ciodrin)	No	Yes*
(No Systemics available)

* Only works if in direct contact with lice. Follow label directions for application rates and restrictions.

Dairy Cattle

Milking dairy cattle should not be treated with a systemic insecticide unless you are prepared not to use the milk for the number of days specified on the product label.

Dry and young dairy animals can be treated for warbles and lice in the same way as beef animals, but there are important restrictions relating to the waiting periods between treatment and calving, the use of milk for human consumption and slaughter.

The following table shows the methods that can be used to treat milking dairy cows.

Treatment	Controls Warbles	Controls Lice
Spray
Non-Systemic (eg. Malathion)	No	Yes*
Backwash (only product Rotenone)	Yes	Yes*
Hand Dusting (eg. Ciodrin)	No	Yes*

* Only works if in direct contact with lice. Follow label directions for application rates and restrictions.

CLC staff expanding

The arrival of the college's first full-time librarian, the addition of a new full-time member of the English Department, and new appointments in the High School department constitute the major changes in the CLC faculty roster for 1978-79. The net effect of additions, departures, sabbatical leaves and faculty members returning from sabbatical leaves is that the college will have three more full-time members this year than last.

Dr. Harry Vincent Prest joins the CLC faculty as an Assistant Professor of English Literature. A 29 year old native of Saskatchewan, Dr. Prest obtained his Bachelor's Degree with High Honours in English and History from the University of Saskatchewan in 1971 and earned a Master's Degree from the same university in the following year. During the past year he taught in the English Department at the University of Lethbridge.

Harry and his wife, Patricia, are expecting their first child in October.

Mr. Carl Betke joins the institution as its first full-time historian. Professor Vincent Eriksson, an historian who has been teaching at the college for years, has always divided his teaching load among Philosophy, Religious Studies and History.) Mr. Betke was born in Kelowna, B.C. in 1946 and obtained a Bachelor's Degree from the University of British Columbia in 1968. He earned a Master's Degree in History from the University of Alberta in 1971 and is currently in the last stages of a Ph.D program at that University. He has taught previously at the University of Victoria (1974-75) and since 1975 has been employed as an Assistant Historian for the RCMP.

He has published several articles on the history of Western Canada and as an RCMP historian was involved in the preparation of the

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my wife, Alice Ahearn, who passed away on Sept 16, 1977

Softly the leaves of memory fall
And gently the winds of sorrow blow
All unseen, unheard she is always near Still loved, still missed and very dear

Many times I've needed you
So many times I've cried
As I walk through a lonely life without you

Sadly missed by husband, Richard, children, Ann and Bob, Gordon, Gary and Debbie, grandchildren, Chris and Tami 2p-1246

In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Frank, who passed away Sept 16, 1976

Often a lonely heartache
Many a silent tear
But always a beautiful memory
Of one we loved so dear

Lost, remembered and sadly missed by his loving wife, Pat, children and grandchildren 2p-1247

Wideman's have family reunion

On the weekend of Aug. 20, 125 members of the Will Wideman family gathered at the Overlander Resort near Jasper All 13 of the living children of the immediate family were present, including those from a distance, namely, Eva Brenneman of Hesston, Kansas, Esther Hansen of Langley, B C ; and Sam of Beaverlodge, Alberta

An enjoyable time was spent in visiting, reminiscing, swimming, displaying and auctioning a number of crafts and getting reacquainted, especially with the younger additions to the family, which now numbers 75 grandchildren, 108 great-grandchildren and 4 great-great grandchildren.

The worship service on Sunday morning was led by Ron Lehman of Spruce Grove This included an object lesson for the children by Lillian Lehman and an inspiring testimony given by Grace Wideman of Beaverlodge

On Monday, T M and Eva Brenneman and Salgaard and Esther Hansen arrived in the Tofield and Camrose area to spend a week visiting friends and relatives.

At the end of the week the festivities were brought to a climax by a housewarming party at the new home of Willie Widemans. An added feature was the early celebration of T.M.'s birthday before leaving for the States.

"It's an experiment . . . I m trying to get her to give skim milk."

Change bird game rules

OTTAWA — Several significant changes to bag and possession limits highlight the 1978 Migratory Birds Regulations for the Prairie provinces The regulations were announced by the Canadian Wildlife Service, Environment Canada.

In Alberta, bag and possession limits on ducks are drastically reduced Only four ducks can be bagged and eight possessed — half the limits allowed last year.

Season dates are slightly altered from those of last year. In Alberta in Zone 8, the season on ducks, rails, coots, Wilson's snipe, and all geese except Canada and white-fronted geese runs from Sept. 8 to Nov. 25.

All hunters except Inuit and Indians must have a migratory game bird hunting permit This can be obtained from post offices across the Prairies at a cost of $3 50 The Post offices also display posters of the hunting regulations and distribute abstracts of these regulations. The Canadian Wildlife Service urges all hunters to buy their permits early this year

Hunters are asked to keep careful records of their daily bag on the card attached to the permit This will help them complete the harvest survey questionnaire which some of them will receive at the end of the season. Information from the questionnaire is used to set season dates and bag and possession limits for the following year.

Mercury wins provincial honours

The Mercury was a double award winner over the past weekend when weekly newspaper people held their annual convention in Edmonton

In picking up the two awards, The Mercury equalled its entire winning record of the past as the paper had won individual awards in 1969 and 1976.

The most important award won over the weekend came when The Mercury was named as the third best "All Around" paper in its category in the province The Mercury competes in a category with other weeklies whose circulation is between 1,500 and 2,999

The Mercury's third place finish marked the first time it has ever reached the top three in the All Around competition

A third place showing in the "Best Editorial Page" competition gave The Mercury its second victory in the year-long competition.

The Mercury was second in Best Editorial Page competition in 1976 and was third in Best Front Page competition in 1969

Eleven weeklies from all across the province were entered in the same category as The Mercury Other weeklies with the same circulation did not choose to enter this year's competition

The two awards were presented to the paper's publisher, C.A. 'Chuck' MacLean. Editor Ed Clinton was unable to attend the awards ceremony

The Mercury's advertising manager, Dan W T Barr was a double winner during the weekend convention, although his awards were won in conjunction with another paper

Two of Mr Barr's advertising efforts in The Camrose Canadian resulted in him being presented with two plaques

Mr Barr received the Cowie Sales Shield for original and effective use of colour in advertising, and was presented with the United Farmers Trophy for excellence in creative advertising

The Mercury's sister paper, The Camrose Canadian, received three awards, having had the second best editorial page in its circulation class, and two photographs printed in The Canadian won second and third place awards in "spot news" and "feature photography" for photographer Steve Coop Mr. Coop has taken pictures and written news stories for The Mercury

Earlier this month, two prisoners in the Tofield Jail went on a rampage and did considerable damage. This was all that remained of a toilet bowl after it was thrown out of the cell

Tofield newcomers welcomed at supper

by Grace Phillips

Reviving a custom initiated several years ago by the Tofield Community League, a "Welcome Supper" to honor newcomers to the Tofield area was sponsored by the Tofield Agricultural Society on Wednesday, September 13 in the Community Centre

About 200 people participated in this community effort. Members of the Lions' Club registered the guests, the Garden Club and Unifarm organized the pot-luck supper; the Teen Club set up the tables

After the bountiful pot-luck supper had been enjoyed, Ed Regehr, as Chairman of the Hall Board of the Town Council, welcomed and introduced the new residents present. He called on the M.L.A for this area, Dr Walter Buck, who promised to do anything he could to solve any problems the newcomers might encounter

Andy Heiberg, president of Tofield Agricultural Society explained the aims and achievements of that society.

Charles Sears, County of Beaver councillor, welcomed the newcomers on behalf of the council and on behalf of the County of Beaver Board of Education, described the new school soon to be built in Tofield to accommodate the increased enrolment Councillor Marie Worten, speaking in place of Mayer Dr. Freebury who was unable to attend, welcomed the newcomers and also the old-timers who had come out to extend Tofield's welcome. Mrs. Worten, a nurse for many years in the Tofield Hospital, assured the newcomers that, should they need it, excellent medical care was available locally and that in the hospital, plenty of T.L.C (tender loving care) was standard treatment.

On behalf of those who had been welcomed into the community, Rev Leonard Sagge thanked the Agricultural Society for the supper and commended them for the construction and operation of the Arena. He also commented that the Tender Loving Care [illegible] of the Tofield area.

The evening's entertainment was provided by the Tofield Fire Dep t Deputy Fire Chief Doug Morris introduced Lester Hansen, who had recently cut a record in Nashville, and his musical group A member of the group, David Hanson sang "Welcome to My World" as a tribute to the welcome he had received in Tofield. He also sang "Scarborough Fair" and closed the program with "Amazing Grace".

After the well-received program, Ed Regehr reinforced his earlier welcome to those present and extended it to those newcomers who had not been able to attend.

Cadets enjoyed camps

Accounts of exciting experiences at various summer training camps were enthusiastically exchanged last Thursday evening, when members of the Nootka Sea Cadet Corps got together at Holden for the first parade of the 1978-79 season

Several of the local cadets were fortunate enough to attend the camps, located in various centers across Canada. Making friends with other teenagers from distant provinces, and finding they all had much in common, was one of the facts brought forward in the stories Thursday evening.

Kevin Stefura and Kenneth Murray of Ryley, Gayleen Keith of Holden, and Murray Josephison of Viking attended a General Training Camp at Cornwallis, Nova Scotia

There they put in long hours on the parade square practicing the military drills, and acquired experience in seamanship while sailing on whalers in the Bay of Fundy. Off duty time was spent in touring some of the neighboring Nova Scotian towns.

Scott Taylor of Viking, Yvonne Scherger and Patricia Ducharme of Holden attended the Basic Sailing course held at Gimli, Manitoba. The sea cadets were joined by army and air cadets from across the nation, and spent nearly the entire time learning seamanship skills, sports activities were an enjoyable segment of the course as well

Doug Brower of Viking, Evonne Macahonic and Denna Lehr of Holden spent a very hot (weatherwise) time at the Vernon, B C training camp learning fundamental military skills, doing map and compass work, and practicing their marksmanship on the rifle range. A three-day bush survival trip was one of the highlights of their course. Exchange cadets from the United States were also present at this camp.

The Cadet Leadership course in Whitehorse, Yukon, kept Michael Kropielnicki of Ryley busy learning drills on the parade square, as well as practicing his rifle range skills This was a six-week course, two weeks of which was spent in deep bush country learning survival techniques

Kim Kowalchuk of Holden attended Camp Wright at Athabasca, Alberta, and gave a glowing report of his time there Kim feels he gained useful knowledge and experience in canoe handling and safety, as well as bush survival techniques gleaned when they endured a four-day back-packing trek through the bush.

Eric Schaning of Holden spent eight weeks at H.M.C.S. Quadra in Comox, B.C. attending the Boatswain Course A total of three weeks was spent at sea on several different types of vessels, and much experience was gained while performing the various seamanship duties Most of the remaining time was spent doing parade drill and gunnery exercises.

Also at Quadra, on a General Training Course, was Kenneth Ludwig of Holden, who gained some sailing experience as well as learning basic military training drills

Jack Ducharme of Holden attended the Cadet Leadership Course in Vernon, B.C., for six weeks, where he received leadership training small arms training, parade drill and survival training.

Despite the fact that there were a few cases of mild "homesickness", most of the cadets agreed that the camp experience was exciting and worthwhile, and nearly all are looking forward to going again next year

The newest addition to The Mercury's writing family is Marlene Sinclair of Ryley, who will be covering news of that community from now on Anyone wishing to get in touch with her should call her at the number listed in this week's Ryley news column

A CHALLENGE TO ALL

We're delighted

The results of the annual competitions held by the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association were announced in Edmonton over the past weekend, and quite frankly, we were delighted.

The Mercury won two awards, which equalled our total wins of previous years. We feel that this year's results are proof that our efforts to continue improving the quality of the paper are succeeding.

While delighted with our award in the "best editorial page" competition, we were even happier with our win in the "best all around" competition, because this reflects improvement front front to back, and not just in certain areas.

Much of the credit for The Mercury's improvement during recent years, and especially in the past year, belongs to our readers. It is their contribution in the way of news and pictures that has helped to advance the readability of the paper. We would be remiss if we did not extend a very sincere "thank you" to everyone who has helped to make the paper a success.

What about the future?

The aim of this newspaper is to continue to improve in quality and content, to increase the amount of news coverage, to increase the number of pictures used in each edition, and to generally do a better job of informing our readers of exactly what is happening in their communities.

With your help, we'll succeed.

Win both ways

Ed Broadbent recently took a broadside swing at both the Liberals and the Conservatives, claiming both were in favor of reducing employment, and cutting down on the number of government workers, just at the time government should be creating more jobs. Certainly if the NDP were in a position to control policies, he indicated, one of their first considerations would be the creation of more jobs to reduce unemployment.

We thoroughly agree that unemployment is a serious problem across the nation, but we've never been too sure that the creation of jobs was the responsibility of the government. Indeed, we've seen the same government roundly criticized by the Opposition for having too many people, especially unproductive people, on the government payroll. And for expanding the bureaucracy too much.

Rather, it seems to us, government should be looking at a number of areas in which it can help business establish the kind of atmosphere which leads to economic creation of more jobs, as well as the kind of incentive which persuades workers to make their own.

One which comes to mind right at the moment is the auto pact, which has been very much in the news recently, since it shows so clearly just how badly Canada has fared under the pact in recent years. More, it emphasizes how much we are likely to lose in the next decade if steps aren't taken in the very near future.

Another which comes to mind was the job undertaken by the Liberal government in setting a 200 mile limit on the fisheries, which has already made significant improvement in the livelihood of our fishermen.

The point seems obvious without going into too many cases. When government create jobs, they tend to rob the private sector of the opportunity or the incentive to compete. But when they establish conditions and atmospheres which are conductive to local development, the benefits are spread far more widely, and in the end, the government benefits as well as the people.

Frankly, we think Mr. Broadbent is missing the boat in this roundhouse swing. He has shown up better on other occasions.

Where are creative arts?

by George Baker Regional Recreation and Parks Administrator

Why are the creative arts in the community often forgotten or quietly dismissed when sports can and do flourish under the direction of recreation departments?

Recreation has the opportunity to develop the creative arts in the community but rarely explores beyond the most basic level. Unfortunately, "cultural arts" are often packaged and sold as leisure products for the families rather than for the cultural enrichment of life for everyone in the community. Therefore, it is difficult to introduce programs that reach and attract children and adults on a large scale. Because of this, it is essential that recreation proceed carefully. It must not first how the people can be reached most effectively and how it can provide programs that allow for diversity, progression and continuity in learning.

Cooperate with Education – There are several ways in which the recreation department could approach the people effectively. One, through a positive and cooperative association with the local board of education. Two, the establishment of an arts council. Three, a centre for the creative arts open to all children and adults.

The association with the board of education can be the key to the response from the public. Who is closer to our children? It is essential, therefore, to maintain a close [illegible] curriculum and teaching methods so that existing school programs will not be duplicated. It should, instead, supplement and extend them using today's media and exciting instructors to provide a relaxed and free atmosphere in which to explore creativity outside the school.

The board of education in connection with the recreation department can further the arts in the community in another way – teacher training. Workshops in art, drama, music, film, etc could be offered on weekends for parent and high school teachers under the joint auspices of education and recreation. Recreation could supply qualified experts from outside the school realm and education could handle [illegible]

Recreation, however, must not be intimidated in its relationship with education. It must provide a strong alternative to the school system. After all, creativity grows from exposure to many different experiences in the arts. Recreation could be swallowed up if not careful, for education holds a very powerful position in a society which worships degrees. Education is institutionalized to such an extent that freedom in creativity is almost impossible because of numbers of children classroom conditions and teachers harried by paperwork and class schedules.

Recreation too is an institution but there is greater leeway for providing a relaxed informal atmosphere in which to foster the arts - if it wants do this.

Create an Arts Council – Whereas the board of education [illegible] an arts council can reach the adult. Art councils benefit not only individual groups, but also the entire community as well. However, it is often difficult to establish such a council because of fears on the part of the different groups. It is important that recreation departments, when attempting to set up such a council, emphasize that in no way does it want to dominate or manipulate individual arts guilds or destroy the autonomous nature of these associations. Its position is that of liaison. The recreation department must help to get the council on its feet and from there let it carry on its own affairs.

The formation of a council can and the different arts associations in the community by the promotion and support of each other's activities. Often too many groups suffer the same problems, which by working together can be solved.

Not only can they help themselves, but the community. If a council's executive consists of a representative from education, and a member of recreation, its influence will be felt. The council can support workshops, travelling exhibits and productions, as well as promote their own work through sales and demonstrations.

Perhaps, most important of all if sufficiently powerful, the council along with recreation department may have the strength to demand an arts centre that will provide a focal for both arts and the performing arts. It is through such an arts centre that a feeling for the creative arts will grow. Whether an old house, church, converted barn or a new building is needed can provide the right atmosphere for drama, film or pottery. Work will be left until the next time. The creative experience would not have to be limited to an hour or two after which the room must be left spotless! Creativity cannot be squeezed into a particular allotment of time.

A centre of this nature could be operated seven days a week, morning, afternoon and evening and used by many groups in the community – adult and children. Classes could be kept small, so that pupils could learn more easily. Too often, recreation departments demand twenty or more in a class which makes individual attention impossible.

More Than Classes Needed – The concept of an arts centre may run into trouble economically – too much money, etc. etc. This reason is not sufficient to explain away the lack of projects on the part of the recreation departments to expand and provide services for the cultural arts. Thousands and sometimes millions, of dollars are found to finance sports arenas, golf courses and swimming pools. Operating deficits are picked up and often in community parks, ice time is subsidized for minor hockey leagues. There are at least three reasons for this. One, the background of many recreation directors and staff is sports. Two, in Canada, sports is almost a culture, unto itself. Three, services are provided for the community groups that yell the loudest. Perhaps the cultural arts types have to learn to make their demands a little more vocal.

In order that the cultural arts to survive in recreation, it is essential that suitable personnel be hired to deal with them. Not everyone understands the creative arts or the people actively engaged in this field. Too often creative classes are tacked onto already existing programs. There is little opportunity given to the child or adult who wants to continue the course in a more specialized or advanced level. It is because of this lack of direction, that a qualified sensitive supervisor ought to be in charge.

Report from Parliament Hill

by DON MAZANKOWSKI, M.P.

The federal government has recently announced a new program designed to create permanent job opportunities for recent graduates and to enhance the growth potential and competitive position of small businesses by making it easier for them to hire trained people. The Small Business Intern Program will pay 50 per cent of a selected new employee's wages, up to a maximum of $675 per month, for a period of up to 12 months.

To qualify under the program, a company must be incorporated and have no more than three hundred employees. The new position must be additional to the normal work force of the employer and have the potential for providing continuing employment after the assistance ends. An eligible intern must have completed the whole of any recognized program of studies two or more years beyond secondary school, not have worked for the company concerned in the last six months, and not be related to any member of the company's [illegible]

I will be pleased to provide detailed information and assistance to any businesses or graduates who wish to look into the Small Business Intern Program. The program is in operation now and anyone intending to take advantage of it should do so soon as possible because payments beyond March 31, 1979 are subject to availability of federal funds.

Twins celebrate birthday

Lula Fredericks of Bruce and Luvia Gray of Kitscoty were 87 years old on Sunday. They are shown above cutting candles on their birthday cakes.

This year, the birthday celebration took place at the Gray home in Kitscoty where Mrs Gray's daughters, Emma Sheppard and Betty Evans, hosted a family dinner and afternoon tea for friends and neighbors. As usual, the twins posed for their birthday snapshot with Luvia on the left and Lula on the right.

According to the ladies, this custom dates back to the days when, as youngsters, they couldn't walk in step unless each walked on "her side". This year, however, they didn't dress alike, a practice they keenly enjoyed for many years, probably because of the confusion it caused visitors. Failing eyesight has made it impossible for them to see the identical dresses they delighted in wearing.

For their special day the twins wore corsages of yellow and white daisies and managed to do a good job of blowing out the candles on the cakes while the guests sang "Happy Birthday to You". They thoroughly enjoyed the day visiting with family and friends. All the members of the two families could be present. Between these two ladies they have raised 15 children and boast a total of 42 grandchildren and 45 great-grandchildren

Attending from Bruce were Mrs Fredericks' daughter Lillian Teske, daughter-in-law, Ilea Fredericks, and friend, Mrs Benson.

FALL BOUQUETS FOR WINTER ENJOYMENT

Usually this is the time of year when we plan on drying flowers for winter bouquets. There are many plants and grasses available for us to save for winter and enjoy. A lot of these plants are classed as roadside weeds but they can make lovely arrangements.

Look to the roadsides and fields this fall to gather seed pods, cones, grains, grasses and berries, to add to a fall arrangement. The ornamental grasses, pods, and hay grasses should be gathered during sunny hours when they are not wet with dew or rain. Tie in small bunches and hang upside down for about two weeks. Seed pods such as sage, dock, cattails, milkweed, Queen Anne's lace, teasel and thistle can also be dried this way. It is a good idea to spray the cat-tails with hair spray both before and after they are cut. The spray keeps the heads from bursting. Gourds and pomegranates will dry and become hallow if punctured with a shower. Place them on a rack so that the air will circulate freely, or they may mold before becoming hollow. After dried they may be painted with shellac. Some fruit such as lemons and limes, and nuts can also be dried successfully and used as an added feature to a table or buffet arrangement. Choose fruit that is firm and not too ripe. Again place the fruit on a rack and allow to dry in a large airy, closet or darkened corner.

Plan now and gather our wild plants to make a fall bouquet to enjoy throughout the bleak winter months.

Progressive Farming

Any farmer or rancher in Alberta who finds a domestic animal that has been wounded or killed by a firearm during the time that it is lawful to hunt game birds or big animals in the area can claim compensation from the Wildlife Fund. The fund is mainly financed from wildlife certificates purchased by sportsmen each year.

Current regulations limit the amount of compensation paid to a maximum of $500 for cattle, $400 for horses, $75 for sheep, $75 for pigs and $50 for goats.

To qualify for compensation, the owner of an animal that has been shot must file a report with the RCMP within three days of discovering the wounded or dead animal. Claim forms should be picked up from the RCMP at the time the complaint is filed.

The questions on the claim form should be answered as fully as possible. When the form has been completed, the person making the claim must swear before a commissioner of oaths or another person who is legally qualified to accept sworn documents that the information it contains is correct.

Regulations also require that two local ratepayers confirm that the animal was shot and give an estimate of its value. In the case of a carcass, a delay in having it examined and in reporting it to the RCMP could result in the carcass being eaten by predators or deteriorating so badly that it would not be possible to establish the cause of death.

Because the funds that support the Wildlife Damage Fund come from the sale of hunter's certificates, compensation cheques are not issued until early in the New Year. Compensation will not be paid unless it is established that the animal was killed or wounded by a firearm. Any claims that are in doubt, and disagreements on value of an animal, are referred to the Livestock Disaster Indemnity Committee for examination and a final recommendation.

Completed claim forms should be sent to the Fish and Wildlife Division, Alberta Recreation, Parks and Wildlife, 10363 - 108 Street, Edmonton, T5J 1L8

Ellen Eaton

Leroy and Shirley Eaton of Fort McMurray arrived Friday morning at the farm home of his mother, Mrs Ellen Eaton before going on to Edmonton on business during the afternoon. Before returning home Sunday they visited friends along a highway, as side roads, including the one to the farm were almost impassible due to the heavy rains of the last two weeks.

Rain has been falling over most of the province and those that had grain swathed when the rains started, had sprouts growing in the swaths at some rotting in the fields. Folks with slough hay find some of their bales sitting half-covered with water where the sloughs were dry before the rain started.

Ellen Eaton was among some 45 senior citizens of the County of Beaver who went on a tour to Calgary, Waterton Lakes and Lethbridge going by chartered bus. It was a pleasant journey but, due to the heavy rain encountered both Sept 11 and 12 it was impossible to visit the places our guide had planned. Sight seeing at Waterton Lakes was greatly enjoyed with a bus tour up the mountain trails. Sept. 13th started clearing while at Lethbridge and Sept 14th was sunny and warm for our homeward journey.

Howard and Mae Ferguson and daughter Mrs. Loretta Weir, were guests at a birthday supper held in honour of Howard's birthday at the home of their daughter, Doris and Howard Brown, on Monday evening.

Nelson and Re-Nai Ferguson of Sherwood Park were weekend guests at the home of Nelson's parents, Howard and Mae Ferguson.

Visitors at the home of Mavis and Carl Jacobsen on Sept. 4 were Carl's mother, Mrs. Martha Jacobson of Edmonton, their daughter, Clarise Anderson and son, Leif of St. Albert, Alfreda and Lorn Welsh of St. John, B.C. and Alfriedas brother, Ole and Hellie Berrild of Elk.

Miss Diane Kyle of Edmonton was a Sunday afternoon visitor at the home of her aunt, Isabel and Rod Rudzki.

Doug and Wendy Niemetz of Penska spent the weekend at the home of Doug's parents, Charlie and Mickey Niemetz.

Charlie and Mickey Niemetz were visitors at the home of Mickey's sister, Emily and Ernie Roberge in Edmonton on Sept 14th.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Goeglein, Mr. and Mrs Bernie Schacher, Mrs. Mazur, Mrs Chubaty, Mrs. Betty Weins Niemetz of the Tofield Senior Citizens Lodge.

Mrs Dorothy Clarke hosted the Lakeshore U C W Sunday party held at the home of George and Ida Niemetz on Sept. 14th for the guest of honor (Grandma) Filomena member meeting at her home last week with a good attendance. Next meeting is to be announced later

Hastings Lake news

Lois Fenna

The first general meeting of the Community Association for this fall was held on Monday evening, and members who attended discovered when they arrived that vandals had broken into the hall, and wreaked havoc with the doors of the bar and the kitchen cupboard, but the only missing articles were some liquid refreshments, suggesting that serious thieves were not the offenders.

However, the incident provides more work for overworked executive members.

Plans were finalized for a Dine and Dance event to take place at the hall on September 30th, with tickets costing $10 a couple and available from Muriel Rabby at 662-2434.

There was some discussion at the meeting about the possibility of a termination of County grants to Community Associations, and the urgent need of associations in this area for assistance. We are appealing to all our members and potential members to attend future community meetings to add their voices to this issue.

A decision was made to replace the sidewalks in the curling rink with something more portable.

FAREWELL PARTY

Although the weather left much to be desired, the inside atmosphere was jolly and friendly when a hall full of people gathered at the Community Centre on Friday evening, to honor Mary Robertson and her children, Butch and Jane.

Mary has operated the Bruce Inn for the past 13 years and is leaving at the end of the month for Daysland where she is building a new restaurant. Ericksons provided their usual good music and the evening was spent dancing.

At midnight Harold Hissett presented Mary and her children with a [illegible] money and a card which all present had signed. Harold complimented Mary on the way she had run her business and lamented the fact that there was now no place to enjoy a meal or a cup of coffee. Bea Fredericks, on behalf of the lady curlers, then gave Mary an engraved souvenir spoon. Mary thanked everyone for coming and stated that the friendliness of the community had been much appreciated. After everyone had gathered around and sung "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" the ladies served lunch.

Ministik district news

Mrs. Jim Roddick

Despite a very rainy night, there was a good crowd in attendance at the dance held at the hall on Saturday evening. Penman's Merry Men provided the music. A lovely supper was served by the social committee, Margaret Paterson, Olivine Sears and Truus Vandermeer assisted by several other helpers.

Bill and Vi Roddick returned last week from an enjoyable ten days spent at Sanona Nakusp and Fairmont Hot Springs, all in B.C. and several Alberta spots as well.

Recent visitors with Agnes Robertson were her brother-in-law and sister-in-law, the Don Hoffmans of Vernon, B.C.

Margaret and Pat Paterson spent five days in Saskatchewan in North Battleford, Saskatoon, also viewing Diefenbaker Lake and Gardner Dam near Outlook.

Carol George and Jack Knox of Calgary visited Carol's grandmother, Mrs. M. George, in the hospital on Saturday, also calling on Edna and Glenn Ferguson and Dolly Roddick.

The Ladies meeting was held at the hall on Wednesday afternoon. The annual fall bazaar date was set for Nov. 3rd and Jean Ferguson will once again be convener. Vouchers of $25 and $15 to be raffled. There will be sewing and baking tables on hand. Bingo will be played after the table sales. Lunch will be served.

Jean Ferguson enjoyed a September birthday. Lil Leach and Dolly Roddick were lunch hostesses.

The September Community League meeting was held Wednesday evening. Secretary Vera Hutman announced that social dancing lessons will commence on Oct 10 and will be on every Tuesday evening until Dec 2. Those taking the last series will be given preference. A good big class is hoped for like last term. Tickets for the New Year's Eve Frolic will be available after October 11. Outlets for tickets will be Olivine Sears, phone 662-2724, Margaret Paterson 662-2416, Truus Vandermeer 662-2733; Margaret Jeake 662-2340; and Dolly Roddick 662-2338.

The large tank that was for sale was purchased by Baden Bowerman. The skating rink will be painted when the weatherman cooperates. Vi Roddick and Mary Ann Lafontaine gave their County Fair reports.

They gave the plaque received for highest marks, to be put up in the hall. The leather name plate of the display was also presented from Mary Ann. This was made by her husband, Pierre. Coffee and cake were enjoyed.

Afternoon tea will be held a the Crafts Centre on Sunday afternoon.

Teachers of pottery, ceramics, weaving, first aid, etc. will be on hand so if you are interested in any [illegible] classes, be on hand to discuss your wants with them. Registration will take place then as well. Facilities are there, now classes are needed.

Beverly Heitman of Edmonton spent the weekend with her parents, John and Vera and sisters, Paula and Leanna. She is now the proud owner of a new car. She also attended the dance on Saturday evening.

A nasty flu has been making it's rounds some victims being Albert and Barbara Horricks, also Stephen and Clifford Horricks. Eva Davenport also had a turn at being ill.

About $100 in damages were reported by Harry Rooksby, an employee of AGT in Vegreville, when telephone cable installed at the south end of Hastings Lake, was cut.

Pearl Tkaczyk of Holden reported considerable damage to her lawn when somone drove over it on Saturday night.

Arnold Swift of Swift Motors in Tofield reported that someone had slashed two tires on a pick-up truck parked on the company's property.

Tofield Lodge News

Mrs. Agnes Andersen

Maggie Peterson and Margaret McClyment arrived home on Thursday evening after a four-day bus ride which included Camrose, Three Hills, Stathmore, Lethbridge, Fort McLeod, Calgary, Red Deer and Wetaskiwin. Too bad the weather was not so cooperative but these ladies report a most enjoyable time was had by all.

Service on Thursday night included members of the Baptist Church. Mrs. McMann opened the services with a reading 'Let Not Your Heart be Troubled'. Those taking part in music and song were Mrs. Hilda Klatt, Mrs. Jerry Weins, and Mrs. Burdis. The pianist was Rhonda Weins. Mrs. Jerry Weins submitted the devotional which everyone enjoyed.

Mrs. Barbara Johnson and son Brad, of Ryley paid a visit with her dad John Harrison on Monday evening.

Tuesday afternoon we had another treat, members of the Tofield Eastern Star group again entertained us with music and song, followed by a lovely lunch served by the ladies, the occasion being for the birthdays of the month. Thanks again ladies.

Mrs. Erickson had a pleasant reunion with most members of her family the past week. There were 4 sisters, two from Hythe, one from Victoria, B.C. Also one niece from Milo. They all celebrated in Viking with another sister Mrs. Emma Reger of Vialta Lodge. A daughter and son-in-law from Rocky Mountain House also visited on Sunday.

Mr. Stecik had visits from members of his family, granddaughter, Joannie and Dennis Cyka from Fort Saskatchewan. Also a son Frank from Vermilion.

Also visiting on Sunday with Mrs. Anderson was son Mac and wife Marg from Mundare [illegible]. On Monday grandson Terry came from Edmonton and took Grandma for dinner.

Mrs. Eral Wilson from B.C. and Mrs. Gladys Gill from Tofield visited with Mrs. McGowan. Also Mrs. McCormack and daughter from Edmonton.

Curlers preparing

The club's annual meeting will be held in the curling rink on Tuesday night with all members (and potential members) urged to attend.

The first major event of the season will be a curling clinic which is scheduled for November 1, 2 and 3.

A cash bonspiel has been planned for early in November and the club's annual Friendship bonspiel will be staged the same month, to be followed by the start of regular league play.

More information about the club's operation may be obtained by contacting Phil Johnson at 662-3078 or Dave Schultz at 662-2542.

Care and Share has big evening program

By Grace Phillips

One hundred ladies enjoyed a Care and Share evening in the Tofield Community Centre on September 19

President of Care and Share, Miss Frieda Regehr, welcomed the guests and introduced those who would be providing the entertainment, the Mennonite Ladies' Choir, Mrs Florence Ingram and Mrs Sharon Strong Commenting that, in her opinion, Tofield was the best place to live, Miss Regehr urged the audience to support local enterprises

Mrs Ingram and Mrs Strong, dramatizing in a humorous and informative skit, dramatized their real life roles of Mother and Daughter who are interested in and knowledgeable about many kinds of handicrafts.

The stage setting of a home where the products of handicrafts were used was appropriate

In the course of the skit, Mrs. Ingram and Mrs Strong managed to convey to the interested audience a great deal of practical information regarding knitting, crocheting, needle-point, weaving, macrame, and chocolate-making. Appropriate materials and equipment were suggested and were also displayed on a bulletin board from The Hearthstone, the handicraft shop operated by Mrs Ingram and Mrs Strong on Main Street in Tofield

When Miss Regehr, on behalf of the audience thanked and complimented Mrs Ingram and Mrs Strong, she also awarded a door prize to Mrs Elaine MacDonald. She also announced that the annual Christmas banquet sponsored by Care and Share would be held December 5 this year She noted in passing that last year's banquet entertainers, the Searchlighters, would be presenting a concert in Tofield on Sept 26

Accompanied by Mrs Marlene Unrau, the Ladies' Choir from the Tofield Mennonite Church presented three songs, There's No Friend like Jesus, God Was There, and Prince of Peace, Control my Will The audience showed appreciation of the choir's contribution to the program

Miss Regehr thanked the choir and complimented them on their choice of music She then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Noreen Polzin, a Mennonite missionary who, with her husband and three daughters, is at present working with the Full Gospel Church at Lac La Biche, while awaiting an assignment to Africa Mrs. Polzin chose to regard life as a journey for which provisions are necessary; in this case provisions for the way are supplied by the Bible She felt that the recent rise in interest in the occult religions indicates a spiritual hunger which can be satisfied only by the provisions supplied by the Bible She indicated that a firm religious faith was the best weapon against fear and depression, and that praise for the gifts given mankind by the Creator is defence against the evils that beset modern society She admonished the audience to "take one day at a time and God will see you through

FALL LEAVINGS?

Cadets start new year

by Marlene Sinclair

The Holden-Ryley-Viking Nootka Sea Cadet Corps started a new year in the Holden Community Hall on September 14 with twelve new members, making a total membership of thirty-five cadets.

The cadets normally range in age from 13 to 18, but occasionally by the acceptable age will be lowered to 12½ if the prospective cadet is mature for his or her age.

Their commanding officer again this year is Dennis Casper of Holden.

The second-in-command is Executive Officer Bill Taylor of Viking, a twenty-year veteran of cadets and Doug Wood of Ryley is the Training Officer. The Administration Officer is C. Schaning and Mrs. G. Keith is the civilian Officer, both are from Holden.

These officers have an exciting year planned for the cadets.

Their first field trip of the year will be held on Saturday and comes as an invitation from the Sherwood Park Sea Cadet Corp.

They have been asked to go sailing at Lake Wahamun. The trip is basically for new cadets and they will be learning the rudiments of sailing.

Once every month a field trip has been planned, it will be either a citizenship tour or a training exercise.

Physical activities are also a big part of the cadet training program. They spend one night a month at the Holden School Gym playing basketball, working out on the gym equipment, and generally having a good time.

They also have a good swimming program planned and this is where they could use your help. They need people willing to give of their time and experience, even just once or twice a year. They require someone willing to speak on, or teach citizenship, anything nautical, boat construction, navigation, survival techniques, hunter safety, in fact anything you are an expert in. They especially require someone to teach photography. They would like a guest speaker once a month, so if you have an interest in the communities youth, here is a way to help.

The cadets are sponsored by the Ryley Canadian Legion and a lot of their financial support comes from them. The Department of National Defence also aids them by supplying camp-out gear, transportation for field trips, and beds and meals in barracks when on field trips.

The corp owns two sail boats and are now trying to earn money for canoes. They do this by collecting papers in Holden and would like to start doing this in Ryley. They have one problem, they need a building to store them in. The canoes are needed because there will be a training program in canoe handling in the spring. Once the cadets have finished this course, they will be qualified to instruct canoe safety.

Right now they are tested in sailing by the Canadian Yachting Association in order to become certified in level 3 sailing, and they then become eligible to compete in sailing regattas. Northern Alberta is in the process of setting up a Sea Cadet Camp at Hastings Lake and this is where friendly competition among the different corps will take place.

Last year, fifteen out of thirty-four cadets from the Nootka Corp were selected to go to summer camps. This is a very high ratio from one corp and a fact they of which are proud.

This year, government cutbacks in spending may hurt this program somewhat. However, for those cadets staying for a full four years, there is a good opportunity for employment during the summer months as officers in the reserves.

If you are interested in helping, either by offering a building or yourselves, please phone Dennis Cooper in Holden, evenings, at [illegible].

The corp could handle another ten cadets and registration is still open. Contact Dennis Cooper in Holden, Bill Taylor in Viking or Doug Wood in Ryley.

Dennis Cooper stated that different families in Tofield have inquired about sending their youth to cadets. If you are from Tofield and would like more information, contact him at the above number.

MP calls for grain payment

Vegreville Progressive Conservative M.P. Don Mazankowski today called upon Canadian Wheat Board Minister, Otto Lang, to stop his delaying tactics and make good the Federal Government's promise of a fall payout under the Grain Stabilization Program for the 1977 crop.

An initial payment of $20 million was made in April, which amounted simply to a return of the premiums paid by producers into the Stabilization Fund.

Under the Program the Federal Government puts up $2.50 for every $1.00 contributed by producers. It was anticipated in April by Messrs Lang and Whelan that a final payout could run as high as $140 million, (an average of over $2,000.00 per participating producer) but that an accurate final calculation could not be made available by Statistics Canada. This information was to have been available in July. "Surely by now the final calculation should be concluded" said Mr. Mazankowski.

It is imperative that this payment be made without delay in the wake of declining farm cash receipts and the deteriorating weather conditions on the Prairies, which will further hurt producers.

Mr. Mazankowski said "the welfare of the grain producers is far too important to be manipulated by the political whims of the Minister."

I am suspicious the postponement of the Fall election has had a direct bearing on the timing of this payout."

On the record?

Numbers of discussions have been stirred up recently over whether people who were placed for adoption when they were young should or should not have the right to know who their antecedents were.

For many the question seems not to matter very much until they are grown, or until they want to marry or to raise their own family. Some don't care to know ever, feeling their loyalty and interest is in the family who brought them up, while to others it becomes an all consuming passion.

Probably there is no clear-cut answer. We recall clearly one young man whose brothers and sisters as children had been split in several directions, and his troubled uncertainty and doubt as he unexpectedly faced a choice years later between suddenly meeting the other members of his family, now re-united, and striving to bring the whole group together, with all the possibly unhappy associations this might bring, or to continue as he had in the past, alone with his own family.

Our own feeling is that in most instances there is some sound reason for a child being placed for adoption, whether it be a single mother, an unwanted pregnancy or some other reason. There may even be some acceptable reason why a "ghost from the past" is not wanted, even with our modern tolerance. On this basis, it seems wisest to close the book in most cases of adoption. Naturally, it should work both ways, too, and the natural parents of the child should not be able to watch over the development of their child, and possibly interfere with the adoptive parents.

Opening the record years later on an unknown heritage could easily cause acute embarrassment, and we can not see where the child's right to know his background supercedes the right of parents to anonymity when they have once made that break. There seems little useful contribution it might make, with all kinds of potential for trouble.

The old cynic

Recent reports from Statistics Canada report on the number of heads of households in each of several age brackets, from under 20 to over 70, showing there are close to 60,000 heads of private households who are under 20 years of age.

As is to be expected, of course, the numbers increase sharply till they peak in the 34 to 44 age group, then tend to fall away, as the age groups get older.

Back to the 34 to 44 age group, the statement declares that male heads of private households stand 1,845,000 to the females' 154,000, based obviously on that quaint and archaic belief that the male is the head of the household.

Which prompted one long married cynic to comment "If they believe that, then they'll believe anything."

So much for the statistical mind.

My attention was caught this morning by a story in the Tofield Mercury. Front page, no less. Maybe you are acquainted with it. Perhaps Ryley Brownies can't find noses. I am sorry to say that I am not impressed.

[illegible] throughout the world, the clubs and the people behind them have stood in support of this group. What is this group? What has behind the title 'Brownies'.

This is a non profit organization that does not pay its leaders wages. It usually doesn't pay rent, either. Because the profit to the community is in its girls. A community is people. Each one individual. Do you deny your adults curling, Lions Club, Legion, bingoes, and etc? Should you deny your children the strength building support of a church orientated world-wide organization? If I sound a bit upset it is because I know the pride of earning a badge. I know the thrill that comes with recognition of service. I know the joy that comes with receiving special awards. I am only seventeen and can, therefore, recall very vividly and fondly my own seven years in the guiding movement.

Many things are taught in this group. The enriching individual achievements attained by the earning of various badges. There are first aid programs, instilling the value of "getting involved" in this violent, suspicious times of ours. There are the outdoor programs creating a love of camping and an appreciation for the aesthetic values of nature that is never lost. There are the craft and handwork programs giving one a sense of individuality and orginality. "Hey, I'm me!" At the same time, by the very set-up of the organization, we are taught the value of working with others and appreciating others' uniqueness. Through the promise itself and a separate emblem we are taught to love God, our fatherland. There is much more I could say, but I feel you would profit immensely by the perusal of one of the handbooks or rulebooks to see how you may be shorichanging your girls.

Thank you for the time you spent reading this letter and I hope you reconsider your decision. It will be greatly appreciated by many.

Yours sincerely,
[illegible]

Students visit bank

Nancy Chamberlain, Diane Flynn, Diane Peenak, Lois Lankoski, Elaine Halabut, and Debbie Kelm, students from the Office Procedures 30 class of Holden School, visited the Royal Bank in Holden on Wednesday afternoon.

While one of the students made a diagram of the office arrangement and the work flow, the others spent their time interviewing the bank manager, Mr. Schaning, and the employees.

The purpose of the interviews was to obtain a job description of each position - that is exactly what duties each employee performs.

On Thursday afternoon, Mr. Schaning visited the class and explained what qualities he looks for when hiring new employees.

This work in connection with a unit on "Office Function and Organization" which is being studied at present.

Crib hand is perfect

by Marlene Sinclair

Last Thursday, Marie and Cris Brin of Ryley were playing crib.

Cris was dealt three fives and the Jack of Hearts and the five of hearts came up on the pack making a perfect crib hand.

In thirty years of playing crib he has been the first perfect hand Cris has seen dealt.

He figured that at that rate he would have to wait until he is eighty for another such hand. The chances of coming up with a perfect crib hand are very rare.

Bev Fyan and baby, Randy Dean, were honored at a baby shower on September 19. Around twenty women gathered at the home of Rosalie Gabriel. Ruth Smith and Carol Tutt organized a very unique shower. Instead of giving the usual baby gifts, as each person entered they were given a paper cut-out of a baby item that had been made by a pupil. This is where your gift of money was placed. The cut-outs were then placed on a tree and the loaded tree was given as the gift. Games were played and a amusing story about an expectant father was read. At the close of the evening a baby book was presented to Bev with everything concerning the shower in it.

Firemen are set

Volunteer firemen from throughout the County of Beaver will be gathering in Holden on Sunday for the County hose-laying championships.

This is the first year of the competition in the County of Beaver and it is hoped that it will become an annual event.

The competitions test the skill of firemen in coupling hose, using hose clamps, nozzles, and other equipment.

Each team consists of four firemen who must work together with precision in the timed events. A mistake often leads to a thorough soaking much to the delight of the spectators.

The competitions are open to the public and will begin at 1:30 p.m., at the Holden Fairgrounds.

"We built it; the Alberta Opportunity Company financed it."

"Back in 1970, my brother and I and our wives wanted to get out of the city and work for ourselves. We all had responsible jobs in Calgary and knew we could count on one another," said Ken Brown, describing how the David Thompson Resort began.

"We sold our homes but still needed more capital. Because of our inexperience, the banks couldn't help. So, we took our plan to the Alberta Opportunity Company and they liked it. More importantly, they loaned us the money we needed to get started," said Ken.

"Frankly," added brother Jim, "without their support, it wouldn't have happened."

Today, the David Thompson Resort is located on Highway 11, 140 kilometres west of Rocky Mountain House, on the way to Banff National Park. There are 46 units, a store, a cafeteria, a gas station, an excellent campground, fishing, hunting and beautiful scenery.

If you are an Albertan with a sound business plan and have been unable to acquire financing from the usual lending sources, come and knock on Opportunity's door.

The Homemaker

Every year, about this time, I get a few calls from people who didn't get their camper unpacked before the first frost. Is the food still safe to eat?

Agriculture Canada suggests that it is best to use up the camper food as most food loses flavor and texture during long storage.

If canned products freeze they become soft, but as long as the can has not burst open they still will be safe to eat. Check for any leaking cans and throw these out. Bottled and canned drinks and other liquids will freeze. Glass bottles are then apt to break and pressured cans to pop. You can leave behind the staple products such as flour, sugar and macaroni if you place them in moisture-proof and insect-proof containers. Cooking oil will also keep in a tightly closed container. It might not remain as clear after winter.

It seems like many of you are looking for tomato recipes. You might try:

SCALLOPED TOMATOES
6 peeled medium tomatoes
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano
½ cup butter cracker crumbs

Cut tomatoes in quarters. Saute onion and celery in butter. Combine with tomatoes and seasonings and turn half the mixture into a greased baking dish. Sprinkle with half the crumbs, add remaining tomato mixture and top with remaining crumbs. Bake uncovered at 375 degree F until tender and lightly browned (about 25 minutes). 6 servings.

Legume inoculant

Agriculture Canada has been stepping up its regulation of the production and sale of legume inoculants. The tougher regulations are improving the quality of the inoculants that farmers now find on the market.

In 1974 when the department began its inspection of legume inoculants, only 40 per cent of the products tested contained enough live bacteria to stimulate legume plants to produce more nitrogen-fixing nodules. However, by 1976-77 more than 68 per cent were effective and with the exception of one company, the compliance rate was more than 90 per cent. This company's products were outlawed only in Canada in 1977-78 until they met the department's standards.

Progressive Farming

EVALUATE YOUR FERTILIZER PROGRAM DURING HAR VESTING
The best time to assess your fertilizer program and to locate areas where the growth is not what it might be is when you are harvesting size of swath, length of straw and head and visually performance can all be used to locate areas of poor growth, short stunted plants or a marked variability in crop growth.

Don Laverty, head of Alberta Agriculture's soil and feed testing laboratory in Edmonton, says that any of the above characteristics that are noted should be taken into consideration when taking soil tests. He recommends sampling small areas of unusual growth separately from the rest of the field or avoiding them altogether and sampling large areas of poor or unusual growth separately so the factors causing the growth differences can be identified and corrected.

Mr Laverty also recommends noting changes in growth and yield that occur between low area s and high land or hilltops. "Do not attribute all growth differences to lack of moisture or to excessive moisture," he warns. "Nutrient supplies, soil acidity or alkaline or soil salts may well be causing the difference in crop growth and yield".

Factors that should have been noted during the growing season and which should be taken into consideration in a well planned fertilizer program include areas where the seed was slow to germinate, areas where the crop was slow to mature and areas where the crop tended to lodge because of weak straw.

Mr. Laverty believes that a carefully planned soil sampling program that is based upon uniform soil type, past management techiques and observable crop growth differences can go a long way towards proving the data needed for future management changes.

"Know ledge of the factors that are causing variations in crop growth and yield can often be used to indicate the changes that are needed in a fertilizer program and the management of a field" he says.

The best time to take and to submit soil samples is after October 1. Sampling kits and guides can be obtained from your district agriculturist.

Holden Recreation holds fall meeting

J. Furnal
Secretary

The Holden Local Recreation Board held its first fall meeting on Sept. 13.

Reports were given on projects and programs completed since the last meeting in June.

Some work in repairing and relocating equipment in the playground area, as well as levelling of sand was reported. Addition of more playground equipment, fencing of the area, painting of the wading pool and repair of the washrooms is to be considered for the summer of 1979

It was reported that the boys' and girls' ball program ran smoothly and equipment was being stored at a central location for easy distribution next spring

The secretary of the Minor Hockey Association and the Figure and Power Skating Groups were to be asked to begin organizing for the winter program now

A hockey coaches clinic is to be held in Tofield on November 18 and 19., and a referees' clinic in Viking on December 2 and 3

A date for the meeting held to discuss and revise the Five-Year Master Plan has not been set at this time, but this will probably be held in November. All organizations in the area are invited to the Master Plan meetings to propose suggestions for change in the plan.

A committee was established for the purpose of filling in application forms for the Village of Holden's share of grant money available on the recommendation of the Master Plan

By placing ads the secretary was to invite suggestions as to which recreational arts crafts programs are wanted by residents of this district

Mrs. G. H. Taylor

Alan Tiedemann and daughter, Sherry, of Edmonton spent the past week visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs Henry Tiedemann, coming back with them from the lake where they had spent the weekend

Surprise visitors on Wednesday morning of last week with Mrs Beth Campbell were former Holden residents, is the former Marilyn and Evelyn Wear and their husbands who had been visiting at Carnduff with the girls brother, Douglas Wear, stopping off on their way to Penoka to visit with Mrs Edna Spinks, nee Edna Daily. The Wear family lived south of Holden after coming from the United States, on the north bank of the drainage ditch, south of Holden, and after the death of Frank Wear, they moved to a farm northeast of Holden

Mrs Ethel Fleming is back from her trip to the United States, visiting with relatives and is staying with her son and family at Tofield for the present

The Holden and District Community Choir will be commencing their meetings for the coming season, and will meet to re-organize on Monday evening, Oct. 16th, in the Holden United Church at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in singing and joining the choir is welcome to attend.

Mr and Mrs. Harry Michlich of Kelowna, B.C., spent several days last week in Holden, also visiting relatives in Edmonton They attended the farewell party held for Mike and Kay Chupka on the Friday evening.

The Friendship Group met for a regular meeting on Thursday afternoon Sept. 21st at the home of Mrs. Roy Nichols with Mrs Nichols in charge of devotions. The minutes of the last meeting held at the home of Mrs. G. H. Taylor were read and approved.

Miss June Clark, who has been treasurer for the Group for the past few years, asked to resign from this position as her circumstances were uncertain and Mrs Taylor was asked to take over. A report of finances was given by Miss Clark A card was signed by all members to send to Mrs. Mary Hooper who had not been well enough to attend this meeting. A chapter from a new study book, "Be Joyful" was read.

The meeting closed with a hymn and the benediction and lunch was served by the hostess. The next Friendship Group meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Beth Campbell on Oct 19th.

Mrs Beth Campbell was visiting recently with her daughter and husband at Lake Wagner where her mother over to the Nursing Home to visit with Lars Ritland. Mrs. Campbell also had the pleasure of visiting with her son, Bill and wife, Suzanne, of Montreal.

Henry and Helen Tiedemann went to Edmonton on Friday afternoon and attended the wedding of Patty Wess, a daughter of the former Elden Tiedemann and a grand-daughter of Mrs. Mamie Tiedemann and the late Chris Tiedemann, all former Holdenites. Alan Tiedemann and daughter, Sherry, who had been visiting with them for the week, also returned home with them. Alan is getting along well after his recent accident and has a cast on his leg

Arthur Olson of Camrose was visiting with his brother, Harry, last week. His mother, Mrs. Carrie Olson, a resident in Bethany Nursing Home in Camrose, is keeping very well

Mr and Mrs. J. A. Gebelhuse of Sherwood Park were Tuesday afternoon visitors with Mrs. Beth Campbell, their daughter, Mrs. Lorraine Bell of Edmonton, drove them down. Millie visited with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bell

ECS program gets underway

The Early Childhood Services Program got underway on Sept. 13, this being the first day of kindergarten.

This year's students are Kendall Heath, Roman Bashuk, Kevin Hopf, Dorian Cahn, Molly Jo Garstad, Cameron Blaine, Dwayne Rebenchuk, Larry Johansen, Alan Kirkland, Candace Lysle, Maureen McGaughey, Lisa Ness, Calvin Ness, Tony Bailey, Jody Tucker, Trudy Wimmers and Anita Reniak.

Miss Sue Cooper is teaching the class of seventeen students and the children attend full days on Tuesday and Thursday.

On Sept. 18, the first H.C.S. meeting was held with very good attendance.

A new Local Advisory Committee was elected with Faye Garstad president, Odelle Calon - secretary, and Shirley Bushy, Lil Hopf, Sharon Gaughey as L.A.C. members.

A discussion of the objectives of the program revealed that, to strengthen the sense of dignity and self-worth with-in the child, were most important.

With the very capable efforts of Miss Cooper and the co-operative volunteer parents, this year's goals will become realities.

If any member of the community has a special skill or talent of interest to the children, they would be welcome to share it in the classroom.

The next H.C.S. meeting will be held Oct. 16 at 7:30.

Tofield dance school registers 46 students

The Tofield Dancing School held its first classes on Sept. 14, with 46 students in attendance.

The newly-formed school presently offers classes in pre-school tap, beginners' tap and baton, junior jazz, adult jazz, beginners' ballet, and advanced ballet. Teachers are supplied by the Sherwood Park School of Dancing.

The Tofield Dancing School and Mothers' club was organized in June, on the strength of an earlier survey which indicated that Tofield and area could easily support such a project.

The committee selected at that time consists of President - Elaine Macdonald, Vice-president - Trish Hardy, Secretary-treasurer - Nelly Young, Fund-Raising chairwoman - Judy Fleck, and Member-at-large - Phyllis Wood.

The club has been duly incorporated as a non-profit organization under the Societies Act of Alberta. The primary purpose of this club is to raise funds to pay for the rental of facilities and to purchase equipment, such as a record player and bars which would form a part of the Tofield Dancing School. At present, all equipment is being supplied by the Sherwood Park School of Dancing.

Student registration was held on Sept. 11. Shirley Potter Costumes Ltd. of Edmonton supplied samples and fitted shoes, batons, and dancing costumes for those who wished to place orders.

Since registration date, the number of students has grown to 48. New students are welcome to register at any time.

Mrs. [redacted], owner of the [redacted] of Dancing, is acting as adviser to the school. This year, as she has done many times in the past, Mrs. Dodds is serving as chairperson of the Alberta Dance Educators' Association. Her school has supplied Tofield with two capable teachers, Barbara Dodds and Cheryl Robb.

Barbara Dodds has spent all her life studying dancing, first at the Sherwood Park School of Dancing, and later with the Alberta Ballet. Many times over, she won gold medals and scholarships in the Alberta [redacted] repeatedly named Most Promising Classical Ballet Dancer of the year. Birthday

Mrs. Tekla Sroka recently celebrated her 93rd birthday. She came to Canada early in 1903 and homesteaded with her husband, twelve miles south of Holden, remaining there until 1953 when they moved to Holden where she now resides.

Harvesting begins again

Farmers returned to the fields in most areas last week, but were hampered by rain showers which slowed operations in some regions and forced complete stoppages in other areas.

Rainfall during the past week ranged from a low of five millimeters in the Ryley area to a high of twenty millimetres around Rosalind.

Whole fields of crops have been written off due to wet conditions as farmers won't be able to get to these fields which have become little better than swamps.

In all instances, the quality of crops is decreasing.

Daysland area farmers managed to complete cutting operations last week and got a start to threshing of wheat, oats and barley. Rye had been harvested before the rain started, and 80 percent of the rape crop has been harvested.

Thirty percent of the barley crop around Camrose has been written off as a total loss, while oats and wheat losses are expected to be ten and five percent.

Rye was harvested before the rains fell. Eighty percent of rapeseed has been threshed and ten percent of the wheat has now been reaped. Harvesting of barley is 20 percent completed and a start has been made to oats. No flax has been threshed to date.

With the exception of flax, cutting operations range from 60 to 90 percent completed while only 10 percent of the flax crop has been cut.

Farmers in the Ryley area didn't do any threshing during the past week. Seventy per cent of the rape crop has been harvested with a start having been made to the other crops.

Some cutting was done last week. Ninety-five percent of the rape is down while 60 percent of the wheat is cut. Barley and oats are at 35 and 15 percent cut.

At least three weeks of good weather is needed in the Round Hill region in order to complete harvesting operations. A number of fields of barley and oats have been declared to be a total loss.

Some threshing of rape and wheat occurred. Fifty-five percent of rapeseed has been threshed to date while one-quarter of the barley crop is done. Oats and wheat are at ten and five percent.

Some cutting was done. Ninety-five percent of the rape crop has been cut while oats and barley are 85 percent down and three-quarters of the wheat crop is cut.

Threshing and cutting operations in Rosalind resumed last week.

One-half of the rape crop has been harvested. Fifteen percent of the barley has been threshed with oats and barley at ten and five percent completed.

Cutting operations are nearing completion with only two percent of the rape crop still to be cut, and only five percent of other crops are still standing.

Tofield area farmers resumed to do some cutting and threshing last week, making a start on harvesting of barley, oats and wheat. No threshing of rapeseed was done with one-half of the crop still in the fields.

All of the rape crop has now been cut. Cutting of other crops range from fifty-five to seventy-eight percent.

The only threshing done was to rapeseed which is now thirty percent harvested, while barley and oats issued at ten and two percent respectively. A start has yet to be made to the wheat crop.

Cutting operations resumed. Ninety-five percent of the rape crop is cut with 90 percent of wheat cut. Oats and barley are 75 and 85 percent cut todate.

A report from Holden was not received by press deadline.

Dowling through

Minister of Business Development and Tourism in the Lougheed government, the Hon Robert Dowling reported last week that he would not again stand for election at the time of the next election.

Mr Dowling was elected in the 1969 election, for the constituency of Edson, and has been a member of the cabinet almost from the start. Initially a meeting without portfolio, he was first given responsibility for tourism, then it was developed into a full portfolio, and at the time of the 1975 election, he was given responsibility for the added portfolio of Business Development.

In the letter forwarded to Premier Lougheed, Mr Dowling emphasized that his decision was in large part based on family and on private business reasons. He pointed out his career in politics had been both stimulating and rewarding, and that his decision had not been made without considerable soul-searching. At the same time, he reported, to the Premier his pride, after ten years, in being able to report that the principles with which he entered politics are still intact. He affirmed his support for the Premier's oft-stated feeling that people must take responsibility for their own future, and not rely on the Government to determine their destiny or to accomplish their goals.

While he will no longer sit as an MLA, Mr. Dowling indicates he will continue to maintain a keen interest in politics

Lusk - Dafoe

The wedding of Sandra Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dafoe, to Dale Lusk, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lusk, took place at the home-to-be of the newlyweds on August 5th with Rev. Dave Maddle officiating. The newlyweds are residing in Tofield.

PLANTING FORAGE CROPS IN THE FALL

Can grass legume crops be planted between now and freeze-up?

Alberta Agriculture's forage crops specialist, Larry Garneau, says grasses can be planted anytime after mid-August until freeze-up because they do not require a large build-up of food reserves to survive the winter. However, there must be enough moisture in the soil for them to germinate.

Legumes, on the other hand, should not be seeded until just before freeze-up to ensure that they do not germinate until next spring. Unlike grasses, legumes require a considerable food reserve to survive Alberta's cold winters, and there would not be enough time for these food reserves to accumulate before freeze-up. Mr. Garneau says the main risk of seeding legumes in the fall is the danger of a late frost the following spring.

He also points out that forage crops that are sown deeper than one inch do not usually emerge well. Their small seeds do not contain enough food to sustain them during a long growing period under ground.

A fine tilth makes the best seedbed for forage seedings. However, because it can cause erosion and crusting problems in susceptible soils, it is a good idea to leave lumps on the field of about a half to one inch in diameter.

In view of the cost involved in preparing a seedbed for forage crops and the price of the seed, Mr. Garneau strongly recommends soil testing to find out what fertilizer is needed. He says the fertilizer should be incorporated into the soil before the crop is seeded, rather than with the seed, because forage seeds are considerably more prone to injury than the large seed of other crops. An even more important reason is that the fertilizer will kill the inoculant on the seed.

Companion crops are not recommended for grasses that are seeded in the late summer or in the fall. The reason is, competition from the companion crop would hinder the growth of the grasses which need as close to ideal conditions as possible to become well established before winter sets in.

Pinch of pepper

Some one was asking for microwave oven recipes. Here's a new one from the Pioneer Kitchen.

Old Fashioned Date Squares

1 cup margarine or butter
1 cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1½ cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1½ cups rolled oats

Date Filling

1 lb. pitted dates
1 cup crushed pineapple, undrained

Crumble dates in a 1½ quart glass casserole, stir in pineapple. Cook for 4 minutes on high power, stirring once. Set aside.

Cream margarine and sugar; add flour, baking powder and salt sifted together, then the oats. Pat half the crumbly mixture into the bottom of a greased 8 inch square glass pan, spread the date filling over it and cover with the remaining oats mixture. Cook for 7 to 8 minutes on high power, rotating pan once if squares are not rising evenly. Let cool before cutting.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The matter of realignment of S.R 870 was discussed. Representing the University Ranch were Dr R Berg and Claire Findlay

Representing Alberta Transportation were Hugh McKinnon, location engineer Max Skryzer Location Engineer Earl Danchuk, secondary roads engineer, Lloyd Werbowski, Dist Engineer

Dr. Berg outlined the research that is being conducted on the ranch and the reasons for the objections to the proposal to realign S.R 870 through the ranch west of the buildings Some 600 head of cattle are brought into the building area about once a month for checking and weighing The proposed road would cut the area off Also feed must be hauled periodically to the area west of the building site

Mr McKinnon discussed alternatives to the present location of S.R. 870. It appeared the most feasable route was through the ranch. However a study on this route had not been done due to the objections by Dr. Berg.

Dr Berg agreed to allow the feasability study to proceed

Dr Berg stated that he was investigating methods whereby the university of Alberta would pay taxes on the ranch At the present time Universities are exempt from taxation but he realized this could be unfair to the County of Beaver as this land had been paying taxes prior to being a cattle research centre He also requested that there lease allowed gravel removal from the ranch area but they would prefer discussion on locations so as to disrup their operation as little as possible

Dr Berg and Mr. Findlay retired.

Road construction and secondary roads were discussed with the Alberta Transportation representative

Mr Werbowski advised that an additional grant was being requested in the amount of $40,000.00 for additional work on S R 870.

The representatives of Alberta Transportation now retired.

Mr. David Amos and Mr. Ray Wright of the Provincial Planning Branch attended the meeting and discussed subdivision and planning problems

The secretary-treasurer reported that notices had been sent to each land owner in Bruce and Kinsella advising the amount of frontage tax that would be imposed if these services were to be installed.

Doug Weeks of the Viking News attended to object to the Council's decision to conduct a study to see which of the two viking papers the people in that area preferred He stated that in his opinion the area could not support two newspapers and the county contract should not be split Council discussed the possibility of discontinuing the policy of providing newspapers as a County service The cost for 1979 will be approximately $12,000 00.

The matter was tabled for further discussion

An engineer and Gerry Alloti had inspected most of the crossings in the County and a report would be given to us. Moved that the report be accepted and that we document our concerns in writing

Correspondence from Transport Canada advised that the C.N.R. line in the Kingman Subdivison was being turned over to either the County of the Provincial Government They request that we advise them that if the Provincial Government does not want this land, it should be given to the County or should be sold to a third party

Moved that we advise Transport Canada that the land in the Kingman Subdivision should be transferred to the County of Beaver No. 9 if it is not required by the Provincial Government

Ryley namesake visits village

A descendant of the man who has the Village of Ryley named after him, was a recent visitor to the village.

George U. Ryley was a surveyor with the Department of the Interior of the Federal Government working out of Ottawa, when he was assigned to do surveying for railway lines in Western Canada.

At that time it was the practice to pinpoint locations in alphabetic sequence, and one of the locations required a name beginning with the letter "y". It seemed most appropate to use Mr. Ryley's name for the site, and then it came to be that the Village of Ryley was named.

Mr. Ryley's grandson, Allan C. Ryley, and his wife, Jocelyn, of Toronto were recent visitors in Edmonton to attend a national chartered accountants' convention. While out west, Mr. Ryley decided to take the opportunity to see the place that carries the family name.

Ryley 4-H Club gets a unique name

By Marlene Hladky

The Ryley 4-H Horse Club gathered together for their organizational meeting on Sept. 26 at the home of Don and Bev Finn.

The leader this year is Bev Finn. She had been the leader two years ago, then moved to Lacombe for a year, but now is back holding the reins.

The meeting got underway with the first item on the agenda being the naming of the club. After a lot of considerations, the members came up with the name "Ryley Saddle Horse 4-H Horse Club".

The members then voted in a new executive which are as follows: president, Pamela Sinclair; vice-president, Michelle Hisey; secretary, Wendy Lyons; treasurer, Lyle Albrecht with an adult volunteer helping him (Don Finn); regional representative, Colleen Halverson; club reporter, Kathy Hisey; food committee, Darlene Heigsland and Kerry Reti.

This year, a new dimension has been added to the club, they are having a "cheer bag". This position entails the sending of get-well cards to those people from Ryley an district that are in the hospital. The position is being filled by Darlene Heigsland.

The volunteer adult committee consists of Agnes Hisey, Grace Albrecht, Don Finn and Bev Finn.

It was decided to have the meetings every second and fourth Tuesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. This will be changed to a weekend day when the members are to bring their horses. In fact, the next meeting will be on Sunday, October 15 at 1:00 p.m. in the Gymkana corral in Ryley, providing the weather permits.

Anyone from Ryley or the adjoining towns and districts are welcome to join them then it is required that you have your own horse. However, no stallions are allowed.

This year has been tentatively planned with a lot of exciting events. One of the first speakers will be Cheryl Berkley, orginially from Toronto, now living in Tofield. She raises racing quarterhorses and will be speaking about them.

They will be teaching horse hoof care, going to horse shows to watch and participate and visiting assorted ranches. They will have speakers from different horse breed associations and are trying to get a professional trainer to give a lecture.

The 4-H members will have different levels of instruction. Beginners will learn to saddle and bridle their horses, pick up and clean their feet, horse management, beginning riding, etc. while the more experienced riders are looking forward to learning jumping, how to drive horses, and advanced riding techniques.

This club is not sponsored by any service organization and as a result earn all the money that they must to operate themselves.

One of their money making projects will be a candy and bake sale. They plan on having this sale on Oct. 26 from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. at Woods Hardware in Ryley.

They also will be around selling a box of five pens for $1.00 or, if you wish, taking donations.

Another project these energetic young people are planning is catering at farm sales.

If anyone requires information about joining the club, contact Agnes Hisey at 663-3333.

Ryley Recreation plans public meet

by Marlene Mercier

The Ryley Local Recreation Board met on Wednesday evening to discuss a number of items.

The Board laid the groundwork for plans to do some maintenance and renovation on the outdoor skating rink to ready it for winter.

Estimates will be looked at for replacing the existing light poles and lights, as well as repairing fence.

It was thought that there would not be enough funds available to do all the needed repair work this year, but some of the work will be done.

Local clubs will be asked to assist with the maintenance through the winter, and perhaps members of these clubs would volunteer to act in a supervisory capacity when the rink is open.

Another alternative that was discussed, was the hiring of a person to operate the rink, but it was felt that clubs should be asked to assist first.

The need to call a public meeting regarding changes to the Five-Year Master Plan was also discussed.

The board planned to have the meeting on October 25th and all community groups and clubs will be invited to submit briefs at this meeting and advertisements will appear in The Mercury regarding this before the meeting.

Ryley and district news items

by Marlene Mercier

Mardelle Lasher, president of Dale Oalund, is having two showers organized for her this next week. The first is to be held on Friday at 8.00 p.m. in the Salem Mennonite Church. The other will be in the dining hall of Bethel Lutheran Church on Oct. 12 at 7.30 p.m. This shower in Ryley is being held a little earlier because a number of guests from Edmonton will be there and it is a long drive after dark. Ladies in the community are asked to bring lunch.

The senior Citizens have now purchased a four-harness loom. There will be a crafty set up soon to teach all those interested in learning how to operate it. This instruction will then continue on a weekly basis. The program committee will be meeting next week hoping to set up the fall year's program and this schedule should be out next week. One of the events planned for this year is the showing of films from the National Film Board. These films will be on nature, travel, etc. and will be shown every second week. The club is now able to offer this service because they recently purchased a 16MM film projector. This year, the program committee would like to see the building being used more often. In fact, they are planning on a different event every day

The registration fee is $10.00 and this fee goes to the district to cover insurance costs, paper work on each of the girls, and any activities in or away from home. All girls that have uniforms and were Brownies last year should wear them. Brown Owl, Diana Larsen, says she could use help from any adult that is willing to teach a craft to the girls. The [illegible] Brownies that's been home this come all year, even two or three times would help. They [illegible] instructors in needlecraft weaving, wood work, knitting and art appreciation. The Brownies are still looking for a permanent home. They find that the Art Room is too small for the activities that the group have as part of their program, and they also need storage space that is unavailable in the school. I understand that the Lions Club are having a meeting with the Brownie Leaders and some Legion members to try and rectify this. I will give you a report on [illegible]

Recreation Report

by Colleen Walker
Program Supervisor

Our fall brochure of programs was out last week in the mail. I always hope that people do find them and peruse it through them for something that's interesting. There is such a variety of activities and skills offered, there is not be something you'd like to do.

You'll notice that Further Education and Regional Specials prefer registrations accompanied by fees. Why is this? We've had too many people phone in, register and then not show up for the course. This often causes us problems because instructors are brought in and if the class students don't show, we have to pay the instructor. So, if fees are in, it seems you can count on that person to show. I realize taking time to drop a note in the mail or just dropping by takes a few minutes, but please have that consideration.

If you would like to discuss and get further information on any of the regional recreation programs, please feel free to call me at 663-3720.

Participate - It could be fun!

A CHANGE:

B. Men - every year a Men's Basketball League is organized for Camrose and District County. Last season we had four teams: Kinsella, Viking, Ryley and Holden in the league. This year we are having trouble recruiting teams. So far we have three teams: Kinsella, Viking and Tofield, but would like a fourth team to make up a balanced schedule. I am trying to recruit ball players from Bruce, Holden and Ryley to make up one team. If you are interested, I want to know. The season would run from November 1st to mid February. We should have a few guys who are interested in representing Bruce, Holden and Ryley.

Results of hog survey

A survey, carried out earlier this year in central and south-central Alberta by the provincial department of agriculture, shows that the breakeven price of pigs in March was estimated to be about $50 per hundredweight.

The survey in which about 70 per cent of the swine producers in the Red Deer, Calgary and Edmonton areas replied also showed that, on the average, 719 pounds of feed are required to grow and finish a 200-pound hog, and that sows consume 2,385 pounds of feed per head per year. An average of 14.2 pigs were marketed annually per breeding sow by those who participated in the survey.

Production problems mentioned by the swine participants in declining order of incidence were: buildings, breeding, disease, marketing, nutrition and management. The survey showed that "specialized" hog farms, where more than 80 per cent of the income is derived from hogs, were similar in size and efficiency to non-specialized operations.

An increase of 10 per cent or more in the number of pigs that will be marketed this year was projected by those who replied to the survey. About 30 percent of the participants plan to expand their operations in that 11 percent plan to cut back on production and 59 per cent plan to remain their present level production.

If your Canada Savings Bonds mature this year

Now's the time to reinvest in new Canada Savings Bonds

Here are three easy steps to keep your money working for you.

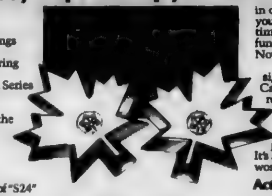
1 Locate and identify your bonds

Two Series of Canada Savings Bonds mature this Fall:

1969/70 Series ($24) maturing November 1, 1978.

1st Special Replacement Series ($R) maturing October 1, 1978.

Look for "S24" or "SR" preceding the serial number on the corner of your maturing bonds.



2 Find out the cash value of your bonds

At maturity, every holder of "S24" or "SR" bonds will receive the face value shown on the bond, plus a special cash bonus payment and any interest payable on the bonds.

If you have any questions about the value of your bonds, just ask the people where you bank or invest.

3 Special arrangements make it easy to reinvest

Simply present your "S24" and "SR" Series Canada Savings Bonds to your bank or other authorized redemption agent. All the paperwork in connection with the redemption of your bonds will be done for you at that time. For "S24" bonds the transfer of funds will take place automatically on November 1.

In the same transaction, you can sign up for the new 1978/79 Series Canada Savings Bonds. You may reinvest all proceeds from your maturing bonds in the new Series. Also, you may buy an additional amount up to $30,000, the purchase limit of the 1978/79 Series. It's a great way to keep your money working for you!

Act now

There are more than 900,000 Canadians who own maturing bonds. If you are one of them, go to your bank, investment dealer, trust company or credit union and make arrangements to reinvest in the new Canada Savings Bonds. Do it now and avoid the rush!

New Canada Savings Bonds offer you a great choice

With the new Series, you have a choice of bonds. There's a Regular Interest Bond that pays interest each year. And a Compound Interest Bond that reinvests your interest automatically, earning interest on your interest.

The Regular Interest Bond

If you want a regular annual income from your investment, you'll like the Regular Interest Bond which pays interest automatically each November 1.

If you're like many bondholders, you'll appreciate the direct deposit feature. With this convenient option, your interest is deposited directly into your chequing or savings account. Simply ask for it when you buy your new bonds. Or, you can receive your interest by cheque through the mail.

The Compound Interest Bond

If you seek savings growth, or an investment for the future, or a retirement fund, you'll choose the Compound Interest Bond which earns interest on your interest, after the first year, at the guaranteed annual rate of 8.90%. For example, a $100 bond will grow to $181.74 at maturity in just 7 years.

Security and instant cash

Whichever type of bond you choose, you will own a safe, secure investment which can be turned into instant cash whenever you need it.

A good return

New Canada Savings Bonds are dated November 1, 1978 and yield an average annual interest of 8.50% when held to maturity in 1985. Each new bond earns interest of 8.50% the first year and 9% for each of the remaining 6 years.

Buying Canada Savings Bonds has been a great Canadian tradition for over 30 years. They're the proven choice.

IN MEMORIAM

SUTTON. In loving memory of our wife and mother Dolly Sutton, who passed away Oct. 6, 1977.
God saw you getting tired
So he did what He thought best
He put his arms around you
And lifted you to rest
Our hearts still ache with sadness
And silent tears still flow
What it meant to lose you Mom
No one will ever know
When we are sad and lonely
And everything goes wrong
We seem to hear you whisper,
Cheer up and carry on Each time we see your picture
You seem to smile and say
Don't cry, I'm only sleeping
We'll meet again someday.
Truely loved by all, husband, children and grandchildren. 5p 1308

Garage is burned

by Marlene Sinclair

Joe and Darlene Hejnar had the misfortune to have their garage burn to the ground on Monday.

Joe noticed the fire around 2:30 p.m. when he was out combining in his field, east of the house. They called the fire department immediately but, within minutes the garage was burned completely.

When Joe first arrived he noticed two acetylene tanks about to blow up. He grabbed a rope and lassoed the tanks and got them out of reach of the fire.

If these tanks would have blown, he may have lost his house and other buildings. He said he did not know how he did it, he just did it. They also saved an air compressor, but lost everything else.

The loss included a new motor for his truck direct from the factory, all his tools and a welder, besides many items collected over the years. He could not estimate the damage.

Joe and Darlene had insurance on the building but not on its contents.

The Ryley Fire Department were there within fifteen minutes, but too late to save the garage, although they did save a camper and were able to stop the fire from spreading.

The volunteers that answered the call were Fire Chief Terry Misera, John Jeffery, Neil Reid, Nestor Wingerack, Doug Baerg and Doug Wood.

Police keep busy

It was another busy week for members of the Tofield RCMP who looked into a theft, investigated two acts of vandalism, and responded to other complaints.

Albert Davis of Edmonton, reported the loss of items worth of tools from a tool box on a crane which had broken down on Highway 14, seven miles west of Tofield. The tools and crane are owned by Sterling Crane.

Police are investigating a report that two teenagers set fire to the crane on top of the Cenotaph in Tofield.

Six windows in the Holden School were broken by vandals. Three of the windows were broken by hand, police said RCMP are looking into the possibility of fingerprints being found on the bottles.

The vandalism was discovered by Holden Mayor, Oleh Shykora.

Ryley Brownies still homeless

by Marlene Sinclair

The Ryley Lions Club, Ryley Royal Canadian Legion and The 1st Ryley Brownie Pack leaders met on October 3 in the Community Hall for the purpose of finding out what the Brownies required and also to clear up the "bad publicity" the Lions and Legion recently received regarding their alleged refusal to help the Brownies.

Those present were: Lions Club representatives - Bob Rokos, Otis Phillips, Irwin Strynadka, Gary Manderson and Bob Beatty, Legion Representatives - Al Burton and Walter Stensrud, and Brownie representatives, Sonia Booth, Dana Larsen, Sharon McGaughey and Phyllis Pyzik.

The Brownie leaders were asked why they needed a larger building, wasn't the school kindergarten room good enough?

They explained that last year they had 13 girls and were crowded, this year they have added another 7 girls, meaning they just would not be able to do any of their normal activities if required to stay in present facilities.

Someone asked what exactly they required. They replied that they needed the use of either the Community Hall or the Legion Hall and told them it would be needed every Wednesday afternoon from October to June, and possibly one day that year for a rally.

They were then asked what activities determined the space needed. They explained that young girls need room to play, that they alternate between active and passive games. They need space to play such games as broomball, and for their Fairy Ring, and they also need storage space.

At this time, one of the Legion members stated that the Legion had never received a letter asking for help from the Brownies, to this the women agreed. They said they would like an apology written in the paper regarding this, that they had taken the word of an auxiliary member regarding the Legion's position and were remiss in doing this.

Otis Phillips then explained the Lions Club position. He stated that the hall is never let without pay, that the hall must pay its own way. The Lions Club members do all the janitor work free and that the revenue from the hall must pay utilities, upkeep, etc. He also stated that the hall was taken from the village on the condition that it pay for itself.

Last year, it ran in the red $116.00 with 500 hours of free janitoral work. In other towns, the taxpayer pays for their hall's upkeep, here the Lions pay for everything, even though it is still town property.

To this the Brownie leaders replied that they would leave the hall clean and that Brownies are never required to pay rent, in fact they could not because they are not sponsored by any group.

It was then suggested that the Brownies' parents pick up the tab or that the Brownies do some fund-raising. They were also questioned as to whether they had asked for sponsorship from any other clubs.

The Brownie leaders were not sure their headquarters would allow sponsorship, but they knew that the only fund-raising they were able to undertake was an annual tea, Brownie Cookie Day and selling their calendars. All this money went for badges, camps and crafts. Brownie parents are now required to pay a registration fee and $10.00, besides weekly dues, and also pay for very expensive uniforms.

There was a statement made that it is against the Lions Club policy to sponsor any other group, that they help, but do not fully sponsor anyone. If the Brownies would get help from other service groups then they would help also.

The Legion members stated that the Legion policy was the same regarding hall rental and that they would take this to their members the following night.

The meeting closed with the Brownies leaders being asked to find other sponsors and then to come back with the results. These leaders also wanted to clarify their situation with their headquarters as to whether it would be legal for them to be sponsored.

At the Legion meeting the following evening, it was decided that nothing would be done until they saw what other clubs were doing. Some members felt that no help should be given the Brownies, until a full retraction was given by them. To this the Brownie leaders replied that they do wish to apologize for not going through formal channels, that they did make an error in judgement regarding this.

The Brownie leaders then went to their district meeting and were told that Brownies are never sponsored, that they should not seek sponsors, that a hall is always donated. They never heard of any pack

Swim-a-thon planned

by Marlene Sinclair

Plans for the annual Ryley Pool swim-a-thon were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society.

It was decided to hold the event on Sunday, October 29 starting at 1 p.m.

Application forms will be available at the pool and this year, to make it easier to get out tax receipts, sponsors will be asked to print their name and address on the forms.

Representatives were chosen to attend meetings in regards to the newcomers' supper and the review and updating of the five-year master plan.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting on November 15, at the Ryley Community Hall.

The October lottery prize was won on a group ticket. The prize will be split by Gunner Dalund and Dean, Mark and Lori-Ann Phillips.

Ron Teske reported that the school swimming lessons are going well. Four prizes are to be awarded to winners in the grade four safety poster contest.

An application form to operate a lottery, was filled out as required by the Government.

It is hoped to have tickets for the 1979 lottery on sale as soon as possible after the last draw of 1978. 300 tickets will be sold at a cost of $60.00 each.

Low score

Steven Koppel of Bruce shot the lowest score in more than ten years of the Devon Golf and Country Club when he won the D. K. Yorath Trophy during the 3rd annual Klondyke Klassic. He shot a four over par, and with his 12 handicap, recorded a 72 for the lowest net and gross scores.

Out of Kilter

Consumers

We're all consumers, so it's interesting to read the latest issue of the Canadian Consumer. Among several other interesting items, we noticed tests done on automobile mufflers, odometers on autos, and no-name detergents, all common in the life of most of us at one time or another.

Most of us have cussed at one time or another because the exhaust system of our car seems to burn out with amazing regularity. Their research shows that both British and American auto manufacturers have proven that mufflers made from stainless steel cost only slightly more, but last far longer, even beyond the expected lifetime of any current auto.

Why don't they use them? The industry claims the public isn't interested. Consumers refutes this and demands immediate action.

Switching to odometers, the association points out that with the change to metric, and the metre recording kilometres in future, buying a used car will be even trickier than it is today. They point out that a three or four year old car, with some 80,000 miles, which is about 130,000 kilometres, would only show 30,000 km on the odometer. And depending on the cosmetic appearance of the car, it might be difficult to judge if it were a low mileage bargain, or a high mileage unit about to need expensive engine work.

Consumers suggests the solution is very simple, and really, very inexpensive. Simply add a sixth wheel to the odometer, as is done with a few cars such as Volvo, Mercedes-Benz, Peugeot, and others.

It hardly needs a major engineering breakthrough, does it?

Their next test was in the field of dish detergents, and down the line of generic brands, over which so much interest has developed in recent months. There's no question that established brand lines, with their expensive advertising and market promotion, cost more, and many suggestions have been advanced that all this money could be saved for the consumer.

So what did Consumer's find?

They tested twelve detergents, three generic (no-name) brands among them.

And certainly the generic brands cost less to buy. But when they were tested, the Dominion and Steinberg brands were given a rating as "unacceptable", while Loblaws received only "average". By contrast, three highly advertiseed brands "Brocade", "Co-op" and "Ivory", all brand name products, were listed as best performers.

The tests were based on the number of dishes washed using a standard squirt of detergent, and by the cost per hundred dishes washed.

"Despite the fact that they are very cheap" reported the association referring to the two low performing units, they are so watered down that their low price is of little advantage." In fact they cost more in the long run.

It's illegal to use Consumers' rating in advertising, but it's more than heartening to have this highly reputable organization support the time-proven fact that, in the long run, advertising does pay. It pays! Regardless of the amount of money invested in promoting a product, it won't last on the market if it's not up to quality in the first place. And the converse is also true, regardless of the quality of a product, it won't last on the market if it's not advertised enough that people know about it.

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (CP) — We've heard a great deal about the economic policies of the Trudeau government during the past two months - slashing government spending, switching programs to repair the low business confidence that has become almost habitual.

Those in the Press Gallery attempting to sort through many policies have found that the numbers don't add up. The ministers involved have not been able to answer basic questions about how new policies will work. We're told that changes in the unemployment insurance act will save $580 million. In the next breath we are told that $710 million will be spent on job creation. Not that there's anything wrong with switching spending from paggy payments to job creation. But should government try and take credit for savings in one breath for spending on job creation?

The evidence of the last few months has forced many observers here in the capital to come to the conclusion that the motive behind the great economic smoke-screen of summer '78 was entirely political and had very little to do with the desire on the part of cabinet to run Canada in an efficient way.

It has been an exercise in reactive politics - reactive to a political situation dangerous to the Liberal party - rather than the desire of our representatives elected so long ago to govern with excellence, fairness and in the national interest.

In the present position, a great many people who don't deserve it have been badly hurt. Over-spending from organizations that stand up for consumer rights, and leave the budget of the Prime Minister's office, the Privy Council office, untouched. Why perpetrate hardship on thousands who really can't find work in Atlantic Canada but cutting 10 per cent off UIC payments while failing to adjust a system that leaves the wives of high income earners free to use paggy payments as income to save for their trip to Europe or a second car? This is a Just Society?

What has been done in the way of economic policy this past summer does little to correct the injustices which have crept into Canadian life over the Trudeau decade, and in the end it merely shows that the federal government has forgotten it is merely a steward for the people.

HEROIN: Big business on West Coast

Heroin has become a $255-million-a-year business in British Columbia, making it the province's fifth largest industry, says the alcohol and drug commission.

The commission reports at least one pound of heroin is brought into Vancouver from the Far East each day.

That pound produces an average total profit of $722,800, says the report

The heroin assessment comes in an April 1977, report to Health Minister Bob Mc-Millan.

The report, which calls for compulsory treatment of addicts, also notes the average age of heroin users has dropped over the last two decades but the level of addiction is lower.

In a copy of the report, the commission states the average heroin addict in a 1975-76 test group was 20 to 24 years old while in 1956 the average age was 25 to 34.

While the report has never been made public, its recommendations form the basis for the controversial treatment plan McClelland outlined in August, 1977. Enabling legislation is expected to be introduced soon in the legislature.

The drug, in a form to per centium cubic[illegible] originated in Hong Kong and is sold for $2 a pack. A dollar is the importer's price. [illegible] pays a [illegible] to [illegible].

The addiction rate in the Vancouver area is [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Good weather needed to resume harvesting

If the weatherman cooperates, harvesting operations could be general throughout Central Alberta this week, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Rain fell again in most regions last week ranging from a low of five millimetres around Camrose to a high of seventeen millimeters in the Rosalind area.

With dry weather, most farmers expect to be able to return to the land this week for an all-out effort to get crops off the fields.

Crop conditions have deteriorated during the long wet spell, much of it being rated at the lowest grades. Many fields will be plowed under because the crop has been under water and cannot be harvested.

Only a small bit of threshing was done to rapeseed in the Daysland region last week with eighty-five percent of that crop now harvested. Rye harvesting had been completed before the rain came.

All crops have been cut Ten percent of the barley has been threshed with oats and wheat only five and three percent completed.

There was no progress made around Camrose during the past week.

Rye had been harvested earlier and three-quarters of the crop had been threshed. Some threshed Barley, wheat and oats are twenty, ten and five percent completed. Cutting of crops range from eighty to ninety-eight percent done.

Some crops were harvested in the Holden area. Rye is eighty percent off the fields while thirty-five percent of the rape crop is threshed. Seven percent of the oats are done while barley and wheat stand at five percent completed

All of the rye has been cut and sixty-three percent of the rape crop is down. Other crops range from thirty-two to forty percent cut

Some rapeseed and wheat was threshed around Rosalind while cutting of crops continued

Sixty percent of the rape crop has been threshed while other crops range from ten to fifteen percent harvested Only about three percent of all crops are to be cut

Farmers in the Hay Lakes area experienced slight progress during the past week

Only thirty percent of the rape crop has been taken off the fields while ten percent of the barley and five percent of the oats are threshed. A start is still to be made to wheat Cutting of crops ranges from seventy to ninety-five percent completed.

Farmers in the Tofield region were quite active, doing considerable threshing and cutting

Two-quarters of the rape crop has been harvested while thirteen percent of the barley has been picked up. Only two percent of both oats and wheat have been harvested

All of the rapeseed has been cut with operations in other crops nearly done, ranging from eighty-nine to ninety-eight percent cut

Reports from Ryley and Round Hill were not received in time to be included

Recreation Report

1978 as well to map a plan for the future of recreation and parks within the county This plan carried out the information of what should be done and the amounts of money available from the different sources. By this time one more tax year grant was announced by the Provincial Government, called major Cultural Recreation Capital Facility.

A lot of work in planning and getting ready for this project was done by many people on the board, and outside help to get as much information as possible without costing anything

The work for improving was beginning, the front outside was to be finished so that it would be safe from falling the old walling inside had to be changed to comply with the new building standards Beach regulations with gyproc put on all walls in the auditorium dressing rooms, and stage areas Roof had to be given another coating to preserve what was left on it, Sewer and water lines put in, electrical wiring had to be checked for safety and fire, sound system put in, proper stage lighting installed, some kind of panelling to stop echoing and bouncing of sounds back and forth, stage built under certain specifications, (Stephanie could probably stand us it now), seating had to be put in and what could we do at the prices of $70.00 to $75.00 per seat, so we kept up a lookout for used seating, and finally we located an old theatre closing out and put in a bid for the seating and in the end we will have saved approximately $18,000 for this part alone, even with some of them having to be recovered

Wood will be used as the floor because of too bad chipped cement in this way installation of seating will be made easier Faster Same carpet will be laid to deaden the noise during performances Public washrooms in the front part of the building will include facilities for the people with wheel chairs as per the building standards branch

The centre will be equipped for complete equipment to put on concerts of all kinds, Drama, Church use if necessary Public speaking, political meetings, debates, Square dances of all kinds, ethnic groups who wish to use its symphonies There will be outlets for the placing of four microphones anywhere on the stage, complete set of the necessary colored lighting with dimmers, stage and two mezzanine small stages above the same. Wheelchair lifts to every level to enable the disabled to get to the stage.

The dressing room area will be available for small group classes in crafts or plain meetings, the stage will be used to rehearse plays, ballet or tap dance classes, piano or band or orchestras practice, their practice if needed. Two other rooms, not too large but will be used, one upstairs and one down are being set up for pottery and will be equipped with a kiln and sink and water with traps to stop clay from entering the sewer system The lobby will be set up so that it can be used as an art gallery for those artists who wish to display their paintings. These will be there for a certain period of time, and if a sale of the displayed work is made a small fee will be paid to the artist Because of too bad chipped cement in this way installation of seating will be made easier and Community work is "part of probation"

Doing community work while on probation is getting an excellent response from the people involved.

According to a probation officer, community work as part of a probation sentence is proving interesting, even to those who have to do the work.

Under conditions of a court order, persons receiving sentences in Provincial Judge's Court with a period of probation, are often required to do a certain number of hours of community work, with such work not being designed to take anything away from someone who is being paid.

It can add up to a lot of work for a community.

During the past year for instance, three residents of Ryley put in sixty hours of community work Tofield gained a bit more, with probation hours totalling up to eighty hours.

Young people involved in community work while on probation gain from learning a sense of responsibility and often respond favourably when given the chance to do something positive

One young man got so caught up in the work he was doing that, when he moved to another community, he, on his own, travelled considerable miles to complete the work project he was on, because he was so involved.

Some of the types of work being done under the program include, painting and maintenance work in schools, maintenance work on school grounds, working in the Adventure Playground in Ryley, garbage pick-up in Tofield with the town's crew, brush clearing, and cleaning up around town.

Progressive Farming

If you are thinking of buying a grain dryer, the following information may help you to decide on the type of dryer that will be most suitable for your particular harvesting system.

Grain dryers come in many sizes and types. There are the in-bin batch, the recirculating batch and the continuous flow systems. Some units are stationary, some are portable, some are powered electrically, some are powered by a tractor, some run on natural gas and some run on propane.

Dave Scott, systems engineer with Alberta Agriculture, says that in order to select the size and type of dryer which will best suit your particular harvesting operation, you should consider the following points:

— The dryer should be able to dry all the damp and tough grain that can be combined during an average day.

— The capacity of future harvesting equipment should be considered when selecting a dryer size.

— A portable batch with a propane fuel supply might be your best buy if your fields are spread over a considerable distance.

— An in-bin dryer or a continuous flow system might be your best bet if your grain handling system can be located at the farmstead.

— The availability of electricity and fuel should be taken into account. In some areas of Alber . natural gas lines cannot accommodate the fuel consumption rates of some of the larger dryers.

— The grain handling system should be evaluated before a decision on a dryer is made because the grain handling system is the most important part of an efficient and effective grain drying operation.

— The ability of the dryer to handle both cereal grains and oilseeds should also be considered.

— The ease with which the dryer can be cleaned should be of special concern to seed growers.

— The grain dryer should be checked to make sure that it has been certified by one of the following recognized testing agencies: the Canadian Gas Association, the Canadian Standards Association or the Underwriting Laboratories in Canada.

Prices of grain dryers fall into the $6,500 to $18,000 price range and the operating costs can vary all the way from 4 cents to 18 cents per bushel. The operating costs include labor, repairs and fuel. Fuel costs are determined mainly by the moisture level of the grain, the grain drying temperature and the outside air temperature. Fuel costs will be lower if the dryer is used during August and September rather than during the winter months.

Alberta Agriculture's systems engineering branch has developed a computer simulation model which can evaluate the potential of any type of grain dryer. It predicts the drying rate, fuel consumption rate, and the operating and fixed costs. It can also help the farmer to determine the best conditions for drying by showing which combination of factors will give the lowest costs and the highest drying rates.

Several information on the costs, performance and management of a grain drying operation.

If you would like more information on the computer simulation model, the fact sheets, or help in selecting or operating a grain-dryer, contact your regional Agricultural Engineer or the Systems Engineering Branch, Agriculture Building 9718-107th St. Edmonton, Alta. T5K 2C3

Cadets inspected

by Marlene Sinclair

Brian Roberts, Area Cadet (Sea) Officer, was out for the first inspection of the cadets last Thursday.

He was here checking to make sure the cadets' year was started properly.

Mr. Roberts is from Edmonton and comes here about three times a year.

Mr. Roberts is with the Department of National Defence and travels through the province checking the fifteen cadet corps situated all across Alberta. He makes sure that there is a proper training program, helps in the preparation of sending cadets to camp, arranges Outward Bound Camps and sees that the cadets are outfitted with uniforms.

He checks that the cadets applications are filled out properly and that they have had their medicals. He also checks if there are any problems to be rectified or whether anything should be changed.

The cadets are now in the process of getting new green uniforms, for which the Department of National Defence pays. The blue uniforms will no longer be looked after by them, but, will be kept by the corp for special occasions.

Mr. Roberts also spoke of a Cadet Liaison Officer that comes to Holden once a month. He is from the regular force.

This officer arranges for camp tour needs and special tours, such as took place this summer at HMCS Quadra Camp in Comox, B.C. There were 1200 cadets there this past year.

Tofield Lodge

Mrs. Agnes Anderson

We all hope you will not forget our first annual bazaar to be held in the lodge here on Friday, Oct 26th, starting at 1:30 p.m. Some of the ladies have worked so faithfully and willingly to make this occasion a big success. Included at the sale will be handicraft work, a bake sale, quilt auction, etc., with lunch to be served during the afternoon.

The weather the past week has been so heartwarming. It is so good to see the farmers and the combines out in the fields again.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Burnham of Viking called on Mrs. Agnes Anderson one afternoon last week.

Peter and Judy Hansen, accompanied by Beatrice Gerrard of Fort McMurray, paid a Thanksgiving visit to Mrs. Erickson.

Visiting Mrs. Eggen were her son and family from Ardrossan. Mrs. Eggen has returned from a visit in Edmonton with her daughter and family.

Mrs. Thompson was away for Thanksgiving visiting friends in Morinville, also with her daughter in St. Albert.

Visiting with Mr. Stecyk, Mr. Pidoborozny, and Mrs. Anderson were Mr. Pidoborozny from Vancouver, B.C. also Alex, Natalie, and Gloria Rurka of Viking.

Mac Anderson dropped in Tuesday evening to visit with Elmer.

Mrs. Schneider has returned after an extended visit at the home of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Olive Schneider. While there, he looked after the daily chores while Alice was on holidays in Europe. After her return he visited friends in Fort Saskatchewan.

Mrs. Delany who has been in the hospital here for some time, has returned home.

Other guests who were out celebrating Thanksgiving on Sunday, were Mrs. Edith Bailey, Mrs. Florence Bailey, Mrs. Soetsru, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson, Mr. Harrison and Mrs. Anderson.

Enna Lucetta Stauffer and Jeffrey from Lloydminster called in to see Mr. Stauffer.

Thursday evening we all thoroughly enjoyed a Thanksgiving service by members of the Salem Mennonite Church. The singing by Mr. Stutzman's three daughters was delightful to listen to. Mr. Hansen read the message which made us all realize how much we have to be thankful for.

See you at the bazaar on the 26th.

Agriculture 'shafted' by federal budget

. . . says Mazankowski

Don Mazankowski, M.P. in a report from Parliament Hill last March. I outlined the low priority given to the Department of Agriculture by the federal government. I noted at the time how the Department of Agriculture was allocated only 1.3 percent of the government's spending budget for 1978-79. It seemed even then that in these days of soaring farm input costs combined with less than adequate prices for agricultural products, and the constant need for more research and development in the agricultural field, the federal government's spending priorities were seriously misplaced.

The recently announced spending cuts have demonstrated even further how little and Liberal government cares about the agriculture industry and its problems. Starting from the already low position it was given last spring, the Department of Agriculture's budget was subject to one of the biggest proportional reductions of any department. The original proposal to slash $67 million was subsequently reduced somewhat but $61.5 million, or nearly 8½ percent of the department's budget, will still get the axe.

The computer based consulting service, Canfarm, has been dropped. Federal support for the construction of exhibition buildings will be ended. The Farm Credit Corporation will have $23 million less to lend to farmers. The prairie rail branchline rehabilitation program has had $5 million sliced off its 1979-80 budget. A $2.5 million program to compensate farmer's for crop damage caused by waterfowl is being cancelled. About $6 million will be cut from Agriculture and another $6 million from Industry, Trade and Commerce on programs involving important agricultural research and programs to assist grain and oilseed exports. These measures will hurt the agriculture industry and agricultural producers now and in the future.

There is no doubt that the federal government's spending cuts are long overdue and that the waste and squandering of taxpayers' dollars has far from ended. But the cuts seem to have been badly planned and made with no thought of the consequences. Worthwhile programs have been dropped while the bureaucracy remains as fat and comfortable as ever. A look at the budgets of various other departments shows where agriculture, which generates 13 percent of Canada's exports and directly or indirectly employs one out of every four Canadians, ranks in the minds of this government. The Department of Agriculture will now have a yearly budget of about $650 million. This compares to nearly $700 million for the CBC, over $500 million for bilingualism programs in 1977-78, $1.3 billion for the Post Office and over $12 billion for National Health and Welfare.

I am of the firm belief that if agriculture is not soon given the high priority it deserves, if the woes in our grain [illegible] and transportation systems is not soon straightened out, if producers' incomes do not reach a realistic level, then Canada's economic performance is destined to remain far below its potential.

Nurses study the law

Nurses from seven communities attended a workshop in Camrose last week on the legal aspects of patient care.

The workshop, held in the Alice Hotel last Wednesday (Oct. 4th) was sponsored by the Camrose Chapter of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses.

In attendance at the day-long seminar were sixty-eight nurses from Tofield, Killam, Provost, Hardisty, Galahad, Bashaw and Viking.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Edmonton lawyer Barry Vogel. Mr. Vogel has been legal counsel for AARN for the past four years.

Different aspects of the legal in the area of patient care were discussed during the workshop.

Program director and chairperson for the workshop was Mrs. Sharon Ramstad of Camrose, past president of the Camrose Chapter, who is the present ward representative of the North Central AARN District.

Recreation Report

by Colleen Walker
Recreation Supervisor

Why take a recreation program? We have a lot of objectives we like to meet with each and everyone of our programs We like to provide

a) enjoyable recreation
b) certain degree of learning
c) relaxation.
d) perhaps the teaching of a new skill

The following quote by a late economist, E.F. Schumacher, made me think of the programs and objectives that are offered through Further Education, Lakeland College, Regional Recreation, Alberta Agriculture, Public Health and the District Home Economist.

"Give a man a fish, as the saying goes, and you are helping him a little bit for a very short while, teach him the art of fishing and he can help himself all his life. On a higher level; supply him with fishing tackle, this will cost you a good deal of money and the result remains doubtful, but even if fruitful, the man's continuing livelihood will still be dependent upon you for replacements. But teach him to make his own fishing tackle and you have helped him to become not only self supporting, but also-reliant and independent."

These kinds of people and our agency desperately need individuals clubs, groups of interested people who are willing to start and help run programs which would benefit those who need it. Assistance in both the setting up and the running of these projects can be given by Mental Health Services and their advisory group, the Red Deer Regional Mental Health Advisory Council. Financial assistance may also be available for certain projects.

If you, your group or organization are interested and would like more information, please contact either Nestor Gregg, Director Community Work, Alberta Social Services and Community Health, Mental Health Services, Box 5002, 3935 - 50A Avenue, Red Deer, Alberta (Phone 343-5400).

Alberta Mental Health Services works with community agencies, individuals and groups to provide help to people of all ages, with complex or different problems. Some examples of the problems that we deal with are:

— A mother who is distraught with her child's uncontrollable temper tantrums.

— A middle aged man who has completely withdrawn from the realities and responsibilities of living.

— An elderly woman, living all alone, is having difficulty in remembering to eat, to turn off the hot stove, or not even wanting to eat.

Once the crisis has been resolved or lessened to the point where the persons are willing and wanting to assume the responsibility of living, help from the professional social worker, psychologist, psychiatrist or nurse is not enough. They might need special "family" places to

TIME OUT

At the Further Education Meeting we were talking about the course in Ryley called "Cope with Kids". This is a six week program starting November 8th (Note the Change of Date). What we will be doing is taking a look at the pre-school child. We will talk about the child's physical, emotional and social development. Parent-child relationships and family life styles will be explored. If you are the parent of a pre-school or about to be or just interested do plan to attend. We will meet in the United Church kitchen in Ryley at 7:30 p.m.

We are attempting to arrange a babysitting service while you attend the program. In order to do this it is necessary to have pre-registration. You can call our office, (403-3555) or Jane Walls 663-3896 or Joanne Brix 663-3426. We hope that this program will give young families a "time-out".

Nominations are sought

Nominations are being sought for the Carling-O'Keefe Award of Merit, amateur baseball's top individual award announced at the annual meeting of the Alberta Baseball Association in December.

"The emphasis is on recognizing persons whose conduct, dedication and activities have made a valuable and lasting contribution to the development and betterment of amateur ball," explained Ron Hayter, of Edmonton, chairman of the selection committee.

Dennis Lindstrand of Camrose, is on the selection Committee.

Nominations, in writing, should be sent to Mr. Hayter at 228 Revillon Bldg., Edmonton T5J 1B3, not later than October 30. They should be comprehensive, outlining fully a person's services and contributions to baseball in the province.

The Carling-O'Keefe Award of Merit was won last year by Paul Hargas, of Warburg.

This year's winner will be

Conduct tests on broiler chickens

Broiler chickens in Canada now are more resistant than ever before. Recent tests carried out by Agriculture Canada's poultry division show that broilers are better bred, better fed and reach marketable weight earlier than 10 years ago.

The Central Canada Broiler Test compared eight strains from commercial hatchery flocks across Canada. The researchers found that the birds reached a marketable weight at 48 days compared to 63 days 10 years ago. A two kilogram bird, produced in 48 days, had an average carcass meat yield of 71 per cent. The poultry division will conduct further tests this fall and winter to confirm the results.

Anyone who wants further information on the tests should write to Poultry Division, Food Production and Marketing Branch, Agriculture Canada Ottawa Ont., K1A 0C5.

having this problem, usually the problem is that there are not enough leaders available

Now the leads are in a quandary, they have 21 girls from ages 7 to 11 and no place to go. They will stay in the Art room (they have been moved) for present and do all their activities outside while the weather permits

They have approached the village office and were told that the lease that the Lions Club have on the hall runs out in December

This group is the only one in town for girls in this age bracket, the leaders are enthusiastic but getting more and more discouraged

The afternoon's activities commenced with the singing of "O Canada", accompanied by the music of the Tofield Stage Band.

After a short explanation of the day's events, Mr Irwin concluded with the theme that "excellence be recognized " He then went on to introduce Brian O'Toole and Brent Aubrey, who were in charge of the athletic awards

Winners of the County Track Meet 12 and 13 years of age were Tracy Riel and Steven Dinnar, Jackie Mewis and Jim Naherniak won the same awards for the 14 and 15 year olds

The next category to receive recognition was the field of human relations These awards were based on leadership, citizenship, school spirit and overall cheerfulness

Each year the Lutheran Women sponsor an award to one grade nine student who meets their qualifications Lee Purvis gained the honor of receiving the award for 1978

Ryley awards contract for its treatment plant

by Marlene Sinclair

Ray Hovland, secretary-treasurer for the Village of Ryley confirmed that the village is to get a new water treatment plant, estimated to cost $250,000.

The contract went out to tender and four bids were received

The company that won the contract is International Erectors and Riggers Ltd from Calgary, with a bid of $285,000. They have started construction by putting in mud flapping on the deep well

The plant is located 2½ miles east of the village limits, next to the original treatment plant. This plant has been designed for population increases. It can be upgraded by adding settling basins and filters

Last year, in preparation for this plant, a new reservoir was dug that will store 13,000,000 gallons of water This amount will handle a population of 800 people if and when the town expands further, the reservoir can easily be extended

The Village Council have also been busy laying plans for a new sub-division in the northeast section of town The general survey and outline plans have been approved by the Provincial Planning Board

There will be a total of 147 lots available in this area in the near future Weins Holdings also have a subdivision plan for that area, that will add approximately 15 more lots

In another part of town, John Tominson has been subdividing an area directly north of the school on Wickstrom's land layout

He now has 31 partially serviced lots, with a frontage of 60 to 65 feet and 140 foot depth. Most of the ground services (water, sewer, power and gas) are in, but the streets have not been constructed as yet. He feels that the lots should be ready by early spring His own house there is almost completed. Mr. Tominson has been working on and planning this sub-division for about two

Contract terminated with weekly papers

Rural readers of The Mercury are going to have to pay for their own subscriptions starting in 1979

At a recent meeting of County Council, it was decided that the County of Beaver would end its contract with The Mercury, along with the Viking News, at the end of the current year

The contract called for county ratepayers to be able to receive the weekly newspaper of their choice.

In return, the newspapers had agreed to supply all county advertising free of charge, and to publish minutes of meetings of county council and the county school committee

One of the reasons given by council or discontributing this service is their ratepayers is the expense involved Councillors feel that the cost has risen too high in recent years

Another problem stems from the fact that the eastern portion of the county now has two weekly newspapers operating out of Viking

Rural readers of The Mercury are advised that their present subscriptions will run out with the final publication of 1978. Readers are urged to renew their subscriptions by visiting The Mercury's office in Tofield.

Contract awarded for Tofield School

H D C Constructors Ca Ltd of Edmonton has been awarded the contract for the construction of the Elementary Core School at Tofield

At the present time, two portables are approved and are nearing completion for use this school term and four portables will be connected to the Core School for next term, adding an additional Fifty student spaces

The Building Committee for the Core School project consists of Councillors C Sears and H Armitage and Town of Tofield members D Moddle assisted by F W Reinholt, Superintendent of Schools, A.R. Cooper, Secretary-Treasurer, and R.G Pepper, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer

New reeve named

by Marlene Sinclair

Walter Kropilnicki was elected as the new Reeve of the County of Beaver at a organizational meeting held at the County Office on October 12.

Mr Kropilnicki as well as the former Reeve, George Kaudalsen, were nominated for the position, with Mr. Kropilnicki winning the nomination.

The Reeve is chosen from among the seven councillors elected by the populace The Deputy Reeve is also chosen in this way, and Councillor Hjordes Armitage took over from Mr. Kropilnicki in this capacity

Mr. Kropilnicki has been a councilor in the district for eighteen years When interviewed he said he would do the job to the best of his ability

Councillors on the board at present are: Division 1 - Hjordes Armitage; Division 2 Gordon Maxwell; Division 3 - Gabe Brissard, Division 4 - Walter Kropilnicki, Division 5 - Eugene Ewasnik; Division 6 - George Kaudalsen; and Division 7 - Charlie Sears

At the time of this meeting, many committees were formed in order that various jobs and studies could be done These committees continually change and are too numerous for us to give a list of those serving on them.

by John S. Batiuk

Since the adjournment of the Spring Session of the Eighteenth Legislature, I have experienced a very busy and an exciting period.

As the various areas of the constituency continue to [illegible] both in population and development, very many activities took place. Almost every community has already formed an Agricultural Society and have provided an agricultural fair.

The Cultural Festival in Vegreville was once again a great success. Most important of all was the visit of the Royal Couple on Aug. 2nd. The preparations were superb and the visit was very successful. Her Majesty indicated that she was very impressed by the reception she received while visiting the constituency. I am indeed very grateful to the various communities for all their efforts to make this very memorable occasion such a great success. I also appreciate and thank the many thousands of people who contributed to the great turnout.

In addition, there were many functions which I attended and enjoyed doing so.

A very successful nominating convention of the Vegreville Progressive Conservative Party was held where I was nominated without contest. We know that the Vegreville constituency was blessed with many developments, however, I can see room for further improvements so I have let my name stand for re-election for one more term so that I can see some of these needs met.

As the Fall session resumes, a motion by the Premier was moved, "That the Assembly approve the operation of the government since the adjournment of the spring session." In his address the Premier advised the Assembly of the state of the province. One of the very important functions was the successful Commonwealth Games. The Government provided support [illegible].

Another very important function was the Royal visit to the various areas of the province and the Queen's participation [illegible].

The official opening ceremonies of the Syncrude project took place in Fort McMurray. Two provincial parks were officially opened which will provide recreation to large numbers of people particularly Albertans. Some very distinguished people visited Alberta and the reception of about 200 delegates from the Commonwealth countries was well received.

Approximately 100 communities were visited by the Cabinet in three separate Tours. These tours seem to be appreciated and well received, particularly in rural [illegible].

There has been an adjustment in the rural bus transportation grant which, along with the elimination of the gasoline tax, will provide a great relief to Boards of Education. The special appropriation of $130 million to Education Boards was mentioned, eliminating the need to borrow money to operate. At present, a study is being made regarding small school grants.

When one looks how housing has advanced in Alberta in comparison to the other provinces, it is worthy to note that there has been 42,000 new home starts and 25 percent of these are because of the various government [illegible].

In the last five years the Alberta Opportunity Company has provided 880 new [illegible] with funding. All 880 businesses now operating were refused financial assistance from other lending [illegible].

The largest primary and secondary road and airport program in history has been created and any setback or delay is due to the climate conditions. The Premier also brought to the Assembly many other involvements advantageous to the province.

IN MEMORIAM

FLEMING: In memory of a beloved husband, father and grandfather, Patrick Fleming, who passed away October 22, 1977.
In our hearts you will always stay
Loved and remembered day by day
Memories are treasures no one can steal
Death is a heartache no one can heal
Life must go on, we know it's true
But it's not the same since we lost you
You left so quietly without goodbye
But memories of you will never die
Ever remembered and sadly missed by his wife, children, grandchildren. 7p-1334

Thieves enter Ryley School

by Marlene Sinclair

The Ryley Public School was broken into on Friday, around midnight with the three individuals believed to be responsible are all juveniles.

The northwest gym [illegible] was forcibly entered and then the Senior High Students union canteen was robbed of approximately $10.00 worth of candy and chocolate bars.

The steel mesh window in the door to the office was then broken and the office entered, where a cash box containing $30.00, belonging to the Students Union, was taken.

There was no vandalism other than the broken window.

A strange fact concerning the breaking, is that there was another cash box containing about $11.00 of the school's petty cash directly underneath the box stolen and yet nothing was taken from it. In fact, nothing else in the school was touched, something the principal, Mr. Clarke, was very relieved about.

It is the policy of the school never to keep a large supply of money on hand, even at textbook rental time, or picture taking time. Any large amounts of money are immediately banked. This was probably the largest sum that was ever in the school at one time

Steps are now being taken to remedy the possibility of more forcible entries.

All the money has been found by the RCMP and will be returned after the trial that is pending.

The cash box had been put in the dump along with all the candies. The candy got too close to the fire and burned but, the cash was still all right the next day.

Confronting your Faith

With Reverend David Meddle of Tofield United Church

It is that time of year when all the churches in the land start up their various church school programs. Everyone is caught up in the mechanics of setting up new programs, finding enough teachers, selecting and buying new materials, and enrolling new children. However, I wonder if we'll take a few moments to ask ourselves just what we are doing.

All churches have some kind of system by which they try to pass on to their young the rudiments of faith and knowledge of the Bible. All churches are committed to trying to instruct their children so that they may have the right kind of knowledge in the years to come. Some churches assume that the child will stay with his original church so they emphasize their particular doctrines and practices. Other churches emphasize their own particular interpretation of the Bible. The question that confronts us is, "What is best for the children?"

Many people assume that Christian Education must guarantee that a child make a decision to be a Christian by a certain age, usually fourteen. Too often, people feel that Christian Education has failed if a child does not make a decision for Christ in one form or another. However, that kind of pressure has some very serious consequences for the child involved. Children usually want to win the approval of their elders and so many children will adopt the stance of their teachers and ministers toward the church without ever seriously questioning or understanding it. Some might say, "That's fine; we should just have faith and accept it blindly." However, if a child accepts something blindly, there will come a time in his life when his faith will be sorely tested, and if he lacks understanding, his faith could fail. God gave us brains to use with wisdom and understanding our intellects should not be ignored in church.

Another consequence of the immense pressure that we put on our children is, that in rebelling against our expectations, the child will reject the church. Oh, we like to talk about wilful children, but who can blame them? We expect them to make a decision that will affect the rest of their lives, but we never stop to ask them what they want or need. Too often, our goals reflect our own need for fair numbers in church and for empire building. Too few people stop to hear the children's thoughts and needs, and so the children rebel against such empire building.

No, church school must not strive to guarantee conversion. Rather, it should attempt to provide an open, healthy atmosphere in which a child can learn without fear or pressure. Church school should offer a child dignity, joy, and prayerful hopes. The year 1979 is to be the International Year of the Child, and in preparation for it we should start with our church schools and see if we are offering our children the freedom of education or if we are guilty of indoctrination. Something to think about!

USE ENERGY WISELY

Take a long look at this new symbol.

It stands for conservation.
It stands to reason that if we all use energy wisely, we can reduce our energy use. That means we can take the pressure off Alberta's non-renewable resources. It also means we can curb the ever-increasing costs of providing generating facilities to produce electricity. That's good for Alberta – and for you! If we all work together, rate increases in the future can be held to a reasonable level.

It stands for co-operation.
Alberta's electric utilities are working together to promote the wise use of energy. But we won't achieve our goal without your help. Individuals and businesses alike can help in many ways to reduce energy demand. These steps can add up to substantial savings. Watch for messages featuring this new symbol.

Conserve.
It's worth the energy!

Land Reclamation Research at Camrose-Ryley 1977

Coal being removed from the bottom of pit #3, Aug. '77

The same area of pit #3 showing Barley growth on 6 inches of topsoil surfacing (Oct. '77)

Introduction

This is the second annual report on land reclamation research work being conducted for Fording Coal Limited (formerly CanPac Minerals Limited) and Calgary Power Ltd. in the Camrose-Ryley area of Alberta.

The first report, published in 1977, discussed the research findings of 1976 on a site which comprised five test trenches, each 200 by 14 feet by 5 feet deep, in which combinations of subsoil, mine spoil material and topsoil were used as growth media for barley. This second report presents data for crop year 1977.

Also in 1976, two deep pits were prepared as sites for further research. This report includes the results of the first crops from those pits in 1977. The deep pits are referred to as Pit No. 2 and Pit No. 3.

The map in the centrefold shows the trench and pit locations in relation to Camrose, Dodds, Ryley, Round Hill and Tofield.

These research projects are expected to continue for many years, in order to provide useful information which will help to achieve satisfactory and permanent reclamation of surface mined land in the area.

The Purpose of the Research Work

All the electric power generating facilities which have received regulatory approval will be in operation by the end of 1984. From then until mid-1994, according to forecasts prepared by the Electric Utility Planning Council of Alberta, the province will need 12 coal fired steam turbine generator units, each of 375,000 kilowatts capacity, to meet the power requirements.

To supply the power needs for 1985 and 1986, two applications for additional generating units are now under consideration by the ERCB. Calgary Power had previously proposed a six-unit generating station in the Dodds and Round Hill district for the early to mid-1980s period, but the Government of Alberta deferred this application. In light of these demand forecasts, it is possible that Calgary Power may renew this application for capacity to supply power needed in the late 1980s and early 1990s.

Fording Coal Limited and Calgary Power Ltd. own the mineral rights to large reserves of sub-bituminous coal in the Dodds Round Hill area. This coal would be surface mined as fuel for the projected generating plant. Approximately 1,000 acres of land would be mined in each of the 35 years of the projected life of [illegible].

Of these 35,000 acres, about 75% are cultivated. Wetlands make up another 15% of the area, and the other 10% is native or wildlife pasture. Of the cultivated land, some 17,000 acres produce cash grain crops and the balance is devoted to hay, pasture and [illegible].

The Province of Alberta requires that mined land must be reclaimed and returned to levels of productivity which are equal to, or better than, those which existed prior to mining. Mined land is being reclaimed successfully now in many other places in Alberta. The main object of the Camrose-Ryley reclamation and revegetation work is to demonstrate that land in this area can be returned to premining productivity.

Surface mining of coal requires that the overburden — the material above the coal seams — be removed prior to mining and replaced afterwards. Overburden contains various layers of soil. This research is evaluating various choices of these overburden components as growth media, and is also evaluating the depths of growth media placed above other overburden material. These evaluations are being made by measuring crop yields.

Research is also being conducted into the chemical composition of the soils and other overburden materials. The use of other substances such as gypsum to modify chemical characteristics for greater crop yield, and the establishment of forage crops on reclaimed land, are also being evaluated.

The Trench Installations (SW¼-14-48-18-W4)

Reclamation research in the Camrose-Ryley area began in 1975 with the excavation of five test trenches (see plot plan adjoining). These trenches were filled with various materials upon which crops were grown and were first harvested in 1976. An earlier report in this series presents the results of that first year of reclamation experimental work.

On the basis of the trenches' production, the relative suitability of each of the growth media (soil material) used can be determined. This information is useful in selecting growth media materials for use in reclaiming land which has been surface mined.

Sources of "growth media" in the trenches were:

1) "Original Root Zone", excavated from the trenches and mixed, upper 4 ft. original soil.
2) "Till", excavated from the 3- to 5-foot level of the [illegible]
3) Old mine spoil, from the spoil pile of a nearby [illegible]
4) Shale, also from the nearby surface coal mine.

1977 Hay Yield on Trench Installation

GROWTH MEDIA	HAY YIELD kg/acre	HAY YIELD lbs/acre
Undisturbed land	~1,590	3,500
Original root zone	1,560	3,440
Till	1,360	3,000
Till 75% — Shale 25%	1,105	2,440
Old mine spoil	1,020	2,250
Till 50% — Shale 50%	795	1,750

Trench Plan

Comments on Trench Installation Test Results

1. The yields shown are for the first hay cutting only. The regrowth was plowed down.
2. No fertilizer had been applied since the seeding of the forage crop, with barley, in the spring of [illegible].
3. The forage crop was an uneven stand in 1977 on all trenches and undisturbed land due mainly to competition in 1976 from the very heavy barley nurse crop.
4. Due to the uneven density or stand of crop, hay yields with and without topsoil were not measured separately in 1977.
5. On the basis of the 1977 trials the "original root zone" material and the "till" gave hay yields almost equal to the undisturbed [illegible]. The plowing down of the second hay crop is expected to improve the productivity of these materials.

PIT No. 2 (SE¼-6-49-17-W4)

One of the two newer deep pits, this pit was excavated to a depth of 34 feet to the coal, and the spoil material was then replaced. Topsoil and subsoil (see below) were stripped and stockpiled separately. Following the return of mine spoil, the northern one-third of the pit was surfaced with a wedge of root zone mix tapering from 0 to 24" from west to east across the pit. The centre third was surfaced with topsoil forming a similar wedge from 0 to 12". The southern third received no surface material. The mine spoil is a mixture of sandstone, shale and [illegible].

This pit compares very thin layers of topsoil (Ah) at 0 to 12" and root zone mix at 0 to 24" as re-established root zones over mine spoil. It is basically a research site devoted to evaluating:

1. The upward movement of alkali salts (sodium) from mine spoil into thin layers of growth media.

2. The relative productivity of topsoil (Ah) and subsoil or "root zone mix" (B and C horizon mix) when such materials are used as thin surfacing on mine spoil.
3. The effect of gypsum upon the productivity of root zone material. The gypsum was placed on a portion of the root zone mix in 1977.

The fertilizers applied provided 55 lbs. of nitrogen (N) and 27 lbs. of phosphate (P_2O_5) per acre.

The relative productivity of the three materials is shown by the "Bonanza" barley yields in the table which follows. Yields are expressed as total weight of straw and grain, and were determined by harvesting 20 square-yard samples from each surfacing material. The samples were not threshed, as the crop was frozen prior to maturity.

1977 Barley Yields on Pit No. 2

SURFACING MATERIAL	BARLEY YIELD (Grain plus straw) kg/acre	BARLEY YIELD (Grain plus straw) lbs/acre	Estimated bu/acre (1)
Nil (bare mine spoil)	1,179	2,600	27
Topsoil (Ah) 1 to 6" thick	1,882	4,150	43
Topsoil (Ah) 6 to 12" thick	2,354	5,190	54
Root Zone Mix 1-12" thick	898	1,980	21
Root Zone Mix 12-24" thick	875	1,930	20

(1) "Bonanza" barley normally runs about 50% straw weight and 50% grain weight. On this basis bushel yields per acre of grain are only estimated.

Soil Test Data on Pit No. 2

By averaging soil test data from numerous samples which were taken from the materials upon which the barley was grown, the following soil salinity chara[cteristics] [illegible]

Average Soil Analyses — 1977

GROWTH MEDIA	EC mmhos/cm	SAR	EXCHANGEABLE SODIUM me/100 gms(1)	SATURATION %(2)
Mine Spoil	2.0	8.3	10.6	127
Topsoil (Ah)	1.2	7.0	5.2	[illegible]
Root Zone Mix	3.5	7.1	11.4	126

(1) Exchangeable sodium is shown as milliequivalents per 100 gms of soil.

(2) Weight of water when soil is saturated, as % of weight of soil.

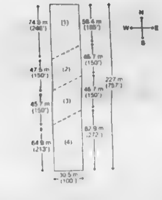
Comments on Pit No. 2 Test Results

1. Mine spoil surfaced with topsoil (Ah) produced fairly good barley crop yields (2 to 2.5 tons per acre) which were about double the yields from both "mine spoil" and "root zone mix".
2. Crop yields decreased as exchangeable sodium (milliequivalents per 100 grams of soil), saturation percentage and EC values increased. SAR values are sufficiently high to cause some yield impairment but they have poor relationship with the large differences in barley yield.
3. 1977 soil test data will be compared with 1978 data when secured to see if there is any movement of sodium salts from mine spoil into topsoil or root zone mix material.

Pit No. 3 (SW¼-9-49-17-W4)

The second of the two deep pits, this pit was excavated to a depth of 20 feet. Then approximately 3,400 cubic yards of coal were removed. Soil materials from the top six feet of original surface were stockpiled separately. After the coal was mined, spoil was replaced and was surfaced with wedges of till and root zone mix. These wedges taper from eight feet thick on the east side to zero thickness on the west side. A part of each wedge was surfaced with six inches of topsoil. (continued)

FIGURE 5
Diagram of Pit No. 3
An evaluation of "Till" and "Root Zone Mix" as growth media applied as surfacing at increasing thickness over mine spoil



KEY
(1) Till surfaced with 6" of Ah material
(2) Till
(3) Root Zone Mix
(4) Root Zone Mix surfaced with 6" of Ah material
Note: Till and Root Zone Mix increase in thickness 0.0 m to 2.4 m (8')

This pit was planned as a demonstration site for various aspects of the reclamation of surface mined land. It will provide information on:

1. the results achieved from various depths of growth media, up to eight feet, placed over mine spoil
2. the relative productivity of the original root zone (B and C horizons) and glacial till as growth media
3. the effect of surfacing growth media with six inches of topsoil.

The fertilizers applied provided 55 lbs. of nitrogen (N) and 27 lbs. of phosphate (P_2O_5) per acre, as was the case for Pit No. 2.

1977 Barley Yields on Pit No. 3

GROWTH MEDIA	BARLEY YIELD (Grain plus straw) kg/acre	BARLEY YIELD (Grain plus straw) lbs/acre	Estimated Grain Yield (1) bu./acre
Root Zone Mix with 6" Ah	1,728	3,810	40
Root Zone Mix without Ah	1,787	3,940	41
Till with 6" Ah	1,606	3,540	36
Till without Ah	1,628	3,580	37

(1) Grain yield in bu./acre is estimated by taking 50% of total weight, grain plus straw, as being the grain weight for "Bonanza" barley.

Soil Test Data on Pit No. 3

By averaging soil test data from many samplings of the materials that produced the barley yields shown for Pit No. 3, the following soil salinity characteristics were determined:

Average Soil Analyses — 1977

GROWTH MEDIA	EC mmhos/cm	SAR	SATURATION %
Mine Spoil	2.1	3.5	66
Till	2.4	4.2	66
Root Zone Mix	1.6	3.4	56
Topsoil (Ah)	0.5	2.8	54
Mixed Mine Spoil	2.1	3.5	66

Comments on Pit No. 3 Test Results

1. Root zone mix (taken from the 6" to 48" depth) and till (taken from about the 4' to 6' depth) produced between 3,500 and 4,000 lbs. per acre of barley (straw plus grain).
2. Root zone mix yielded about 10% more than till.
3. Yields were slightly depressed where topsoil was applied. This is believed due to competition from weeds and volunteer rapeseed that developed on the areas surfaced with topsoil. Unsurfaced areas were relatively weed free.
4. The soil analyses indicate that soil salinity (EC), SAR and saturation % values present no appreciable growth restriction to crops grown on till, root zone mix or topsoil. Furthermore the mine spoil below these growth media presents no significant restrictions to growth.
5. Plant growth conditions, from the standpoint of soil salinity and sodium related problems, are much better at Pit No. 3 than at Pit No. 2.

Conclusion

As can be seen from this second annual report on the land reclamation research work being conducted in the Camrose-Ryley area of Alberta, positive results are being obtained. The results achieved to date give promise that land can be successfully reclaimed in the area after surface mining.

Fording Coal Limited and Calgary Power Ltd. are continuing the research work, with a view to compiling even more comprehensive information on which to base plans for land reclamation.

Holden School has reunion

A casual remark about seeing old friends and six months of planning resulted in the Holden School Reunion, 1950-60, on Oct 7 in the Holden Community Hall.

The weather co-operated nicely as former students guided by present day students toured the Holden school which has changed very much from the 1950's. As everyone gathered at the Community Hall they were presented with name tags and a booklet which included the program for the evening, the menu, and the names and addresses of over 400 teachers and students.

A cocktail hour was followed by a delicious supper served by the Ladies of the Agricultural Society to 375 guests. A short program preceded the supper. Carol (Hurum) Maxwell was the gracious master of ceremonies who introduced the head table of teachers and former students taking part in the program. Ernie Kostke gave the toast to the Queen. Mayor Oleh Shykora brought greetings from the village of Holden as well as from the school. Father John Kratko said a prayer in memory of deceased teachers and students. Stephen Beveridge gave an amusing toast to the teachers. Mr Wm Brushett, former principal gave the response. Grant Grosland presented a citizenship trophy to Mr. Shykora which is to be presented to a deserving student selected by the teachers at the Holden School. He also announced that the guest book along with any monies left over would be presented to the Holden Sr Citizens Drop-in Centre. Joan (Armstrong) Bablitz said grace.

The evening was spent dancing to the music of the Rhumba Kings, much visiting and looking at pictures of days gone by which were posted on the wall. Also posted were letters from former students who were unable to come but wished to send their best wishes.

Class pictures were taken and refreshments were served by four of Holdens friendly people, Mr and Mrs Nestor Semotiuk, Mr O Hurum and Mr Ogonoski. There were former students from as far north as Grand Prairie, as far east as Niagara Falls and Ottawa, Ont., as far west as Qualicum River and Prince George, B C and as far south as Drumheller and Calgary plus many other points in Alberta.

Approximately 400 attended the dance, and about 225 of these were former students, the rest were teachers, husbands, wives and friends. A common complaint was there just isn't enough time to visit everyone.

Teachers attending wer Mr. Wm Brushett, Mrs. Doris Ogrodnick, Mr Earl Hardy, Miss Ethel Brown and Mr Wm. Ogrodnick. Committee members were Marilynn (Foran) Ratke, Grace (Hurum) Shandro, Ines (Hardy) Reil, Shirley (Pooke) Grosland, Grant Grosland, Genevive (Hurum) Rennick, Gail (Allen) Chmilar, and Larry Harris who was also the artist for the cover of the souvenir booklet. A lovely lunch concluded the evening.

Jack Nolan took home the prized Thiessen-Warner Memorial Trophy at the Tofield Gun Club's annual shoot held on Sunday. The trophy was donated by the club in memory of two original members, both of whom were avid hunters and sportmen, despite being in their late '80's when they joined the club.

Neil and Grace Phillips have returned from a three-week visit with friends and relatives in the Ontario communities of Toronto, Kincardine, Tiverton, Goderich and Flinton.

Stunting drivers nailed

Residents of Tofield and Holden are cracking down on stunting drivers, according to the RCMP.

Citizens of the two communities have been getting quite disturbing in recent months, because of the increase in stunting driving and the danger that has developed from such actions.

RCMP report that citizens in both centers are taking down license numbers and have been willing to testify in court. Because of this attitude, convictions are being obtained.

RCMP are again warning businesses to be careful when cashing cheques from people they don't know.

The warning was issued again after it was discovered that local businesses had accepted bad cheques valued at about $400 during the past week.

Russ Leahr of Holden reported the loss of a suitcase full of clothes from the back of a pickup truck which had been parked behind the Holden Hotel.

Vince Gilbertson of Tofield reported the theft of his car. RCMP conducted an investigation and charges are being laid.

Ed Dyck of Edmonton reported the loss of a power router, logging chain, jackall jack, and fifty gallons of gas from his acreage in the Lindbrook area.

RCMP are investigating an assault involving two females, which took place in Holden on Saturday night.

Police investigated a total of thirty-two complaints during the past week and charged two vehicle operators with impaired driving.

Tip of iceberg

Canadians once again face the dismaying prospect of trying to cope without a Post Office for what will probably turn into a number of weeks, if past experience means anything.

The government insisted before the strike began that very severe action was being contemplated should the union strike, even though it was in a legal position to do so, and from all appearances the union seems to have felt it was in a position to call the government's bluff, if bluff it were.

Certainly any action taken by the government must be drastic, or it will be foolish. To take a position which would be ignored by the union would leave the government in the position of being impotent. On that basis, a simple back-to-work order is out of the question.

To institute a Crown corporation would do nothing to get rid of the problem, it would simply transfer it to a different jurisdiction. But it wouldn't hurt the union, and in fact, it might strengthen its position.

Almost the only alternative would be for the government to declare that it is going out of the second, third and fourth class mail business, and that it will concentrate only on first class mail from now on. That would dramatically chop the entire volume of the Post Office, and so be followed by a wholesale slashing of personnel . . . including union members.

Such a move, naturally, would be felt at all levels, inside workers, outside workers, supervisory staff. And it would build up all sorts of new problems, even if it decimated the ranks of the union.

Second, third and fourth class would no longer be "mail", of course, if it didn't go through the Post Office, but it would immediately give the massive substance needed by one or more alternative delivery systems. Regional or national carriers, such as Loomis or Purolator, could take over huge volumes to deliver, if they wished to do, giving them the sort of base on which to develop a complete alternative service.

In part, at least, that sort of thing has already developed, as more and more firms switch important papers for delivery to the courier firms, leaving lesser material to the mail, that ever proud service.

One of the features which bothers the public most is that they don't really have any accurate information about what the strike is really over. From time to time various bits of information are given by either side, notably the government side, but even this is suspect by most of the public as being only part of the picture, and not the whole truth.

Bad as the Post Office strike is, it probably will turn out in the long run to be only the tip of the iceberg. While it may be more annoying to a greater number of people, it's probably not nearly so serious in its long term ramifications as the strike of shipping engineers on the Great Lakes, a strike which will have major impact on the long-term shipping methods of hundreds of firms, which will throw probably thousands of workers out of work as the long range implications develop, and which will cost our country millions of dollars before it's over.

We'll see dislocation in the market for feed grain going East, for grain headed overseas, for livestock and dressed meat, and all sorts of other products. On top of a poor year in the harvest fields. that's just one more blow the poor farmer doesn't need

Peter Ward's Ottawa Viewpoint...

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (SP) — There's something of a conflict between the plans of the Defence Department and the federal government's current efforts to prove financial responsibility. A year ago the government promised Defence that there would be 4,700 additional men allowed into the depleted Armed Forces because there simply were not enough bodies in uniform to perform the tasks assigned to our military.

So far 800 additional servicemen have been taken on strength, compared to the 1,400 expected by Defence. At the rate of 400 additional servicemen per year, it will take 12 years to bring the military up to strength

Then there's the contract for new jet fighters which will cost nearly $3 billion. It looks like that one is going ahead, despite the fact there has been only weak justification for the need to spend that much

There's routine $275 million on the planning board at Defence Headquarters which hasn't even been discussed in public. We're buying the new fighters for Canada to protect us against the manned bomber threat. The detection equipment installed more than 30 years ago, is now outdated, and up for replacement.

The Arctic DEW line is the responsibility of the U.S., in the view of Canadian planners, and replacing those stations with a modern radar detection fence is going to cost $1 billion plus. Looks like the Americans are going to do it.

Further south there's the Pine Tree line, which is Canadian all the way. Radars along the Pine Tree are now nearing the end of their useful life presentation of these luminescent awards were E. Eisenbraun and Mrs. A. Taylor.

Special recognition should also be given to the organizations who donate some of the awards. These groups include the Lutheran Women, the Catholic Women, the Tofield Teen Club, the United Church Women, the Tofield Students' Union, and the Hastings Lake Ladies Club.

Jim Allan was in charge of presenting the Junior High academic awards.

The basis for tabulating the averages of students in grades seven to nine was by examination of the four core subjects: Mathematics, Science, Language Arts, and Social Studies.

The highest average awards went to grade seven. Anika Jansen with 94 percent, runners-up were Patrick Hallonquist at 88 percent, and Carol Kallal at 87.5 percent. In grade eight Rom Filipula with 87.5 percent, runners-up, both with 84 percent were Myron Roth and Anita Kugelstadt. In grade nine Monica Taylor with 91 percent runners-up both with 81.25 percent were Evan Baergen and Todd MacNutt.

The high aggregate award, that is the highest average over three years, was presented to Jim Nahirniak with an overall average of 83.3 per cent.

Presenting the Senior High academic awards was Ron Taylor.

Unlike the junior high calculations, the high school averages were based not only on class mark but also on class credit value. Highest averages in senior high were achieved by grade 10. Nancy Neufeld with 80.3 percent, runners-up were Elaine McMann at 80 percent, and Dirk Jessen at 78.5 percent. grade 11, a tie at 84.4 percent was awarded to Kathy Ring and Rachel Collins with runners up Melody Henriksen at 81.3 percent and Diana Kugelstadt at 77.5 percent. grade twelve Gordon Siemens at 84.8 percent followed by Joyce Wilke at 83.4 percent and lynn Warner at 80.4 percent.

The Alberta Teachers Association awards the student with the highest aggregate average with a cheque, each year. This year's winner with an overall average of 83.1 percent was Joyce Wilke, who accepted the award from B.G. Gerrans. A special thanks to the donors of the awards in this area goes to Mr. and Mrs. Ron Taylor and the Tofield Lion's Club.

All in all, the awards day was very successful as the gymnasium was filled with cheers for the winners and an overall aura of school spirit.

Next year, the school will continue its trend of holding this Awards Day and one can be sure that we will see some more of the deserving students recognized.

KNOW YOUR SEED

All seed sold in Canada must meet quality regulations and be clearly labelled as to kind of seed, grade, lot number and distributor.

Fred Thomson of Agriculture Canada's plant products division says all farmers have a legal right to such information. A seller also has to provide, on request, details of the weed seed content of the seed.

The plant products division monitors the quality of Certified seed sold in the market place.

Holden seeks services of secretary-treasurer

. . . as Sorensen resigns

The Village of Holden will be seeking the services of a new secretary-treasurer.

Alfred Sorensen is retiring at the end of this year, and his resignation, effective December 31st, was accepted by village council with regret, and "thanks" for services rendered.

Councillors agreed to commence advertising to obtain the services of a new person for the position.

Three readings were given by councillors to accept the 1979 assessment roll in 1979, with the exception of all mobile units.

Councillor Lemke reported that a meeting is being planned for users of nuisance grounds in the county. Details on this meeting should be known shortly. Councillor Lemke also told council that a new pit was to be dug for village use.

Councillor Mackay reported that a meeting had been arranged for Monday (past) for the purpose of discussing renovations to the Community Hall.

Councillor Mackay went on to point out that a public meeting has been planned for November 21st to discuss revisions to the regional recreational master plan.

Council approved a request from the Sea Cadets for free use of the Community Hall every Thursday evening for a three-hour period, with the understanding that the hall be left in a neat and tidy manner.

A letter was received from the Holden Chamber of Commerce requesting that the Christmas lights be turned on by December 7th.

Council acknowledged receipt of a letter from Radio CFCW in Camrose which pointed out that the station would be saluting the village on November 18th.

Representatives of the Holden Teen Club were on hand to present council with a cheque of $200 with the money to be used to improve the wiring in the Community Hall.

Accounts amounting to $31,275.89 were approved for payment and other routine business matters were handled.

Minutes of a regular meeting held on September 28th, and special meetings held on September 18th and October 4th were approved.

Information for this news story was obtained from the unapproved minutes of a village council meeting held on October 18th.

Fast time ends Sunday

Clocks all across the province will revert to Standard Time at 2 a.m. this Sunday morning, Oct. 30, which means you should get an extra hour's sleep, or possibly get to church an hour earlier.

Most people, naturally, will set their clocks before bedtime Saturday.

Swim-a-thon set

by Marlene Sinclair as given by Gail Booth

The annual swim-a-thon sponsored by the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society and donations from groups and individuals - no money for operation comes from any provincial or municipal source.

Participating swimmers will be given a definite time in which to complete their laps.

Beginners and pre-beginners will have fifteen minutes to swim or walk while more advanced swimmers will do lengths.

Each swimmer has a sheet which lists three individuals who sponsor the swimmer at a rate set by the sponsor.

Income tax receipts will be issued by the society as soon as the money is collected and turned in.

Spectators are encouraged to attend and watch the swim-a-thon which will continue throughout the afternoon.

Tories set nomination

The Progressive Conservative nomination meeting for the Clover Bar Constituency has been called for next week, with only one party member officially seeking [illegible].

As of Tuesday, Jim Ford of Sherwood Park has been the only one to throw his name in for representation in the next provincial election. President of the party's constituency association, Dick Baker, has indicated that there are rumors of others being interested in the nomination, although no one has yet made a commitment. Deadline for announcement is 48 hours before the meeting.

The meeting will be held on Thursday, Nov. 2nd, at 7:30 p.m. at Ardrossan High School.

Jim Ford, with his family, has been a resident of the County of Strathcona for seven years. He has 13 years of experience in dealing with the government in various departments as an outside consultant.

Alberta Wheels has "signed off"

Funeral services were held in Tofield on Friday at St. Francis Roman Catholic Church, for one of Alberta's best-loved CB radio operators.

Known as Alberta Wheels, fifty-one year old Alphonse Fontaine passed away suddenly last week, and the voice that brought happiness to many truckers will be heard no more.

Crippled with polio as a child, Alberta Wheels spent most of his life in a wheelchair.

Alphonse used a small CB radio to keep in touch with truckers driving along Highway 14. He became a crisis centre, relaying messages to the police, ambulance or tow truck. Many drivers stopped at his home for a cup of coffee after hauling storms or winter whiteouts.

Truckers so appreciated his efforts on their behalf that they threw a surprise party for him in July, 1978 and presented him with a new radio and a twenty-five metre tower.

The new tower enabled Alphonse to broadcast over a sixty-five metre range and Alphonse became ever more dedicated to keeping a watch on the airways that when he left home, he carried a small portable radio.

Since his death last week, the CB community has rallied to him once again, this time making pledges to a memorial fund which has been established at the ACT Recreation Centre for the Disabled.

The latter was selected because of Alphonse's dedication to helping that organization by appearing on Telethons and participating in United Fund money-raising campaigns.

Channel 23 is not silent but, a familiar and popular voice isn't heard any more.

"Ten-four, good buddy".

Lodge has birthday

by Marlene Sinclair

The Tofield Lodge had its first anniversary party on Friday.

They celebrated by having a bang-up bazaar, tea, auction and bake sale which had a definite festive feeling.

The bazaar was to start at 1:30 p.m., but many people arrived to view the articles made by the residents of the lodge much before hand.

The selling did not start until the appointed time however, giving everyone an equal opportunity. After all the craft articles and baking were sold, everyone had their lunch and were served birthday cake as part of the celebration.

I had tea with Mrs. Oliva Erickson. She has been living in the lodge for the full year. She and her husband moved in together, but, he passed away three months later. She has lived all her life in the Round Hill and Ardrossan districts.

Two other ladies I met were Mrs. Hesla Wikkan and Mrs. Fillonneau. Niemetz. They also have been residents of the lodge since it opened. Mrs. Wikkan and her husband farmed in the Ryley area and moved to Tofield in 1962. Mrs. Niemetz lived in Tofield for twenty years, then moved to Ladner, B.C., and returned to Tofield when the lodge opened.

There are forty-four residents in the lodge at present and many people waiting to get a room.

As people were finishing up their lunch, the auction of the larger articles began. There were beautiful quilts, afghans and rugs for sale and no lack of bidders. The auctioneer was Harold Schultz and approximately 200 people watched as the quilts were paraded before them, giving them another chance to see what they were bidding on.

There is a large craft program at the lodge, organized by Mrs. Marg Lamiman.

John Baergen is the manager of the lodge and says the first year of operation has been successful and that "they are looking forward to many more such years."

TOURISM— is everybody's business

Second Place Winner
By Mona Forster
Killam Public School

So many people believe that the only people involved with the business of tourism are those who work for hotels, restaurants, tourist bureaus or other things that involve tourists, tourism and recreation.

This definitely isn't so. Everybody can be involved with the business of tourism. Any person, big or small, can be of aid to the tourists, maybe as a sightseeing guide. Just being plain old nice and friendly helps tourism by making the tourist feel happy and comfortable. This means the tourist will probably return. There is absolutely nothing worse for a stranger who is passing through a town than to be looked on as a freak and have everyone be cold and [illegible].

Everyone can help tourism. Look at the small children. They feel proud when they can give someone directions or help in any other way. This also means the tourist is able to find out that the town is friendly. This could lead to the tourist returning many times and even telling other people about the town.

Now the teenagers. They may work at various jobs during the summer, which is usually the tourist season. This gives them a sense of responsibility and gives the tourist and the town a chance to see that teenagers aren't all bad. It shows how everyone can get involved in tourism.

Then, of course, come the adults. They are the people who own the hotels, motels, work in the tourist offices, own and manage the restaurants and stores. They probably play the major role in tourism. But also, they could be those the most guilty of not getting involved. Some just sit back and say, "Someone else can do it. It doesn't involve me."

Besides the people, another factor is important to tourists and tourism, the surroundings. A town that is kept neat and clean and isn't run down is about to attract more people than a town that looks like a garbage dump. It's human nature for a person to want to see the clean town instead of the filthy one.

As I said before, the inhabitants are important but so is their attitude. Being kind and helpful makes tourists feel more at home and everyone can do that. Everyone can also keep the [illegible].

Also, a town with a variety of recreation activities and facilities can attract tourists. A town that is "dead", so to speak, drives tourists away, taking money with them. The town fairs, different facilities and fun things going on brings in the tourist and money.

This shows how many factors it takes to make tourism a successful industry. Note that all the factors revolve around the people, tourist or otherwise.

So you see, tourism is everybody's business. If it wasn't, there would be no tourism or tourists and hardly as much money entering a certain area. Just taking a look at Battle River Country, many places rely on tourists. The myth of tourism being only for professionals is dissolved and replaced with fact: TOURISM IS EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS.

Canada loses

Almost unthinkable, Canada nonetheless appears to be the loser in the battle with the postal union. There's always the possibility, of course, of winning the war even though a battle has been lost. But the most recent battle with the inside workers of the post office seems to have been a very important one, and one which the government feared to face.

For a week now the government legislation has been in place, and only a relative handful of workers in the smallest centers in the country have obeyed the law. Probably 20,000 of the 23,000 workers are defying the law, whether disdainfully, or in fear of their fellow workers. Either way, the effect is the same.

The end result, of course, tends to justify the concern of at least one senator, the group which was despised when it tentatively held up the legislation for a few hours. The one senator wondered about the wisdom of passing a law which was almost guaranteed to incite disobedience, and his fears are now seen to have been justified.

The biggest danger in this whole performance is that authority is never seen to be displayed, or manifested, soon enough, nor adequately enough, so that the taunting, baiting, the defiance, goes one step further each time, each time proving it will not be resisted, and each time eroding a little further the accepted and established solid base of law and order which has been earned over the centuries, and turning us into a jungle where might becomes right.

In just such a step by step manner, probing all the way, did Hitler prove the weakness of the European democracies, enabling him to march across Europe, subjugating and despoiling as he went.

The almost ridiculous thing is that early this week Parliament passed the self-same law ordering the striking Great Lakes seamen and engineers back to work. If they haven't been able to persuade the postal workers to go back, what makes them think the shipping crews will feel any more obligated? The only difference is that there aren't so many involved on the Lakes . . . only a little over a hundred, as against twenty thousand.

The present impasse with the postal workers is a highly dangerous situation . . . one which the government should have avoided at all costs. It simply tells workers in all other unions that they can spite the government with impunity, a step which can lead only to anarchy. Either the government must back down completely, or it must move to more drastic legislation, so drastic that it cannot be ignored.

Harvesting is nearly done

Harvesting is over eighty (80) percent completed following giant strides made by farmers last [illegible].

According to reports issued by Alberta Wheat Pool, about three days to one week was needed to complete the 1978 harvest. The reports were issued on Thursday of last [illegible].

Rye had been completely harvested in Daysland and Round Hill with operations nearly done in the Round Hill region.

Ninety-four percent of the rapeseed had been threshed near the end of last week while wheat, oats and barley were approaching the eighty percent mark. Three-quarters of the flax around Camrose had been threshed and a start still was to be made in the Daysland region.

Harvesting of rapeseed and rye has been completed by Daysland farmers. Oats are ninety percent threshed while wheat and barley are at 85 and 80 percent, with flax still to be [illegible].

Rye has been completed around Camrose and ninety-five percent of the rape crop [illegible].

Eighty percent of the wheat is done while barley and flax are three-quarters threshed and seventy percent of the oats is done.

Holden farmers have gotten all of the rye off the fields and ninety percent of the rape crop [illegible].

Harvesting of oats and barley has reached the eighty-five percent mark while thirty percent of the wheat is still to [illegible].

In the Tofield area, farmers are in the process of completion. Only two percent of the rapeseed crop is still to be threshed.

Ninety percent of oats and barley has been taken off the fields and eighty-five percent of the wheat crop has been [illegible].

Farmers around Round Hill have only two percent of the rape crop to pick up and are down to the final five percent of rye.

Eighty percent of the barley [illegible] quarters of the oats are threshed, and sixty-five percent [illegible].

In the area around Hay Lakes, only five percent of the rapeseed crop is still to be [illegible].

Wheat and oats have reached the ninety percent mark, and eighty percent of the barley has been harvested.

Ryley farmers appear to be having the roughest time, although ninety-five percent of the rape crop has been [illegible].

It is in the completion of the other crops that has put this area behind with only sixty percent of wheat, oats and barley threshed to date.

In the Rosalind region, threshing operations on the rapeseed crop have been completed.

Ninety percent of the barley has been completed, while oats and wheat are at eighty-five and eighty percent [illegible].

Homecoming planned

by Marlene Sinclair

The homecoming meeting that was organized by the Ryley Legion was very [illegible].

An enthusiastic group of 25 people gathered at the Legion Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 18.

There were members from twelve organizations present and out of these a steering committee was formed. One member from each organization was selected to be part of this committee.

The President is Mrs. Teresa Manderson and the Secretary is Mrs. Harriet Brown, other officers will be chosen at their first meeting on November 15.

This homecoming is to commemorate the beginning of Ryley which started with the naming of the Post Office in 1909. This is to be the 70th anniversary.

Some excellent ideas came out of the meeting, but not all organizations were represented.

Mrs. Brown will be contacting these organizations this week, in hopes that there will be total participation in this worthwhile event.

God wouldn't have given us feet if he didn't mean for us to use them.

Goat breeders offer service

A new Information Centre for goat breeders in this area has been set up in Kingman.

Brigitte Wooley is offering the new service on behalf of the Alberta Goat Breeders Association. She reports novices throughout Alberta and all over Canada experience difficulty in obtaining information. The service now in effect in Ms. Wooley's home will eventually be able to offer goat breeders various pamphlets.

Ms. Wooley, herself a breeder of purebred goats, said there are many very "basic questions" which need to be answered for the general public. She reports quite a number of inquiries have already been directed to the Information Centre in Kingman.

The Information Centre's phone number in Kingman is 672-7372.

Confronting your faith

Ken Hammond Heard Modlin of the Tofield United Church

This last week on C.B.C. television, Canadians were privileged to see a re-[illegible] of one of Canada's great families, the Masseys. The second hour of the two-part special was very moving from the point of view of religion in our modern day. In the Canadian West, the Massey name is known because of the farm implements used by countless farmers throughout the prairies bearing the Massey name. In the East, more precisely Toronto, the Massey name is known because it dominated the cultural and economic life of that city. It is hard to say how great the Massey influence was, but it [illegible]

The outstanding feature of the second hour of the show was the way in which it brought about the Masseys' commitment to those who had less than they did. It's easy to be cynical in the modern world and question Hart Massey's motives. The workers in his factories might have felt differently about him than the show depicts, but he seemed to be truly aware of their plight and the effects that industry was having on the country. His motto, in the light of the poverty he saw around him, was "Conscience before Profit," and he seems to have accomplished both.

The Fred Victor Mission, staffed by United Church ministers, still stands in Toronto trying to alleviate the loneliness and pain of the down-and-outs. Victoria College and Hart House at the University of Toronto still house the halls of learning.

The Masseys could be criticized for living so well, but for their day and age, they are fine examples of Christian conscience and commitment. It was their deep religious faith, their understanding of Jesus' task on earth, bringing peace and justice to all men and women that served to inspire their commitment to the poor of the world. They had their faults, we can be sure, but we could use a few more business people like Hart Massey whose Christian faith caused him to cry out "Conscience before Profit."

We can only hope that many people watched this show and were reminded that faith in God does mean commitment to our brothers and sisters of the world.

You can help keep electricity costs in line.

We don't like rising energy costs any more than you do. But the costs of building and operating additional facilities are escalating, and we must use Alberta's non-renewable resources to generate your electricity.

The more you do to manage energy at home, the more you can save on your electricity bill now — and help to keep future cost increases to a manageable level.

There are many things you can do to keep these costs in line, yet still enjoy a good lifestyle.

Good energy management can be as simple as:
- using a timer for your block heater
- using your frypan as a "mini-oven" for small amounts of cooking.

Generally, small appliances such as broiler ovens, crockpots and toasters use less electricity than your range.

Remember – use what you need – but need what you use!

Conserve. It's worth the energy!

Tofield extends lines

The Town of Tofield has taken the necessary steps to proceed with certain extension to existing water and sewer lines.

Three readings to the necessary by-law were given at a regular council meeting giving the go-ahead to the installation.

The water and sewer lines in question are on 51 Avenue, from 50 to 48 Streets, with the water main going only from 51 to 52 Avenue, on 48 Street.

Councillors gave their approval to the revised recreation master plan to cover the area served by the County of Beaver.

A letter from Dr. Walter Buck, MLA, was read endorsing the town's stand in dealing with problems of criminal justice and crime prevention

The town's stand had stemmed when a request for support had been received from the Town of Sundre, wanting government action to deal more severely with criminals when crimes had been committed.

Representatives of Belvedere Developments and Epec Consulting attended the meeting to discuss with councillors, the proposed Belvedere sub-division

Accounts amounting to $80,802.31 were approved for payment and other routine business matters were handled.

Minutes of the previous meeting held on September 25th were approved

Information for this news story was obtained from the unapproved minutes of a town council meeting held on October 10th.

Progressive Farming

Stubble Burning Is Not Good Soil [illegible]

This fall has seen a large amount of stubble burning being carried out in our country and the reasons for doing this are often questionable Stubble burning, in the past, was a useable tool to aid in making the land more workable when field machinery was inadequate for the job Today, however, there is little or no reason for burning stubble with the advent of new trash-handling machinery and with experienced farmers stating that maintaining and incorporating their trash cover improves their soil productivity.

What is it then that burning the straw does to the soil?

1. Short-Term Results - burning leaves little or no trash cover on the soil surface thus making the soil susceptible to wind and water erosion, which remove the fine portions of the soil and it is in this fine portion of the soil that most of our plant nutrients are held. Thus erosion of the topsoil does not only mean a reduction in the depth of workable topsoil but also in the overall fertility of the soil.

2. Long-Term Results - burning causes a reduction in the organic matter content of the soil. This reduction results in: 1. decreased water holding capacity of the soil due to no organic matter being put back in to the soil, as well as the increased possibility of surface crusting. 2. decreased fertility since the nutrients in the straw will not be returned to the soil and with nitrogen being the main nutrient lost 3 A soil that will bake easier and will be made more susceptible to the formation of subsurface hardpans or 'puddling' which are often caused by travelling over a moist soil which is conducive to packing due to being in a low organic matter state

As well, by maintaining the straw instead of burning it allows the straw to catch snow during the winter and result in a better moisture storage for the following year. Straw incorporation is a good management tool for farming soils of low productivity or a Solonetzic character and should be practiced by most farm managers in our area. So next time think before you burn!

School and School Bus Operations During Storms

1. Schools in the County of Beaver will operate on all regular school days. Should school buses not operate due to hazardous road conditions, teachers, town pupils, and rural pupils who can be transported safely to school by their parents, will be expected to attend.
2. Should an over-night storm cause blocked roads or the serious danger of blocked roads, school bus runs will be cancelled. Radio station CFCW (Camrose) will broadcast messages, starting at 6:30 a.m., informing parents of the cancellation.
3. Should it be necessary to send pupils home by school bus at some time during the school day because of stormy conditions, these procedures will be followed:
   1) The Principal of the school has authority to send school buses home at any time during the school day.
   2) Radio station CFCW will broadcast messages that rural pupils are enroute home
   3) Parents, school bus drivers and others who are informed on road conditions are asked to telephone the Principal, the County Councillor or the County Office at Ryley should they suspect that stormy conditions will block roads.
4. Road and weather conditions vary considerably throughout the County. For this reason, each school will operate independently under this procedure. It is possible that morning runs may be cancelled at some schools and not at others. Similarly, buses may be routed home during the school day at some schools and not at others.
5. Parents are reminded that it is their right to decide whether or not their children will get on the bus in the morning should conditions be stormy or hazardous.
6. Please be certain that all pupils are dressed adequately warm each day. A school bus can become stranded on any given day due to road conditions or mechanical breakdown.

Sat-teeners call reunion

In the years 1945 through to 1952 when Calgary had only four high schools, there was a very active teenage club - as a matter of fact the largest in Canada - called the Sat-teen Club.

It was really the centre of the social life of teenagers after the War. It came under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. and held dances every two weeks plus having its own radio show (Sat-Teen Presents), plus its own newspaper (The Satteener), plus producing a movie in colour (which for that time was really exceptional) and many other various activities such as bus tours out of town, exchange dances with other cities and towns, and so on.

This being a time of nostalgia, the Sat-teen Club is holding a re-union at the Convention Centre in Calgary on Saturday, Oct. 28th. Tickets are $15 per person, available at outlets in Calgary listed following. The event is at Macleod Hall at the centre, with cocktails at 6 p.m., the Sat-teen film and buffet supper at 7 p.m., and dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Dress is semi-formal.

A Sunday brunch will be served in the Mayfair Hotel in Heritage Park from 12 to 3 p.m., and a lunch from 12-1 p.m. Tickets for these are $6 per person.

Tickets may be purchased at Scenes Shoe Store, Scotia Centre and Market Mall, Arcature Reproductions, 711-8 Ave S.W., Williams Bros Furniture, 3420-12 St S.E., Mais Oui Ladies Wear, 8417 Elbow Drive S.W., Norm's Ski Hut, Chinook Centre. It's round-up time again

Round-up has started again at the Tofield Blackfoot Grazing reserve, the first community pasture in Central Alberta.

The annual fall round-up brings forward the end of September when the cattle are corralled, separated and assigned to their rightful owners. It is an exciting time for all those involved, and the grazing reserve has an interesting history not known to many of the younger members of the community.

The tract of land now known as the Blackfoot Grazing Reserve has been called the Beaverhill Forest Reserve and was set aside as a forest preserve in the 1890's.

A great deal of logging was carried out for a number of years Matt McCauley, who became the first mayor of Edmonton in 1892 and the father of the late Alec McCauley, a Tofield businessman, operated one of the first sawmills in the area. In 1894, a great fire swept through the region.

The next year, a prairie fire which started south of Beaver Lake again swept through the forest preserve, persisting as ground fire through the winter. It destroyed much of the large timber, and logging was virtually at an end. However, a fine growth of grass soon covered the area, resulting in a haven for livestock.

The Blackfoot Stock Association was formed in 1930 when the Government leased 40,000 acres to a group of farmers, mostly from Tofield, Lamont, Fort Saskatchewan and Clover Bar for $1.00 a year.

With membership fees of one dollar a year, 150 farmers signed up.

In the same year, the Association borrowed $12,000.00 from the Moosland Bank in Tofield with which they constructed a four-strand wire fence with solid cedar posts for the south side of the fence was built by Jim Grey, father of Jack Grey, range rider at the reserve from 1967 till 1976.

The Association charged members $2.50 per head per season during the two months and during the very dry years, horses were brought in from as far south as Stettler and Big Valley. When the bank loan was due, there were no funds for payment and many members dropped out. However the remaining members paid off the loan at $4.00 00 each.

Mr. Pincott, Tofield businessman, insurance agent, notary public, etc., Mr Verge and a John Morrow, owner of a store at Deville, each acted as secretary-treasurer of the Association at different times.

The Provincial Government then took charge for the next 8 years, after which the farmers again formed an association, this time known as the Blackfoot Grazing Reserve. This is a non-profit organization working in conjunction with the Dept. of Lands and Forests. Expenses are paid and any extra used for improvements.

Headquarters is still the buildings erected by the Federal Government in 1913. Cattle put in the pasture from the west gate are ear tagged in the right ear, and cattle put in the pasture at the east gate are ear tagged on the left ear. A cross fence dividing the pasture prevents cattle entering from the west ranging over to the east and vice versa. All cattle must be vaccinated and de-horned. One whole section inside the pasture has been enclosed as a fence.

The cattle are rounded up into groups and hazed into a one-acre catch fence where they are counted. Then they are released into the fenced one-section corral where further separating by brand is carried out, and then the animals are run into corrals for their owners to pick up.

Though the cattle are not brought into the reserve until May, Range Rider Ward Norton checks the reserve fences beforehand. This, of course, is an continuous job all summer, as is riding through the reserve regularly to check on the cattle.

However round-up time is, naturally the busiest as the cattle are herded through the bush and sloughs to the round-up corrals. This requires several good horses per rider, as well as a couple of extra hands.

Ward's wife, Deanna, being an accomplished rider, sometimes manages to get away from home duties for a few days to assist in this work.

This year, Jack Grey and his son, Don, again are rounding up cattle as they have done for many years, hazing cattle along the fences that Don's grandfather built over 50 years ago.

Reminiscent of the romance of the Old West, there is still a time and place where a good horse and rider are indispensible.

Couple is feted at shower

by Marlene Sinclair

A mixed couples bridal shower was held for a Ryley couple, Sharon Helgeland and Jody Feuerstein, formerly of Flin Flon, Manitoba.

It was held in the Shaw Community Centre with approximately fifty people attending. The shower was organized by Kay Nordby, Carol Stefura and Inas Reil.

There was a short program with Millie Helgeland reading a poem called "Lest We Forget". The bride's older sister, Debbie Cruse, read a short history of Sharon and her three bridesmaids, Tammy Helgeland, Treva Nordby and Tweet (Valerie) Stenstrad made up a song called "Together Forever" and gave their rendition of it as a tribute to the bride and groom.

The hall was beautifully decorated in a fall motif. Wheat, oats and pumpkins were used and fall colours adorned the room. The head table was enhanced with a cake that was decorated by Millie Helgeland. At the table sat the bride and groom-to-be, the three bridesmaids, and the mother of the bride, Mrs. Leonard Helgeland.

When it came time for the gifts to be opened, they were brought in by Lee Ann Reil and Desree Campbell, on a wagon that was all decorated and made into a train like box. Sharon and Jody received many useful gifts from the Ryley and district community a large starter box of groceries. Lunch was then served.

After the shower, the bridal party, along with the relatives and friends, congregated at the bride's parents' home for further good wishes and fellowship.

Sharon and Jody are to be united in holy matrimony on November 4th at 2:00 p.m. in the Ryley United Church. The reception will follow in the Ryley Community Hall. Jody's parents and some relatives and friends from Flin Flon will be attending the wedding here.

Approximately two weeks after the marriage they will go to Flin Flon where a reception will be held for them and the community there will be able to wish them well.

Take a step in the right direction. Take a few.

RCMP will lend property markers

The Tofield Detachment of the RCMP has the means by which people can recover property that has been stolen.

The Detachment has in its possession, an engraver, marking pen and black light which may be used to identify property.

Possessions, such as furniture, can be marked with the engraver or pen, with such marking readily visible under the black light.

Anyone wishing to borrow this equipment to mark their possessions may do so by visiting the Detachment.

RCMP have issued warnings about violations that sometimes occur without people being aware that they are breaking the law.

It is against the law to drive a vehicle in which the tail light lens has been broken, leaving a white light to shine.

A maximum of two fog lights may be used at any time with regular headlights.

The so-called "two lights" usually placed on the top corners of the windshields are illegal.

RCMP in Tofield suspended to thirty-two complaints during the past week.

Bruce Daley of Tofield reported the theft of almost 100 gallons of diesel fuel from his tractor-trailer.

Cliff Bakken of Edmonton reported vandalism to a portable washroom being used at the site of the construction at the Tofield School. Vandals filled in the hole with dirt and also dumped dirt inside the structure.

RCMP are keeping a close watch on the Tofield Fire Hall to keep kids from loitering inside the premises.

Two Tofield residents, Allan Rhodes and Edgar Jon, were treated in hospital for injuries received in a single-vehicle accident which occurred on Friday about forty miles northwest of the Lamont Store.

Carol Swanson of Tofield was given a two-year suspended sentence for driving while his license was suspended. He was placed on a one-year probation for driving with a reading in excess of 08, and was fined $50 for illegal possession of liquor.

Randy Nider of Edmonton was fined $400 and had his license suspended for six months on a charge of driving while his license was suspended.

Randy Moos of Tofield was fined $250 and had his license suspended for six months for driving with a reading in excess of .08.

Last rites are held for Oliver G. Allan

Oliver George Allan of Tofield passed away in Edmonton on October 6, 1978 at the age of 75 years.

Our area artists

by Marlene Sinclair

Mr and Mrs Anton Podruzny are no strangers to this country, since they arrived in the Ryley area in 1936 from Skorodynce, Poland.

They started homesteading some C.P.R. land eight miles southeast of Ryley and lived on that same land until 1960 when Mr Podruzny had a heart attack and had to retire from farming.

They then moved into Ryley where Mr Podruzny could not be slowed down. He kept working around the yard and in his garden which resulted in two strokes. At this point, he decided he could no longer do heavy manual labour, but he wanted to keep busy, thus started the art work he learned as a boy of fourteen in Poland.

Mr Podruzny weaves rye straw, a dying art.

He started by braiding straw for hats while still in Poland, but now makes almost anything. Some articles he has made over the years are bishop hats, monstrances (holy pictures), 25th anniversary cakes, cups, flower baskets, lunch baskets, bread baskets, vases of all kinds and chalices for communion, just to name a few.

It is obvious from the articles he makes that the church is a very important part of his life. In fact some of his straw pieces are in Rome, they were given to Bishop Wladyslow Rubin and Mr Podruzny received a letter thanking him for the chalice and monstrance he had woven for him.

Archbishop O'Neil of Edmonton also has some of his pieces.

The Podruznys have not had an easy life, but it has been one of trusting in God. They were married on Nov. 7, 1930 and had thirteen children, six of whom died. Four died while they were still in Poland and two after arriving in Canada.

The Podruznys both had tuberculosis when they were in Poland and as a result of Mrs. Podruzny having it, her son Johnny was born with it. She said that for three years he just lay in his bed crying. Then something happened that strengthened her faith in the Lord's power to heal.

In Poland, in the month when the trees are just starting to turn green, there is a special festival when all growing things are blessed. Mrs. Podruzny saw some women taking branches off of a certain tree and she asked them why. They said that the leaves had miraculous powers which she tended to disbelieve, but she decided she would take some anyway.

At this point, a woman came up to her (which she believes to be an angel) and asked her why she was taking these leaves if she did not know what to do with them. This woman then proceeded to tell her of her sick son and that she should boil these leaves and bathe him in the water. She went home and immediately prepared the concoction and proceeded to bathe him. The first time she bathed him, she could see he was getting colour in his cheeks. By the third time she had finished bathing him he was sitting up, something he had never done before in his entire life. The Podruznys believe fully that God has led them throughout their lives, even to leading them to Canada.

They had planned to go to South America and even had arranged for passage, but Mr Podruzny had a dream that he was to go to Canada and so he decided to come here instead, a decision they have never regretted.

Shortly after leaving Poland, the village they came from was attacked and many of their friends and relatives died and now they say "look at what is happening in South America."

Mr. Podruzny learned to braid straw 68 years ago, but really did not start producing until about 20 years ago. He usually braids four strands of straw at once, but occasionally does six-strand braiding, something that is extremely difficult and intricate.

After finishing the weaving he cuts off any loose ends and then puts the braid on the floor and rolls it flat with a rolling pin. He usually spends a long period of time weaving and then he starts putting his pieces together. He uses 100 percent cotton thread and waxes it with beeswax, this is so that it does not cut the straw.

Mr Podruzny would like to teach someone this art, but warns that it is very difficult and takes a lot of time. This will be his last year of weaving as his eyesight is failing and his health is not what it should be; besides he is now 82 years of age.

Mrs. Podruzny is 75 and still an active homemaker. She weaves rugs of various materials and also makes other woven articles.

She keeps in contact with her family, her sons, Frank and Johnny in Peace River, Henry in Camrose, Bert in Calgary and her daughters, Frances (now Sister Mary Blaise of the Philician Sisters in St. Catherines, Ontario) Mrs Annie Shott of Daysland and Mrs Bernice Kozdrowski of Ryley.

She and Mr. Podruzny have recently added another member to their family. They have adopted a little girl from Nigeria through the SOS Childrens Village named "Abosede". Abosede was an abandoned child, her background is unknown. She is living in the Red Cross Childrens Village and the Podruznys support her. To give you another idea of how open-minded Mrs. Podruzny is, she was taken on her first motorcycle ride just after her 75th birthday in August by her granddaughters husband, Terry Reid, and she loved it.

If anyone is interested in learning this art of weaving straw, the Podruznys live in the first trailer east of the Catholic Church in Ryley. Mrs. Podruzny says she loves getting company.

Shykora is re-elected

Oleh Shykora has been returned for a second term of office as Mayor of the Village of Tofield.

Mr Shykora was elected to the post when village council held its annual organizational meeting last week.

Councillor Christine Mackay was unopposed and was elected to the position of deputy-mayor.

It was agreed that regular meetings would continue to be held on the third Wednesday of each month and that the village would continue to use the services of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Mayor Shykora, Deputy Mayor Mackay and Secretary-treasurer A Sorensen were authorized to pay regular monthly accounts.

Council authorized the forwarding of a letter to E Hardy commending him for his efforts on the Vialta Lodge Management Board, and requesting him to again serve as the village's representative.

Eight other appointments were made by council, with the following members to serve on different committees:

Finance and Garage — Shykora

Public Works, Sanitation and Weeds — Lemke

Water, Sewer and Health — Daniluk

Community Hall and Recreation — Mackay.

OLEH SHYKORA

Local and Regional Recreation Boards — Mackay - Gerbelman (alternate)

Rural Development Council — Gerbelman - Daniluk (alternate)

Director of Emergency Operation - Daniluk.

The meeting was opened with Mr Sorensen in the chair. After Councillor Shykora was re-elected to the mayor's chair, Mr Sorensen administered the oath of office and Mayor Shykora assumed the chair for the balance of the meeting.

Information for this news story was obtained from the unapproved minutes of the organizational meeting of village council held on October 16th.

HOLDEN THEATRE PROJECT

The progress of the Arts Centre (Holden Theatre) is moving along slowly. Another is drawing to a close and we only have two and a half weeks to complete painting, installing seats for the first booking of November 17.

Sub contractors are hard to keep on the job to get things completed. When they fail to arrive on the days they promised, it holds up the main general work.

To date the work that has been completed is the following:

Outside front of the building - The roof repairs - Town installation of sewer and water to property lines - Inside - Washroom partitions have all been built in and suspended ceiling gyprocing - has been completed, taping and erecting, filling is being completed this week, then painting will take place. Accoutic tiling has been done - sound-s in and awaiting to be connected. Lighting - dimmer and colored lighting is in, put up, and awaiting electricians to connect. Floors - should be tilled and carpet should be finalized by Nov. 5, -78. Wood flooring is now being laid.

The first use of the facility will be on Oct. 24 at 7.30 p.m. when the Beaver Regional Arts Society will hold their fall meeting to plan for the [illegible] Arts and Music Festival and look at programs of Performing Arts in book for 1979-79.

Citizens of the County have already come forward and volunteered to help with the lighting, staging, etc. We could use help now to finish off the painting and little jobs, especially in the evenings.

November 13 and 14 will see a meeting being held each evening for all those interested in drama. Discussion of forming a group to put on local amateur plays and the future casting will take place for "Butterflies are Free".

Agriculture Week October 22-28

THE BUSINESS OF FARMING

Farmers are fond of saying "farming's not a job, it's a way of life". Don't let them kid you. Farming can be just plain hard work — to the dairyman who rises at dawn for milking, to the grain grower driving a combine nearly around the clock at harvest — but most of all it's a business, with all the responsibilities and demands of any business. How good are farmers at this business? Let the statistics tell you — in 1977 the sale of agricultural products turned over a cool $1.3 billion.

THE SCIENCE OF FOOD PRODUCTION

Today's farmer inherits the down-to-earth experience of generations, but he also leans on space-age technology to produce a bounty of quality foods in our short growing season. There's nothing rule-of-thumb or word-of-mouth about Alberta's agricultural expertise — or about the federal, provincial and university research institutes which work year-round to provide our food producers with the most important farm tool — knowledge.

THE CORNERSTONE OF THE ECONOMY

Of course, being part of Canada's breadbasket, Alberta has always exported wheat and other grains, but this year beef and hog exports may earn more for Alberta than grain. About a fifth of Alberta's total earnings come from agriculture, and the business of processing agricultural produce into food and beverages employs more Albertans than any other manufacturing industry. Farming, our foremost renewable resource, is a sturdy base for the Alberta economy.

[illegible] ABOUT MONEY?

[illegible] money? Yes, Albertans are taking money management seriously, at least, if the exceptional response to the "Before You Go Under" campaign recently conducted by Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs is any indication. Many Albertans must have identified with the young man sinking deeper in debt, for, by mid-September, over 1300 individual requests had been received for the financial management guide Many community and social agencies requested bulk orders of the booklet to distribute to their clients and the media responded by requesting guest appearances by the finance councellors on a variety of radio and T V [illegible]

One program which is a direct result of the campaign is a threepart series on CFRN's Morning Magazine scheduled for November 3rd 10th and 17th The host of the show, Carol Ann Johnson will interview a financial specialist from Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs The series will cover the philosophy and mechanics of budgeting, as well as appropriate uses of credit Case studies describing real life money management problems will be used To assist viewers in examining their own money management skills a correspondence kit is available from Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs To obtain your copy of the kit phone 427 5782 or write Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs Box 1616, Edmonton T5J 2N9

Alberta Wheat Pool history is outlined

by Marlene Sinclair

The Alberta Wheat Pool has become a standard part of every farm community, and Ryley is no exception.

This operation did not come into effect overnight however, so I thought it might be interesting to trace back to the beginnings of the grain handling industry in this community.

Richard Kope, Peter Weins, Eleanor Weins, Keith Murray

The following information is incomplete, but should give some idea of who originally handled grain in this area and some of the first advocates of the Wheat Pool.

The first grain produced here had to be hauled to either Vegreville or Mundare, a long way with horses and wagons. The railroad arrived in 1908 and for farmers here it was a [illegible]

No one I talked to was sure when the first elevator was built, but they knew that it was a Home Grain Elevator. This elevator burned down in 1951 and at that time was owned by Searle In 1954, it was rebuilt. Between 1912 and 1915, No 2 elevator was built and a twin to No. 2 was built in 1964. In 1968-69, the No. 1 elevator was erected. Searle and Alberta Pacific were bought out in 1968-69 by Federal Grain, and then in 1972, the Alberta Wheat Pool bought the grain operation from Federal Grain.

Some of the buyers over the years have been: Henry Bray (he was one of the earliest), Ralph Hulbert (he was here for a long time), Hilmer Moen, Ray Findley, Lafton Booth, Ted Chaney and up until very recent times Vern Liknes and Howard Berke

The present Wheat Pool staff are Manager - Richard Kope; Assistant Manager - Pete Weins; Keith Murray; and Secretary - Eleanor Weins.

In 1922 a new idea was taking hold and the Alberta Wheat Pool had its beginning.

Some of the original contract signers were Chris and Arnold Bugge, James and Fred Manderson, Robert and Ben Jacobson, Sewell Booth and John Hrabec.

From these small beginnings the Wheat Pool has mushroomed into a multi-million dollar grain business that serves farmers throughout Alberta

To some people the grain buying business seems to be a snap, but for Richard Kope his first day was almost his last.

At 8.00 a.m. the thermometer was frozen at -40 degrees F. That is not bad if it is a day for catching up on bookkeeping, but it was a day for loading cars. After coopering cars and loading them the Federal Grain Manager, Fred Syott, thought it would be a good idea to clean the boot, and for anyone knowledgeable about grain elevators, this is the most disliked, dirtiest job there is. However, this ordeal and numerous others were overcome and Richard ended up becoming a manager himself. He took over at Dodds when the manager, Norman Wideman, was sick.

In June, 1975, Richard hired on as manager of the Alberta Wheat Pool No. 2 in Ryley The years of good grain production were now upon us and the ever increasing business called for more help, numerous staff were hired and in the fall of 1977, Pete Weins of Tofield was transferred to Ryley No 2 to become Assistant Manager Mr Weins has been in the grain business since 1965 and started his career in grain in this very elevator

During the 1977-78 crop year, the Kope - Weins team received over one million bushels of grain; a feat that many elevator managers never attain

Agro sales of approximately one-third of a million dollars were made during this year also In addition to this, Richard was selected to attend a Vancouver tour of Terminal Operations in March 1978, and won a trip to Indianapolis, Indiana for top sales of Treflan for the Pool and Elanco

The grain handling industry has come a long way over the years and our pioneers have made it all possible Without their determined efforts our country would not have developed into the nation that it is.

Grandma nears her 108 birthday

by Bea Fredericks

Katherine (Chony) Dochniak will mark her 108th birthday on December 18

On Sunday a number of her relatives hosted a birthday celebration at the Beaver-Flagstaff Auxiliary Hospital at Killam where she has made her home for the past eight years

Mrs Dochniak lived in Bruce for fifteen years but, moved to Vialta Lodge in Viking after her husband died. She was a guest there for eight years before moving to Killam

"Grandma" Dochniak, as she was known to people in the area, raised seven children

Her only son passed away many years ago but, she has six daughters who, with the exception of one, live nearby Mary Mizera of Camrose, Frances Mizera of Bruce, Rose Kishlawich of Daysland, Josie Wozney of Wainwright, Louise Wancho of Round Hill, and Angela Smith of Burnaby, B.C

This amazing lady has 34 grandchildren, 67 great-grandchildren, and 15 great-great-grandchildren.

She was able to sit at the table and share her birthday cake with the guests and appreciated the special attention from her family.

Attending from Bruce were daughter and son-in-law, Frances and Pete Mizera, and granddaughter, Isabelle Lund, and her husband, Marvin.

Lawsons celebrate '60th' anniversary

Sixty years of marriage were celebrated by Herman and Grace Lawson, their family, and friends in the Tofield Community Centre on Saturday, Oct. 28, 1978.

The diamond anniversary celebration centred around the traditional bride's table which featured the wedding cake and was decorated with bouquets of pink and white carnations and mums. Tall white candles in silver holders added to the festive atmosphere. The bride of sixty years ago was gowned in pink, trimmed with silver. Her corsage was of roses and her groom's boutonniere was a white carnation. The anniversary was celebrated a month early to avoid the cold weather of December.

Charles Sears, a long time friend of the family, acted as master for the occasion welcomed the guests before calling on Rev. H.B. Richer, a former United Church minister in the Tofield area. Mr. Richer recalled memories of earlier days in the Ketchamont church which the Lawsons attended. He brought greetings from the United Church and wished them sixty more years of happiness together.

Mrs. Agnes Anderson of the Tofield Lodge delighted the audience with several piano selections, chosen from favorites of the Lawsons. Mrs. Marie Worton, Deputy Mayor of Tofield, brought greetings and congratulations from the town. Mrs. Worton said she had many pleasant recollections of the Lawsons as occasional patients in the local hospital where she nurses. She read to them an appropriate poem entitled "An Anniversary," and added her personal good wishes and congratulations.

Following a brief account of the lives of Herman and Grace Lawson, Mrs. Sears called on the two Lawson boys, Leonard and Wayne for a musical number on violin and guitar.

Dr. Walter Buck, M.L.A. for Clover Bar, said he was so delighted to be present at the Lawsons' Diamond Anniversary, as he had been to the all time golden anniversary. As well as the many congratulations, Dr. Buck brought those of the Lieutenant Governor of Alberta, the Premier of Alberta and the Leader of the Opposition, Hon. Mr. Notley, M.P. for Fairville. He said he was privileged to participate in this auspicious occasion since only a very few people ever reach this happy milestone in their lives. Mr. Mazonkowski offered congratulations on behalf of his wife, himself, and all whom he represents in the Vegreville constituency. For Herman and Grace, he wished peace, happiness and contentment. He read congratulatory messages from the Prime Minister of Canada, the Rt. Hon. P.E. Trudeau, the Governor-General of Canada, His Excellency Jules Leger, and from the Leader of the Opposition, the Hon. Joe Clark.

On behalf of the County of Beaver, Councillor Sears congratulated the honored couple, and also read a telegram from Doreen Weber of Killam.

At this point in the program, Herman joined his

Buck will run

Dr. Walter Buck, M.L.A. will seek re-election in the next provincial election, on behalf of the Social Credit Party.

In making the announcement earlier this week, the Clover Bar M.L.A. told The Mercury that the date for a nominating convention should be announced in the very near future.

Dr. Walter Buck

Dr. Buck said that his priority items needing action are in agriculture, education, health, hospitals and highways.

Discussing the Heritage Trust Fund, Dr. Buck said that control of the fund should be in the hands of the Legislature, and that monies for the fund should be utilized in the areas of highways and education, as an investment for the future growth of the province.

Dr. Buck indicated that he was in favour of more revenue sharing with municipalities, which he said, is needed to [illegible] In the local field, Dr. Buck expressed concern that the Highway #1 extension from Tofield hasn't been completed, and suggested that the road connecting Highways #1 and #14 through Tofield should be upgraded.

In announcing that he would again seek re-election, Dr. Buck repeated an earlier prediction that Premier Lougheed would call a provincial election for December 6th.

Beaverhill center makes big strides

The Beaverhill Family Center, better known as the Beaverhill Community Hall, has made great strides since being reorganized in 1975.

Activities at the center are always family affairs, such as the Hallowe'en party that was held on Tuesday night. Parents and children were all dressed in costume for the occasion.

Christmas parties are held every year, with parents as well as the children, playing [illegible]

Kid's dances, for youngsters fifteen years of age and under, are always well attended.

Non-denominational church services are held in the hall every other Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Monthly meetings keep things well organized and an annual community auction supplies much of the funds needed for maintenance and improvements.

Some of the more recent improvements include the installation of electricity and gas and the purchase of new tables and chairs.

This year's community auction has been scheduled for Saturday, November 18th at which time a wide assortment of baked goods and other items will be offered for sale to the highest bidders.

Apology

The Mercury extends an apology to Mr. and Mrs. Anton Podruzny for making the mistake of printing their picture in connection with the Tofield Lodge birthday bazaar, and stating that the straw articles made by Mr. Podruzny were for sale.

Mr. Podruzny does not sell any of his articles, even though he has been offered very high prices. His works are always given away to church, friends and relatives.

The Mercury apologizes for the embarrassment caused to the Podruzny for the picture and caption.

Ryley gets housing o.k.

by Marlene Sinclair

The Ryley Lions Club are happy to announce that the Senior Citizens housing project they will be administering has been approved in principle, and that the Village of Ryley has forwarded an agreement for sale to Alberta Housing Corporation.

Alberta Housing will be purchasing five lots located on Aird Avenue, directly south of the doctor's residence, and will be building twelve apartment-style living quarters there.

Alberta Housing will be buying the property and paying all the construction costs, and part of the administration costs while the Lions Club will pick up the tab on the rest of the administration costs and all maintenance costs.

The construction of these units is scheduled to start next fall with occupancy being aimed for the following year.

Class visits courts

Early in October, the Holden Law 20 Class was bussed to Edmonton to spend a day observing Supreme, District and Provincial Courts in session.

On arrival at the Law Courts Building, the class was met by a Court Orderly who spent about an hour explaining what happened on each of the eight levels of the building and how a routine case might progress from time of arrest of the accused to the appeal trial (if the case progressed that far).

He also showed them an empty Supreme Court, Appelate Division court room where he explained the seating arrangement and the duties of the three Judges, Court Orderly, Clerk of the Court, Court Reporter as well as those of the Crown Prosecutor and Defence Counsel.

The first case witnessed by the class was a Supreme Court of Alberta trial by Judge and Jury in which a man was being tried for first degree murder. The class followed the rest of the four-day trial to its conclusion by collecting Journal accounts of it, and learned that the accused was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

After lunch, the group attended Divorce Court, presided over by a Supreme Court Judge, where they observed several divorces being granted.

For the last hour, the class observed Provincial Court in action. Here cases involving illegal possession of alcohol and drugs, shoplifting, dangerous driving were seen by the group.

The day's trip provided a profitable learning experience for the class in that the group learned what the functions of the different levels of court are and was able to observe them in action.

In January, the class plans to hold a mock trial and videotape it so that another class or group can watch it on television and act as Jury.

Real neat

The staff at the Royal Bank in Holden greeted customers and friends in a slightly different manner on Tuesday when they celebrated Hallowe'en by dressing in costumes.

THE HOUSE ALWAYS WINS

Trudeau backing away from constitution . . .

. . . says Mazankowski

The Speech from the Throne, which marked the opening of a new session of Parliament, contained very few proposals and was conspicuous in its lack of specific directions. Throne Speeches usually contain a wide array of promises and pending legislation encompassing many policy areas. Instead, this year's Speech was restricted to two issues; the constitution and the economy.

On the economy, few of the proposals outlined in the Speech were new Policies such as redesigning the family allowance program, adjusting the unemployment insurance program, restraint measures and cut-backs in public service salaries and incentives for industrial development have all been announced before by the Prime Minister or other members of the [illegible].

The government's new proposals for constitutional change showed a retreat from the much criticized positions taken in the spring The Prime Minister tried especially hard in the Throne Speech to stress the fact that he has no intention of changing the role of the monarchy in Canada. However, the carefully worded statement contained in the Speech gives no real assurance to Canadians that the Queen's role will be un[illegible].

The government has also backed off on Mr. Trudeau's deadline of July 1, 1979 for the constitutional changes to be passed by Parliament. Overwhelming opposition from the provincial premiers to Mr Trudeau's previous heavy-handed approach has caused him to moderate his position and try to seek co-operation with the provinces.

It seems very strange to many people that the government would go into its fifth and final year with such an uninspiring program. As columnist Richard Gwyn put it- -

"Ho hum. We've heard it all before, even though many of us don't really believe most of it."

This statement, to me, really strikes at the heart of the problem we are facing in Canada today Our government has lost its credibility and its will to govern. It is now solely interested in holding on to power, not in governing the country Proof of this is the government's total ignoring of the grain handling and transportation problems in the Throne Speech. Right now grain stocks in prairie primary grain elevators are literally plugged, stocks are up 35 percent from this time a year ago, grain stocks at the major export terminal positions are down 33 percent from a year ago, deliveries by farmers to primary elevators since the start of the crop year are down 33 percent from the same period last year

These facts spell out clearly what any grain producer could have told the government before; the prairie grain transport system is in its usual chaotic state. For the government to completely ignore this serious problem in its Throne Speech is a dereliction of responsibility. Yet it seems inevitable that for the remainder of this drawn out Parliamentary session the real problems facing Canada today are destined to be shoved aside in the Trudeau government's desperate attempts to get re-elected.

One issue which I believe will become a major part of the constitutional debate and which will undoubtedly occupy a major part of the first minister's conference is the question of jurisdiction over management and control of natural resources. This issue has taken on greater significance in the face of two recent Supreme Court decisions involving the Government of Saskatchewan and the expressed intention by the federal government to suspend an oil and gas pricing agreement negotiated earlier with the Province of Alberta which calls for an increase of $1 per barrel of oil and an increase of 30¢ per thousand cubic feet for natural gas, effective January 1, 1979. This obviously has not met with Alberta's approval.

At issue is the question of whether or not the federal government can unilaterally set the price of oil and natural gas. The Petroleum Administration Act of 1975 implies that it can fix the domestic price of crude oil by regulations, whenever [illegible] with the provinces cannot be reached. The two recent Supreme Court decisions would tend to support that position. If the impasse is not resolved it will have major implications upon the development of our resources and, indeed, upon the future of confederation.

If the provincial governments are stripped of the right to price their natural resources it will leave precious little room for them to manage and control these resources- - a right which the are now supposed to enjoy under the BNA Act.

Action forced

No-one (at least no-one who believed the government had to act in the postal dispute) could say the government moved too fast in ordering workers back to their jobs, and many people believed it took too long.

There should be agreement on one thing, however, that action was postponed as long as there seemed even the faintest hope that any alternative existed. The strike hasn't been solved: far from it. The problems which brought the strike on still exist, and still remain to be solved, whoever does the solving. It could be a change of opinion on the government side, it could be a change in the union's position, or it could, and most likely will be, a [illegible].

Several comments have come from the government of their determination to turn the whole operation into a crown corporation, but surely the solution to the pent-up problems, rational or irrational, can't be allowed to wait that long.

The only real improvement we can see in a transfer of this nature would be the fact the union does not have a multiplicity of groups to bargain with, and work through. At present, for instance, operation is in the hands of the post office department, under the Postmaster General, who has his own objectives in front of him, while bargaining and employment conditions come under the heads of the Treasury Board, with an entirely different minister, who has entirely different problems facing him.

If and when the truth is ever told, it will probably turn out the post office department has been taking the blame for far too long over the intransigence of the treasury department, and the difficulties they throw in the road of negotiating contracts.

At the same time, it can't be denied that many of the problems seem to stem from the union, too, possibly because it wanted to cover too much ground too fast. It was quite obvious across the country that many workers didn't find the job nearly so distressing or so degrading as some of the more militant members kept insisting it is. And no matter how much senior officials talk about the unwillingness of the government to negotiate, the impression seemed always to come through that there was only one way to negotiate, and that was to agree to the union's position.

Surely it seems strange, if either side had been willing to move from their original established position, that nothing was ever told the public about how open-minded and approachable they were showing themselves to be.

Well, the mails are moving again. And the pent-up backlog shows just how important it is. Even if the courier services continue to make inroads in volume, even if customers are being driven to alternatives they can rely on, there is still huge reliance on the mails for most of the country's communications, whether it be business or personal.

So some way must be found to keep the mails moving. The government will need just as much courage, and just as much determination to move towards that position as was shown in recent weeks. It's just possible even, that if that determination and strength, that capacity for getting mean and ugly when needed, had been shown before now, things might not have reached the serious impasse position we've gone through.

We can't afford such luxuries much longer.

The Tofield Mercury
[illegible], Alberta
Dear Sir,

We would appreciate it very much if you would print this letter in your "Mail Bag" section.

It is to inform the writer of the letter published Sept 28th, as well as the general public, of the help given by our Lions Club Below is a list of groups followed by a number which is the approximate number of people or times our club has helped in the past year

Ryley Junior Sports - 112
[illegible]
[illegible]
Ryley School Playground - [illegible]
Ryley High School - 150
Ryley Swimming Pool - [illegible]
Ryley Community Hall [illegible]
The Childrens Christmas Party - 150
The Canadian National Institute for the Blind - (unknown)

Previously we have sponsored students to the U N Seminar at Banff, students to Camp Lake, donated to 4-H clubs, helped at skating rink upkeep; kept up the playground, and donated to junior hockey

The Lions' members donated their time for all projects undertaken by the club, as well as for care and upkeep of the Community Hall This amounts to approximately 135 hours per member per year. The members' wives also donate about 50 hours each per year. The [illegible] of their car and the gas to carry out these projects Every cent of profit from all public money raising projects is donated to community groups and clubs, except donations for C N I.B

We were not asked to help out the Brownies. We were told that they wanted the use of the Community Hall at no cost How are they going to earn their awards if everything is given to them? You will probably say "they are just little girls", but, are any of them orphans? The leaders do [illegible].

The running of the Community Hall is considered a work project. Our records show a loss of $116.95 for the past year. We will gladly share this with anyone who is also willing to share our 500 hours of janitorial duties

In closing I would like to add that if you really want to help any group, you have to donate your time and your money. The more the better

Sincerely yours,

Ryley village office will get "hot water"

A new hot water service will be installed in the village office in Ryley

At a recent meeting of village council, it was agreed that an estimate for the cost of installing such a service, submitted by Bert's Plumbing and Heating, be accepted.

Council was told that a letter, received from Alberta Housing Corporation, indicated that the Corporation would require five lots for their senior citizens' housing program in the village.

The secretary-treasurer, Ray Hovland, was authorized to draft a control expenditure budget, which is to be presented at a later meeting.

Council members were urged to attend a public meeting about the five-year master recreation plan (Oct. 26) after receiving word of such a meeting from the Ryley [illegible].

Three readings were given to two by-laws authorizing the sale of two lots to two citizens.

Accounts submitted for payment, with one exception, were approved.

Councillors heard a progress report from John Jeffrey, on the curb and gutter [illegible].

Minutes of a meeting held on September 28th, with a correction, were approved.

Information for this news story was obtained from the unapproved minutes of a meeting held on October 18th.

two sons, Leonard and Wayne in several musical numbers. His enjoyment in playing the old-time tunes was shared by the audience.

On behalf of the Tofield Golden Club of which the Lawsons are members, Mrs. Bertha Phillips made a presentation to Herman and Grace, wishing them many more happy years.

Mrs Yvonne Brown on behalf of the Tofield Garden Club said it was a pleasure to make a presentation to a couple who had so well exemplified the roles of parents, grandparents, and friends in the community.

Mrs Dorothy Whillans speaking for the Ketchamest UCW said that only love as described in Corinthians could cement a Diamond Wedding celebration such as this. In recognition of the Lawsons contributions to the community, Mrs. Whillans presented them with a book "Canada" which will be placed in the Tofield Lodge where the Lawsons reside. Continuing good health and happiness were wished for the honored couple.

Out of town guests were introduced by Mrs. Sears and welcomed by the guests. Two special guests were Mrs. Dorothy McArthur and Mrs. Vera Mayes from Ontario, cousins of Mrs. Lawson.

A piano duet by Carol and Lorraine Funk was well received by the audience as was a vocal trio by the two girls and a friend who accompanied them on the guitar.

The family of Herman and Grace Lawson were introduced by Mr Sears, and on their behalf, Wayne thanked their parents for the happy home they had provided as well as for the help offered in past and present problems. He thanked the guests for attending this very special occasion, the Barde Lutheran Ladies for providing the delicious lunch, the Lions for the use of the Pat Lyons.

In the evening, the Community Centre was filled again as the family left the house for many who were unable to attend in the afternoon. Entertainment was provided by Leonard and Wayne, who were sometimes joined by their father.

The guests showed their appreciation by staging as informal dance before the happy occasion of the Diamond Anniversary became a treasured memory for the Lawson family.

Herman Lawson was born in Hesston, Twp., Shiawassee Co., Michigan, USA and came to Canada with his parents in 1914, settling in the Tofield area. On Dec 4, 1918 he was united in marriage with Grace Campbell, youngest daughter of Angus and Mary Jane Campbell who had come from Barrie, Ont. in 1906 to the Farmington district south of Tofield. The marriage took place in Edmonton at the home of friends, the Mackays, with Rev McQueen officiating. The reception had to be limited in size due to the restrictions placed on social gatherings by the "flu" epidemic prevalent at that time.

Herman and Grace lived on several farms one of which the Lewis place, is now owned by Ken Stauffer, the Lawson's grandson. The Rickner farm in the Ketchamost district was home for the Lawsons for fifteen years before they moved to the Angus Mitchell farm where they lived for thirty-one years. In 1971 they sold this farm and purchased a home in Tofield which they still own, though they have taken up residence in the Tofield Lodge.

The Lawsons community interests have been many and varied. Both are members of the United Church choir, she is also a pianist, Herman is an enthusiastic player of the violin. Grace is an ardent homemaker and gardener. Herman has enjoyed bug game hunting. He is an interested spectator of wrestling, baseball and hockey games. Reading is another major interest.

The Lawsons belong to the Tofield Golden Club, the Tofield Garden Club and the Tofield United Church Grace also works for the United Church Women.

The Lawsons have raised a family of six children. Marie (Mrs. Russel Olson) lives in Holden, Evelyn (Mrs. Leonard Stauffer) lives in Tofield Mina (Mrs Marvin Moen) lives in Camrose, Vivian (Mrs Elmer Goeglein) of Ardrossan The two Lawson boys, Wayne and Leonard live in Calgary There are fourteen grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren

All the sons and daughters were present to celebrate this Diamond Anniversary.

RESPONSIBILITY

Recently I spent a week in Moose Jaw visiting my parents. As I drove home I heard a radio action line speaker talking about family life. One of his remarks was that the mark of successful parenting was teaching the child to be independent. I thought of this statement again as I listened to Pierre Turgeon speak at the Saskatchewan Home Economics Teachers Convention. He too stressed the importance of making children to be independent. He talked about "lovingly booting his children out into the world" as they grew up.

Ruth Fromm, co-author of Adventure and hostess of "What's Cooking", also spoke at the Convention. She talked about the convention theme, "Feeding Grocery, Feeling Fine". She said that feeling fine supply means by and large we are comfortable with ourselves and in the best possible health She emphasized the importance of meal nutrition and exercise if we want to feel fine

She also discussed fostering independence Her point was emphasized by the story of the little boy who ran away from home but wouldn't cross the street unless his mother took him If we want the groovy feeling that comes from being independent, we have to have permission to cross the road.

Fostering independence comes in stages We need to give children a chance to make small decisions so that they can gain the practice and experience they need when they have to make larger ones. Sometimes parents need to say no and as Pierre Turgeon emphasized feel good about saying no because they know that it is in the child's best interest

Independence comes in small ways too. My year old nephew is learning to feed himself. What a mess! It would be much simpler to take the spoon away from him and shovel the food in However he is developing independence so we let him go to it . . . and then wash Michael, the chair, the floor, etc.

Independence . . . It's a good word!

Opens store

Shown above is Darlene Sroka who will officially open Darlene's Grocery and Coffee Shop in Bruce on Saturday. Darlene has renovated the building which formerly housed the Gladys Grocery and, besides carrying a full line of groceries, she will have a coffee shop in the rear of the store.

Darlene, who is 22 years old, was raised along with her brother and two sisters on a farm 12 miles south of Bruce. Her parents, Peggy and Frank Sroka, still live on the farm. Darlene spent her early school years at Strome and completed her education at Daysland. For the past 4 years she has been employed by the Hudson Bay Vending Wholesale where she made deliveries through out the city. However, she disliked city life and after much thought decided to try a business of her own. Darlene claims to be a country girl at heart.

Harvesting complete by end of this week

The 1978 harvest season could be completed this week, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Some farmers have completed operations while others will leave some crops on the fields because of extreme wet field conditions.

In a few instances, production was halted last week in some areas because of rain which saw 25 millimeters fall in Daysland while Rosalind had 30 millimeters. Lesser amounts fell in other areas.

Little progress was reported last week around Daysland where rapeseed and rye had been completed two weeks ago.

About five percent of the rape crop is still to be threshed while wheat and oats are ninety percent completed, and twenty percent of the barley is still to be threshed.

Rye had been completed earlier in the Camrose region with farmers expecting to finish other crops this week.

Only one percent of the rape crop, and two percent of the flax is still to be done. Barley is five percent away from completion, and there is only ten percent of the wheat and oats to be done.

Rosalind farmers completed rapeseed harvesting two weeks ago.

The other crops, wheat, oats and barley are ninety-five percent completed.

Farmers around Ryley finished harvesting the rape crop last week.

Ten percent of the wheat, oats and barley crops are still to be completed.

According to reports, little progress was made by farmers in the Hay Lakes region, during the past week.

Reports from Tofield and Round Hill areas were not received in time for publication.

In the previous report, Tofield farmers still had some rapeseed to do while completion of other crops ranged from eighty-five to ninety percent.

Round Hill area farmers were in the final stages in rapeseed and rye with other crops farther away.

Twenty percent of the barley was still to be done. Three-quarters of the oats had been done while wheat was sixty-five percent completed.

Keppel's store got a "new look" this week. Dennis Gehr and Adolph Tkaczyk were busy putting new shingles on the roof.

Evelyn and Harold Hassett and Bea and Grant Fredericksen were in Red Deer on Saturday evening to attend the Central Alberta Stampede Association banquet and dance to honor the winners in the C.A.S.A. rodeo circuit. Once again, the Bruce Stampede Assoc. donated a trophy for the Wild Horse Race. Ken Cuerpboer of Meeker was the big winner this year but, was not present to receive the award.

Chester Brocha was involved in an unfortunate accident on Friday. His truck was in collision with a Calgary Power truck five miles north of Bruce, at an intersection on the Bruce-Vegreville road. Chester's truck was considered a total loss and he was taken to Vegreville General Hospital by ambulance. Luckily the injuries he sustained were not serious but, he will be hospitalized for several days.

Irvin and Elden Land of Edmonton were taking a look at the old hometown on Saturday afternoon. They were also taking a look at the ducks in the area, and hoped to take home a few.

John's Adventure in the Dental World

John shuffled himself down the street. He was not feeling very happy today. In fact he had been feeling this way for quite a while now. He always ate junk food and never brushed his teeth. He had bad breath and his teeth were very decayed. One of these days his mom said, he might even lose his teeth. Then he would have to wear false teeth. He was still thinking about this when [redacted] spied a gr[redacted] store [redacted] right of the street. He checked in his poackets. He had some money. He went into the store and quickly bought a package of gum, a chocolate bar and some chips. On the way home, he ate [redacted] chips and chocolate bar. He kept his gum for the last. When he got home there was a lovely dinner waiting on the table. John's mother was an excellent cook. She always tried to follow Canada's four basic groups. From the vegetable group there were potatoes, corn, peas, and lettuce. Then from the bread and cereal group were bread, crackers, apple pie crust and buns. From the milk group she had milk, cheese, ice cream and from the meat group were beef and eggs. For fruits she gave pears, orange juice, strawberries and apple pie. It looked so delicious his younger brother and sister were already at the table waiting. John just walked right to his bedroom without saying anything. He was too tired from eating all that junk food. When his mother called him to eat he wasn't hungry. His mother got angry. "You were eating some junk foods. How many times have I told you. Junk food is very bad for your teeth. Why don't you brush?" John didn't answer. He just felt like he was going to cry. He went to his bedroom. John could hear his parents talking about him.

Finally he fell asleep. He dreamed that he was in this strange town. He met a dental hygienist and she took him into her clinic and cleaned his teeth with fluoride so well that his teeth shone so white. The dental hygienist said, "you keep on cleaning your teeth or you [redacted] ...ack rang. It [redacted]

He got up, dressed and brushed his teeth till [redacted] shone. Then he ate a well bal[redacted] breakfast. He walked to school. He noticed that he had enough energy to run to school. He got to school where he met the dental hygienist just like in his dream. The dental hygienist took John into her office in the school. First she cleaned his teeth and then put fluoride on his teeth. When he walked out of the office his teeth were shiny as teeth should be. After school he met her again because she had forgotten to tell him about the formula of a well-balanced diet if he wanted to k[redacted] teeth healthy. She said to have 4 servings of bread and cereal, 4 servings of fruit and vegetables, 3 servings of milk and 2 servings of meat. John said he would not forget.

As soon as he got home he told his mother about the dream and how it had come true. He said that the dental hygienist told him about 4432. She said that it was essential for a strong healthy body and a good set of teeth. Once he had finished talking to his mother John went to watch some television. It was a dental program. A brand new series about dental health [redacted] joyed it because of the cartoons.

It also had rules and facts about what the dental hygienist had said. Now it was time for supper. He was so hungry. The table had all the nutritious food groups. The 4432 formula gives you energy to play, work and think better in school. Once supper was over John went to ride his bike. John met up with some of his friends. They had a wonderful time together. That night as John was getting ready for bed, John brushed his teeth and washed up. John said good-night to his parents and went to bed. John had learned his lesson and the importance of a balanced diet and good den[redacted]

You're Wrong I'm Right

It was the year 1987 when Tommy James had the scare of his life. One night Tommy heard a terrifying scream. He raced out of the house into the darkness, jumped the fence and looked around. What he saw made his blue eyes pop out. In front of him was a little feeble, skinny figure with bad gums and a toothless grin. Good Teeth Through Nutrition

Canada's Food Guide is a plan which will enable people to meet their nutrient needs by following a simple daily food pattern based on the Four Food Groups. It is made for all Canadians who want to be healthy. Canada's Food Group recommends a specific number of servings of food. You should take the right number of servings from each.

Milk and Milk Products. Children up to eleven, 2 to 3 servings, teenagers, 4 to 4 servings, pregnant and nursing women 3 to 4 servings, and adults 2 servings. You can get calcium from Milk and Milk Products. It makes your teeth and bones healthy and strong. Vitamin C, D and Phosphorus are also very good for your teeth.

Fruits and Vegetables. 4 to 5 servings. Vegetables are also very good for your teeth. They act like a toothbrush sometimes because they're crunchy. When you're chewing an apple, carrot, lettuce or celery this helps get rid of some of the food that gets caught between your teeth. RCMP docket release

The month of October proved to be a busy one for members of the Tofield Detachment of the RCMP.

Detachment members issued a total of 146 traffic tickets, charged 22 people with liquor offences and charged five vehicle operators with impaired driving. During the final week of the month, they responded to sixty-two complaints.

Vandalism

Four complaints of acts of vandalism were reported during the past week.

Mrs. Alberta Watt reported that her fence was damaged by persons unknown. Her home is located about three miles northwest of Tofield.

A small hole was discovered in the front window of the Tofield Co-op and a window in the Tofield Roman Catholic Church was smashed.

Al Sicski reported that someone had ripped off telephone receiving equipment from the exterior of his camper unit while it was parked in the Tofield Trailer Court.

Animals

William Miskew of Tofield RR4 reports that a yearling heifer is missing from his farm. The animal has a bar LX brand on its right hip.

RCMP have issued another warning to drivers to be careful of animals crossing the highway. Five deer were killed by motor vehicles during the past week.

Gun Control

Firearm owners are warned that new rules go into effect on January 1st.

It will be illegal to carry firearms in a vehicle (back window) unless such firearms are securely encased in a gun rack (with trigger unable to be fired) and such a gun rack must be secured to the vehicle. In addition, the vehicle must not be left unattended unless doors and windows are securely locked.

Failure to comply with this regulation could result in not only the loss of the firearm, but also the loss of the vehicle.

Confronting your faith

With Pastor Curtis Johnson of the Seventh Day adventist Church Ryley

In heaven God is all in all. There, holiness reigns supreme; there is nothing to mar the perfect harmony with God If we are indeed journeying there, the Spirit of heaven will dwell in our hearts here But if we find no pleasure now in the contemplation of heavenly things, if we have no interest in seeking the knowledge of God, no delight in beholding the character of Christ, if holiness has no attractions for us, then we may be sure that our hope of heaven is vain. Perfect conformity to the will of God is the high aim to be constantly before the Christian He will love to talk of God, of Jesus, of the home of bliss and purity which Christ has prepared for them that love Him The contemplation of these themes, when the soul feasts upon the blessed assurance of God, the apostle represents as tasting "the powers of the world to come"

The knowledge of God as revealed in Christ is the knowledge that all who are saved must have. It is the knowledge that works tran- [illegible] This knowledge, received, will recreate the soul in the image of God. It will impart to the whole being a spiritual power that is divine, for God's word is the voice of the Holy Spirit to your soul.

"For this cause," Paul says, "I bow my knees unto the father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the family in heaven and earth is named, that He would grant you, according to the riches of His glory, to be strengthened might by His Spirit in the inner man; that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith, that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God

What love, what matchless love that through it sinners and aliens as we are, we may be brought back to God and adopted into His family! We may address Him by the endearing name, "Our Father", which is a sign of our affection for Him and a pledge of His tender regard and relationship to us. And the Son of God, beholding the heirs of grace, "is not ashamed to call them brethren" They have an even more sacred relationship to God than have the angels who have never fallen

All the paternal love which has come down from generation to generation through the channel of human hearts, all the springs of tenderness which have opened in the souls of men, are but as a tiny rill to the boundless ocean, when compared with the infinite, unexhaustible love of God Tongue can not utter it, pen can not portray it You may meditate upon it every day of your life, you may search the scriptures diligently in order to understand it; you may summon every power and capability that God has given you, in the endeavor to comprehend the love and compassion of the heavenly Father, and yet there is an infinity beyond.

In all His children God beholds the image of His only-begotten Son He looks upon them with a love greater than any language can express. He enfolds them in the arms of His love The Lord rejoices over His People

He has redeemed us out of the careless world and has chosen us to become members of the royal family, sons and daughters of the heavenly King. He invites us to trust in Him with a trust even deeper and stronger than that of a child in his earthly father

God is to us a tender, compassionate, heavenly Father.

Annual recreation meeting suggested

A proposal is being forwarded to councils of municipalities in the County of Beaver, suggesting that an annual regional recreation meeting be held.

The suggestion for such a meeting developed at a recent meeting of the Beaver Regional Recreation and Parks Board meeting held with Andy Holberg in the chair.

Board members agreed to present the suggestion in writing, to the County Council, as well as to councils of municipalities within the county

Members sent a deadline of November 17th for receipt of applications for the post of secretary for the Regional Recreation Department.

The position became vacant following the resignation of Mrs. Maureen McKernan.

It was stated that the planning committee for an April workshop would be meeting with Jim Singbeil in Ryley on November 8th.

Reports submitted by George Baker and Colleen Walker, administrative staff members, were accepted.

Accounts submitted for payment for the month of October, were approved.

Minutes of a meeting held on September 27th were approved and other routine business matters were handled.

Information for this news story was obtained from the unapproved minutes of a Board meeting held on October 25th

Progressive Farming

SPROUTED AND MOLDY FEED

Although the quality of a large portion of Alberta's grain and hay crops has deteriorated badly, in most cases such crops can still be used for livestock if feeding is controlled and supplemental feed is used when required.

Ruth Berg, animal nutritionist with Alberta Agriculture, says the inclusion of sprouted or moldy feed in livestock rations should always be done gradually to avoid digestive upsets and other possible problems. Also, the animals should be watched carefully during the transition from a normal ration.

Ms. Berg points out that sprouted grain is safe to feed, but that it will probably have a lower than normal bushel weight, which means that the digestible energy content will also lower than normal. Consequently, the amount of grain fed will have to be increased to ensure that the animals are getting the required amount of digestible energy.

"Moldy feed", says Ms. Berg, "should be introduced into livestock rations slowly and the animals should always be watched carefully for possible adverse effects. These can include reduced production, reduced feed intake and sickness.

Although most molds are harmless to livestock, there are some risks involved. As a general rule, sheep are more susceptible to molds than cattle. Pigs are rarely affected by molds, but moldy grain or roughage should never be fed to horses because they may cause a condition known as "heaves".

Moldy sweetclover hay or silage should never be fed to any livestock. Even when spoilage appears to be minimal, moldy sweetclover hay or silage may contain dicumarol. Since dicumarol can prevent blood clotting, an animal on such feed could bleed to death from a minor injury or from spontaneous internal bleeding.

Although the use of moldy feeds has been associated with premature births and mycotic abortions, Ms. Berg believes these problems may be caused by malnutrition, resulting from the use of feeds that are low in digestible nutrients, as well as from the effect of the mold.

Since there are still no satisfactory methods of analyzing feed for the presence of toxic molds, any production problem or fatality suspected of being associated with moldy feed should be discussed with a veterinarian.

Because moldy feeds are often dusty and unpalatable, animals may take a few days to get used to them, and even then they may not eat enough to meet their requirements. Also, some of the available energy and protein in the feed may have been used for the growth of the mold, thereby leaving the feed with insufficient nutrients to meet the animal's requirements.

For these reasons Ms Berg stresses that good quality feed should always be added to a ration containing moldy feed.

"If the animals start dropping in production or losing weight, they are probably not getting enough nutrients and either the quality of the ration should be increased or the quality should be improved," she says.

Cow-Calf Advance Program Extended One Year

Alberta Agriculture Minister Marvin Moore has announced the Cow-Calf Advance Program will be extended in a modified form for one year past the current expiry date of January 31, 1979.

People who still have loans will be able to extend these loans for one year, however the interest rate for these loans will be raised from the current subsidized level to the rate of prime plus 1 per cent.

All loans will still be guaranteed to the final date of the program January 31, 1980.

Producers wishing to take advantage of the extended guarantee option should contact the lending institution that provided their current loan before its anniversary date arrives.

by Kathy Hisey

The third meeting of the Ryley 4-H Saddle Sorts was held on Oct. 24th at the home of Bev and Don Foss.

There were 16 members in attendance.

Future horseshows were discussed and everyone had the opportunity of describing their horse to the rest of the members.

Everyone was asked to have their pen money in as soon as possible. Lunch was served. The bake sale held on Thursday was very successful. Ryley residents really helped by turning out the way they did.

Vandalism and thefts keep local RCMP busy

Vandalism and theft were major concerns of the Tofield Detachment of the RCMP during the past week.

The stairs leading to the Tofield Museum, located in the Sports Complex, were ripped out over the weekend, and the fire escape at the Tofield Curling Club rink was also destroyed. RCMP are investigating both acts of vandalism.

Brent Hall of Tofield RR 3, reported that persons unknown had removed the distributor cap and spark plug wires from his truck, let the air out of his tires, and poked the truck with eggs.

After an investigation, the persons responsible were apprehended and restitution is being made.

Guy Westmaas of Tofield RR 2 reported that a number of mail boxes had been damaged by vandals.

Al Pallick, principal of Tofield School, was assaulted with a spray paint can, receiving a cut that required ten stitches to close.

Two young males were apparently responsible for the assault which occurred after they had been apprehended while spray painting his car.

Thieves entered businesses in three different areas on Thursday. Ryley Motors was entered. Jack's Esso in Holden was broken into, and a gas station and store in Round Hill was also entered.

RCMP are asking the assistance of the public in solving the three crimes. Anyone noticing any strangers in the vicinity of the three businesses are asked to notify the Detachment.

Jim Budd of Holden reported the loss of a swath roller and grain auger from his place of business. Both items were later recovered after having suffered about $600 in damages.

There was a break-in at the Tofield Legion on Friday with a quantity of liquor reported to be missing.

Wendell Heins of Ryley reported his residence was entered in his absence, and that his wallet containing a quantity of cash and identification was missing.

Charles Kelly of Ryley reported the loss of a sheet of plywood from his truck while it was parked at the Pee gee Bar.

RCMP are continuing an investigation into reports that persons are shooting female deer. Police note that only male deer are to be shot, and indicate that charges will be laid against anyone infringing.

During the past week, RCMP investigators five motor vehicle accidents, charged six drivers with impaired driving, and responded to a total of fifty-two complaints.

Ryley Society names November's winners

by Marlene Sinclair

November winners of the lottery draw for 1500 were Doug Wood and Ron Teske.

The draw was made at the regular monthly meeting of the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society, held Monday night.

Reports were heard on canvassing the Irwin-e-chen held on October 29.

A total of 36 swimmers raised sixteen dollars. Six dollars, four swimmers have turned in their money. It was noted that money could be turned in at the pool.

Suggestions were also given on improving the event which is held annually to help raise money for the operation of the pool.

The lessons for grade four school pupils are completed. This program worked out very well and it is hoped a similar program can be operated later in the school year.

Plans are proceeding with the newcomer's supper to be held Thursday, Nov. 16. It was give each newcomer family present a pass for a free swim which would be valid until the end of November.

Murray Lyons is to attend the November 13th meeting in regards to the Homecoming Weekend, scheduled for next summer.

The secretary was to reply to the letter sent by the Brownies. At this time, the society has insufficient money nor facilities with which to help the group.

The annual meeting for the society is scheduled for next Wednesday at the Ryley Community Hall at 8 p.m.

Discussion on a possible pool closure date was tabled until after the annual meeting, so that the general public has the opportunity to bring forth their ideas and concerns in this matter.

By Marlene Sinclair as reported by Gail Booth.

Scouts plan paper drive

Due to the wetness of the day, (Saturday) Tofield Boy Scouts were forced to postpone their fall paper drive as the salvage company would not have accepted the wet papers.

They are planning to conduct the drive on Saturday, November 18th.

The boys have had a number of problems this year in regards to their paper collection.

They are now without a paper bin and a drop-off centre.

If you have a suggestion as to how to operate a more effective paper drive and - or ideas of where a new location for a paper bin can be procured please contact the boys.

As it stands now, they cannot collect small bundles of paper for storage, because they have no way of storing it between paper drives.

Breaching trust

One of the problems with increasing birthdays is that you tend to remember too many things . . . at least until you start to forget.

And it came home to us the other day with a jolt how easily we get used to losing our rights, our freedoms, our heritage, without particularly ever noticing, or objecting.

Something to do with Social Insurance Numbers brought the item into sharp focus, and we recalled how the program of universally numbering us was "sold" to the people by the government of the day, Lester Pearson's if memory serves right, and how vigorously the populace objected to losing their personal identification, and becoming simply a number. No longer would we be John Smith or Jane Doe, but simply 938-261-295, better known to our friends as 295 for short. The number would be passed to all bureaus of government, the "people" objected, and every detail of our lives would be under constant scrutiny by the people controlling the numbers. Most people had nothing to hide anyway, but they objected to this invasion of their privacy, a hard-won, and prized, right.

Not so, said the government. The numbers were only to set up a program of health services, and no information would be available, under any circumstances, to any other agency or department.

So years later what do we find? Not only is the number essential to your income tax form, it's also required on all employment records, on your passport, as well as records of the health and pension programs. In fact, it's now a matter of common record, freely passed from agency to agency.

Long before this program, we grew up in the days when it was an article of faith that you revealed information to the tax man you wouldn't impart even to your confessor, safe in the knowledge it was as safe in his breast as in your own, and the days when the security of the Royal Mail was unquestioned, from the time of posting to delivery. Now, the revelation of tax information is taken for granted, and the routine inspection of mail is hardly questioned.

The young people in our country are so inured to these ideas they don't even consider protesting.

We're not questioning the efficiency of any of these programs, but when promises made to the citizens are repeatedly sacrificed, ignored, or overlooked by the very government which made them, in the interests of greater efficiency and greater effectiveness of the bureaucrats, is it any wonder that we witness during the same period a lessening of respect for law and order, increasingly less regard for established traditions and standards, accompanied by a most unhappy combination of scorn and disdain for those institutions to which we should accord the highest admiration, which we should cherish as having been established and won only through long campaigns and hard fought battles

Egyptian sun blisters troops from Canada

There's no air conditioning for the commanding officer, even when the heat in Egypt reaches 50 degrees (120 Fahrenheit). But a couple of offices away, an air conditioner runs hour after hour where four Canadian corporals man the signal section.

Not because the C.O. is so [illegible] sacrificing. Not because the corporals are better scroungers, (though they probably are). Not because a couple of the signallers are women.

In the spirit best known to former servicemen, such amenities are provided not for the troops themselves, but because the delicate equipment in the signals section [illegible] dependably at reasonably normal temperatures that at the [illegible]

And signals . . . communications . . . is a vital part of the entire peacekeeping [illegible] in the Middle East in which some 800 Canadians are involved.

Not just around Camp El Gala, on the outskirts of Ismailia, where most of the Canadians are based, but communications also extend to all other forces, British, Finnish, Poles, Swedish, Ghanese and so on, involved in the UN peacekeeping mission in Egypt. Links are also maintained to the UN detachments in Israel, and up in Lebanon, as well as across the Mediterranean to Cyprus, back up to Lahr in Germany, even back to Ottawa.

If air conditioning is important to equipment, it can also be appreciated how important refrigeration is for food, in a country where meat in the sun can be tainted almost before your very eyes.

So Sergeant Major Stoacey is a very important man, because he's in charge of the air-conditioner, refrigeration section. Co-incidentally, he's important in Amisk, Alberta, too, since his wife, one of the Mellenstrand girls, grew up [illegible]

Repair is a vital part of the life of 73rd Canadian Service Battalion, involving just about every piece of equipment possible. Replacements are hard to come by, and delivery is uncertain, so continuing operation is essential, whether it's in the field of refrigeration, automotives, radio or teletype equipment, or whatever. Canadian tax payers get their full dollar's worth on equipment used in [illegible]

Because it's a United Nations force, all equipment supplies are obtained through the standard UN world-bidding practice. This means that often Canadian servicemen face equipment manufactured in Germany, in Britain, or in any of the Western-style countries (Eastern-style products are serviced by a Polish con-[illegible])

Under such a situation, they rarely have instruction manuals, and standard parts are impossible. Painstakingly tracing out the equipment as they go, they find the fault, then either repair the defective part, or improvise to provide a new one. Invention and adaptation is the name of the game.

All through the repair section it's the same. In the motor transport section, vehicles may come from a variety of countries, yet all must be kept on the road. Brakes draw special attention, with attempts made to service them, and to provide engine lubrication, on a monthly basis, because of the deadly action of the omnipresent sand.

Canadian troops engaged in the repair sections often work over-time, partly because it helps fight boredom. But they face overtime, too, when a supply ship suddenly shows up at Port Said at midnight, with supplies that must be offloaded immediately. Supplies of produce, for instance, arrive three times weekly, [illegible] it, transport it, warehouse and distribute it, to all the other thousands of UN personnel on duty in this theatre.

If life at Camp El Gala is hard, it's already immeasurably superior to the situation three years ago. Partly through improving conditions, but largely through the inventiveness and self help of the troops themselves, every available piece of scrap, every unused crate or packing box has been channelled into building or repairing something or other to improve life.

The result has been better living quarters, and more recreational facilities, including their own snack bar for evening snacks, meeting friends, or just a change of [illegible]

Each of the dining messes has a movie every night (including, of course, many reruns) and there is a closed-circuit television set in each mess which portrays six hours of VTR programming every day, (including commercials) though it's a couple of weeks late arriving from Canada.

Two other amenities deserve mention, both being projects of the troops themselves. One is their own radio transmitting station, RSME, which has been on the air since 1974. The station programs a wide variety of material, and is manned entirely on a volunteer basis by off-duty personnel. Most nights it operates from 6 p.m. to midnight, but on Friday night it runs around the clock.

In addition to music, the station carries news from Canada as time and space permits, to help keep troops up to date on home.

Completely local, the station broadcasts an FM signal, and using ten watts, it manages a range of almost eight miles. Working with a small budget from recreational funds, the station is much in need of records and tapes.

Another amenity prized by the troops is the Ham Radio Shack, manned at present by Cpl. Willie Williams, who has a radio background with a station in Calgary.

Cpl. Williams works with ham operators all across Canada, who provide a phone patch service, whereby the Canadian ham operator contacts the family of the Canadian abroad, and relays by telephone a conversation of up to five minutes. In this way, the soldier can talk directly with the family from whom he or she has been separated for weeks and months, helping to keep the family together in a way no letter could.

For Cpl. Williams, the "day" starts about 5 p.m. and runs to about 4 a.m. the time when time changes and band conditions give the best reception. A new band to be made available shortly may give him even 15 hours of useable time each day.

Regularly Cpl. Williams, with some assistance from a few others, has been able to arrange about a thousand such calls each month. The service back home is provided by numbers of dedicated ham operators, who work on a hobby basis contacting the families of troops who have tried to make arrangements for their time on the air.

During the visit of this particular press group, we were present in two messes when Mr. J. Bird of Eastern Canada was introduced. It wasn't necessary to tell the troops who he was . . . they already knew Mr. Bird as a ham who had personally made more than 2,000 ham radio phone patch contacts in his area for them during the past year, and the applause and appreciation was loud, long, and sincere when they finally met one of the men who had helped them keep in touch with their families.

In the closing days of the Nova Scotia campaign former Premiers Robert Stanfield and Ike Smith, both Tories, joined the fray to explain to Nova Scotia what the Trudeau Liberals in Ottawa had done in reducing equalization grants. The system of transfer payments from the have to the have-not provinces is set up by mutual agreement of all 10 provincial governments and the federal government. Ryley was fortunate this year as there was very little Hallowe'en damage done in this district. We must commend our youth, some were even out patrolling the town and any minor pranks that were played, they undid.

Mr. and Mrs. Nerassen have their daughter, Marvel and son-in-law, Doug Down and their granddaughters Laurie and Wendy and her husband, Sheldon Whitlock, and baby from Yellowknife, N.W.T. visiting them.

If anyone has news they wish printed please phone me at 663-2162 no later than Monday.

The funeral service was held on Wednesday at the Immanuel Lutheran Church at Bruce with Rev. H. Heinemann officiating and interment was in the Bruce Cemetery. Many friend from Holden and district attended the service.

Work which had stopped for over the past week on putting in the remaining curbs and gutters on 50th Avenue, started up again on Tuesday. Some of the curbs on the corners of the sidewalks had been left in a dangerous state. The street has been gravelled and it is hoped that the paving can be done before winter really sets in. Work was also delayed when two turnoff valves on the water lines had been broken, having to be repaired.

LIGHTEN THE LOAD on Alberta's energy future.

Reduce your company's overhead now and help keep electrical costs in line tomorrow.

Energy Management matters — for you and for Alberta.

Alberta's electrical utilities have completed a computer study. It shows that a combination of load and energy management — by industry, businesses, farms and homes — can trim future power generation costs.

By controlling demand and energy use, you can reduce the additional generating facilities that will be needed. Because the cost of adding these facilities is continually escalating, this control can help keep future power cost increases to manageable levels.

Of more immediate interest to your business is that energy and load management can reduce your operating overhead. Depending on your particular needs, energy-saving goals can be achieved in numerous ways. Check the lighting levels. Reducing the levels in halls and non-work areas may seem like a small step, but one company reported a kilowatt-hour saving of 15%.

Energy management is easier than you may think. Find out for yourself. Send for your Energy Management Action Kit.

USE ENERGY WISELY

Conserve. It's worth the energy!

Mrs. [illegible]

The Ladies Club's annual fall bazaar was, as in years past, a huge success.

Articles on the baking, candy and surprise package tables, disappeared as if by magic. The sewing table once again had many lovely articles. The plants in charge of Olivine Sears was also a very popular spot.

Grocery hampers were won by Bill and Vi Reddick and Jean Kleinschroth.

The $25. voucher was won by Mrs. Gunther of Tofield, the $15. one going to Connie Leach. Audrey McHaffey of Tofield was winner of the blackout bingo, winning a lovely lamp, made and donated by 80 year old Andrew Ferguson.

Lunch was served to the many patrons who came from Edmonton, Tofield, Hastings Lake, Lindbrook, South Cooking Lake and Ardrossan as well as locally.

Jean Ferguson was convenor as she had been for 20 previous bazaars.

Plans are completed for the family night to be held at the hall on Friday evening will be shown by Ray and Kathryn Peterson. Lunch will be served.

The annual turkey supper is on Saturday, Nov. 18th and convenors are busy preparing.

It was annual 'awards night' at Ardrossan High School.

Lorraine Davenport and Brent Bow..man received honors awards in Grade 10, while Beverley Heitman received a merit award in Grade 12.

Barbara Horricks presented the Grade 12 award to the pupil receiving second highest marks, from the Ministik Ladies Club.

Many witches, clowns and goblins assembled at the hall on Hallowe'en night to have their costumes judged and to receive treats.

Costume winners were: 1st Stanley Paterson as a clown; 2nd, Jennifer Kleinschroth as a Fairy; 3rd, Angela Taylor as a lion; 4th Dean Dyer as Raggedy Ann; 5th Brian Perssini as a comic.

Honorable mention went to Cathy, Stacey and Shannon Horricks as clowns, Jeff Farmer as a clown, Allison Loch as a puppy dog, Danielle Lafontaine as a clown and Kelly McGhan as a black pussy cat.

New Year's Eve Frolic tickets are almost all sold. The Playmates band will supply the music.

Bill Vandermeer hauled the black earth for the Crafts Centre for landscaping this past week, while Glenn Ferguson got a good portion of it spread.

George, Jean and Wayne Kleinschroth, David Kleinschroth and Lorille Poderieu all attended the wedding in Calgary on Saturday afternoon of Fay Norman and Robert Unser. Fay is the eldest daughter of Mac and Donalda Norman (nee Kleinschroth).

On Sunday, before returning, they viewed Calgary and the Rocky Mts from Husky Tower.

Members of the Fenske family celebrated Angela's 13th birthday on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pearice recently celebrated their 43rd wedding anniversary.

Lakeshore-McKenzie

Mrs. Ellen Eaton

Visitors at the home of Isabel and Rod Rudacki on Sunday were, their daughter, Sharon Rudacki and Morgan Symon of Edmonton, and Morgan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Symon of Lloydminster.

Clarence Phillips of Edmonton was a visitor at the home of his cousin, Ellen Eaton, on Nov. 1st.

Visitors at the home of Carl and Mavis Jacobsen on Sunday were their two daughters, Karen Jacobsen, and Clarice and Peter Andersen and son Leif all of St. Albert, also Carl's mother, Mrs. Martha Jacobsen of Edmonton.

The first snowstorm of the season hit the district on Saturday leaving fields covered with a blanket of wet snow which once again has caught several farmers with bales in the fields, that had not dried from the previous rains. Snow melting is causing slippery roads.

The Lakeshore UCW are holding their November meeting in the United Church basement on Wednesday. Tying quilts will be done during the afternoon, so bring along your needles and wool.

HOW MUCH DOES PEACE OF MIND COST?

When you buy winter Michelins, you've got a right to be proud. Because you've chosen to have your family ride through winter on the best.

Some people cut corners when they buy winter tires. And often, they have no problems. But they can never know the comfortable feeling of putting their family on Michelins.

The price difference, when you stop to consider it, is really very little. In fact, when compared to top-line competing tires, Michelins can actually be less expensive.

Michelin makes no compromises. Why should you?

LIBRARY NEWS
YOUNG PEOPLE BOOK WEEK
NOVEMBER 12-25, '78

Young Alberta Book Week is being celebrated this year from Nov. 12 to 25.

It's motto is "Surface with Books".

School and public libraries are invited to participate by various activities and displays.

A promotion such as this is important because good books can provide children with (1) information, (2) an understanding of themselves and others (3) experiences in the world of imagination (4) a sense of just good fun.

The objectives for the week are really daily objectives, but setting aside a special week affords the opportunity to highlight library activities.

— Promote books and emphasize the importance of reading.
— Broaden experiences and enrich lives through reading.
— Develop an aesthetic appreciation for books.
— Create an awareness of award winning books.
— Acquaint readers with authors and illustrators.
— Promote books through different types of media.
— Encourage creative activities related to books
— Foster public awareness of the role of the publishing industry.
— Create an awareness of libraries, their resources, programs and services.

Sponsors for the week are Northern Alberta Library Development Services, Southern Alberta Library Service, Alberta Culture, A.T.A. Learning Resources Council and Alberta Education.

Open Friday til 9 p.m.
Closed Sat., Nov. 11th

Oslund-Lauber vows exchanged in Tofield

by Marlene Hardy

Mardelle Faye Lauber, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lauber of Tofield, and Dale Geoffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Oslund of Ryley, were united in marriage in a candlelight service at the Bardo Lutheran Church in Tofield on Oct. 21 with Rev. Sogge officiating.

The bower was ushered into the church by Lonnie Lauber and Robert Clement, cousins of the bride and groom respectively. After the pianists were seated, the candles were lit by Charlene Lauber, sister of the bride, and Donnis Oslund, brother of the groom. They lit these candles which both carried

The bride was radiant as she entered the church on the arm of her father. She wore a high-waisted full length gown of polyester satin and polyester chiffon with a rounded neckline and serf train. Her three-quarter length veil was lace edged and flowed from a tiara of lace and pearls. She also carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bride's attendants were Ann Oslund, sister-in-law of the groom, as Matron of Honour, bridesmaid was Laura Baker, friend of the bride and the flower girl was her cousin, Heidi Lauber. They wore pink sataleen gowns with small pink and white flocked flowers. The dresses featured fitted bodices, gathered skirts with puffed long sleeves gathered at the wrists. They carried nosegays of pink roses.

The groom was handsome in a dark blue suit and a red rose boutonniere. The bestman was Lyle Oslund, brother of the groom, the groomsman was Roderick Lauber, brother of the bride. Both were maroon blue suits and pink rose boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother chose a blue polyester chiffon gown with tiny pink and white flowers. The mother of the groom wore a dark brown gown of polyester with multi-colored flowers. Both mothers wore white rose corsages.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Sanford Beutler. The soloist, Mrs. Leo Lauber, aunt of the bride, sang two selections "Because" and "O Perfect Love".

At the reception held in the Ryley Community Hall, the bride's uncle asked the table grace, after which a turkey supper was served by the Ryley Lutheran Ladies.

Murray Lauber, uncle of the bride, acted as Master of Ceremonies, while Luella Lauber, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Toward the end of the meal, the guests were favored with a short program consisting of several special numbers.

"The Lord is My Shepherd" was sung by Ellen, Leo, Ben Calvin and Murray Lauber, aunts and uncles of the bride, a trumpet solo "Happy the Home" was played by Roger Oslund, cousin of the groom, a song was sung by the bride's cousins, "Dale went A'Courting" and Rose Lehman and Donnis Oslund read a poem.

The groom's uncle, Norman Gunnerson, led in a toast to the bride to which the groom ably responded. The cake was then cut and passed

After the first few waltzes to Don Thedenius' orchestra the bride and groom unwrapped the gifts which were then left on display

The happy couple left on a week's vacation to Jasper, Banff and Calgary. An open house at the home of the bride's parents was held upon their return.

Dale and Mardelle will be making their home in the country near Round Hill

As I see it

by Dr. Walt Buck, M.L.A. Clover Bar

On Friday, during the final day of the fall sitting of the Legislature discussion arose concerning the basic ethical and moral question of the status of three or four members of the Progressive Conservative Party of Alberta Finance Committee Executive.

One of these persons involved in the collection of money for the Alberta Tory Party is the Chairman of the Board of Pacific Western Airlines. Another is the P.W.A. Vice-Chairman, and a third is a member of the Board of Directors of the Alberta Energy Company. P.W.A. is almost totally owned by the Government of Alberta, while 50 percent of the Energy Company is publicly owned.

When the Premier - - who is also the Leader of the Provincial Conservative Party - - was asked about whether it was ethically and morally proper to have these men directly involved in soliciting money for the Alberta Conservative Party, he said he sees nothing wrong with these individuals being directly involved in fund-raising.

I do not share the Premier's view on this matter. I believe any individual has the right to be politically involved with any party he or she chooses to support, but I do not believe Executives of Government owned and controlled agencies should be in the "front line" finance committee executive of the government party.

Teacher Investiture - - I wish to thank the teachers of the County of Strathcona for the invitation to be with them at the acceptance of their new members into A.T.A. local. Education is one of the highest priorities of our Party and with me personally. Therefore, I really enjoyed the afternoon and look forward to continued interaction with the teaching profession.

60th Wedding Anniversary - - I wish to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Lawson of Tofield on their 60th anniversary celebration last Saturday. May they enjoy many more years of health and happiness.

Camrose College Homecoming - - Last Saturday evening I had the honor, as an alumnus to address the Homecoming Banquet. It was a very touching event to be asked "Home". Junior Colleges such as Camrose certainly serve a very important function and are worthy of the support of all [illegible].

Swinging Beavers start new season

by Ida Dorward

The "Swinging Beaver Club" opened their 1978-79 season on Oct. 20th in the Bruce School auditorium, with a masquerade dance.

Art Ziegler of Vegreville called the dance.

The large crowd entered into the spirit of the evening, many of them in costumes which were interesting and varied. There were a few surprises when the masks came off.

We had a family of six eager Beavers, Lil and Abner, Indians, Mexicans, the inflated or deflated dollar sign, Grandpa and Grandma, and many others.

There were visitors from St Paul, Edgerton and Mundare, had five squares dancing and a few extras. Those that weren't in costume had the hard job of picking out the first prize costume for ladies and men.

Square dance night is every Monday in the Bruce School, the next one to be Nov. 13th.

Jazz, Ballet, Tap, Baton, Dance, Anyone???

In January we are thinking of offering jazz, ballet, tap or baton dance lessons in the Viking area. Adult exercise courses could also be run at this time.

A qualified instructor has been in contact with us and would be interested in coming out January through May to do the above courses. Sessions would consist of four week classes in jazz, ballet, tap or baton. Five sessions could be available to each student.

Before we can even think of hiring an instructor, we must have forty people interested in taking some form of dance. If you would be interested, it is essential that you call. It might make the difference between having OR not having the lessons. Please contact Colleen at 663-3730 and leave your name, address, and phone number.

Ladies Volleyball

Hey ladies, it's volleyball season again! A reminder that volleyball can be played every Monday evening, 8.00-10.00 p.m. at the Ryley school gymnasium. The fee of $5.00 lets you play weekly from November to April - pretty cheap entertainment!

It has been suggested that volleyball go co-ed. Do you think it's a good idea? Us gals will have to practise so the guys won't show us up.

Curling Clinic - Ryley

The curling clinic has been pushed back a couple of weekends due to the fact that the Ryley curling club has been unable to find a caretaker. Dates will appear next week.

The clinic will be held in the same weekend format.

Ladies Keep Fit At Viking

The ladies keep fit at Viking has had to be cancelled because of lack of registrations.

Curling Clinic - Viking

The Viking curling clinic will be held November 13, 14, 15. I hope this postponement has not caused any problems.

Senior Citizens

"Dance All Night" is scheduled for November 22, 7.30 at the Tofield Community Hall. The Lions Club of Edmonton seniors whom we visited last April would like to return our visit. This evening has been planned with the Edmonton group in mind as well as our own County of Beaver gang. Report from your M.L.A.

by John S. Batiuk

As the fall session continues, several very important issues were discussed and debated.

The Minister of Agriculture gave a very comprehensive report on the crop and harvesting conditions. A non-government motion was proposed to provide relief for Alberta farmers who, because of weather conditions, were unable to complete their harvesting. By the time this motion was brought forward the weather has improved favorably and at this time the harvest report shows that about 70 percent of the harvest in Alberta was completed. The Assembly unanimously agreed to continue the debate on this motion for the balance of the day which was two hours. Normally only one hour is provided for this business. Realizing the importance of such a motion, it could be expected that every member would agree to prolong the debate.

Even though it seems that we have a comprehensive Crop Insurance Program it appears that only about 40 percent of the farmers participate in the program. The Minister of Agriculture informed the Assembly that he notified The Agricultural Development Corporation to review carefully repayments of loans which are due and are not being able to be made because of the harvesting conditions. The Minister also stated that the middle of October is too soon to make a definite view on how much grain will be harvested. Last year the bulk of combining was done during the month of October.

The issue of ambulance service was raised and the possibility of initiating a provincial ambulance service. It would appear that ambulance service is available in most areas of the province and to date it has traditionally been under local jurisdiction.

The Minister of Environment responded to me that the Edmonton and Area Regional Water Study is completed. The study was provided to the various municipalities hopefully to meet with them in the near future to discuss the study and be in a position to implement a to date it has traditionally been under local jurisdiction. very interesting one that is to supply water to various communities via a pipeline from Edmonton. A number of urban municipalities would benefit under such a program to provide water to continually growing populations.

Since senior citizens are provided fishing privileges without paying for licenses, the Minister of Recreation, Parks and Wildlife was queried why senior citizens who enjoy hunting are not given the same consideration.

The Premier's motion to approve in general the operations of the government since adjournment of the spring session continued to be debated. It was disturbing to hear both the Leader of the Opposition and the New Democratic Party member speak as if the only activity during the five months was the successful Commonwealth Games and also the Royal Visit. I personally feel that the activities in the province may have exceeded these in the past.

Second reading of several Bills took place. The Legislature has been asked to increase the revolving fund of the Alberta Opportunity Company for an additional $50 million. A similar request for an additional $50 million was made for the revolving fund of the Agricultural Development Corporation.

The Minister of Utilities and Telephones advised that senior citizens' drop-in centre will be charged on the residential telephone rate rather than a business rate.

The Minister of Environment advised the Assembly that the dredging of the Vermilion River is continuing even though delays were experienced to some extent due to weather conditions and other difficulties incurred.

Recreation Report

by Colleen Walker
Program Supervisor
Alberta Blue Lake Centre

The Blue Lake Centre was created by the Government of Alberta for the purpose of developing leaders in Outdoor Recreation The Blue Lake Centre believes in experimental learning, that is 'learning by doing' which is the most effective path to understanding.

As more and more Albertans are becoming urbanized and given more leisure time, they will be spending more time in wilderness areas. They should be given the opportunity of using safe enjoyable and environmentally-sound practises in the outdoors

The Centre is located near Hinton and situated in the foothills of the mountains close to lakes, and rivers for a wide variety of programs. There is accomodation for 64 people provided in log cabin dormitories, served by modern washrooms with showers, saunas The dining room, kitchen, office and lecture facilities are centrally located in the Lodge.

The Blue Lake Centre charges a rate of $16.00 per day to each candidate which covers meals and accomodation.

Some programs being offered this winter are: Cross-county skiing, Level I, II, III; introductory ski touring and camping III; C.A.N.S.I, Level I and II; introductory tour leader certification; coaches Level I of Canadian Ski Association; Rocky Mountain New Year's touring week. Last rites for Margaret George

Funeral services were held at the Tofield United Church on Oct 23, 1978 for Margaret George who passed away on Oct 19 at 89 years

Margaret May Luesing was born in Berlin, Waterloo County, Ont on July 12, 1889

As a young girl, she chose music as her career and majored in it having received several diplomas from the Toronto Conservatory On Dec. 20, 1911 she was united in marriage with Stanley Earl George of Port Elgin, Ont. Early in 1912, she came west to Ministik where her husband had a homestead Homestead years were hard, but she coped very well, raising a family of 5 and teaching music to many pupils. She also used her talent at the many concerts over the years, and as organist at the Ministik United Church, except for a few years when health reasons did not permit.

One daughter, Dolly, and four sons, William, Douglas, Walter and Bruce completed the family which grew up in Ministik.

With the exception of Bruce, who at present is residing in Kintore, Scotland, all live in the area

There are 11 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren.

She was a great lover of most sports, her husband and all four sons being hockey players. She enjoyed sports on radio and on television.

She was a member of the Ministik Ladies Club for 31 years and had a membership in the Lakes Crafts Centre.

She was predeceased by her husband, Stanley in June, 1963.

Andrews-McLaughlin was in charge of funeral arrangements and interment took place in the family plot in South Cooking Lake Cemetery. Rev. David Moddle conducted the services Many donations to charitable organizations have been received.

Report from your M.L.A.

by John S. Batiuk

A non government motion was proposed to the Legislative Assembly that the government consider amending the legislation which would permit a transfer of budgetary surpluses to the Heritage Trust Fund.

A very lively debate took place with members expressing strong views on how large the Trust Fund should get. Investment of these funds in various areas should be considered. I strongly feel that other provinces should continue to look to Alberta for financing needs rather than going to the United States and Europe. No doubt the practice of borrowing money overseas indirectly assisted in the devaluation of the Canadian dollar. It would also assist this country's economy if private enterprise ventures could be given some incentives by the government to promote their goods and services.

There are those who say spend, spend, and I hope the day will never come when some idiotic political party may form the government of this province and blow the Trust Fund in a short time. I strongly support the Heritage Trust Fund and favour the investment of it in ways that will provide development of the province and country. I feel that we should see fit to put away some surpluses to provide a high quality of life for future generations. Nevertheless, we also have to see that these generations will be in a position to build some of the necessary bridges, and not have it all done for them.

A non-government motion was made urging the government to implement a provincially co-ordinated ambulance service which would be provided under the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan. Members of both sides of the Legislature participated. It was obvious that all members were in favour of some plan, but differed as to the specifics. Some members expressed the view that they had excellent ambulance services in their areas and are not looking for a government co-ordinated ambulance service. It was noted that many of the more efficiently run ambulance services are in conjunction with voluntary fire departments.

I attended the annual meeting of Zone 3 of the Alberta School Trustees Association held on October 23rd, an association of which I was a member for many years, as well as the former Chairman for three years. Over the past few years the members of the Legislature representing Zone 3 have been meeting with the Executive of the Zone and these communications have proven fruitful.

Last weekend saw a very successful policy seminar of The Progressive Conservative Party of Alberta came to a successful close, with approximately 400 persons participating. Representatives from every provincial constituency attended this seminar, which is another evidence of an open party where participation is welcomed.

The Minister of Agriculture made a statement at a meeting of the Canada Grains Council that he asked for a plebiscite to be carried out among western farmers as to the manner in which they wish to sell their export barley. The minister made it clear that although he did not take any position whatsoever on this question, many producers feel that the sale of rape on the open market has been favourable over the past years and would like to see a similar marketing strategy adopted for the sale of barley.

4 WAYS TO A GOOD LUNCH

What did you have for lunch today? Did you take time to eat lunch? During Nutrition Week, November 13-18, why don't you concentrate on eating good lunches - it may become a habit!

A nutritious midday meal is composed of foods from all four food groups - meat and alternates, milk and milk products, fruits and vegetables, and bread and cereals. It's easy, a ham and cheese sandwich with tomato juice fills the bill!

Meat and meat alternates, such as eggs, dried beans or peas, nuts or peanut butter, are important to our diet as a source of protein. It is also from the meat group that we get many of our minerals such as iron.

Everyone knows we should drink milk to meet our needs for calcium. Don't forget that this includes adults as well as children. Cheese, yogurt or ice cream are also good sources of calcium.

We need fruits and vegetables in our diets to provide vitamins and minerals. As an extra bonus for those watching their weight, fruits and vegetables are low in calories, high in nutrients.

Including bread and cereals in a lunch is easy, and important. We include them in our daily eating pattern to fulfill our body's need for carbohydrate which gives us energy. Whole grain breads and cereals are particularly good sources of B vitamins and fibre.

Choosing a food from each of the four food groups guarantees a good lunch and a better day. A peanut butter sandwich, a glass of milk and an apple, that's all it takes. A hamburger with tomatoes, and yogurt for dessert also answer the question - Lunch - What 4???

Progressive Farming

Are you wondering whether you need to give your ornamental trees and shrubs a good soaking this year before freeze-up? The answer is yes.

Herman Oosterhuis, in charge of Alberta Agriculture's tree planting programs, says that soil moisture reserves are still depleted in northern and central parts of the province (particulary western areas), despite the above normal precipitation that has fallen since May. The reason for the low soil moisture level in these areas in the small amount of snow that has fallen during the last three years. The melting snow in the spring is one of the main sources of subsoil moisture in Alberta.

"Watering ornamental trees and shrubs before freeze-up is even more important in the south-eastern part of the province where the abnormally low subsoil problems has been compounded by the very low rate of precipitation received last summer," Mr. Oosterhuis says.

He explains that a plentiful supply of water in the fall is needed to enable trees and shrubs in this province to withstand the drying winds and variations in temperature that occur during the winter months. Since trees and shrubs have only limited ability to take up and transport moisture when the ground is frozen and they are relatively dormant, they must have an abundant su..ly of moisture to prevent desiccation. Evergreens like pines, spruce and junipers are even more vulnerable to winter desiccation than trees which lose their leaves in the fall because evergreens lose moisture through their needles.

Birch trees are another species that should be well watered just before freeze-up. Their shallow root system prevents them from having access to the deep subsoil moisture.

Mr. Oosterhuis also points out that regardless of the rain that falls during the summer, the soil near the south and east sides of a house in Alberta is always very dry because it is in the rain shadow. Also, the soil on the south side of houses give up its moisture rapidly because of the heat of the sun. This means that all plants, including climbing vines like clematis, should be thoroughly watered, no matter how much rain has fallen, before they go into the winter.

Confronting y our Faith

With Pastor Curtis Johnson of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, Ryley.

"These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." John 16 33.

Christ did not fail, neither was He discouraged, and His followers are to manifest a faith of the same enduring nature. They are to live as He lived, and work as He worked, because they depend on Him as the great master worker.

Courage, energy, and perserverance they must possess. Though apparent impossibilities obstruct their way, by His grace they are to go forward. Instead of deploring difficulties, they are called upon to surmount them. They are to despair of nothing, and to hope for everything. With the gold chain of His matchless love, Christ has bound them to the throne of God. It is His purpose that the highest influence in the universe, emanating from the source of all power, shall be theirs. They are to have power to resist evil, power that neither earth, nor death, nor hell can master, power that will enable them to overcome as Christ overcame.

The Bible faithfully records the faults of good men, those who were distinguished by the favour of God; indeed, their faults are more fully presented than their virtues. Moses, David, Abraham, all had their sins marked down as a lesson for you and me.

Men whom God favoured, and to whom He entrusted great responsibility, were sometimes overcome by temptation and committed sin, even as we at the present day strive, waver, and frequently fall into error. Their lives, with all their faults and failures, are open to us, both for encouragement and warning. If they had been represented as without fault, we, with our sinful nature, might despair at our own mistakes and failures. But seeing where others struggled through discouragement like our own, where they fell under temptation as we have done, and yet took heart again and conquered through the grace of God, we are encouraged in our striving after righteousness.

As they, though sometimes beaten back, recovered their ground, and were blessed of God, so we too may be overcomers in the strength of Jesus.

The life of Christ's disciples is to be like His, a series of uninterrupted victories, not seen to be such here, but recognized as such in the great hereafter.

Mr and Mrs Don Stinson of Milton, Ontario, and Miss Shirley Stinson and Miss Jean Newman of Edmonton visited at the home of Mrs J E Stinson, over the past weekend. On Sunday morning, they attended service at the United Church, where, at the conclusion of the regular service, a tree was dedicated to the memory of J E Stinson. The tree, a blue spruce, was planted at the front of the church. Taking part in the ceremony were Rev David Moddle, Arnold Swift, Don Stinson and Ken Appleby.

Hunting in the Peace River area was good last week as a number of local hunters can testify, all having bagged their limit in a few days.

Mrs. J.A.L. Smith was a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Robinson.

Our area artists

by Marlene Sinclair

Shiela Haren is a newcomer to the Holden district.

She and her husband, Harvey, moved here three years ago. Shiela was born in Vegreville, but lived most of her life in Edmonton until she graduated with a B.A. in Art from the University of Alberta in 1969.

She then taught in several places in Alberta and British Columbia before coming to Holden where they live on the old Walter Leonhardt place, just north of Bershiw Parish.

Shiela is an active artist and craftsperson.

Some of the areas in which she works are pottery, leaded glass, basketry, pressed dried flowers, off loom weaving, Ukrainian Easter eggs, quilting, clothing design, toys, macrame and right now, is extremely busy producing Christmas crafts.

Shiela stressed that her philosophy of life is "make it yourself", one she says that runs in her family. Her maternal (Sam and Mary Geleta) and paternal (Anne and Bill Haren) grandparents came from the same area of the Ukraine to the Plain Lake area, where they both homesteaded and when they needed anything, they made it.

That tradition comes down through her family and is one she tries to keep. Shiela is always busy creating something, whether it be a straw wreath for Christmas or experimenting with fabric art.

She and her husband are organically farming a half-section of land, as well as raising goats, sheep, cattle, pigs and fowl. They experiment with growing things and are continually trying to improve their results.

Shiela enjoys creating things. She gets her designs from nature and uses natural textures and colors, rather than plastic or prefabricated items, which she does not like. She plans doing a lot more weaving and to learn how to spin.

They went out and bought sheep, so that she could start from the ground up.

She also wants to try her hand at metal sculpture and wooden toys.

One other thing she has in the back of her mind is the building of new furniture.

If you're interested in seeing some of Shiela's wares, drop into Joan's Cottage Crafts in Vegreville. It's located on Highway 16, just west of main street. You will be most delighted with what you see.

DOWN TO EARTH

Nobel prize

Across the world there will be keen interest in the award of the Nobel Prize for promoting peace in the world to Egyptian President Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Begin, in recognition of their announcement from Camp David.

It might even be wondered why the award wasn't made to President Jimmy Carter, who laid his own political future on the line, for all practical purposes, in bringing the two together in the first place. It was Carter, it must be remembered, who launched the first overtures, who insisted they must continue the meeting initiated by Sadat, and who kept them talking at Camp David until all the objections finally ran out.

It might have been suggested that it was President Sadat who made the first step, venturing into hostile Israel months ago, to suggest the talks in the first place. In a world where "face" is the most important side of life, Mr. Sadat took his own political "life" in his hands.

But probably the Nobel committee was right. Such moves individually take courage, but they also draw applause and approval.

Probably the biggest single step was their agreement, at Camp David, to face the world together, to clasp hands in front of the world, and to pledge their own and their countries' efforts towards ending the state of hostility which has existed for years. Surely, in view of the deep-seated hatreds and hostilities between the two peoples, it was the most significant move towards peace in the world that we have seen for many, many years.

How times change

Some things are supposed to be immutable, like the solid, impregnable view everyone held over the Rock of Gibraltar, and the staid, unimaginative appearance that all the chartered banks presented to us.

But just as we learned that Gibraltar is far from impregnable, and indeed that it is clay, not rock, we learn that the banks aren't all that staid either.

Indeed, last year one of them set up a lottery for depositors. Imagine! For years everyone knew that the banks operated on the laws of mathematics, that they reduced the element of chance to the lowest possible denominator, and all but ruled out the suggestion that operations were not entirely governed by the strictest rules of [illegible].

And far from feeling concern that their money was no longer safe in such an institution, investors flocked in with their savings. So great was the response that the theme is being repeated this year, but with variations, to give it wider appeal.

If the idea grows, the possibilities are almost endless. So far the bank's lottery has been confined to its depositors, but one of these days it could logically be extended to borrowers, too. Just let your imagination roam a bit, and it's not hard to visualize the loan officer with a "double or nothing" sign over the wicket. Or, a carnival wheel or roulette wheel offering you the chance to "pick your own rate of interest." The possibilities are limited only by your imagination.

My, my, banking certainly has changed since the days of Adam Smith.

Feels Dodds reclamation not proved

Dear Sir;

We, of the Board of the Round Hill-Dodds Agriculture Protective Association, feel that the public has been grossly misled by the two-page publication seen in the Camrose Booster and Canadian and the Tofield Mercury regarding the 1977 crop report on reclaimed land. The report is enlightening to us in the details on reclamation pit construction, but the impression created that reclamation to agricultural use is being proven we feel is misleading.

We comment on these test results, not because we have faith that these small-scale plots can prove or disprove reclamation (we never did believe they could), but to correct the wrong picture given.

Pictures are shown of barley on test pit No. 2 which look reasonably good and they report a yield of up to 54 bushels per acre. The catch is that the yields are based on green matter weight. The samples were not threshed as the crop was frozen prior to maturity.

We also have a picture taken approximately July 20, 1977, of the same test pit and it explicitly shows the mine site has minimal growth. The surrounding area was seeded by an area farmer and he harvested a good crop. At this time, the surrounding area was 12 to 14 inches tall, whereas the mine site was from nil to two inches and very sparse. The reason the mine site was so short was that at the time of year it should have been seeded it was impossible to get any machinery onto the land surface, and they had to wait until way past the time to seed when a harvest could be expected. These same bad conditions, owing to the characteristics of the backfilled mine spoil, caused sparse germination due to crusting. In April it was noted that the mine site was white with salts over its entire area. These salts, no doubt, also played a role in the thin growth that developed.

Area farmers noted that the growth was cut and weighed green after it had frozen. We feel that if it had been allowed to dry to the usual 14-15 percent moisture, the total weight per acre would have been one-third to one-quarter of that reported. The grain yield of 54 bushels per acre on 50 percent straw weight 50 percent grain weight basis used for Bonanza barley would have been 14 bushels per acre instead if good grain (48 lb per bushel), not frozen grain, had been produced.

It is also stated that 20-square-yard samples were cut and weighed, that is 12' x 15' and, as farmers, we all know that we can find a great variation in yield from small spot to small spot in a field.

In August of 1977, CBC Television visited the site (Pit No. 2) and our president, Fred Gotheridge, when asked what the expected yield would be, made a guesstimate as a long time area farmer, of 10-15 bushels per acre. He was proven to be fairly close in the final result. A farmer, naturally, couldn't survive with yields of this nature.

The impression is being given by McAllister Environmental Services, hired by Calgary Power and Fording Coal, that plots are showing successful reclamation. It is too bad that the public cannot be given a true picture and that a failure cannot be acknowledged as such. This is good corporate citizen image being foisted on the people. Our present opinion is [illegible] soils in this area cannot be reclaimed to present conditions and anything seen up to this time confirms this opinion. Because of the obvious discrepancies, we feel that in any future and subsequent yield measurements, the Department of Environment, the Department of Agriculture and the Agriculture Protective Association should be represented.

In conclusion, the reclamation test pits should be put into perspective. It was our understanding that the original purpose of the pits was to obtain large coal samples for burn testing in order to properly design boilers that would burn this coal efficiently. Now, in the Company's eyes, they have become a proving ground for reclamation. They have proved to us exactly what our accumulated knowledge had predicted, that is, dewatering of wells and releasing of salts to the surface. The tests on the different growth media are mostly academic. What can be obtained on this small-scale, idealized plot is likely much different from what would be obtained on a large scale with respect to land conformation, amount of topsoil on surface, and growth sustaining characteristics of material left near the surface, and growth sustaining characteristics of material left near the surface by draglines turning soil layers upside down.

Respectfully,
Round Hill-Dodds Agriculture Protective Association

Canadian Comment

Ottawa (CP) — The government is having a rough ride in Parliament with its proposal of the summer-time economic switch-around to reduce unemployment insurance expenses borne by the federal treasury.

Unemployment insurance was accurately identified by private Liberal party polls as a major cause of unhappiness in the minds of voters, particularly those in urban Ontario, which is crucial to all parties in the coming election. Ergo a scheme to cut UIC payments was slapped together by the Trudeau Liberals, reversing a philosophy espoused firmly by Prime Minister Trudeau only a few years earlier.

Proposals for the revised unemployment insurance rules would make it tougher for a repeater on the pogey rolls to collect, and would reduce actual payments made to the jobless by 10 percent. There is also a proposal to start reducing payments to individuals who earn respectable salaries from seasonal work.

The effect of such revised rules will be devastating to the economics of many communities in Atlantic Canada and Quebec. There is no way many Liberal seats in Quebec will be lost no matter how angry the people become. In Atlantic Canada, the Liberals risk the loss of perhaps four seats through their changes in the UIC rules.

In Ontario, though, in which the Liberals must win at least 55 out of 95 seats to form a majority government the Trudeau Liberals are in trouble - particularly in urban southern Ontario. Those UIC changes are aimed straight at winning some of those Ontario seats, no matter what the cost in human misery elsewhere in the country. It's a conclusion which is being reached by more and more Canadians of Atlantic Canada.

Now it's all very well for the federal government to try and save money by chopping programs, but surely some of the first areas of expenditure to be subjected to surgery should be the bureaucratic fat created through runaway pyramid building in the federal civil service. We don't need snippets here and there at existing programs, we need amputations.

Part of the problem is the Trudeau fixation with structure, at the expense of function. In fairness, the Prime Minister has tried to wrest power from the federal bureaucracy — but he has failed.

You don't save money for the purpose of regaining lost political loyalties, you save money in the interests of running the nation effectively, something we haven't seen for quite a number of years. Any democracy needs a change of government and the house cleaning which goes with it from time to time. Canada is overdue for such a house cleaning.

Unemployment Insurance is now more responsive to conditions in Alberta.

To make your Unemployment Insurance Program more responsive to the special needs of different areas of Canada, there are now 48 economic regions for UI. (Up to now, there were 16 regions.)

With this change, UI benefits will more accurately reflect your local employment conditions.

It's all part of a plan announced over a year ago.

Each of these new 48 regions will have its own unemployment rate. This will set the length of time a claimant must have worked to become eligible for Unemployment Insurance benefits. And it will govern the length of benefits as well.

There's nothing new about the system itself - it's just being measured more finely in 48 regions, rather than 16.

The length of time a claimant must work to get UI remains the same. It varies from 10 to 14 weeks, depending on the unemployment rate where the claimant lives. And regionally-based benefits have the same maximum.

The change will only affect those whose UI claims start after November 12.

This map and the information with it will show you the new economic boundaries in your area.

Clip the map and save it for reference, if you like.

Note: Further changes to the Unemployment Insurance Program have been proposed by the Government. They will come into effect only when they have been enacted by Parliament.

Farmer group rejects claims of reclamation

Calgary Power's claims of reclamation in the Dodds-Round Hill area were rejected at the annual meeting of the Dodds-Round Hill Farmers Producer Association in Round Hill on Friday night.

(Calgary Power published a reclamation report in a two-page advertisement in The Camrose Canadian on October 18th, and The Tofield Mercury on October 19th)

In his opening remarks, Association President Fred Gotheridge strongly condemned the picture presented to the public in Calgary Power's advertisement, while vice-president Calvin Lauber said he was outraged by the claims contained in the advertisement.

Mr. Lauber went on to pick out what he felt were mistakes in the ad, and referred to the Association's published reply to Calgary Power's claims (letters to the Editor column, The Camrose Canadian, November 8th).

Mr. Gotheridge said that he wanted to be as fair as possible, pointing out that the utility company did try and keep the Association informed, and commended the company's Dick Wilson, for his efforts in this area.

Attendance was low at Friday's 4th annual meeting, with Mr. Gotheridge suggesting that the present lack of action was the main cause of the general lack of interest shown by area residents.

Pointing to past achievements, Mr. Gotheridge said he felt it was because of the Association's efforts that Calgary Power had been unable to proceed with mining coal in the area.

Mr. Gotheridge suggested that another major accomplishment was the fact that the association had been able to give valuable assistance to farmers in other parts of the province who had been facing similar situations.

The success of the Dodds-Round Hill Farmers Producer Association was well known, according to Mr. Gotheridge, that the association is now asked for advice in property organizing a provincial agricultural protective association.

Guest speaker Arnold Malone, MP, lauded the group's courage and conviction in trying to protect their rights, pointing out that agriculture was a vastly underrated business by governments of all levels in all countries.

Mr. Malone described the amount of good agricultural land that was being taken out of production each year, pointing to Ontario as a good example of industry and commerce using too much valuable farm land for other purposes.

The value of producing food was so important, said Mr. Malone, that even if all of the food produced was evenly distributed throughout the world, there would still be cases of malnutrition and starvation.

Five directors were elected for three-year terms while another was selected to complete an unfinished term.

Named to sit for the next three years were Calvin Lauber, Bernie Von Tetenborn, Myron Kenack, Bob Anderson and Bert Nesve while John Patrick was elected for a one-year term.

Eric Hohn and Roy Mackwood were again named to serve as auditors. Mr. Gotheridge pointed out that the two men had served as auditors since the association was first organized, and were doing the job without remuneration.

Becky Strichuk told members that a scholarship was available to any first-year agricultural student from the Dodds-Round Hill area.

The board of directors will hold their first meeting early in December at which time they will elect an executive.

Crop reports indicate that 96% was threshed

Despite adverse weather conditions, farmers in this part of Alberta managed to get ninety-six percent of their crops harvested, according to Alberta Wheat Pool.

Harvesting came to a complete stop just over a week ago with the arrival of snow and sub-zero temperatures.

However, before the snow's arrival, many farmers had already completed harvesting their crops while others had planned on leaving fields because they had been covered in water (now ice) and couldn't be touched.

Farmers in the Holden and Ryley regions managed to get just about all of their crops harvested. A few instances of fields, involving a small number of acres, were reported [illegible] harvestation.

In the Camrose region, farmers harvested all of their rapeseed and rye and managed to get 95 percent of the flax off the fields.

Ninety-five percent of the barley crop was threshed with ninety percent of the wheat and oats having been harvested.

Dayaland's farmers got all of their rapeseed and rye harvested.

Ninety percent of the oats were threshed, while eighty-five percent of the wheat was taken from the fields, and eighty percent of the barley was threshed.

Farming operations in the Round Hill vicinity saw the rapeseed crop being completely harvested.

Only one percent of the barley crop was left on the ground while two percent of the wheat and oats hadn't been threshed.

Farmers in Tofield was almost identical to Round Hill in their production efforts with all of the rapeseed being harvested.

Two, percent of the wheat, oats and barley crop couldn't be threshed.

In the Rosalind region, farmers managed to complete threshing operations as far as rapeseed was concerned.

Five percent of all other crops had to be left on the ground.

Farmers in the Hay Lakes region had the roughest road, leaving ten percent of their rapeseed, wheat and barley on the ground.

Report from your M.L.A.

by John S. Batiuk

During the Committee of Supply sitting, the Minister of Advanced Education proposed allocations in support of institutional libraries in the amount of $9 million from the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund. The funds being $3 million yearly for three years are to be used solely for the acquisition of learning materials.

A Bill was introduced by the Minister of Hospitals and Medical Care replacing the Hospital Visitors Committee Act with the Alberta Health Facilities Review Committee Act, giving authority to this Committee to investigate complaints regarding contract nursing homes as defined in The Nursing Homes Act. This resulted from statements made by the Ombudsman regarding complaints made to him regarding care in nursing homes, since Hospitals and Medical Care is not in the jurisdiction of the Provincial Ombudsman.

A Private Members Bill adopted as a Government Bill was introduced. This Bill, "The Burial of The Dead Act", would permit the Lt. Governor in Council to order an employee or employees to provide the necessary service to bury the dead. During the City of Calgary employees' strike last winter caused many bodies to lie in an ice arena for a considerable time until the strike was settled. Such a Bill will provide that there would not be a recurrences of such an incident in the future.

A resolution was moved that the Government, with input from senior citizens groups, embark on a home care program to provide a home [illegible] support service. This would assist those senior citizens who desire to live in their own homes but due to age and health may not be able to shovel snow, cut grass, put on and remove storm windows and may even find it difficult to do their own shopping. With a bit of assistance it would prevent many senior citizens from entering senior citizens homes or other institutions. Not only would it help these senior citizens to live in their own homes but would also be much cheaper than living in institutions.

A government motion was moved by the Minister of Federal and Intergovernmental Affairs that the report of the Advisory Committee on Constitutional Changes be received. Even though a lively debate took place, most Members favoured the report.

A delegation of members of the Legislative Assembly along with the Premier will be meeting at the First Ministers Conference in Ottawa to discuss the constitution and its changes. The intention of the Alberta delegation will be to convince the meeting that the provinces must retain autonomy in their jurisdictions. The provinces must have their resources to be able to carry out their responsibilities. To have a good strong united Canada we must have strong provincial governments.

On Friday, Oct. 27th, 46 grade seven, eight, and nine students from Chipman visited the Legislature. As usual, the students viewed the sitting of the Legislature and also had a tour of the Legislature Building. The students were accompanied by their Principal, Mr. Berge and teacher, Mrs. Kaminski.

Dr. Warrack, Minister of Utilities and Telephones, tabled in the Assembly the decision of the Alberta Government to undertake a study of the feasibility of developing hydro-electric energy at Slave River near the boundary of the Northwest Territories. If feasible, a Slave River development could add greatly to the existing hydro-electric projects. Realizing the constant increase in energy requirements and at the same time the need to conserve our non-renewable resources, the need is evident for other sources of energy.

Should the Slave River be developed, it could produce half of our present electric energy requirements. If the project proves feasible, it would be possible to have hydroelectric energy in about ten years.

A very important bill being tabled is The Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund Special Appropriation Act permitting the Government to set aside 30 percent of the revenues from the sale of non-renewable resources into the Heritage Savings Trust Fund. The Sacred opposition opposed this bill stating that there should be revenue sharing with the municipalities and they suggested that the municipalities should receive about 10 percent for revenue sharing. When one observes that 10 percent would net about $365 million, one part folio, such as education, would prevent many senior citizens from entering senior citizens homes or other institutions. Not only would it help these senior citizens to live in their own homes but would also be much cheaper than living in institutions.

Law is studied

Fifteen students are enrolled in a Law 30 course being offered at Holden School this semester.

Law 30 is a course designed to provide students with an understanding of the basic principles and purpose of civil and criminal law and of the court system which administers the laws, as well as to make the student more aware of his responsibilities and rights.

The Curriculum Guide for the course allows for enough flexibility in choice topics that interests of class members can be catered to fairly well.

Topics being studied this year in the 5-credit course are History of our Law, Torts (civil wrongs), Contracts and Criminal, Family and Property Law

HEART AFTER GOD by Luis Palau

We all can't be kings like David, but we can – like him – be people after God's own heart. Cutting through the "movie star" glamour which tends to gloss the biography of this famous king of Israel, Palau finds principles for ways Christians can know the heart of God. He looks at David as the servant-king and as the heavenly King's servant.

LUNCH — ANOTHER OTTY

Hot or cold, lunch is a welcome meal. The time between breakfast and dinner is a long, long stretch. Midday, relax and refuel — add taste, colour and variety to your day! A well chosen lunch satisfies both your appetite and your body's needs.

No matter what your work or play, you need adequate amounts of protein, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals. Your lunch can help meet these needs and give you energy when it includes a variety of foods from Canada's Food Guide.

Does your lunch include a choice from each of the four food groups?
— milk and milk products
— bread and cereals
— fruits and vegetables
— meat and alternates.

A complete lunch includes choices from each food group and gives you pep and vitality for study, work, sports and leisure.

If you have left out a food group, it's wise to make it up some time during the day.

What you decide to eat, and where you decide to eat, is up to you. Whether at home or at school, at the office or at play, choose tasty and interesting food varied to fit your lifestyle. For example: - at home, lunch is as near as your kitchen. A hearty homemade soup, crackers, a glass of milk and fresh fruit are convenient and economical choices.

— For a portable school lunch, variety is the key. How about cold milk, a chicken sandwich, carrot and celery sticks, oatmeal cookies and an apple? For a special treat add a crisp pickle, or use an unusual kind of bread.

— When busy days at the office just don't let up at lunch hour, you can take a few minutes out for lunch at your desk. Try a hard-cooked egg and cheese, crisp rye crackers, fruit juice or an apple and a carton of milk. A desk drawer well stocked with salt, pepper, spoons, straws and napkins provide the extra touches that add appeal to your meal.

— When on an all-day excursion in the great outdoors, you need to pause for rest and nourishment at midday. A thermos of hot chocolate, bran muffins, an orange, and some mixed nuts and raisins from your backpack provide energy and a refreshing combination of flavours and textures.

— There's no reason to skip your midday refreshment just because you're trying to keep your weight under control. Canada's Food Guide includes low calorie choices. Salmon and cottage cheese arranged on lettuce, a glass of tomato juice and a banana are wise and enjoyable selections.

— Remember, an active individual doesn't require as many calories as a more active, younger person, so the kind of food chosen becomes even more important. An easily prepared meal composed of choices from each food group provides all the essential nutrients and helps keep you in top form.

Confronting your faith

With Pastor Curtis Johnson of the Seventh Day Aventist Church, Ryley.

"Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God". Isa. 43:12.

A living Christian will have a living testimony to bear. If you have been following Jesus step by step, you will have something right to the point to relate of the way he has led you. You can tell how you tested His promise, and found the promise true. You can point to the living spots in your experience, without going back for years into the past. Would that we could oftener hear the simple, earnest testimony of heart conflicts and victories!

Every true Christian will have a battle to fight to practice the principles of truth as well as to assent to them. The Captain of our salvation calls for witnesses fresh from the field of action. Those who have been fiercely assaulted by the enemies of truth and the adversary of souls, and who have [illegible] themselves as did Jesus in His hour of trial, will have a testimony to bear which will thrill the hearts of the hearers. They will indeed be witnesses for Jesus.

We do not always realize the power of example. We are brought in contact with others. We meet persons who are erring, who do wrong in various ways, they may be disagreeable, quick, passionate, dictatorial. While dealing with these we must be patient, forbearing, kind, and gentle. There are trials and perplexities for us all to encounter; we are in a world of cares, anxieties, and disappointments. But these continual annoyances must be met in the spirit of Christ. Through grace we may rise superior to our surroundings, and keep our spirits calm and unruffled amid the frets and worries of everyday life. We shall thus represent Christ to the world.

Christ sought to save the world, not by conformity to it, but by revealing to the world the transforming power of the grace of God to mold and fashion the human character after the likeness of the character of Christ.

The grace of Christ is to work a wonderful transformation in the life and character of the receiver; and if we are truly the disciples of Christ, the world will see that divine power has done something for us, for while we are in the world, we shall not be of it.

Progressive Farming

A mature horse can withstand our harsh winters well as long as it is healthy, has a balanced ration and protection from wind and moisture. Both wind and snow severely reduce the insulation value of a horse's winter coat and cause severe stress.

Although a horse should never be allowed to become obese, it should start the winter with some surplus flesh. This excess flesh provides insulation against the cold and gives the horse a reserve of energy on which to draw during very cold weather. It is also important that a horse starts the winter free of such parasites as worms, ticks, and lice. These can reduce its ability to grow a protective coat of hair and decrease its utilization of feed.

According to Doug Milligan, head of Alberta Agriculture's horse industry branch, horses start aclimatizing themselves for winter in the early fall by growing a winter coat and by gearing up their metabolism for the quick production of energy. Once acclimatized, horses are subject to heat stress when worked hard in a warm area. If a horse is kept inside during the fall and winter, the acclimatization process is slower.

Even though trees and three-sided shelters considerably reduce feed requirements, a horse still needs 20 to 40 per cent more feed during cold weather (below -10 C.) than it needs during warm weather.

"Diets for wintering mature horses can be simple", Mr. Milligan says. "A horse that is not working needs 16 to 20 pounds of good hay a day, supplemental vitamin A (20,000 I U/day), minerals (free choice calcium and phosphorus) and water." Once a day feeding is adequate.

Yearlings, two-year olds and pregnant mares (during the last 90 days of pregnancy) may require 4 to 6 pounds of oats or an oat-barley mixture. Since most horses will eat more hay than they need, the amount they receive should be restricted.

Deciding what hay to purchase is one of the most difficult aspects of feeding horses during the winter because of the tremendous variation in the quality of hay. Mr. Milligan believes that good quality hay can solve many feeding problems.

"When buying hay by the bale", he says, "be aware of its weight." If you pay $2 for a 40, 60, or 80-pound bale, you are paying $100, $67 and $50 per ton respectively. In other words, you would be paying twice as much for the 40-pound bale as you would be paying for the 80-pound bale.

As a general rule a top quality hay is a better buy than a low quality hay because of its higher nutritional value and the fact that there is less waste. Good quality alfalfa at $80 per ton, for example, is a better buy than average quality timothy at $70 per ton.

Mr. Milligan recommends paying attention to the following points when evaluating the quality hay.

— Type of Forage - Types of forage vary in descending order of quality from alfalfa, brome-grass, timothy, crested wheat grass, oat hay, Prairie hay and slough hay down to straw.

— Leaf-stem Ratio - The leaves in hay are very nutritious, but most stems are low in quality. As hay matures, the proportion of stems to leaves increases and the quality of the feed decreases.

— Moisture Content - New hay that feels moist or warm in the centre of a bale is too wet. There is a risk of mold and spoilage.

— Mold and Mustiness - Hay that looks or smells moldy or musty should not be fed to horses.

— Color - The greener the hay the better. Its color gives an indication of the maturity of the hay and whether or not it has deteriorated through weathering. Brown hay has been badly weathered and will be of poor quality.

— Weeds - Avoid weedy hay. Weeds contain a low level of nutrition and are often discarded by horses.

You can obtain an analysis of the nutrient content of your hay by sending a representative sample to the Alberta Soil and Feed Testing Laboratory, O.S. Longman Bldg. 6909 - 116 St. Edmonton, T6H 4P2.

Further information on horse management, including [illegible], can be obtained from the Horse Industry Branch, 2965 McKnight Boulevard Calgary, T2E 6L2.

The 1978-79 season opened with the club's annual three-day Friendship Bonspiel which was held October 27-29.

Twenty-six rinks entered the three-event 'spiel.

Ted Whyte won the First Event, followed in order by Gary Oslund, Vern Wickland and Charlie McLeod.

Taking the Second Event was Dave Sears with other prizes going to Paul Addison, Debbie Sware and Bob Dupuis.

Phil Johnson won the Third Event with other finishers being J. Moore, Marvin Adamson and Randy Erickson.

Following the 'spiel, the club held a very successful curling school on the first three days of the month, with sixty participants registering.

Regular league curling started on Tuesday of this week, but there is still room for a number of latecomers, if they sign up immediately.

The club raffled a rocking chair, donated by McLeod's Hardware. When the draw was made, the chair went to D. Miller.

Anyone interested in joining the club is invited to visit the rink at any time, or contact any member of the executive.

Your Home Has to Breathe too.

Check For Safe Venting
Proper venting in your home can save you and your family from fire and gas hazards. All gas appliances which need to be vented must be vented outside. And all fuel-burning heating appliances need venting as well as an adequate air supply for complete combustion.

Are Your Vents Working?
A safe vent is an effective vent. Make sure.
- appliance vents are securely attached and in good condition
- rust formation on vent pipes or draft hood is reported to the gas company
- the ends of vent pipes are not blocked
- moisture dripping from a vent is reported to the gas company

Is Your Chimney Safe?
Your chimney carries byproducts from burning gas in your appliances safely outdoors. Be sure:
- your chimney is checked annually
- your chimney is open and clear from debris at the bottom
- your chimney is free of frost, snow and other obstructions
- metal chimney tops are checked for corrosion, [illegible]
- "Bracket Chimneys" are lined and inspected regularly
- chimney openings not used to vent appliances are sealed

For more information on proper venting and other home safety measures, visit your nearest gas company office and pick up a copy of our free pamphlets "Take Time For Home Heating Safety" and "Home Safe Home."

Mrs. Agnes Anderson

Our Craft room is again a very busy place, several of the ladies are busy making gifts suitable for Christmas.

Visiting Mrs. Erickson Sunday was her daughter Muriel, husband Bill and son Wayne, from Rocky Mountain House.

Thursday we had a most interesting service given by members of the Gospel Singing Church Mr Schmidt led the service, his message being from the book of Revelations 21 The Weiss family group played and sang for us which was most enjoyable. Thank you all.

Sorry to report that Mr. Stauffer has gone to the hospital in Edmonton to undergo an operation. Mr. Patterson and Mrs. Delany are still patients in the Tofield Hospital.

We had quite a few visitors last week from out of town. Marlene Epp, Jenifer, and Chris from Didsbury, Mrs. Carol Maxwell from Viking, Mac and Marg Anderson from Mundare, Don Bailey from Edmonton, Don and Phylis Fitzpatrick from Calgary and Nina Moen from Camrose.

Sunday evening, we had visitors from Viking, Mrs. Rugland, Mrs. Ohman, Mrs. Loveseth, and Mrs Sargeant. They came to attend the service in the Lutheran Church. Mrs. Sargeant stayed and visited with Mrs. Agnes Anderson, Mrs. Hjelter, and Mr. Harrison.

Several of the guests attended the Remembrance Day Services held at the Community Hall last Saturday.

Hockey Coaches Clinic - Level 1 and 2

Instructors Workshop

An instructors' workshop will be held on November 27, 9.00-4.00 at the Bruce School. This is a short course to assist lay instructors and those who would like to instruct in teaching methods, use of aids, adult students, audio-visual techniques, etc. No fee will be charged.

Everyone is welcome to attend. Please have the courtesy to call before hand and pre-register. Call Colleen at 663-3730 for further information and registration.

A noon lunch will be served at a nominal fee by the Bruce Senior Citizens.

Senior Citizens

"Dance All Night" is scheduled to go Wednesday, November 22 at the Tofield Community Hall. It's guaranteed to be a good evening for visiting, cards, and dancing. Come out and show the Edmonton guests some good ole' County of Beaver hospitality!

Lunch will be served by the Tofield Golden Club.

Now Is The Time To Say

Have you seen those posters around town asking for ideas on winter programs? They also state that now is the time to say NOW is the time to say. We have to have all program suggestions prior to November 30. Arrangements are then made for instructors and facilities. These details are then taken to the printer for the printing of the brochures, (approximately December 18-30). Distribution takes place the first of January to County of Beaver households.

Some ideas we have for winter programs are:

Tofield - Social dance; Badminton; Men's Basketball; Children's Crafts - Lindbrook; Ladies Keep Fit - Lindbrook.

Ryley - Ladies Volleyball; Badminton; Advanced Art.

Holden - Badminton; Men's Basketball.

Bruce - Badminton.

Viking - Ladies Keep Fit; Advanced Latin American Dance; Loom Weaving; Men's Basketball.

Kinsella - Men's Basketball; Badminton.

So, if you would like a course, please don't hesitate to call our office at 663-3730 and discuss your idea. Don't be one of those few that come to us in February and say, "Why can't we have a metal sculpture course this winter?" It really is exasperating!!

Men's Basketball

The men's basketball league has started and our basketball superstars of the County are out on demonstration. The following is a schedule of the men's basketball league:

November 21 - Holden at Tofield 8.30 p.m.

Nov. - 22 - Viking at Kinsella 8.00 p.m.

Nov. - 29 - Tofield at Viking 9.00 p.m.; Kinsella at Holden 7.30 p.m.

Christmas Card coming

by Grace Phillips

One of the signs of approaching Christmas 1978 will be the appearance of the annual Community Christmas Card.

This year, the 5'x8' Christmas card will appear this year in the window of Swift's Garage on Main Street.

Considering the convenience, not to mention the reduction of time and money necessary for mailing Christmas cards, it is expected that as usual, many residents of Tofield and district will have their names placed on the card as a symbol of their good wishes to their Tofield friends.

Those who wish to have their names on the card may, after November 27, leave a donation at either Swift's Garage or Everitt's Foodland. Proceeds from the card will benefit junior ball in Tofield - boys' baseball and girls' fast ball.

Recreation briefs are given at Ryley meeting

by Marlene Sinclair

The Ryley and district recreation board held their Five Year Master Plan meeting on Oct. 26, with acting chairman, Keith Walls.

Mr Walls distributed copies of the section of the Five Year Master Plan which concerned Ryley and the surrounding district, after which a brief open discussion took place.

A brief from the Ryley Sunshine Club was presented by Otels Hagen. They outlined their wishes for a lawn bowling green and expressed a need and desire for a grant of cash to be made available every year. Mr Kops informed Mr Hagen that plans, complete with costs, should be submitted to the Local Recreation Board for further consideration

Mrs Harriet Ruddy presented the Ryley Public Library's brief requesting that plans to construct a new facility to house the Public Library be considered for commencement in the fourth year of the revised plan Consideration has been given to building an addition on the east side of the Village Office building. It appears that there are no existing grants available to construct a new building.

Ernest Brown of the Royal Canadian Legion, stated that in view of the fact that his group was unaware of the existing debt still remaining on the swimming pool they wished to withdraw their planned brief, which would support further capital facilities being undertaken by other groups.

Mrs Harriet Brown speaking for the Royal Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary, stated they also would withdraw their planned brief for the same reason and that a draft of their new brief would be sent to the recreation board secretary.

Don Kondrat presented the Ryley Adventure Playground Committee brief which specified the planned additions for Stage 11. Monies for the labour and additional construction on the facility will be applied for as outlined.

A brief from the Ryley Ladies Fastball Club was received requesting washrooms, spectator facilities and assistance with the upkeep of the Ladies ball diamond

A Robert Cross represented the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society and informed the meeting that no capital facilities are being planned. There is still approximately $15,00 00 debt existing on the swimming pool

The Ryley Curling Club Brief, which had been presented to Mr Walls prior to the meeting was read. It contained a proposal to construct a Recreational Cultural Complex which would contain a curling rink and a large spectators area to be used for social functions, cultural affairs and meetings The estimated cost is $145,000.00.

The Ryley Junior Sports Club brief was presented by Mildred Rokos and concerned the baseball diamonds on the school grounds The ball diamonds on the west side will require upgrading as the four diamonds on the east side of the school grounds have been displaced by the Adventure Playground equipment.

Bernie Kops representing the Ryley Men's Fastball Club stated that there would be a need for a new fence and major up-grading in a few years time at the Men's ball diamond.

At this time, Mr. Brown suggested that there might be a possibility of obtaining some monies from the sale of Village lots for the purpose of installing water and sewer in the sports grounds The availability of sufficient funds would depend on the area to be serviced and the price received for the lots.

Mrs Harriet Ruddy then presented the brief from the Cavell Rebekah Lodge showing their support of the Curling Rink Complex plans, but only after existing debt on the swimming pool is cancelled

The Ryley Lions Club had George Baker presenting their brief, which supports the proposal of the Multi-Purpose structure that will house the Curling Rink, Cultural area, waiting room, washrooms and kitchen facilities

Mr Walls then thanked the members of the delegations for their briefs and contributions to the successful meeting. The Local Recreation Board will be meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 22nd to discuss various proposals of change to the Five Year Master Plan Any changes in the board will be discussed then

Tofield joins tourist group

The Town of Tofield has decided to get directly involved in attracting tourists to the area.

Jones was also named as the town's representative to the County of Beaver Recreation and Parks Board

Three read ..gs were given to a by-law authorizing the execution of an agreement with Alberta Environment with regards to the water assistance program.

Another by-law that was passed occurred when councillary gave three readings allowing adoption of the 1978 assessment roll for 1979 tax purposes.

Holden curlers set

The Holden Curling Club held their re-organizational meeting recently

Chairing new committees proved to be a difficult task due to the small attendance

The following are the committees for the 1978-79 season:

Men's chairman, Milt Malick; Ladies' Chairman, Leona Kostha, bonspiel draw committee, Les Lengner and Art Mickiich, committee for regular draws, Janet McLevin, Marilyn Ligard and Allison Lengner, men's prizes, Bill Dary, Norman Kostha and Harry Shyba, ladies' prizes, Rene Dary, Adelle Biery and Gina Hrabec; ladies' banquet, Marie Malick and Val Wakefield

All persons present at this meeting were in favor of mixed curling for the 1978-79 season. Therefore, there will be no separate men's and ladies' teams for regular curling

Men's and ladies' bonspiels will continue to be held as in the past.

It was also decided to do away with the traditional Farmer's Bonspiel, and in it's place, have an open mixed "Kick - Off" spiel, which is scheduled to get underway the week of December 4 - 10.

The meeting was in favor of retaining the policy whereby non - members must pay a fee and a half of all bonspiels except the mixed "Kick - Off" spiel.

Curlers are also asked to be reminded that a meeting is being planned for the begin ning of December where a decision will be made about the fate of the new rink.

Anyone wishing to curl may leave their names with any of the following people; Janet McLevin 662-3991; Marilyn Ligard 662-3939; or Allison Lengner 662-3984.

RCMP nabs thieves

RCMP in Tofield arrested two men last Thursday and discovered it was a busy event.

The two have been charged with break, enter and theft in connection with incidents in the Ryley, Alix and Camrose areas. To this point, police have recovered more than $5,000 worth of stolen goods and the duo will be appearing in court to respond to the charges.

Ed Penner of Tofield RR3 had his vehicle break down on Friday night, about eight miles south of Highway 14, on the Hastings Road.

When he returned to the scene Saturday morning, he discovered the window on the passenger side had been smashed and that tools, equipment and a rifle, valued at over $600 had been stolen. RCMP are investigating.

Steve Gara of Ryley reported the loss of his one-half ton truck while it had been parked on his property in addition, the thieves did considerable damage to a snowmobile which belonged to a friend of Mr. Gara's.

A break and enter at the Ryley Agway was discovered on Tuesday morning and RCMP are investigating. At the same time, police are looking into the theft of binoculars from a vehicle in the Tofield Hotel.

VANDALISM

Vandals visited the Holden Sports Ground and damaged the the ticket office and set a fire. Damages were estimated to be about $200

Kevin Stambaugh of Holden Esso reported damage to the door of a washroom while two windows were broken in the Tofield Gospel Church, and a front door window was broken at the home of Annie Hanley in Tofield

FOUND ITEMS

A Hereford bull was found school bus route west of Tofield, and after checks were made by Earl Jones, is suspected to belong to one of the farms south of Ryley.

Anyone wishing to curl may leave their names with any of the following people; Janet McLevin 662-3991; Marilyn Ligard 662-3939; or Allison Lengner 662-3984.

Ryley welcomes newcomers

by Marlene Sinclair

The Newcomers Banquet in Ryley, held last Thursday was a great success.

There were approximately 200 people in attendance who enjoyed the meal and fellowship.

Master of Ceremonies for the occasion was Councillor George Knudsilen. He gave the welcome address and stated that this was the third such event that had been held in Ryley, the first being in the spring of 1975, the second in the fall of 1976 and now this one.

The United Church Women have been instrumental in the organization of all three banquets. They have coordinated each one, while all organizations in the village shared in the preparation, planning and carrying out of each of these get-togethers.

The program was started with Ollie Manderson leading a sing song. She was joined by Ruth Munkedal and Janet Winnes, with Janette Johnson on the piano. They led everyone in a short singing session and then Mayor Ed Albrecht gave the welcome from the Village of Ryley.

Following this Councillor Knudsilen welcomed all newcomers on behalf of the County of Beaver, then Bob Rokos gave the Ryley Lions Club welcome followed by Walter Stenzel on behalf of the Ryley Royal Canadian Legion.

Mildred Stannard gave the Ryley Legion Ladies Auxiliary welcome, with Ollie Manderson speaking on behalf of all the churches and inviting everyone to worship at the church of their choice

Rea Wickstrom welcomed the newcomers on behalf of the Cavalle Rebekah Lodge, while Harriet Ruddy invited everyone to the Ryley Library. Murray Lyons gave the welcome from the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society and also gave each newcomer a free pass to the Ryley Swimming Pool as a welcoming gift from the Society.

The newcomers that were officially welcomed, although not all were present, are as follows: Rev. and Mrs. Garry Garr, Mr. and Mrs. G. Honest budget

Jean Chretien probably didn't score a lot of points with thousands of Canadians last week when he brought down his third federal budget, but he could hardly be charged with having delivered the type of budget to "buy" the next election.

In what may well be the last budget before the next federal election, Mr. Chretien might have been expected, like so many of his predecessors, to endeavor to build public support for the government with a "sweetheart" budget, to gain votes.

There's always the chance, of course, that he and the Prime Minister feel there is too much time left between now and the date of the election call, which would leave ample time for another budget in the spring to sweeten the voters. Certainly if Mr. Trudeau elects to run the full term, as all indications tend to suggest, there will be ample time, not to say need, for another budget. And it could be one based on observations of the effects, if any, this latest budget has been able to produce in a relatively short period of time.

Mr. Chretien's post is almost a suicide post within the government, one that leaves its holder exposed on all sides, with no visible means of support, even from his own party. Under such circumstances, it's not surprising that the "life" of the average minister of finance is relatively short, especially when they try, as Mr. Chretien seems to have done, to prepare effective budgets in the most responsible manner they can conceive.

With outsiders on every side taking pot shots at them, it's not at all surprising that once in a while one of the shots strikes the proverbial Archilles' Heel, proving that the minister of finance is only human, after all, that he's not a deity, and that he can and sometimes does make mistakes.

Who would you suggest who might do better?

Socreds alive

Probably many Albertans took keen interest in the show window annual meeting held by Social Credit last weekend in Edmonton, when the party seemed to indicate an entire resurgence of strength and interest.

After more than a quarter of a century of riding high in Alberta, often challenged but never vulnerable, Social Credit's fortunes started slipping about a decade ago, and just about hit bottom at the time of the last election. Their slide was made even easier by reason of two factors, one being the disarray of the party at the time, but this was heightened by the victory ride of the Tories following Peter Lougheed.

During these several months the party has been busy building up its strength and its credibility with the public again. And it is looking at the fact that more than a third of the constituencies now represented by Conservatives will be voting for entirely new candidates next time around. It's not unreasonable for Social Credit to look for gains in at least some of these, and even possibly in some of the seats still being contested by Tories.

There's not a ghost of a chance for change in the Camrose riding, at present, but not all seats are so sure. And next time around will probably see more than just a corporal's guard of Socred's in the House.

Report from your M.L.A.

by John S. Ballak

The Deputy Premier 'Ielivered the Assembly at the very big fire in the town of Olds where two grain elevators and a complete multipurpose recreational area burned. Dr. Horner advised that the Disaster Services are reviewing the damages and will advise of any necessary assistance Despite rumors that the fire was the aftermath of a Hallowe'en prank, the Deputy Premier indicated that there is no indication of this or arson. The Deputy Premier also in responding to an advisory line Emergency Services, along with the Department of Agriculture are reviewing the damages caused to many holes of hay along the Vermilion River near The Hamlet. Damage by the late September rains which caused flooding in the lower areas.

Several years ago heavy rains in early July ruined the crops to such an extent that many farmers were unable to cut their hay crops and because of that, approximately $25,000 was given to assist those farmers who were unable to make hay The Deputy Premier stated that this is somewhat different from the previous problem and the real problem is that the hay was baled earlier and had not been removed before the heavy rains came. Dr. Horner stated that as soon as the review is complete he will advise likewise.

The Minister of Agriculture advised that a brief was presented by the Veterinarians Association of Alberta, requesting a provincially co-ordinated veterinary services scheme. Since contributions would have to be made by the province, municipalities, and farmers, the Minister stated that before he would commit himself to such a program he would like input from the various farm organizations and the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties

Dr. Ivany, the Alberta Ombudsman visited the Legislature and was introduced to the Members of the Assembly. During this time a resolution was introduced and passed that Dr. Ivany be re-appointed for a further five year period as recommended by the Select Committee of the Legislature. Many fine words were said about the Ombudsman and I concur with the resolution.

I must say however that a couple of years ago the Ombudsman recommended that the Marriage Act be amended and that civil marriage take precedence over church marriages. Many people thought that it was the government that was creating this issue and complained to me as well as many other Members of the Legislature. Many of my colleagues and myself strongly opposed his recommendation and the result was that the Marriage Act was not altered.

The Minister of Agriculture advised that there would have to be some flexibility in the assistance program of ten cents per gallon for farmers using propane for grain drying. There is a proviso that only farmers who have had the availability of natural gas for grain drying will be eligible for this subsidy. There could be instances that people who have natural gas available but the necessity of moving the dryer from farm to farm deserves consideration. The Minister of Utilities and Telephones advised that the Federation of Gas Co-ops has assured the Minister of their co-operation.

Third reading of the Bills that were dealt with during the Fall Session were given. In my earlier column I mentioned "The Burial of the Dead Act". Last winter numerous dead bodies were stored in an ice arena for a considerable time due to a City of Calgary employees strike The Bill makes provisions that there would not be such a recurrence. Very regretably the New Democratic Member opposed the passage of this Bill and was the only opponent in the Assembly.

The Premier addressed the Assembly on the progress of The First Ministers Conference in Ottawa regarding the Constitution. He told of the importance of this meeting despite the many that may not realize the importance. The decisions that are made are going to decide what kind of Canada we will have in decades and generations to come. Alberta's biggest concern is ownership of its resources. Other provinces have other concerns. Despite some favorable and non-favorable concepts, it was agreed to meet again on February 5th and 6th, 1979.

As the Assembly adjourned, I have already many constituents, within the Constituency and outside, that will be beneficial to the area I represent. My commitments include attending part of the Annual Convention of the Alberta School Trustees and the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties, and the Annual Conference of the Agricultural Development Committees.

Several Associations have already reserved days to meet with the Cabinet to be able to present submissions to the government. I will be attending several of these, particularly those which may concern my constituency.

I do hope that many of my constituents have been reading my columns in this weekly newspaper during the Session and I express my sincere appreciation to the Editor of this paper for giving space willingly to re-

"You're right, Joyce. Jeffrey can throw the football farther than the other boys on the block."

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (BP) — At the risk of sounding pushy, I really think it is the right of the Canadian people to know exactly what the government has been fiddling with financially to make our dollar behave or such a willful creature somehow.

We've watched our currency nosedive like a belly-flopping amateur in the international market, displaying not much style and very little chance of recovery during the plunge The price of the food we must import during the off growing season, naturally, marches steadily upwards as the value of the dollar declines, and yet we've had little success in peddling Canadian-made goods abroad despite the cheaper rate of sale made possible by a debased currency.

I know I'm willing to bet we've got the cheapest food in the world, and I know Jack Horner keeps telling us that such a cheap dollar makes imports easier to sell, but I can't for the life of me figure out how Prime Minister Trudeau can jumble all the economic statistics together and then tell us we're the envy of the developed western world

Strikes me that the British pound, the U.S. dollar, the German mark, the French franc, the Swiss franc, the Belgian franc, the Japanese yen and the Danish kroner have all behaved in a much more respectable fashion than our dollar.

Mind you, it could be that their governments, unlike ours, have not been forced to the borrowing wall and then issued more than $4 billion in to the kitty defending a currency which continued its tumble anyway Their banks haven't been as much like country cousins when it comes to lashing out the dough to feed the speculators

Inflation" Yes, we've got plenty of that, too, marching right along with unemployment, but please, don't take that as poor-mouthing Canada, when you consider the government politicians who tell us it's a sin to criticize the nation. It's not the nation that's the target, really, it's the Liberal government, equated by many of those in power as being more important than the country.

We've spent ourselves into the highest deficit position per capita of any of the developed world and that's the reason our currency languishes so low on the value scales When I say we, I mean the federal government, which has been so lavish with tax dollars in the redesigning of Canadian money Might have something to do with attempts to purchase votes when needed, too.

Want to see things get better? Let's see what a general election will do Too bad we didn't have one of those sooner It might have made all that foreign borrowing of the Bank of Canada unnecessary.

Pool has full program

by Marlene Sinclair

The Ryley pool operated a full and varied program during 1978 at a cost of just over $40,000.

This figure was included in the financial statement given at the annual meeting of the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society held last Wednesday (November 15).

Those in attendance also heard year end reports from the pool supervisor, the society president, the fair committee and farm family winner.

Ron Tunks, pool supervisor, reported that a total of 11,282 people had utilized the pool for rentals, lessons and recreational swimming. The pool had taken in $32,486; the remainder of the operating budget was met through donations, swim-a-thon proceeds and lottery revenues.

In this year end report, president Murray Lyons noted the low figure for operating, crediting it to sound management and hard work on the part of many individuals and especially Ron Tunke as pool supervisor

Mr. Lyons thanked all concerned for their willingness to give of time and effort.

He also noted that a start had been made in school usage of the pool and hoped that this usage would expend in the future. In closing, he mentioned that the operation of the pool complex is a demanding job and voiced his hopes that the Ryley recreation board would become involved in its operation.

Discussion was then open to suggestions from the floor. The question of the Agricultural Society's role in the planned "Homecoming Weekend" was brought up. To date, no specific activity has been assigned to the society, but the society has a representative on the planning committee.

Discussion then centered on winter closure of the pool. The outgoing board of directors were generally in favor of a closure because of greatly reduced attendance and high operational costs during these months

Nominations were then opened for the election of five members of the board of directors

Elected for the three-year terms were Ann Ewert, Janet Wimmer, Inez Reil, Walter Weins and Walter Kwasnik.

An organizational meeting was called for Tuesday (November 21).

Old friends reunite

by Marlene Sinclair

Mary and Alvis Greenwald hosted a reunion of old friends from Battleford, Sask. on the Nov. 11th weekend.

They are a group that had all lived in Battleford at the same time, the men had gone to school together and this was the first time in seventeen years that they were all able to see each other.

The Greenwalds celebrated their 32nd anniversary on Nov. 12th and wanted to spend it visiting old friends, thus the reunion.

Those present were: Mr and Mrs. Charles Cave of Battleford; Mr and Mrs Fred Cave also of Battleford; Mr. and Mrs Frank Zerr of Live Long; Mr. and Mrs Maynard Edinger of Didsbury; Mr. and Mrs. Art Tetrault of Wetaskiwin; Phil Weber of Calgary; and Peter Greenwald of Edmonton.

They had a good time recalling old times. Mary said they laughted until they cried and it was so good to see everyone again.

To add to the Greenwald's joy, a granddaughter was born on Nov. 16. Their son George and daughter-in-law, Georgina (nee Graden) had their first child in the Tofield Hospital. She weighed 8 lbs., 13 ozs., and they named her Dawn Marie. Dawn's Maternal grandparents are George and Dixie Graden. Both mother and daughter are doing well.

Recreation Report

by Colleen Walker
Program Supervisor

I JUST DON'T HAVE TIME!

Ever heard that? The statement "I just don't have time" is a very familiar and sometimes over-used phrase. When I hear or use that phrase, I often wonder if I just don't want to do it or actually don't have the time.

During my attendance at college, I remember one of my recreation courses where we focussed on time management. Of course we had lots of lectures on the topic but the whole idea came together when we were asked to keep track of our time for an entire week. "What a stupid idea" we thought at first. "I have far just want to find out how many times a day we go to the bathroom or is he just snoopy?" Regardless, everyone went home and proceeded to dutifully record activities hourly.

Sound kind of boring and just plain silly? Well, I agreed at first but after a week of recording my time, I started to evaluate my doings. I could hardly believe that I spent 3-4 hours a day in front of the T.V. Sure half an hour at lunch, an hour before supper and a couple of T.V. shows in the evening, does add up to four hours. Sure, I need some leisure time, but four hours in front of the T.V. And what about that darned old phone? The phone is becoming a necessity in our modern homes, but conversation of 15-20 minutes, are they really good time management? Speaking of time management, where does plain old daydreaming fit in?

As you see, I soon became very critical of what I did and spent time to just evaluate time management.

I am not trying to say that everyone should quickly rush and get paper to keep track of their time, but I think everyone should think about how they spend their time and question whether it is well spent. Perhaps by being more conscious of time management, we might evaluate that old and misused phrase, "I just don't have time!" from our vocabulary.

Holden has exchange student from Japan

Totsu Tsukamoto is a foreign exchange student from Japan.

He is staying with the Schaeffer family while he attends Holden School for the 1978-79 school term. While here he hopes to learn about Canadian culture and to become more familiar with the English language.

Totsu arrived September 7th at the International Airport in Edmonton. Clay and June Schaeffer picked him up and brought him to Holden to begin his stay in Canada.

Mr. Furuzi, last year's principal, and his staff decided to begin an exchange student program for the 1978-79 school term. In order to participate in an exchange student program, the students have to pass an exam. In Totsu's case, the examination took one week and consisted of only two classes. The exchange student has to be 15-16 years old, in high school and have average grades.

The following family chose to take in an exchange student and they are receiving no financial assistance. They are finding the experience very rewarding. Totsu's family paid his air fare and personal expenses but, the host family provide room and board.

Sixteen year old Totsu has lived in Kadoiro City all his life. Kadoiro City, a suburb of Tokyo, has a population of 500,000 and is the only child in the family. His mother is a teacher of Japanese and his grandmother is a seamstress. In Japanese the name Totsu means "philosophy".

Here at Holden School, Totsu is taking grades nine and seven courses in Japan, he has completed one of three semesters of his grade eleven. When he returns to Japan, he will continue with his grade eleven. The courses he is taking are: Drafting, Chemistry, French, Social, Physics and Math.

Totsu says that the people here are kind and friendly. He also enjoys Canadian food. His hobbies include playing the piano, the organ, and the flute and listening to modern jazz and classical music.

Mrs. Jim Roddick

The fall turkey supper held on Saturday evening was once again a huge success. A lovely meal from turkey, [illegible] to your choice of pie or jello for dessert, was served by hostesses Margaret Patersen, Truus Vandermeer and Olivine and helpers.

Many of the men folks helped with the dish washing and turkey carving.

Holden street work is halted by weather

The street improvement program in Holden has been halted by the weather, village council was told at a recent meeting.

Councillor Lemko told councillors that all streets had been levelled satisfactorily, and there is still work to be done on the program when weather permits in the spring.

Council agreed to send a representative to an annual meeting of all councils and recreation boards, although they did not see any great need for such a meeting at this time.

Councillor Lemko was appointed to attend a meeting of county council and all towns and villages in the county, to review the landfill agreement, and to request a yearly cost estimate of operating the village nuisance grounds.

A request from the Holden Recreation Board for an additional $800 in funding was refused because provisions for this amount had not been included in the budget.

Authorization was given for an additional twelve outdoor strings of Christmas lights.

A letter from the Department of Municipal Affairs informed council that L. Johnson had been appointed as village assessor.

Accounts amounting to $8,720.90 were approved for payment and other routine business matters were handled.

Minutes of a regular meeting held on October 18th, and a special meeting on November 8th, were approved.

Information for this news story was obtained from the unapproved minutes of a regular meeting of village [illegible]

The Homemaker

We are constantly reminded to save energy in the home. The kitchen, we are told, is a major energy consumer using approximately 10 percent of the total energy in the home. Maria Nazarowec, food consultant, Food Advisory Division, Agriculture Canada completed a study to compare the amounts of electricity required for cooking using the electric range and several small electric appliances.

"The greatest energy user in the electric range," reports Nazarowec. "If used properly, however, it can be most efficient." Cooking inside the oven is generally better, energywise, since it has a locked in energy conserver. As soon as it reaches the required heat, it shuts off and cooks with stored heat. In contrast, the surface elements stay on at the particular setting and therefore should be turned down to the lowest practical level. The energy saving depends upon your proper usage of the oven. Cook several items at a time for a total oven meal. Avoid opening the oven door during cooking - every time you open the door it costs you 25 percent heat loss.

Nazarowec also studied the increasingly popular microwave oven. She reports, "generally speaking, when the load is small, a microwave oven uses less energy than a range or other small appliance."

The slow cooker, another popular appliance, cooked such foods as pot roasts most efficiently.

Agriculture Canada's Food Advisory Division therefore offers some suggestions on how to save energy in the kitchen.

— Use utensils that fit surface elements properly. Pots and pans with straight sides, flat bottoms and tightly-fitting lids make best use of heat.

— Make use of appliances as they are intended, i.e., the toaster, not the oven broiler, for toasting bread and the electric kettle, not the top stove element, for boiling water.

— Prepare large amounts of foods when using the oven and freeze the surplus.

— Turn off appliances when finished.

— Don't make a habit of standing in front of the refrigerator with the door wide open. Close it as quickly as possible

Tofield Lodge news

Mrs. Agnes Anderson

We had a most pleasant treat Thursday evening when the Tofield Mennonite Church Women's singing group, with 15 of them, came to visit us. I am unable to name them all individually as I am a stranger here, but practically each and everyone took an active part in the program which made the whole program so refreshing. Songs, readings, and hymns singing were much appreciated by an exceptionally large audience. Thank you and come again.

Again, our sincere thanks to the lady members of the Eastern Star for entertaining us with song and music also serving us a lovely lunch on the birthday month party on Tuesday afternoon.

Several ladies took advantage of the bus ride to Bonnie Doon Shopping Centre on Thursday. Mrs. Lawson, Mrs Thompson, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs Bailey, and Maggie Patterson all wish to thank the driver for taking us there and bringing us safely home. A special thanks to Myrtle Nerland for coming to the Lodge to inform us of this special treat

Out of town visitors to the Lodge this week, according to our guest book, were Marilyn Foshaug and Al Palik from Calgary, Alex Rochen and Ethel Rochen from Fairview, Peter Brown from Camrose

A number of guests travelled to Viking on Saturday to attend the annual bazaar and tea at Vialta Lodge. Those attending were John Bergman, Barbara Torres, Mrs Anderson, Mrs Stauffer and Mrs Heller.

We are happy to have back with us Mrs Dolany, Mrs Thompson, and Margaret Mc Clymont who have been patients in the hospital for a short spell Mr Patterson remains a patient there

Mrs Kortzman's son Richard came and took her for a drive on Sunday

Ryley and district news items

by Marlene Sinclair

The Bethel Lutheran Church will be having a special Advent Service at Ryley on Wednesday, Dec. 6th at 8 p.m. The same service will be held in Holden on Thursday, Dec. 7th at 7:30 p.m.

The United Church Women's turkey supper that was held last week was a huge success as it was the biggest crowd that has attended for some time. There will be a Christmas Eve church service on Sunday for the Holden, Ryley and Tofield congregations to be held in Tofield at 10 a.m

Last Sunday, a group of 70 people were present for services that were held in the Legion Hall in the evening. This church is an outreach of Somercroft Ministeries, a part of the Christians Women's Club. They have named their church the Good News Community Church and the people that make up the congregation are concerned about outreach in their community. They will soon have a full time pastor. Next week, the speaker will be Ed Love of Camrose

Some members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church got together last Sabbath and spent an enjoyable afternoon with two families of shut-ins, playing instruments and singing favorite hymns. It was decided to make this a regular part of Sabbath afternoons. This Sabbath Rev. Curtis Johnson will be the speaker. Bible study continues every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The Lions will meet tonight (Thursday) in the Community Hall, at 7 p.m.

The Cavelle Rebekah Lodge will be having a senior citizens' banquet on Dec 6th in the Community Hall at 8:30 p.m. Invitations will be sent to every senior citizen and spouses in town. Everyone over 65 is welcome

The senior citizens are having a bazaar tea and bake sale on Saturday, Dec 2nd in the Senior Citizens Sunshine Club Drop-In Centre from 2 to 5 p.m. Many beautiful Christmas gifts will be available

Last Wednesday evening, there was a nature film shown on Eastern Canada and British Columbia. These films will be shown every two weeks but, the dates for the showing will have to be set when the films arrive.

The Sea Cadets went to Edmonton last weekend and stayed in the Griesbach Barracks. They were given a tour of Namao and saw the radar tower, an army museum and films on survival. They went swimming, rollerskating, and enjoyed a special show at the Planetarium. Around thirty cadets were involved in this trip.

The Senior High volleyball teams played in zone playoffs last week, but both teams lost. The Senior High Girls played at Roseland and the Senior High Boys played in Camrose. These games finished off their season. The Senior High basketball teams are starting their zone school basketball games this week. This should help them get ready for the Homecoming game that is to be held on Dec 2nd in the school. This Homecoming is a yearly event and starts at 7 p.m. The basketball game will continue until 10 p.m., and then a short dance will follow. Last Friday, the staff men played the Senior High Boys volleyball team and the teachers lost both games, but it wasn't from lack of support, as all the female staff members rounded up some old cheerleading costumes and dressed them to help them get in the spirit for rooting the men. Marlene Pedersen stated that they may have looked funny but they made lots of noise.

For Young Alberta Book Week, the elementary grades are having a contest to see who can make the best book jacket and bookmarks. They are also practising and getting ready for the upcoming Christmas concert. This week the Public Health Nurse will be giving inoculations.

The Ryley Brownies are pleased that the Lions Club have announced that they will give the Brownies the hall for the rental fee of $60.00 per month and that the Ryley Legion will also help. The Brownies are meeting with all clubs in Ryley this week and they should have some definite information regarding a home for themselves by next week.

The Ryley Caloric Counters are having a bake sale at Woods Hardware on Thursday, Nov. 30th from 2 to 4 p.m. to raise money for the Ryley Brownies.

Gunner Cahoud is in the University Hospital for a minor operation, and should be home soon.

Ryley Homecoming is set for July 20, 21 and 22nd, 1979. The next meeting of the Homecoming Committee will be held in the Legion Hall on Monday, Dec. 11 at 8 p.m

Mediation is sought

Mediation is being sought to attempt to reach a settlement with teachers in the Elk Island School Authorities [illegible] included in the area in question are Flagstaff, Beaver, Wainwright, Vermilion, Devon, Redwater, Lamont, Minburn and Provost

Teachers employed throughout the districts involved have rejected a conciliation board award of 7.5 percent for a 1978 contract. The vote was sixty-eight percent in favouring of rejecting the award

Representatives of the teachers will now request that the Board of Industrial Relations appoint a mediator to deal with the dispute.

Should mediation not prove successful, the teachers will likely ask for a supervised strike vote.

Shocked surprise

Shock and surprise were voiced by Alberta Teachers Association President Mac Kryzanowski when he received the binding award of the arbitrator appointed in the teacher salary dispute with the Edmonton public school board.

Mr. Kryzanowski lashed out at the arbitrator for being out of touch with reality, since he is not connected with education, then at the provincial government, since, he claimed, the statement by the Minister of Education, only two days after the strike commenced, for all practical purposes told the School Board no further meaningful negotiations needed to be conducted.

But let's have a look. Who's out of touch, the arbitrator, or the ATA? The arbitrator was George B. McClellan, retired after several years as Alberta's first ombudsman, and prior to that for some years Commissioner of the RCMP, its senior man in Canada. He may be no educator, but it is not unlikely that he's fairly well in touch with other aspects of life in Alberta, and how the average Albertan feels.

And he's obviously more in touch with the seriousness of submitting a dispute to arbitration. Like many union members, Mr. Kryszkowski seems to have felt that only good could come from moving the dispute up through the levels of negotiation, conciliation, and so on, to arbitration, on the presumption that nothing could be lost, and there was every chance of gain.

He was outraged, however, when Mr. McClellan took the whole contract into his overview, made minor adjustments in salary increases for both 1978 and 1979 and then swept away seven items already won by the teachers in a memorandum of intent between board and teachers away back in May of 1977.

While it was not expressed, the whole meaning behind Mr. McClellan's award seems to be a feeling that the teachers had already been overgreedy, and that they were reaching for too much control and interference in school administration.

The award makes things difficult for the ATA, because it will certainly have some bearing on the color of future bargaining procedures, both by teachers and also by trustees.

It's only a few years ago that the teachers' association was riding high, with what seemed at the time rapid advances in salary, to the point they were far outpacing teachers in many other areas. Suddenly, however, the trades unions exploited Alberta's rapid development, and now command salary levels which make the teachers look like pikers, especially when training is taken into account.

Beyond that, the rapid decline in numbers of students has put pressure on the association to strive to retain numbers of jobs (and members) through smaller classes, shorter teaching hours, and other means, which so far have not gained popular support.

It would seem Mr. McClellan's binding award will stand as a landmark for some time.

HELP A LEPER
Calion Leper Colony
Calion, Palawan 3913
Philippine Islands

Dear Christian friend:

This is a lonely voice of a young girl of 15 coming from a very remote of exile and banishment the lonely island of Calion Leper Colony who is secretly wishing you and your loved ones the best of health upon your receipt of this letter.

Knowing about my father is a leper patient and so is my mother They segregated more than 20 years already in this island Leper Colony which is so remote from the bustle of a happy life and now my poor father is already an invalid. He has clawed hands and fingers, already paralyzed feets, defective lungs and eyesight! My mother has many deformities too. I have two young sisters and three young brothers, we are all ill-fed and ill, clad due to our utter poverty.

Oftentimes in our sleep at night we are awakened by the nawing hunger in our stomach! Each night we just lay down and crawl on our tattered mats inside scarcely walled dilapidated but so much exposed in cold with our badly torn clothes and due to lack of blankets.

I therefore take this opportunity humbly and respectfully appeal to and beseech you with all my heart and soul to compassionately make our sad life a white one by extending for us some help from you for our Lord said "verily I say unto you in as much as you have done it unto one of the least of these my brethern you have done it unto me."
Matt 25 41

Hoping and praying that you understand our sad plight with love and compassion and your kind heart and guiding hands could afford to extend to us to alleviate our miserable condition for our dear Lord also said "For whoever shall give a cup of water to drink in my name because you belong to Christ verily I say unto you be

May our almighty and merciful God bless you all

Your ever pleading friend in Christ far from Philippines.

Snowmobiles
in Kananaskis

Dear Sir

I recently attended the Alberta Snowmobile Association's Annual Congress in Red Deer on November 4, 1978. I had the opportunity to express the policy of the Government of Alberta relative to use of all-terrain vehicles, (including specifically snowmobiles) in the Provincial Parks system. In addition to that I attempted to indicate past, present and future plans for KANANASKI COUNTRY.

Media reports following the Congress have been confusing to say the least, and grossly inaccurate.

This letter will attempt to clear up the confusion.

1. Alberta Provincial Parks

No Snowmobiling has been, Nor will be allowed in Provincial Parks (including Kananaskis Provincial Park located in Kananaskis Country)

2. I then covered the progress of construction in the McLean Creek and Sibbald Flats areas of Kananaskis Country where snowmobiling is Permitted. I also pointed out that efforts were underway to join McLean Creek snowmobile area with the Calaract Creek snowmobile area located just south of Kananaskis Country. This future connection, if feasible would provide a "long trip" connection that has been requested by the snowmobilers through their association.

The confusion, Sir, appears to be caused to some degree by the fact that Kananaskis Country does have two areas, specifically designated for snowmobiles in McLean Creek and Sibbald Flats and additional areas including the designated connecting trails. In ALL other areas in Kananaskis Country including Kananaskis, Bow Valley and Bragg Creek Provincial Parks snowmobiling is NOT permitted.

In conclusion, the additional development of Waiperous Creek and Calaract Creek snowmobile areas are under construction to supplement and compliment the two designated areas in Kananaskis Country. The Honorable Dallas Schmidt also pointed out the areas for future trail development in the Eastern Slopes that could offer up to 2000 additional miles for use by snowmobiles.

Sincerely,
J. Allen "Boomer" Adair

Canadian comment

OTTAWA (SF) — As Canada nears the end of the long, hard winter, the most pressing issue facing politicians on Parliament Hill is not the renewed energy of inflation and unemployment; it has to do with the leadership of the Liberal Party.

Efforts of the government to correct the performance of the economic statistics which hammer the daily lie of many Canadians appear motivated more by concern over political survival than by desire to effect real improvement, and frankly, it's in the interests of the opposition of the economy stays bleak until after the coming federal election.

Those by-elections in mid-October really shook the Liberals. They still think they can win with John Turner as leader; despite some opposition statements about the regime of Turner as finance minister being largely responsible for today's mess. The question is will Pierre Elliot Trudeau be the first Canadian prime minister to resign as head of the government under pressure from his party?

The answer, if you assess Trudeau's character, has to be a resounding no. Resignation by the PM would amount to a public admission by him that he fears Joe Clark in the coming election, and that's hardly within Trudeau's capability. Besides, the Liberals have had several recent demonstrations of Mr. Trudeau's prowess as a street fighter politician. He's good, maybe the best Canada has ever seen. He may delight in polarizing issues and behave like a gun fighter with personal attacks, but he sure attracts attention. He may not leave the audiences convinced, but he sure wins debates in the Jesuitical style.

If the PM and his advisers run true to style, we're going to see a mammoth selling program aimed at convincing Canadians the government policies have been right. Every time the Trudeau Liberals have been in trouble the reaction has been the same - it's not the policies which were wrong, they just haven't been sold strongly enough.

Remember, too, that Mr. Trudeau's advisers are not likely to suggest he leave, when his departure would mean regaining all the advisors. There may be much more difficulty for the Liberals in collecting campaign funds these days, and in convincing attractive potential candidates to run on the Liberal ticket, but that doesn't mean the PM will quit.

The only man I can think of who might be able to sell Trudeau on stepping down is Marc Lalonde, and he's still a Trudeau loyalist.

Square dancers meet

On Nov. 12, square dancers gathered at Bruce and had a very enjoyable evening dancing to the calling of Murray Few of Edmonton.

He taught some new square dance calls and those dances.

There was a fair sized crowd and everyone had a wonderful time. Next Monday night, the caller is to be Allan Zerbrinkis.

On Nov. 18 club members and several friends gathered in Ryley and paid a surprise visit to John Thomasen's house, who is treasurer of the square dance club. He had built a beautiful new home and recently moved into it, so members decided to have a house warming party for him. There were between 35 or 40 people in attendance.

Allan Zerbrinkis who is generous with his time and talents brought his records and calls and members initiated John's new basement, and square danced until lunchtime

Brian Westmancoat presented John with a living room clock from the members.

NORAD plans night 'raids'

Four North American Air Defence (NORAD) command western regions will test their warning and defence systems along the Canada - U.S. coastlines and western borders in a night time exercise starting about 9:30 p.m. Dec. 5 through to the early morning of Dec. 6.

The western border areas will include the provinces of B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario to the western shores of the Great Lakes.

About 7,500 NORAD personnel, including those stationed at Penhold, Cold Lake and Beaverlodge, will participate in the exercise called Amalgam Chief. These radar stations will report electronically to the 26th NORAD Region headquarters at Malmstrom Air Force Base, Great Falls, Montana on incoming "enemy" aircraft.

Also participating in the exercise will be two U.S. Air Force E-3A Sentry aircraft called AWACS (airborne weapon and control system). The Sentry's radar system can detect and track both high and low flying aircraft over a long range since it has a "see down" capability in tracking incoming "enemy" aircraft.

CLBI Homecoming weekend a success

The annual CLBI Homecoming Weekend, also called Family Reunion, was held Oct. 27-29. The reunion is traditionally held on the last weekend of October, including Reformation Sunday.

Speaker for the various sessions was Pastor Daniel Berg of Brooks, who had his entire family in attendance, including his daughter Joy, who is a student at LCBI at Outlook, Sask. The theme of his presentations was "Committed to Christ", based on Ephesians 4:15-16.

Specially honored classes at this year's Homecoming were those who attended CLBI in 1937-38, 47-48, 57-58, 67-68 and 72-73.

Devin Pfahl of Ponoka, a teacher in the school system there, and a graduate of the school of three years ago, was re-elected to the position of Alumni Chairman. The other members elected to the executive committee are Norman Dyck of Edmonton, vice chairman; Jean McClure (CLBI librarian, secretary) and Kelvin Schindel of Camrose, treasurer. They have already begun plans for next year's Homecoming, and announced that the honored class years will be 1933-34, 38-39, 48-49, 58-59, 68-69, and 73-74.

250 buffalo for sale

A herd of live buffalo from Elk Island National Park will be offered for sale for ranching purposes by Parks Canada in mid-December.

Superintendent Fred Bamber said the park's 600 head of plains bison has to be reduced because the herd has exceeded its grazing capacity.

125 buffalo will be offered for sale in blocks of 13, 13 and 25 and another 50 head will go Alexander reserve where Indians have already established a bison ranch.

An upset price of $250 an animal has been established for yearlings and $300 for older animals. Parks Canada will receive sealed tenders up until December 14 at its office in Calgary, Winnipeg and Hull, Quebec. Part of the park's herd was last offered for sale five years ago.

The grass-fattened buffalo, ranging in weight from 900-1,000 pounds are being offered to Canadian farms or residents interested in ranching.

Progressive Farming

Did you know that the air in the average home in Alberta is too dry to please most plants? Except for cacti and succulents, plants require a fairly moist environment to function at their peak.

Humidity levels of 40 to 60 percent are ideal for human comfort and health, but tropical foliage plant experiments have shown that plants are at their best when the relative humidity is close to 70 per cent. However, certain plants such as cacti, sansevieria, the bromeliads, philodendrons and schefflera will survive in a relative humidity that is as low as 30 per cent.

When plants do not have enough moisture in the air, their leaves are dull and have brown tips. These plants usually grow slowly. Hot, dry air also provides a perfect environment for red spider mites, thrips, and scale insects.

Alberta Agriculture's horticultural specialist, Chris Campbell, suggests the following alternatives for increasing the humidity around your plants.

Use a large home humidifier and adjust it to provide a humidity that will suit your plants.

Cover the bottom of a shallow tray with gravel or pebbles and fill it with water. Then put your plant pots on the gravel, making sure that they do not touch the water.

Spray your plants regularly with a fine mist of water. You can get a special mister from a garden center or you can use a squirt bottle like those used to disperse window cleaners.

Place your plants close together. This is a simple way of raising the humidity around them. Each plant will benefit from the moisture given off by the others.

Put your plants in a laundry room, bathroom or on a shelf near the kitchen sink. These areas all have a high level of humidity.

Use a terrarium or bottle garden, both of which provide a moist environment.

VENTILATION

Plants also need ventilation to be healthy. A small fan is an inexpensive way of providing ventilation for a large collection of plants. The amount of ventilation required by each plant species is often stated in plant catalogues.

Ventilation can also be provided by opening a window, but make sure your plant or plants will not be in a draft. Most house plants will wilt or shed their leaves if they are exposed to cold air or a draft. This is the reason that plants near doorways and in passageways often become ragged looking. Only hardy types such as sansevieria, schefflera and the bromeliads should be used in these locations.

TEMPERATURE

Because temperature requirements vary greatly from one plant species to another, it is a good idea to inquire about the preferences of the various species before buying one. However, you will find that you can grow plants that do not have the exact same temperature requirements because the temperature will be different in different areas of your home. If you want to rearrange your plants you must take these temperature variations into account. A plant may suffer a setback simply because it is moved to a different temperature zone.

In general, most house plants are satisfied with a room temperature of between 18 degree C and 21 degree C in the daytime and a night temperature of about 5 degree C lower. A temperature drop at night gives plants a chance to conserve food produced during the day by slowing down their respiration rate.

If your plant should catch a slight chill from being too close to a window, etc., sprinkle it with cool water and cut it back to a healthy bud. Then put it in a cool location (about 10 degree C) until it develops new strong growth.

From one good energy manager... ...to another!

You may think of an energy manager as a power plant engineer. You're right. But energy management is important in your home too!

Why? For one thing, we have to use Alberta's non-renewable resources to generate your electricity. For another, the costs of building and operating additional facilities are escalating.

The more you do to manage energy at home, the more you can save on your electricity bill now. And the more you'll help keep future cost increases to a manageable level.

There are many ways to manage electricity yet still enjoy a good lifestyle.

Most are little ways.

- Turning off lights when not needed does save electricity.
- Generally, small appliances use less electricity than larger ones, so for small amounts of cooking, use your frypan as a "mini-oven."
- Wash only full loads in your dishwasher.
- Plan your energy day to avoid using major appliances during the 5-7 p.m. "peak load" period.

Conserve—it's worth the energy!

Confronting your faith

With Pastor Curtis Johnson of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, Ryley

"I am the vine, you are the branches; he that abideth in me, and I in Him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without me you can do nothing." John 15:5

Many have the idea that they must do some part of the work of salvation alone. They have trusted in Christ for forgiveness of sin, but now they seek by their own efforts to live aright. But every such effort must fail. Jesus says, "Without me you can do nothing." Our growth in grace, our joy, our usefulness, all depend upon our union with Christ. It is by communion with Him, daily, hourly by abiding in Him, that we grow in grace. He is not only the author but the finisher of our faith. It is Christ first and last and always. He is to be with us, not only at the beginning and the end of our course, but at every step of the way. David says, "I have set the Lord always before me; because He is at my right hand, I shall not be moved" Ps. 16:8

Do you ask, "How do I abide in Christ?" In the same way as you received Him at first, by faith. "As you have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk you in Him" Co 2:6 You gave yourself to God, to be His completely, to serve and obey Him, and you took Christ as your Saviour. You could not yourself atone for your sins or change your heart, but having given yourself to God, you BELIEVED that He for Christ's sake did all this for you. By faith (believing) you become Christ's, and by faith (believing) you are to grow up in Him, by giving and taking. You are to give all your heart, your will, your service to Him, to obey all His requirements, and you must take all of Christ, the fullness of all the blessing, to abide in your heart, to be your strength, your righteousness.

Your weakness is united with His strength; your ignorance to His wisdom; your frailty to His enduring might. So you are not to look to self, not to let the mind dwell upon self, but look to Christ, let the mind dwell upon His love, upon the beauty, the perfection of His character, Christ in His purity and holiness, Christ in His self-denial, Christ in His humiliation. Christ in His matchless love - this is the subject for the soul's contemplation. It is by loving Him, copying Him, depending wholly upon Him, that you are to be transformed into His likeness.

"Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it does not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when He shall appear, we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is". John 3:2

Progressive Farming

A little tax planning between now and the end of 1978 could save you many tax dollars and leave you more money for family living or farm investment.

Tax planning or management necessitates assessing the needs of the entire farming operation. Unfortunately, many of us think that tax management merely means filling out our income tax return before April 30 or getting the final line on the tax form to read zero. However, the important thing to remember from the point of view of tax management is to maximize income after tax; not to minimize tax obligations.

If your only objective is to reduce your tax dollars, you will end up reducing your income and/or assets as well. For example, if you spend $2,000 to purchase unnecessary farm supplies to save $500 in taxes, you will have used up $2,500 that could have been generating more income or could have been used to improve your farm operation. It is possible to direct a farming operation to your advantage by both personal and business goals by looking at the after-tax financial effects of production, marketing and tax strategy alternatives.

If your objective is to maximize your after-tax income, you should know before December 31 what your potential tax liability is going to be so that you can take the appropriate action. You will need to know the amount of income already generated from your business as well as your farm expenses. This should give you total income and expenses to date. If your farm records are in good shape, this should be easy. If your records have been neglected, it may be the most difficult part of tax planning. Remember, a good set of farm records is very important, not only for tax purposes but for helping you assess your operation's strong and weak areas, and for obtaining credit.

If your objective is to minimize your tax payable within the provisions of the income tax laws, you should be aware of the general provisions of the Income Tax Act and the strategies available for tax planning. If you do not have a specific course of action in mind, or if problems arise, you should acquire the information you need regarding tax implications from a tax advisor and/or Revenue Canada.

When determing your potential taxable income and the tax strategies that would be useful for your operation, you should follow these steps:

1) Determine which method of reporting your income for tax purposes you are using. Revenue Canada allows farmers to report their income by the cash method or by the accrual method. Most farmers report their taxable income by the cash method because it allows them greater flexibility in adjusting taxable income levels. With this method, income is reported when it is received and expenses are reported when they are paid.

With the accrual method, income is reported when it is earned and expenses are reported when they are incurred.

2) Ensure that your calculated potential taxable income is correct. Double check your calculations to be sure that:

i) only interest has been deducted as a cash expense on loan payments. Payments on principle are not deductible.

ii) government subsidies on rebates that were received are reported as capital assets.

iii) all expense items are included.

3) The business portion of expenses is included. Remember that a quarter of house maintenance and utility expenses and up to two-thirds of car expenses can usually be deducted as business costs.

The Financial Management Package available from district agriculturists contains a worksheet which is designed to help farmers calculate projected farm income and expenses for income tax planning.

Once you have determined what your projected taxable income is likely to be, the areas) to reduce your 1978 tax payable.

vi) You could increase your charitable donations or political contributions within the regulated limits to reduce your personal income.

The following strategies can be used to increase net and taxable income if you want to claim previous business losses or to ensure that you used your personal exemptions:

i) purchase farm supplies on supplier credit

ii) sell livestock or feeds before the year-end

iii) sell grain inventories

iv) use the livestock inventory adjustment provision. Farmers who have livestock, and who file their income on the cash basis, can add to their year's income any amount up to the fair market value of livestock (except the basic herd) on hand at the end of the taxation year. However, the value added to this year's income must be deducted as an expense next year.

Other strategies such as the purchase of a registered retirement savings plan or registered home owner's savings plan can be used to reduce taxable income in the long run. However, they require planning ahead. Still another strategy is five-year block averaging, which can be used to level out earnings over a period of five years and reduce the total tax burden.

In looking at tax management, you should assess the needs of the entire farming operation. It is important to keep in mind that what is advantageous for someone else may not necessarily be good for your situation. Keeping good records can tell you what your specific situation is and can be used to reveal which tax alternatives are best for guiding your farm business towards economic and personal goals.

Recreation Report

by Colleen Walker
Program Supervisor

This week I received a phone call from a lady with some comments that I really appreciated hearing. She mentioned that perhaps I am a little too brief in describing the courses in my column. Sometimes I am too brief, I guess I expect you to read my mind. The point is, I appreciate hearing from you be it either critism or approval.

I encourage everyone to write, call in, or phone our office with suggestions. Hopefully, you'll find me easy to talk with and I can objectively take comments. So, take the time to talk with us, we do appreciate it.

NEW SECRETARY

This last month our Regional Recreation Board regretfully accepted the resignation of our secretary Mrs. Maureen McKernan from our department. Maureen has been with us over a year and we are sure sorry to see her leaving. We'll miss her cheery personality and her pleasing outlook on everything.

Maureen will be moving to Edmonton. Best of luck Maureen in your job, may the next office appreciate you as much as we have.

Mrs. Aileen Quiring of Tofield has been hired as the new Beaver Regional Recreation and Parks Secretary.

[illegible]

There will be a meeting of the drama club on Tuesday at 8:00 p.m. in the Holden Theatre. Business of this meeting will be to discuss and select a play to be presented this spring.

SENIOR CITIZENS "DANCE [illegible]"

The "Dance All Night" for senior citizens was held last Wednesday at the Tofield Community Hall. 100 guests from the Edmonton Lions Club Seniors joined with 150 residents of the County of Beaver to enjoy an evening of cards, slides and dancing.

Two buses from Edmonton travelled out. Three bus loads from the County of Beaver arrived shortly after. Slides of the South Seas were presented by Jack Lowe of Tofield. At the same time music was proved by the Jim Davis band of Vegreville. I was pleased to see everyone mixing well through bingo and square dances. We got out the cards after the slides. I understand everything from poker to bridge was played that [illegible].

The Tofield Golden Age Club provided a beautiful lunch at 10.00 p.m. The lunch wasn't simply a donut and coffee deal, but the club provided one of those old time lunches consisting of sandwiches, cakes, cookies, coffee and tea.

I would like to thank the Tofield Golden Age Club for their help in making the evening such a success. Thanks also to our bus drivers: Jim Ingram of Tofield, Doug Woods of Ryley and Tom Harray of Viking. I hope everyone had the good time I had!!

P.S. I have an assortment of shoes and coats leftover from the evening. Anyone missing anything?

Mazankowski says

Budget overlooked agriculture

The Minister of Finance brought down a new budget in the House of Commons last week. It was his second budget in only six months, reflecting widespread concern over the stagnating Canadian [illegible].

The major announcement, to try and stimulate growth, was a reduction in the federal manufacturers sales tax from 12 percent to 9 percent. This [illegible] Canadians because it is applied at the manufacturers or wholesale level. The government expressed hope that the 3 percent reduction would be passed on to the consumer, but because the reduction will not apply to existing inventories either the retailer or the consumer will end up absorbing [illegible].

For individual taxpayers, the main change was the doubling of the employment [illegible] deduction for the 1979 taxation year from $250 to [illegible].

The investment tax credit for new investment in expansion and modernization of [illegible] indefinitely from its previous 1980 deadline. The tax credit [illegible] percent to 7 percent for most of Alberta and to 10 percent in the northern part of the pro[illegible].

Other measures include an increase in the airport tax paid on tickets for all flights within Canada and to the U.S. to level of 15 percent with a $15 [illegible] the special 10 percent excise tax on marine engines and private aircraft and 5 percent on motorcycles.

The net effect of these measures has caused the government to revise its estimate of this year's deficit to a record $12.1 billion. For 1979-80 the government will spend $52.6 billion. That is a billion dollars a week. They will take in $38.1 billion in revenue, which is about ¾ of a billion dollars a week. In effect, then, the government's spending will be putting Canada and Canadians $250 million further into debt each and every week. Clearly, we can not continue going deeper and deeper into debt without destroying our basic economic structures and our future.

One of the most outstanding features in the budget was not what it contained but what it omitted. One of the most important sectors of our economy, agriculture, was totally ignored in the budget. In fact, it seems that the only time this government pays any attention to the agricultural sector is when it comes time to make cuts in government spending. The government rediscovers the farmers of Canada only when [illegible] brunt of restraint so that wasteful government and huge bureaucracies can continue relatively untouched.

Final rites are held for Harold O. Olson

[illegible] gorgeous rugs and has been since 1908.

This was when her family obtained their first loom for the large sum of $5.00. The loom is now about 100 years old and considered an antique. It is a Deen Steel Automatic Flying Shuttle and watching her operate it, you can see it has an apt name.

[illegible] raised in Iowa and took care of her parents until their death. She was then weaving rugs in her spare time.

Twenty years ago she [illegible] Stutzman and she moved to the Kingman area from her brother's in Gorben, Indiana. They lived on the farm in the Kingman area until ten years ago when they retired and moved into a house in Tofield.

When the new lodge in Tofield opened a year ago, they moved in and are enjoying it.

When Mrs. Stutzman first arrived here, she and her husband did custom rug weaving but found that it was harder because the rags they used were not prepared the way they needed to be thus they decided to do all the work themselves and sell the finished product. Their rugs are widely known among the Mennonite population and are very popular.

I am sure when their clients hear that they have recently sold the loom, they will be saddened. David Donaldson, a Mennonite in the Beaverlodge area has bought it and plans on using it.

When asked why they decided to give up the loom, they said "Papa is 92 and Mama is 80, and they decided it was time to retire."

Mr. Stutzman is the oldest resident living in the Tofield Lodge. He was born in Milford, Nebraska and came to Alberta in 1911.

He and his first wife had their first two children in Nebraska and their other three were born here. He farmed in the Kingman area from the time he arrived in Alberta until he retired from farming. The Stutzmans belong to the Salem Mennonite Church and are active mem[illegible]

The Stutzmans' rugs are well designed and made, and are very reasonable. They have obtained most of their material from a niece that is on staff at the Prairie Bible Institute.

Whenever the institute had a rummage sale the Stutzmans were the recipients of all the leftover goods. They would divide the material into cottons, wools and synthetics and then prepare it for weaving by cutting it into even widths and sewing these strips together.

At this point, Mrs. Stutzman started operating the loom, and would produce a rug a day. The rugs are very color[illegible]

Although rug making has taken a large part of Mrs. Stutzman's time, that is not her only talent. She makes and designs beautiful quilts as well. She is very busy at the lodge helping with the quilting [illegible]

The Stutzmans' rugs are almost a thing of the past in Tofield, but, if you are interested in looking at or buying one, the Hearthstone in Tofield still has a few left.

Clinics maintain health

by Marlene Sinclair

The Well Child and Adult Immunization Clinic is a regular part of health services provided for us that we often take for granted. That is until a crisis arises, like the polio scare we encountered last summer. Then a large amount of people want to be immunized and the work done is then appreciated.

We were told that there was a shortage of polio vaccine & for anyone who lived through the polio epidemic of the 1950's a tinge of fear hit their hearts.

After consulting with nurse Sylvia Perin of the Vegreville Health Unit Holden Sub Office, at a clinic she held in Ryley recently I felt relieved.

I was told that the immunization program in this area, is going on in the usual way. That there was some speculation as to whether the grade nine pupils of the county would be receiving their booster shots this year, but that has been resolved and immunization will proceed as usual. There definitely has been a run on the vaccine, but up until this point, they have been able to handle it.

The immunization program at present starts babies at three months with Diphtheria, Whooping Cough, Polio, Tetanus and Red Measles (only once).

This program continues with boosters given until the child is about a year old. They then receive other boosters at three years and before going to school.

In grade six, girls are given Rubella shots and then all children are given boosters of Diphtheria, Tetanus and Polio in grade nine. Whooping Cough vaccine is not given to anyone over six years of age.

After this, all adults should receive a booster every ten years. The whole immunization program is now in the process of reassessment, with the thought that there will be a longer period between boosters.

The clinic is not only an immunization clinic however, it provides physical assessments of children as well as developmental assessments. The nurses also give counselling on nutrition and family planning or whatever is needed. They also refer patients to a gamut of agencies when required.

There are two nurses that work out of the Holden Sub-Office. The first being Sylvia Perin who comes to us from Edmonton and has only been with this health unit since April. She has a Bachelor of Science in Nursing received from the University of Alberta. Before working here, she was employed by the City of Edmonton Board of Health. Her area is Holden West which takes in Ryley and Tofield.

Her co-worker is Janet McLevin. Janet hails from the Athabasca area and also received her Bachelor of Science at the U of A. In addition, she also received nursing training at the University Hospital. Janet has been in this area a little over a year. Before arriving here she worked in the Lac La Biche area for five years. She looks after Holden East which includes Holden and Viking.

The Clinic days are as follows: Ryley every 3rd Tuesday of the month, Tofield the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Thursday of the month, Holden the 2nd Friday of the month, and Viking the 2nd and 4th Tuesday of the month.

The clinic hours are from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. Please make an appointment by phoning Holden 688-3853 collect. There will be someone there to answer the phone every weekday from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Hastings Lake

L. Fenna

At the Community Association general meeting last week, plans were discussed for the Christmas concert, which will be held on Dec. 22 under the direction of Joan Dunham.

Aspiring singers, actors and instrumentalists are urged to come forward from behind their personal bushels and declare themselves to either Joan at 662-2414 or Sharon Frederickson at 662-2181.

The upcoming crosscountry ski school was also discussed, and is to be held in January and will involve a Thursday evening, a Saturday and Sunday, all for a very few dollars. Children are welcome, and equipment will be available to rent if you register ahead. Further enquiries may be directed to Paul Addison at 662-2104, or Howard Gates at 662-2517.

At the whist drive on Friday, the previous evening's tables were turned, to coin a phrase, and Sandy Scott took the ladies' prize, with Isobelle Lee settling for the consolation, while George Lee was successful in the men's prize and Michael Wanger took the consolation. The next whist evening will be on Dec. 8th and will be the last before Christmas.

Also on Dec. 8th there will be a Farmers' Market at Tofield Community Hall, starting at 2 p.m. Tofield Cub Pack, to which many of the Hastings Lake boys belong, has a stall there this year.

Unemployment Insurance is now more responsive to conditions in Alberta.

To make your Unemployment Insurance Program more responsive to the special needs of different areas of Canada, there are now 48 economic regions for U.I. (Up to now, there were 16 regions.)

With this change, U.I benefits will more accurately reflect your local employment conditions.

It's all part of a plan announced over a year ago.

Each of these new 48 regions will have its own unemployment rate. This will set the length of time a claimant must have worked to become eligible for Unemployment Insurance benefits. And it will govern the length of benefits as well.

There's nothing new about the system itself. It's just being measured more finely in 48 regions rather than 16.

The length of time a claimant must work to get U.I remains the same. It varies from 10 to 14 weeks, depending on the unemployment rate where the claimant lives. And [illegible] based benefits have [illegible].

The change will only affect those whose U.I. claims start after November 12.

This map and the information with it will show you the new economic boundaries in your area.

Clip the map and save it for reference, if you like.

Retiring chairman, Andy Heiberg who had been representing Tofield, was thanked for his many years of service Expressions of thanks were voiced by Mrs. Armitage on behalf of the Board, and the new chairman, Mr Tomashavsky

New policies adopted would give each figure skating club a basic grant of $100 while each minor hockey club would get a basic $50 grant.

Guidelines for programming budgets, programs, and the number of participants in a program, were to be established by the program committee, along with Miss Walker and Mr. Baker, with their recommendations to be presented at the next regular meeting of the Board.

It was agreed that 40 percent of community associations' major cultural-recreation grant have the option of diversion with the balance to be retained. It was also agreed that the fifteen smaller community associations be offered a maximum of $8,000 in grant funds.

Manpower is needed for law enforcement

Oleh Shykora, mayor of Holden, made a number of strong comments during a meeting last Thursday.

Mr Shykora was speaking to a gathering of forty Alberta mayors and two provincial cabinet ministers, Roy Farran and Jim Foster. His topic was the administration of justice in Alberta.

In his talk, Mr. Shykora voiced a number of concerns he felt were hampering the justice system in the province, and urged the two cabinet ministers to try and correct the situation.

"Unless [illegible] money and get the manpower we need" said Mr. Shykora in pointing out that RCMP detachments were short-staffed. He defended the efforts of the Tofield Detachment but, said that only four men were not enough to properly cover such a large geographical area

The present "slap on the wrist" attitude of judges in today's courts is not acceptable Fines should be increased so that they are meaningful, said the Holden mayor. "They should at least keep pace with the cost of living"

Mr. Shykora said a misguided emphasis of concern for the criminal has developed and this concept must be changed to show more concern for the victim

Mr. Shykora illustrated his points using news stories clipped from a regional daily newspaper, which he said, showed that today's criminal is not treated like a criminal, making the task of law officers extremely difficult

Mr. Shykora was speaking in favour of a brief which was presented to the two cabinet ministers by the Town of Sundre, after having been circulated across the province for municipal support.

Vandalism, thefts keep Tofield RCMP hopping

Vandalism and thefts proved to be a major problem for the Tofield RCMP during the past week.

Four incidents of vandalism were reported, two thefts were reported, and missing animals were reported in two other complaints

For the second time in a short period of time, vandalism struck at the Ryley Fire Hall when a whiskey bottle was thrown through a window last Wednesday.

A juvenile boy will be charged after a police car was discovered to have been damaged while it was parked at the Detachment office

Damage caused when a number of beer bottles were smashed in the hallway at Tofield School is being investigated.

A juvenile has been apprehended and restitution is to be made after a window in the residence of Bert Appleby of Holden was smashed by a pop bottle.

Theft of numerous craft items from the Simpson-Sears Store in Tofield is being investigated while John Streberg of Hay Lakes reported the theft of three beaver traps from his line north of the Miquelon Lake Store.

Mrs. Fran Hebbs of Tofield RR4 reported that her bay mare was missing from her acreage while Nancy Heitner of Tofield reported that her gold cocker spaniel was missing.

FIREARMS

Under the firearms amnesty program being offered in Alberta during November, a total of eleven firearms were turned in to the Tofield Detachment for legal registration.

Because of the success of the program on a province-wide basis, it has been extended until the end of December.

A local resident has been charged with [illegible] phony cheques totalling over $500 while three persons are being charged after passing a school bus while it was unloading passengers.

In all, RCMP responded to a total of forty-four complaints during the past week

Information was incorrect

A correction is needed, but this time, it wasn't the fault of The Mercury.

It was reported last week that two area residents had obtained their degrees from the University of Alberta.

This information was received in a news released issued by the U of A.

However, both Oleh Shykora of Holden and Evelyn Anne Taylor already held their Bachelor of Education Degrees. What they obtained during the recent convocation exercises were their Master of Education Degrees.

"FILE IT"

Flying free

Voter comment on Premier Lougheed's free holiday flights seems not to have died down, although the premier himself has dismissed the subject with the comment he felt he had done no wrong, but he would not repeat the matter.

In view of the code of ethics he imposed on civil servants himself, and in view of the similar code self-imposed by other elected bodies several years ago, we do find it somewhat surprising that he allowed himself to be placed in this position, because, really, he didn't gain all that much. A couple of airline tickets, worth a thousand dollars apiece, isn't really very much when you consider how mighty are the sums of money the same premier could siphon from his position if he really had that kind of intent.

Apart from a little naivete, possibly, it doesn't surprise us that he thought, quite honestly, that such practice was common . . . that other premiers had the same privilege, because we know of other situations where such perquisites are indeed made available on occasion. Critics can declare in all truth that he is a wealthy man, that he is well paid, and that he should pay for his own holidays. They can pooh-pooh Dr. Horner's suggestion that private industry would pay far more, but only this past week the legislature in Quebec demonstrated that Alberta members are paid relatively little by comparison.

In absolute truth, there is no level of monetary return which would pay for the load being carried by Premier Lougheed (and most others) today. Their reward has to come from the satisfaction of making their own contribution to the betterment of society, from the prestige, the power, and the public notice the position entails. Peter Lougheed went into office only eight years ago as a vigorous, youthful young man. Barely into his fifties today, when he should still be a young man, the load thrust on him (though admittedly he sought it) is clearly visible in the facial expression and strain.

In baseball, a player who bats .350 is considered a champion . . . in politics, you're expected to score every time at bat, and a player who strikes out is practically crucified. That's a pretty tough requirement when you're forced always to be looking over your shoulder, and when the stakes are so incredibly high with every pitch made.

More farm accidents

The frequency and severity of farm accidents in Canada are higher than the national average for accidents in industry. And the number of deaths and lost-time injuries on the farm continues to rise.

In order to bring attention to this situation, the Canada Safety Council is sponsoring Farm Safety Week, July 25 to 31. Farm Safety is again emphasizing the use of personal safety equipment by farmers and farm workers

The use of such equipment is particularly important in areas of the country such as the prairies where farm machinery is powerful and complex. Such machinery can be dangerous and must always be treated with respect to eliminate any possible hazards.

Hard hats, safety goggles, safety masks, gloves and work boots can provide protection and should be as much a part of a farmer's apparel as his overa ls or jeans. And they must be worn — safety goggles slung around the neck offer no protection.

Special care should be taken with the farm machinery itself. Even the most familiar piece of equipment can injure or kill if proper operating procedures are ignored.

Straw burning not recommended

Although recent reports from England suggest that straw should be burned if seeding is to be done directly into the stubble of the previous crop, this practice is not recommended for the Canadian Prairies.

Dr. W.S. McGill of the University of Alberta's department of soil science says the contradiction between these two recommendations is more apparent than real and is rooted in the different crop, soil, soil and climatic conditions that prevail in the two areas.

High molecular weight products, released during decomposition of the straw residues, tend to maintain a desirable soil structure which affects water infiltration, storage and evasion. It is for this reason and for wind erosion control and the maintenance of winter cover that straw should not be burned on the Canadian Prairies.

A second reason for not burning straw is that crop residues provide an energy source for soil organisms which helps to maintain an active and diverse organism population. In addition to affecting soil fertility, the population's structure and dynamics may affect the incidence of crop infection by soil-borne pathogens. However, this relationship is complex and has still to be fully worked out.

A third reason for not burning straw is that it tends to cause the gaseous loss of the nitrogen in the straw.

Dr. McGill says two negative side-effects of a crop residue in or on the soil are important when deciding whether or not to dispose of it. The first has long been recognized as the potential immobilization of mineral N within the soil organism that are decomposing the residue. Immobilization can and does occur, but the amount of N thus tied up is small, and the effect on the crop yield is very difficult to see under Western Canadian cropping systems in fact, after the continual incorporation of crop residues for a long "biological buffer" is built up which eliminates any noticeable immobilization of mineral N" according to Dr. McGill, added straw increased the yield and protein content of wheat in a seven-year experiment carried out by Agriculture Canada at Brandon, Manitoba, and published in 1967.

The second side effect that results from incorporating crop residues is the well documented production of toxic substances by soil organisms, and do not usually accumulate in significant quantities, they can accumulate when a large amount of straw decomposes in a narrow band under cool, wet weather conditions.

When toxic organics do accumulate, they can retard the development of seedlings growing through the soil zone containing them. According to Dr. McGill, the most serious negative side effects are to be expected when fall-planted crops emerge through a layer of straw from the previous crop that has slowly decomposed during a cool, wet fall and winter. Since fall on the Canadian Prairies is normally frozen during the winter months, and most crops are spring seeded, seedling damage, if it occurs at all, is expected to be much less common with that which occurs in England and in some parts of the northwestern United States. In England fall seeding into utilized crop residues has markedly reduced the yields of such crop as winter wheat relative to yields obtained when the straw is removed by burning or conventional tillage practices. The main advantage of zero tillage in England is that it facilitates fall seeding when the soil is wet and would be difficult to till.

Dr. McGill points out that all of the above mentioned positive and negative side-effects tend to occur in all soils, but to varying degrees. Under Western Canadian conditions, the positive side effects outweigh the negative side-effects.

Ban cults?

Dear Sir:

The mass suicide of the many followers of Jimmy Jones has a simple explanation that will be pooh-poohed and scorned. The explanation is clearly revealed or indicated by (1) The blind (following and adoration of a leader (2) The rejection of traditional ties with family, friends, neighbors, and nation (3) The lack of ambition and pride even in adults to compete and succeed in a lifetime profession or activity that leads looking to a personal, communal, or governmental authority that decides all as it demands all (4) The recognized or unrecognized generalities and humiliation or having no individual responsibility toward oneself or one's community and nation, leading to a resort to drug use or exotic religious cults with blind obedience to a savior

The cause of such behavior and development is the direct accomplishment of our academic teaching in schools and universities; the stand and activity of the so-called churches; the prevalence and ideology of socialist politics with its vocal leaders, and the media who support, popularize, and repeat all of the above. All of these four have indoctrinated as well as confused. All four have destroyed all that is good in our thinking by downgrading work, initiative, independence as in entrepreneurship They succeeded in upsetting all strength of character as confrontation and violence, and praised mediocrity (compromise type) with a leader and philosophy that knows best either Castro, Marx, Mao, Tit, the Federal Government bureaucracy, or Jones.

And what do you know? That same education, religious apostasy, socialist/communist politics in our own western governments, and the media, continue on in ever-increasing excesses!

We have for a long time had political cults, too. How about the Black Panthers, SDS, PLO, CYC, and countless others still flourishing. Why does the media now not mention these, and ask as they do of religious cults, if they shouldn't be banned.

Canadian Comment

OTTAWA (SP)- Some of those cowering under the threat of government restraint may be suffering pangs of guilty conscience, but there are worthwhile federal enterprises which will suffer unjustly

One case in point was demonstrated graphically this fall.

Parks Canada announced in late October that a Basque Spanish shipwreck had been found in late summer near Red Bay, Labrador, which dates back to 1565. It had sunk near a permanent Basque settlement, one of three establishments in the area which boasted a population of between 1,000 and 2,000 souls at the time of the sinking. The ship San Juan was wrecked only 30 years after Jacques Cartier sailed up the St. Lawrence, and there is every reason to believe there were Basques there at Red Bay before Cartier's voyage of discovery.

The settlement apparently fell into disuse because the Spaniards needed all their galleons (remnant an armada attack on England. The condition which can be drawn is that without the victories of Drake, Hawkins, Grenville and company, Canada might well have been settled by Spanish Basques, not the French and the English.

The wreck discovery, in other words, rewritten a basic page of Canadian history and should be explored as far as possible in the interests of national pride. There are at least three other wrecks from close to the same period which have been roughly located, but no excavation action can be expected, because no finds are available for the marine archeologists.

Even the wreck of the San Juan and the establishment of Basque whaling men cannot be properly excavated because of budgetary restraints.

It makes no sense, when we have scores of civil servants working from 9 or 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 or 4 p.m., for government pennies to be pinched on such projects as exploring our heritage. Yes, exploration of the past can be regarded as a luxury, but when we fail to fund the scholars whose interests benefit mankind by expanding cultural horizons, we do a little as a country.

I can think of at least six government programs costing several millions annually which could be sacrificed without being missed one tittle, although their passing might create some pressure group animosity.

Better for Canada's future by far to explore the early history of the Labrador, than the spending of millions for yet another public hearing by the Canadian Radio-Television Telecommunications Commission. Somehow we've got our spending priorities badly fouled.

Ecology studied

The Biology 30 class of Holden School is presently out measuring and studying plots of land on their parents' or friends lands.

The whole class, working individually, is studying 30 metre x 30 metre (900 square metre) plots of land for all abiotic (non-living) features, like temperature, soil types, water retention of soils, precipitation and amounts of sunshine.

It is the goal of this project that the students learn to do research work, how to write a proper scientific paper and increase their knowledge and awareness of the abiotic environment.

This project is part of the Biology 30 course and will count for 20 percent of the final mark

CHRISTMAS WISDOM

The character of every person, nation, society and culture stands revealed by their attitude to the Christ of God. The most decisive determining question of the 20th century is not one of pollution, wars or politics. It is the unavoidable, disturbing question - "What then shall I do with Jesus who is the Christ?" Our response, and there can be no neutrality here, determines if wise or otherwise attitude.

Pilate answered this question with evasion and indifference. This is still being done. There are multitudes for whom Christ is neither a miracle or a menace. They simply have no room for Him. They dismiss Him as being irrelevant. His life, His death, His resurrection, His atonement for sins, the fact of life after death, all these are outside their intellectual orbit. "We realists have more important business to attend to; send him away." With that they think they have settled the matter.

But there is a dangerous fallacy in this position for Christ refuses to be ignored. He is not put off so easily. Here, there are multitudes of people you can disregard and ignore without any serious consequences. They lay no compelling hands upon you. The politics of Herod, the tactics of Napoleon, the atrocities of Hitler, the music of Bach, the art of Michelangelo, can be ignored without any harm. But there are other matters which are not so easily dismissed. The laws of health, the law of gravity, the moral law of reaping whatever you sow, these cannot be ignored. They demand our respect and compliance if we do not wish to reap their consequences. It is far graver to dismiss and ignore Christ.

Today's secular society, with its pagan culture, its materialistic values and immoral philosophy, will tolerate the "Babe" in a manger. It will tolerate Christ in a stained glass window, as a sculptural form or depicted in oil on a canvas. They will even tolerate parts of His teachings in their [illegible] as long as it suits their purpose, but a ruling, reigning, sovereign Christ, an invading Christ, a revolutionizing and converting Christ, is intolerable. That is a menace in their way of life. That attacks their very ego. It strikes at the very roots of independence. "Away with Him, we will not have this man to reign over us." With King Herod they have no room for such a Monarch. They make an active decision, a terrible mistake as to who Christ is, what He wants, and His purpose for coming.

What then is a wise Christmas attitude? For the answer, we must some of the positive responses recorded in Scripture. Believe in Christ, as Mary did "Blessed is she that believeth, for there shall be a performance of the things which were told her." Go to Him as the shepherds did. They went and found the Christchild, just as the angel had promised. God's divine promise is - "Seek and you shall find, knock and it shall be opened, ask and you shall receive." Christmas becomes real to them when they discovered Christ. Likewise the Wise Men from the east followed His star and found him. They counted all else as secondary: this is why they are recorded as wise.

When Simeon the Priest in the temple recognized Christ as the promised Messiah he said: "Now I can depart in peace, for I have seen thy salvation." Christ should be our centre of attraction this Christmas: the gift I wish for all of us is to have that kind of Christmas Wisdom.

Participate in Canada's Employment Tax Credit Program.

The Employment Tax Credit Program was introduced by the Government of Canada to stimulate employment in the private sector.

In essence, we're encouraging you to expand your work force by providing a tax break for your business.

The potential annual tax credit for each new employee is over $3,000. And there is no limit to the number of new employees you can hire.

Now, by using the experience we've gained so far, we've changed the program to make it even more attractive.

Up to 33⅓% more tax credit.
The maximum term for the tax credit has been increased from nine to 12 months for each new employee. That means up to 33⅓% more tax credit.

Greater eligibility.
We have expanded the number and types of businesses eligible to benefit. Now almost every business that's been operating in Canada for a year or more can join in.

Wider choice of new employees.
Now, almost anyone who's unemployed and registered at a Canada Employment Centre for a minimum of two weeks is eligible.

A minimum of red tape.
We've simplified the procedure, so you can do the whole thing, from beginning to end, with just two single-page forms.

For full details on the program, contact any Canada Employment Centre/Canada Manpower Centre.

Are insects traps effective

[illegible] of sex attractant traps compared with blacklight insect traps for monitoring the number and distribution of cutworm moths?

Personnel from the entomology section of Alberta Agriculture's plant industry laboratory are working with scientists at the federal research station at Lethbridge who developed the pheromone traps in an attempt to come up with an answer to this question.

Both types of traps are designed to help prevent cutworm damage by providing a method of predicting infestations so that Alberta farmers can be given advance warning of a potential problem.

The pheromone traps are baited with synthetic chemicals called sex attractants, which are specific for a particular species of moth. Since each attractant draws only one species of moth, farmers and others who are not trained in the identification of moths need only to count the number captured to be able to predict the type and seriousness of a potential [illegible].

Work on sex attractant chemicals was started at Lethbridge in 1969. To date attractants for five species of cutworm moths have been developed. The odor of each attractant has to closely resemble the odor produced by the female moths of that species to attract male moths for mating.

Dispensing the attractants in field traps requires great precision. The scientists at Lethbridge have found that the male moths are not attracted if the concentration is higher than the concentration produced by the female moths. Apparently one ounce of attractant is sufficient to bait about 6,000 traps for one season. Such a minute amount of chemical is not sufficient to cause environmental pollution.

FINDING THE WEAKEST LINK

Agriculture Canada scientists at the Lethbridge Research Station in Alberta may soon be able to mount an effective attack on the horsefly, a serious cattle pest on western Canadian rangelands.

The Lethbridge researchers are concentrating on the larval stage of the horsefly which develops in cattle droppings. By developing slow-release chemicals that could be implanted in the cattle rumen, the researchers hope to prevent the larvae from surviving in cattle manure.

If these implants can be successfully produced, they could eliminate the horsefly problem in western Canada, even in inaccessible grazing areas where current control measures have been impractical.

Drama is presented

The live threatre "#1 Hard" presented by Globe Theatre of Regina, held in the Holden School Gym on November 17, was both entertaining and educational.

Research and excellent acting revealed how the settlement of the prairies through the battles with the commercial grain companies and the railroads, the history of Saskatchewan, can be seen as one struggle against exploitation by the rest of the country.

The evening concluded with discussions with the audience as a way of finding out how theater can most effectively participate in the issues that confront people every day.

All who saw the presentation had only praise and admiration for the acting and singing by the group - showing many how little Canadian history we know.

The drama was sponsored by the National Farmers Union.

Our area artists

by Marlene Sinclair

Anne and John Goodall are brother and sister and are well known throughout the County of Beaver for their artistry. Anne has been painting since 1960 while John has been painting since he was a young man in the 1930's.

Anne and John came to the Ryley district as school children in 19[illegible]. Their parents, John and Agnes Goodall, homesteaded the farm one mile east of Rudi Mizera's. They moved here from near Sarnia, Ont. They had a family of seven children, three of whom have since died. They have a brother Donald living in Calgary and a sister [illegible].

[illegible] taught. They have taken a couple of University of Alberta Extension courses, but mostly they have learned by [illegible]. They read a lot of [illegible] on paintings and painters and have quite a library regarding these subjects.

John has lived most of his life in the Ryley district. He farmed the family homestead, as well as land of his own. He and his older brother William both had farms and they farmed together until William's death in 1962.

Anne became a teacher and taught in various schools around the county for six years. She then became interested in Pharmacy and decided to make this her occupation in life. She started her career in Black Diamond, after taking a position in Carstairs and then in Calgary. She enjoyed Calgary and stayed there until two years before her retirement when she decided to move to the Peace River country. Upon retiring, she moved back to Ryley to live with John.

[illegible] of landscapes. Anne has done a lot of mountain scenes over the years, but now paints mostly local scenes or scenes from memory. She tries to make a picture that she thinks looks attractive or that brings back memories. She does not care for pictures that try to make life or people ugly.

John says that he is not an artist, that he is more of an illustrator. He paints exactly as he sees it. He works both in oils and watercolours, but finds watercolours limiting when he wants to go large, due to the glass needed for mounting.

During the winter months [illegible] painting slows down considerably. Anne says she needs more daylight hours than the winter affords. John paints, but very little, he says right now he reads a lot.

When asked how their paintings have changed over the years, Ann felt her's had not changed much and John said he sometimes wonders whether he has learned anything since he started in the 1930's. However, upon studying their first and then more [illegible] works, you can see a maturing and gradual change in both painters.

They are enthusiastic about keeping in touch with what is going on in the art world in Alberta.

They recently attended the Edmonton Art Club exhibition at the Jubilee Auditorium which they thoroughly enjoyed. They also spend many days browsing through the public and private art galleries in the city. They themselves have been asked to exhibit their work in the County of Beaver for many years, in fact, they were the soul exhibitors for quite a few years until Anne encouraged [illegible] artists [illegible] also [illegible] work.

Every year the Cavell Rebekah Lodge sponsors a local art show in which [illegible] and John display their recent paintings. This show [illegible] in the Ryley Community Hall every spring, so if you are interested in seeing some of their work be sure to take this in.

You will also see their painting displayed in the Treasury Branch in Ryley and at the Ryley senior Citizens Sunshine Club.

Dec. 5

Kingman Recreation Association held their annual lutefisk supper at the hall on Friday evening with a very good crowd supporting. As well as local people there is an attendance from many surrounding communities. Along with the supper many people take the opportunity to do some visiting. The supper is the Recreation Associations biggest money making project which enables them to support such things as the hall, hockey teams, the skating shack and the annual Christmas concert. This year an artificial tree has been bought for the concert coming up on Dec. 22nd.

A joint birthday party was held at the John Kozack home on Saturday evening for Larry Kozack and Ann Hancock of Wabamun. Visitors were Joe and Rosie Kozack, Willy, Bobby and Audrey Kozack and John Thomas of Edmonton and Dick, Sharon and Ricky Seedy.

The Kingman junior high students held a bake and candy sale last Friday at the school making a good profit. This is one of three bake sales which will be held in the next couple of weeks with different class groups holding it each week.

Trudy and Frank Powell of Quesnel, B.C. were visitors with the Willie Bjorgum family last week. Trudy is Irene Bjorgum's sister.

Every little helps!
Conserving electricity now can make a big difference to our electrical future.

Conservation doesn't mean lowering your lifestyle. It means good energy management. Use what you need – but need what you use!
Why? For one thing, we have to use Alberta's non-renewable resources to generate your electricity. For another, the costs of building and operating additional facilities are escalating.
The more you do to manage energy at home, the more you can save on your electricity bill now. And the more you'll help keep future cost increases to a manageable level.
Our Energy Management Action Kit is full of ideas. Send for it and make the switch to energy management now.

Every little helps! Many ways to conserve electricity are little ways. You'll find just a few of them listed here.
Four ways you can help.
1. Turning off lights when not needed does save electricity.
2. Small appliances generally use less electricity than larger ones. For small amounts of cooking, use your frypan as a "mini-oven".
3. Wash only full loads in your dishwasher.
4. Plan your energy day to avoid using major appliances during the 5-7 p.m. "peak load" period.

USE ENERGY WISELY
Conserve. It's worth the energy!

Instead of just being a good looking person, why not also take something intellectually stimulating this winter from your local D.A.'s office to help you achieve stardom. Here's a list of courses we thought you might enjoy:

1) Alberta Rapeseed Homestudy Course - Everything you wanted to know about rape but were afraid to ask.

2) Alberta Cattle Nutrition Homestudy Course - You say your cattle are dragging themselves across the range by their lips. . . might be a nutritional problem.

3) Farm Management Group - Got some strong points and some weak points on farm management and could share with other producers and possibly help you out - come to this one: (we don't use couches, or head shrinks)

4) Tree Pruning and Grafting Course - your boy traded the milk cows for some beans and now the beanstalks are taller than the house, this might be a course for Jacks dad.

5) Acreage Course - Want some ideas for the back quarter acre? This is the course for you acreage holders.

6) Welding Course - You want to get rid of that old machine shed - smoke 'er down with this course

If any one of these courses interest you, call us and we'll reserve a place for you!

Red Deer Area Feedlot Tour

On Dec. 11-12-13, 1978 we have planned a tour to examine different feedlot set ups and establishments in the Red Deer area. In talking to a variety of producers and picking up some ideas, it may prove profitable to you.

You don't have to be a feedlot manager to go on this tour! If your interested and can spare the time please give us a call (seating on bus will be on first come, first serve basis).

Around the town

On Saturday, Gloria and Clifford Knudslien had a house-warming party in their new home. Many relatives and friends from Holden, Ryley, Tofield and Edmonton attended. Ron Gorman presented them with a gift of money from their guests.

Vic Newton of Tofield won $100 while playing Score-O on Saturday night at the Tofield Satelites' home game.

MARKET DEVELOPMENT

Strawberry-flavored milk, Japanese-style Kobe beef, and bottled raspberry juice — these are some of the Canadian agricultural products being boosted by a $1-million-a-year federal funding program.

Under the Agricultural and Food Products Market Development Assistance Plan (AGMAP), Agriculture Canada and the Department of Industry Trade and Commerce help the private sector undertake market development and promotion projects.

So far, 46 projects have been launched, with federal contributions of $5.6 million.

LAST WINTER IT SNOWED...

Some people, we must admit, have short memories. They figure they can sail through winter on their old tires. "Winter's not that bad, is it?"

Yes, it is bad. Very bad. But happily, winter Michelins are good. Very good. Winter Michelins are built to take anything winter's got, and throw it right back.

We're proud to sell winter Michelins ... at a price that may be less than you think. But we'd advise you to hurry down and see us. Our Michelins sell fast, and the memories of last winter are getting stronger every day.

Hastings Lake district news

Lois Fenna

The primitive weaving workshop at the hall on Saturday was most successful, with eight ladies attending to see, hear about and try out the wide range of opportunities in this craft.

The Tofield Girl Guides enjoyed the weekend at Hastings Lake where they had set up a winter camp at the hall. They spent Saturday out of doors at Memorial Lions by, hiking, cooking over a campfire, and skating on the pond.

Forthcoming activities are mainly concerned with cross-county skiing. First is a weekend organized by the County on Dec. 16 and 17, entitled Cross Country Ski Extravaganza to be held at Sherwood Park Recreation centre at 10 on Saturday and Pakuwale Olympiette Centre at 10 on Sunday, with coffee and sandwiches to be served at lunch, and skis available to borrow, all for a nominal price of $2 per adult, $1 per child and $5 per family. There is even a door prize of a full set of skis, boots and poles. Registration forms available at the County Office or from Dana Kass at 998-3482.

On Jan. 11, 13 and 14th, our own community association is holding a cross-country ski clinic at the hall, costing $7 per adult and $5 per child, inquiries or registrations should be addressed to Paul Addison 998-2184, or Howard Gates, 998-3817.

The next whist evening is this Friday, at the hall at 8 p.m., and will be the last before Christmas.

The next general meeting will be at the hall on Monday, Dec. 18th at 8 p.m. and the Ladies' Club meeting will be held there on the preceding Thursday, Dec. 14, at 1 p.m. Rehearsals are underway for the Christmas concert on Friday evening, Dec. 22.

Adventure is great. But when storm clouds blow in, great adventurers head for shore, because the best place to ride out a storm is under your canoe.

How To Spot Storms Before They Spot You

1. Don't go out before finding out. Catch a weather forecast. A small craft advisory is your warning to stay put. Check the barometer. - a falling needle can mean trouble. Listen for unusual static on the radio - it could be from an electrical storm.

2. Once you're out, look for natural storm warnings - like sudden changes in cloud formations, a drop in temperature or a shift in wind direction. With experience you can develop a sixth sense for weather.

How To Recognize a Warning in the Clouds

1) High, lazy clouds can bring bad storms in twelve hours.

2) Fish-scale clouded skies bring rain next day.

3) Rolling dark clouds signal a storm minutes away.

4) Fleecy white clouds? Relax. Great weather ahead.

Your Home Has to Breathe too.

Check For Safe Venting

Proper venting in your home can save you and your family from fire and gas hazards. All gas appliances which need to be vented must be vented outside. And all fuel-burning heating appliances need venting as well as an adequate air supply for complete combustion.

Are Your Vents Working?

A safe vent is an effective vent. Make sure
- appliance vents are securely attached and in good condition
- rust formation on vent pipes or draft hood is reported to the gas company
- the ends of vent pipes are not blocked
- moisture dripping from a vent is reported to the gas company

Is Your Chimney Safe?

Your chimney carries byproducts from burning gas in your appliances safely outdoors. Be sure
- your chimney is checked annually
- your chimney is open and clear from debris at the bottom
- your chimney is free of frost, snow and other obstructions
- metal chimney tops are checked for corrosion, rust or deterioration
- "Bracket Chimneys" are lined and inspected regularly
- chimney openings not used to vent appliances are sealed

For more information on proper venting and other home safety measures, visit your nearest gas company office and pick up a copy of our free pamphlets "Take Time For Home Heating Safety" and "Home Safe Home."

The Homemaker

SUPERMOM

The month before Christmas is always a hectic season. We wonder how we'll get everything done in the time available to us. Eileen Klein, D.H.E. at Lac La Biche offers the following advice for working women. Whether you're working at home or outside the home here are some ideas to follow to make more efficient use of your time and energy.

Women who work outside the home have a special challenge to rise to. Husbands, children, employers and friends all have expectations which must be dealt with. The first step in planning any action is to realize what these people will expect from you. The only way you can be sure of is the employer. He is going to pay you to do a job, so for the hours in the day that you have working the job is top priority. Children, family matters, and personal business must be shelved until you have time to deal with it. Some employers are more easygoing about work habits, but this is the general understanding. Of course in the case of an emergency most employers are approachable.

Next the family. If they expect you to care for them the way you did before you worked, you are going to be a very tired lady. Find out what they are willing to do without, what they think they can do themselves and what you have to do. It is necessary to know this before you can plan your time and do some organizing.
